THE CITY.

The game of base ball at the Plains this afternoon, between the Rockingham club of this city and the Farragut nine of Rye, will commence at three o'clock. A barge will leave Market square for the Plains at two o'clock.

The amendment to the city charter, changing the boundaries of wards one, two and three, and postponing the election of inspecters of checklists and ward officers to November, passed the State Senate on Tuesday afternoon.

The fine three-masted schooner Mary F. Eldredge will be launched on Monday next at 11 o'clock A. M., from the yard of Mr. Wm. F. Fernald. She is about 450 tons, is owned by G. T. Vaughan and others of this city, and is to be commanded by Capt. M. S. Staples of Ogunquit.

The Eldredge Brewing Co. are enlarging the ice-pond near their brewery at the Creek, making it double its former size, the earth excavated being used to fill up the low land belonging to Mr. Eldredge on Islington and Creek streets, which will now be suitable for building purposes.

The Times says that "if the young man who has repeatedly broken into our office during the last six months will bring back the piece of our job press stolen on the morning of the last election," immediately, he will be spared prosecution and exposure. Anybody mean enough to steal from a newspaper man is neither honest nor a gentleman—and we don't care who he is.

The hay crop in this vicinity is large, and has been secured in better condition than for many years; but the lack of rain has told heavily on the feed in the pastures, and completly checked the growth of the after-math in the hay fields. Indian corn, except on very low lands, is curled up and much injured, and the potato crop has suffered badly. The berry crop, which two weeks ago promised to be unusually large and fine, is almost a total failure.

A San Francisco paper of July 16th says: "An item in connection with the ship John Jay appeared a few days since, in which it was stated that she was the vessel in which Lafayette came to this country on his last visit. Such was not the case. The old ship Cadmus, now buried somewhere along our city front, claims that honor. The John Jay, however, brought over from England the first locomotives that came to this country, in 1827, the year in which she was built. She brought two, one of which ran on the Chesapeake Bay road, and the other was taken down to Charleston, S. C."

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, July 26; Batchelder, J.

The case of Andrew Stevenson was continued from Thursday. The three warrants on which he was first arraigned were nol. pros'd, and he was freshly arraigned on three others, pleading not guilty to each. Counsel for the defence asked for time in which to better prepare himself, as he had not seen the warrants until five minutes before the court opened; also because he had witnesses who were at the navy yard on duty and could not leave; but the counsel not giving any information as to what said witnesses would testify to, and the warrants charging the same offences as the old ones and being similar except in the wording, the magistrate decided to proceed with the cases, and the first one taken up was for insulting Judge Page and calling him a d—d coward—which he isn't, for he is not easily frightened by bullying or bluster. Three witnesses were examined for the prosecution, none being called for the defence. The magistrate in anknouncing his decision said it was expected of a man of education, like Stevenson, that he would set a better example than to make such exhibitions of misconduct on the public streets; such conduct might be expected from a drunkard, or a man ignorant of law and propriety; but in this case there was no excuse, and he should fine defendent $10, costs taxed at $8.04. Notice of appeal was given, and Stevenson was ordered to give bonds in $100 to prosecute the appeal.

The next case being called—for an assault on Dr. Edgar M. Jewett—after consultation with the counsel on both sides and with the complainapt, Asst. Marshal Gray, the accused retracted his original plea and entered one of nolo contendere in this case and the third one, and waived his right of appeal. He was then let off on payment of costs, $11.46 in one case and $8.04 in the other, making with the fine and costs in the first case $37.54. George E. Hodgdon, Esq., conducted the cases for the State.

The result of the trials seems to have given very general satisfaction. There has has not been a trial in this city for years that has attracted so much attention, and we have never seen a more respectable class of citizens called as witnesses in any case. If this affair serves to convince Lieut. Stevenson that noisy exhibitions of rowdyism in public are not only unpopular in this city, but are considered ungentlemanly to the last degree and are also punishable by law, the lesson will not be dearly paid for.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Rev. James Pike, D. D., Presiding Elder of this district, will preach in the Methodist church to-morrow.

There will be a praise service at the Middle street Baptist church on Sunday evening at six o'clock, conducted by the choir. Address by the pastor.

Rev. Mr. Gushee, formerly settled at Newburyport, but now of Cambridge, Mass., will preach at St. John's church to-morrow.

REAL ESTATE CONVEYANCES.

The following transfers of real estate in this vicinity have been presented for record in the office of the Register of Deeds:

EPPING.

Israel F. Norris to Joseph B. Page, land, $20.

HAMPTON FALLS.

Enoch J. Tilton, of Newburyport, Mass., to John T. Batchelder, land, $115.

SEABROOK.

George W. Janvrin, of Amesbury, Mass., to James L. Walton, land, $275.

SOUTH NEWMARKET.

Josiah B. Wiggin, et al., of Stratham, to John Coffee, salt marsh, $100.

THE VICINITY.

One night recently George W. Bowley of Stratham had about twenty nice chickens stolen.

Hannah Pickering, the exposed medium, is at her home in Rochester, and proposes to resume her seances in the fall. She is said to be very unpopular in the town now.

Jennie Crocker of Biddeford went through her brother's clothing Thursday night and stole nine dollars in money, a revolver and a watch and chain. She then ran away.

Illustrious Commander-in-Chief John L. Stevenson, with twenty-five members of Massachusetts Consistory, S. P. R. S., with Ill. Wm. Sutton, thirty-third degree, as guest, arrived at the Shoals on Friday for a two days' stay.

The owners of the Maine Democrat, published at Biddeford, have decided to close its publication for the present. The business of the concern will be settled by E. W. Wedgwood, trustee for the owners. York county, with a population of 60,000, is now without a democratic paper of any kind.

George Kennedy of Saco was on Thursday sent to jail for thirty days, as a punishment for not having on hand five dollars wherewith to pay a fine for trying to "beat" a passage on the trains from Old Orchard beach. He had been caught at the same game before, and let off. On this occasion he saved thirty cents—just one cent for each day he will stay in jail.

Considerable excitement is prevailing at Hampton beach on account of the arrest of several parties at the beach, Thursday, by Sheriff Kent, for gambling and violation of the liquor law. Their names are Eliza Crofts, better known as "Marm Ham," of the Central house, Henry Heath, or "Jockey Heath" formerly of Haverhill, and Mary Hastings of Manchester. At the preliminary examination in the town hall at Hampton, before Justice Lamprey, the parties were held to answer at the October term of the Supreme Court.

A meeting of the holders of the bonds of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad was held in Boston on Thursday, to take measures to protect themselves against the Eastern railroad. Mr James W. Emery of this city gave a history of the road and its connection with the Eastern, and a committee was appointed to devise an amicable settlement, and to apply to the New Hampshire Legislature, if necessary.

The Biddeford Times says that an attempt was made to rob the post office in Kennebunkport on Wednesday evening, July 24th. The outer door was forced open, and eight or ten holes bored in the door of the safe around the handle, or near the lock, but nothing further. The door of the safe was not opened and nothing taken from the store except a little tobacco. The burglars were probably frightened away, and there is as yet no clue as to who they were.

A donation of $25,000 from an unexpected source has been made to Dartmouth college. The college authorities are reticent about the matter, but rumor has it that a gentleman in New York, formerly of Barrington, in this State, recently wrote to the college asking if they were in urgent need of funds. A circular setting forth the condition or needs of the college was sent to him, and he responded with a check for the amount stated. He is said to have previously made donations to the Bradford and Andover academies.

— A young man on being asked by his sweetheart why the continued flow of so many rivers into the sea did not fill up the sea and make it run over, replied, "Why, it's the sponges, my dear." "What have the sponges to do with it?" she asked. To which he responded: "Why, the sea is full of sponges, 'way down at the bottom, and they suck up the water—don't you see?"

Surest Tranquilizer of the Nerves.

The surest tranquilizer of the nerves is a medicine which remedies their supersensitiveness by invigorating them. Over-tension of the nerves always weakens them. What they need, then, is a tonic, not a sedative. The latter is only useful when there is intense mental excitement and an immediate necessity exists for producing quietude of the brain. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters restores tranquility of the nerves by endowing them with the vigor requisite to bear, without being jarred or disturbed unhealthfully, the ordinary impressions produced through the media of sight, hearing and reflection. Nay, it does more than this,—it enables them to sustain a degree of tension from mental application which they would be totally unable to endure without its assistance. Such at least is the irresistible conclusion to be drawn from the testimony of business and professional men, litterateurs, clergymen, and others who have testified the fortifying and reparative influence of this celebrated tonic and nervine.

Anti-Fat Chemically Examined.

The analytical chemist, W. B. DRAKE, of Buffalo, N. Y., recently analyzed Allan's Anti-Fat, and gave the following

CERTIFICATE.

I have subjected Allan's Anti-Fat to chemical analysis, examined the process of its manufacture, and can truly say that the ingredients of which it is composed are entirely vegetable, and cannot act favorably upon the system, and it is well calculated to attain the object for which it is intended. W. B. DRAKE, Chemist.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it it the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

FRANK E. DEARBORN,

NO. 40 MARKET ST., PORTSMOUTH.

— A lover who had "come West" to "make a home" for his "Birdie," wrote to her: "I've got the finest quarter section of land (160 acres) I ever put my foot down on." Birdie wrote back: "Suppose you buy another quarter section, John, so we can have a lawn around your foot!" John "made a home," but Birdie never was the mistress of it.

— A woman put herself in the hands of a Boston dentist to have her teeth re-organized. He found them in a very bad plight and asked her why she had allowed them to become so decayed without coming to him or some other dentist. She replied that she had not had time. "But," he insisted, "it would not have taken long, and you could have come in almost any time." She saw that he was bent on an explanation, and she fired this at him like a cannon ball. "Well, I guess if you had had a baby every year for the last ten years you would think it was about enough to 'tend to." He acknowledged that he should.

— A young man in Kingston, N. Y., being out of employment recently, requested of a former employer a letter of recommendation to aid him in securing a situation. The letter was written and handed to the applicant, who was totally unable to read it, as was every person to whom it was shown. A friend advised him to take it to a printing office, where it could be deciphered as compositors are noted for being able to make out the worst specimens of writing. It was given to compositors in various printing establishments and in turn given up without being deciphered. At last, as a forlorn hope, it was given to the prescription clerk in a drug store, who had the reputation of being able to read anything. The man of drugs took the paper, gazed at it long and thoughtfully, and finally seized an empty quart bottle, and then hurried around the store, taking some fluids of various colors from sundry bottles, and finally shaking the compound most vigorously. Then handing it to the possessor of the letter of recommendation he remarked to that much astonished individual: "Two dollars, and a very good cough mixture it is."

INVALIDS' HOTEL.
The very large number of invalid people who daily arrive from every quarter of the United States and Canada, that they may consult Dr. R. V. PIERCE, and the widely celebrated Faculty of Specialists in Medicine and Surgery associated with him, rendered it necessary for the founder of this institution should provide a place on a grand and commodious scale for their entertainment and comfort.
ADVANTAGES OFFERED.—The Invalids' Hotel is more complete in its appointments than any similar institution in the world. The building is located in one of the most healthful and desirable portions of the City of Buffalo, and commands a fine view of Lake Erie, Niagara River, and the surrounding country, being situated in the midst of an extensive system of beautiful parks. The Hotel is furnished with a patent safety passenger elevator, to convey patients to and from the different floors! Is provided with all kinds of approved baths, and is also connected with it, a well-appointed gymnasium and bowling alley to afford proper means of exercise.
CHRONIC DISEASES—Of all forms, whether requiring medical, surgical, or mechanical treatment, come to us in virtue of our several specialties.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are the facilities of this infirmary of a superior character as regards the remedial means and appliances for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females. The apparatus employed in the application of the chemical, electro-thermal, and other approved baths, is in itself a wonderfully efficacious auxiliary to the remedial means to which we resort in such cases. Dry friction to the surface, general shampooing, Swedish movements, and light calisthenic exercises, to enliven and equalize the circulation of the blood in the private rooms, combined, pure, improve digestion, and strengthen the muscles, produce important and beneficial results in all cases to which these means are applicable. No experimenting is resorted to in the treatment. The most approved medicines are carefully compounded, and the judicious regulation of the diet, the cheerfulness of the patients, the thorough ventilation of the sleeping apartment, the cheering influence of music, social intercourse, innocent games and amusements, and all those agencies which tend to arouse the mind of the invalid from the morbid condition which delays recovery, are not neglected.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), and all other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty, by which the great skill is obtained and the most happy results secured.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of the practice in this Infirmary is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases are very largely treated in this department, and with results which have been highly gratifying to both physician and patients.
EYE AND EAR.—Special attention is given to the delicate operations on the eye and ear, by a distinguished oculist and aurist being under engagement to conduct this branch of the practice.
Invalids arriving in the city and desiring to compfortably avoid consciousness to the Hotel. It is easily reached by carriage, omnibus, or street cars. Mills's Omnibus Agents, on all incoming trains, can be relied upon to deliver passengers and baggage with security and dispatch.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
is use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S
ALT. EXT. OR
Golden Medical Discovery
CURES DISEASES OF THE
THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD
In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, foul taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

Portsmouth Chronicle

MONDAY, JULY 29, 1878.

Chronicle Correspondence.

CONCORD, July 27th.

More work in the House and Senate has been done this week than in any week during the session. The most prominent bill has been the "act to punish tramps." It was reported from the committee on judiciary and was the work of General Marston of Exeter. It was passed by the House Wednesday afternoon and by the Senate on Thursday. It is very severe in its features, but none too much so for such pests. It seems to be the opinion that Mr. Tramp will go around, go under, go by, rather than go through New Hampshire if this act is signed by the Governor. It was characterized by Moore of Nashua as a Draconian law. Mr. Marston of Exeter eloquently advocated its passage in a speech that was closely listened to by the members of the House, and was highly applauded. On Thursday a lady from the gallery sent him a beautiful passion flower as a token of her appreciation of his efforts.

The bill amending the charter of the city of Portsmouth was passed in the Senate this week. Amendments were added in the Senate so that the bill could be of use at the city election on August 6th. The bill was then sent to the House for concurrence. As soon as the matter came up the democrats commenced to filibuster and twice they prevented action upon it by their motions. Once, after fighting the dilatory motions, it came down to the main question, when not a democrat in the House voted, and as only 174 republicans were present to vote, ten less than a quorum, consequently the matter stopped there. There are 202 republicans, enough to make a quorum of their own, if they would only remain. The trouble with the republicans is that they trust too much to the honor of the democrats in the matter of politics, when from repeated examples they have shown that they have none. Republicans will pair with democrats when the only object of the democrats is to leave the House without a quorum, when any political measure comes up. The committee on railroads made a report on Thursday morning on the subject of taxation of railroads referred to them, that it was inexpedient to legislate. Mr. Moore of Nashua moved a substitute which will come up next week and then for a grand display of oratory.

The revision of statutes has made considerable progress, all of the amendments being disposed of except a few minor ones, which will not hinder much. A concurrent resolution has been offered that the session be brought to a close next Wednesday, but not a member has an idea that any such thing will be done. The militia bill has passed the House but in such a form that one would hardly know it, as so many and such amendments have been made.

Mr. Isaac Adams of Sandwich appeared for the first time this session on Tuesday, and was qualified. He had hardly been a member ten minutes before he made a speech. Some member suggested that they be supplied with telephones if he was going to speak. He is the richest man in the State of New Hampshire, having been connected with the invention of the Adams printing press. He is the man whom the Monitor and other papers had dead a short time since, and has had his obituary published.

Mr. Whitcher of Strafford is called the Great American Objector for obvious reasons.

It costs $1500 per day to run the Legislature. That's at the rate of $200 per hour. Here is an item, which it is to be hoped that the democrats will keep in mind in the coming campaign, that it costs $70 every time the roll is called. Senator Slayton of Manchester prepares all of his speeches previous to any debate and reads from manuscript when delivering them. Have been told that this is so that there shall be no misinterpretation of his speeches. Mr. Slayton tries to share the leadership of the Senate with Dr. Gallinger of Concord, who is eminently fit for the leadership of that body.

Mr. Odlin, the reporter of the Monitor and People, was the secretary of the U. S. Senate committee on elections, and the private secretary of Senator Wadleigh.

On Wednesday, quite a distinguished delegation visited the Legislature, consisting of Long John Wentworth of Chicago, Hon. Thomas L. Tullock of Washington, D. C., Wm. E. Chandler, Congressman Briggs, and Alonzo W. Taft, Ex-Attorney General under Grant.

Bingham and Batchellor of Littleton have been busy most of the week making a new classification bill which they will attempt to substitute for the one passed by the Senate when it comes up in the House. Then for a grand filibuster.

A. B.

The Boston Belting Company.

The stockholders of the Boston Belting Company have accepted the resignation of Josiah S. Tappan as assistant treasurer of the company and have rescinded the vote whereby the office was created. The company has called in none of its agents but will continue every branch of its business.

Mr. Tappan, in refusing to give any statements for publication, is acting under the instruction and advice of his counsel, who say that nothing from him or them will be presented to the public, at least until after the committee reports. When the proper time comes, they believe that they will be able to show matters in a very different light from that in which they now appear.

The Lawrence Eagle says that Mr. Tappan is not poor even after the assignment of his property. His father, who was a rich Boston merchant, left him $80,000 in trust. He has an elegant team and one of his horses is worth $1000.

Naval Affairs.

Capt. Jonathan Young is detached from command of the Tennessee July 18th, and placed on waiting orders.

Leave of absence is granted Rear Admiral J. C. Howell for one month from July 17th.

Carpenter John A. Dixon is granted leave of absence from duty at Boston navy yard during the month of August. Carpenter B. E. Fernald, attached to the Naval Asylum at Philadelphia, has leave of absence from August 1st to the 15th.

The orders of Paymaster George R. Watkins to duty at Boston navy yard are revoked, and he is placed on waiting orders.

Commander R. S. McCook has been appointed senior officer, and Naval Constructors S. M. Pook and T. D. Wilson members of a board to survey the U. S. steamer Tennessee, and when concluded will resume their regular duties.

A Conflict Threatened.

It now looks as though there would be war between the Nation of South Carolina and the American confederacy of loosely United States. Washington dispatches of Saturday say issue will soon be joined between the United States and the State court of South Carolina in the case of the imprisoned internal revenue officers. At the last meeting of the Cabinet, Secretary Evarts took strong ground in favor of the Government acting promptly, and using whatever authority and power was necessary to enforce the recognition of the writ of habeas corpus, which had been once served upon the South Carolina sheriff, and refused by him. The Cabinet decided to request Judge Bond, whose circuit includes South Carolina, to at once hold a special term. As soon as Judge Bond can open his court the United States Marshal will be directed to again serve a writ of habeas corpus upon the sheriff, and in case of a refusal or of resistance he will then be immediately directed to employ a sufficient posse comitatus to take possession of the revenue officers and hold them in his custody. It is scarcely believed in Washington that the threats so freely made by the press of South Carolina that an attempt of the Government to transfer this case, in strict accordance with statute law, from the State court to its own courts, will be resisted by force. But the transfer will be made at any hazard. Good enough—if it is only done.

News and Notes.

At a picnic in Lewis county, Kentucky, Thursday, Thomas and William Blankenship were fatally stabbed by Daniel and Joseph Morgan. In the melee ten or fifteen persons were wounded. Daniel Morgan is under arrest, but Joseph escaped.

Caleb Bates of Scituate, Mass., a veteran and pensioner of the war of 1812, by beating a drum on Cedar Point, off Scituate, at a time when some British forces contemplated a descent, deceived them into believing that a large body of Americans was at hand to repel them, and thus drove them away.

A picnic barge with five hundred passengers on board sprung a leak on the river near New Rochelle, N. Y., Friday, and sank out of sight as the last passenger passed over the rail of a steamboat that went to the rescue.

A new disease has broken out among the horses in Millbury, Mass. It begins at the hoof of the right leg and swells it terribly. No less than half a dozen horses are down with it at the present time, and in two of the cases the hoof is nearly gone.

Fourteen children and three teachers were drowned by the capsizing of a boat, Friday, on the river Blackwater, near the town of Bailieborough, county Cavan, Ireland.

Edson Deidrick, of Dresden, N. Y., has been arrested for the murder of Charles Long, the boy shot Thursday night while fishing in lake Champlain. Deidrick acknowledges the shooting, but says he thought the boys were tramps trying to steal his geese, and fired his gun to scare them away.

Laura Linscott and Addie Welch, girls about sixteen years old, were drowned by the capsizing of a boat in Adams pond at Boothbay, Me., Thursday afternoon. Another girl and three boys in the boat were saved. The accident was caused by their rocking the boat.

The Treasury Department has information that the French five per cent. rentes (100 par) have advanced in the London market to 115.50, the highest price ever reached, and five per cent. in advance of the five per cent. bonds of the United States. The London bankers say that the difference in favor of French bonds is owing to the traditional honesty and good faith of the French people in preserving their national integrity and credit.

A new work by Rev. F. W. Farrar, D. D., is almost ready from the press of Macmillan & Co., New York.

The rainfall in the vicinity of Chicago, Thursday night, was over four inches, the greatest on record in any one night. Elsewhere in the northwest, except at Quincy, there seems to have been very much less rain. The damage in Chicago caused by flooded basements cannot be estimated. A strong east wind was blowing during the storm, and the water in the lake being forced up high on the west shore gave no chance for the sewers and drains to discharge their contents.

Trouble occurred in Washington, Friday, in the neighborhood of the Washington Monument, through a mob interfering with a number of persons working in the street for a contractor at sixty cents per day. The mob insisted upon the laborers stopping work at that price, overturned carts, ploughs, etc., and compelled them to desist. The police prevented further violence, but the workmen did not resume work again that day.

The Tramp Law.

The Providence Journal, which is a "sober-sided, deliberate and well-regulated" paper, and one of the best—if not the best—paper published in New England for the reliability of its news and the ability of its editorial management, thus discourses concerning Gen. Marston's tramp law, which was last week passed by the Legislature and sent to Gov. Prescott for his signature, and which it is said provides for hanging the tramp for the first offence and dissecting him for the second: "New Hampshire is a rural State; it is a sober-sided, deliberate and well-regulated commonwealth. It proposes to pass a law in regard to tramps, which will without doubt be carried into effect. It is stringent. It defines who is to be considered in law a tramp, and it provides for imprisonment for not more than five years for acts which committed by any other than a tramp, would be remitted to the civil courts, and thought to be of inconsiderable consequence. The tramp is to be stamped out of New Hampshire. Were it not the fact that every day brings illustration of the necessity for this kind of legislation, the fact that it is demanded in such a State as New Hampshire, is evidence enough of the universality and seriousness of the evil it proposes to exterminate. With the words of the communists and the practices of the tramp constantly forced upon the public attention, it will be impossible for the most indifferent to ignore the significance of the times. While it is true that talking is a safety-valve much appreciated by Americans, preventing vicious explosions, yet in this case the language of the communist politician is translated into conduct by the men who set fire to agricultural machines in the west, and who burn, assault and pillage in the east. Order is heaven's first law, and slow though the American people are to pass laws restrictive of a class, the safety of the community is the first thing to be thought of. New Hampshire is severe, but no more so than security demands. The tramp has only to become an honest, not a very industrious man, and he will be in no danger."

New Hampshire Items.

The recent law of the Legislature extended the close of the season for woodcock to August 1st. Thursday prominent sporting men learned that Dr. Bethune and his nephew, Luther Adams of Boston, with three trained dogs, were bagging these birds in Bedford, eight miles from Manchester, and immediately notified them to desist or warrants would be issued for their arrest. Manchester men say they only want an even chance with foreign sportsmen.

A fiendish attempt to murder an infant occurred in Nashua Friday afternoon. Mr. C. H. Baldwin, while passing an old unoccupied house on Temple street, heard a peculiar moaning sound in the building, and tracing it to its source found that it came from a child about three weeks old, which had been placed under the flooring and on the plastering of the ceiling below. Around the neck a handkerchief was tied tightly, but not sufficient to interrupt respiration. The child was pressed down so tightly that the projecting plastering of the ceiling had been forced into its face. It is still living and is under the care of the county commissioners. No clue has yet been obtained of the wretch who attempted the murder.

Thursday night thieves entered the cellar of Mrs. E. C. Green, who lives in the largest house in Hopkinton village, and took away all the movable provisions.

The launch of the schooner Mary E. Eldredge, which was set for this forenoon, has been postponed until Wednesday.

The sun will be partially eclipsed this afternoon. The eclipse will commence at three minutes to five o'clock, and end at eighteen minutes to seven.

It is said that a legal raid is shortly to be made on the liquor dealers in this city, and that evidence has been secured against seventy-seven of them.

Hon. Albert Rowe, of Alexander, N. Y., is now on a visit to this his native city, after an absence of several years. He is accompanied by his daughter and grandchild.

Mr. Albert A. Dodge, formerly of this city, was sunstruck on Nassau street, New York city, on one of the hot days of last week. He was insensible for a long time, and did not regain the power of speech for some hours after his senses returned. He is still confined to his home, and is in a very weak state.

The Eldredge Brewing Co. have a large number of coopers engaged in enlarging their casks, to comply with the United States law, which requires a barrel to hold thirty-one gallons and a hogshead sixty-three gallons, the former requiring but a one-dollar government stamp, and the latter a three-dollar stamp.

The greenbackers exhibit more signs of life than do either of the other parties. They are the first to call a caucus, and the only ones proposing to have any speaking during the municipal campaign. The managers received a letter from Solon Chase of Maine on Saturday, saying he would be on hand Tuesday evening to deliver an address in favor of the cause.

John Sheehan, who according to Patrick Kiley's story was present in Davidson's saloon at the time Eugene Sullivan was murdered eighteen years ago, was arrested in Boston on Saturday, and City Marshal Entwistle went to that city on the afternoon of that day to bring him here for examination, arriving with him at about nine o'clock. Patrick Sheehan, another one of the parties implicated in the homicide, was brought to this city from Brentwood on Thursday, and lodged in jail.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, July 27; Batchelder, J.

William Quinn was arraigned for an alleged assault on Levi Clark. The evidence failing to prove that an assault was actually committed, Quinn was discharged.

THE VICINITY.

Sebatas Danna, a member of the Penobscot tribe of Indians of Oldtown, Maine, has pitched his tent at Rye beach, where he is attracting many visitors.

Work had to be suspended for some time on the docking of the Ticonderoga at the navy yard, Saturday, on account of the breaking of two large iron keys used on the cradle, which had been in use for twenty-six years. We should think it was about time they did break, anyway. Heavy bars of wrought iron were soon substituted for the cast iron keys, and the ship was in the dock all ready for floating out early in the afternoon.

A fellow giving the name of Patrick O'Hara, and hailing from Portland, went into a store in Biddeford on Thursday afternoon, snatched a pair of pantaloons and ran away. He was chased by a clerk until he was lost sight of in the outskirts of Saco, when a police officer waspnt on his track. The officer followed him to a pasture and found him concealed in a clump of alders. He showed fight, but the officer gave him a few right-and-lefters in the nose, and he then quietly submitted to be locked up.

THE SECRETARY'S VISIT.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa, Lieut. McRitchie commanding, arrived in the lower harbor at eight o'clock Friday evening from Gloucester, Mass., having on board Hon. R. W. Thompson, Secretary of the Navy, and party, including J. W. Easby, Chief Naval Constructor, William H. Shook, Chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering, George F. Cutter, Chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, Rear-Admiral Gustavus H. Scott, Paymaster Albert W. Bacon, Medical Inspector Philip S. Wales, H. R. Sullivan, Clerk of the Senate Com. on Naval Affairs, and others, many of the party being accompanied by ladies. The vessel remained in the lower harbor during the night, and came up to the navy yard on Saturday forenoon at ten o'clock. The Secretary was received at the landing by Commodore Guest and the officers of the yard, and the marine guard, in full uniform; and the regulation salute of nineteen guns was fired. He proceeded to the house of Commodore Guest and examined his mail, and afterward inspected the operation of putting a ship from the ways into the floating dock, the Ticonderoga being the vessel operated on. During the day a number of prominent gentlemen called upon the Secretary, among them Hon. Frank Jones, (who was at the yard to receive him,) Senator Blaine, Congressman Thomas B. Reed, of the first district of Maine, Senator Rollins, Hon. George B. Loring of Massachusetts, and Gov. Bagley of Michigan.

AN EVIL REMEDIED.

A careful investigation of the subject of the cause of some of the diseases that prevail in cities, and indeed in rural homes, has demonstrated that much of this is traceable to the defective system of our house drainage, and no little attention has of late been given to the subject. It has been formed that in very many instances, however much the master of the home may have prided himself upon the external cleanliness of his premises, and no matter to what extent the mistress of the mansion may have exerted herself to maintain neatness in every department within doors, there has remained a source of ill health in the sink outlet, which permitted the ascent of noxious gas into the kitchen, entering the food cooked and permeating every apartment of the house to a greater or less degree. How to remedy this evil has been the careful study of many minds. What has been sought to be obtained, is a sure conduit for the waste water, and a prevention of the gas escaping into the sink room, with the consequent effects of diphtheria, typhoid and kindred evils.

Mr. Henry W. Clapp, of Concord, an ingenious mechanic who has made this want a study, has invented a sink trap which has been patented. He some time since projected and perfected a sewer trap for streets, many of which are in use in Portsmouth and other cities. The sink trap is free from complicated construction, cheap in price, adapted to every size of sink, easily affixed and effectual in its results. It is sold in this city, and its advantages are explained by Mr. Lewis B. Marden, whose headquarters are at the store of Isaiah Wilson, No. 37 Congress street; and perhaps the most convincing evidence of its value and efficacy may be gathered from the fact that the health officers of Concord, and a long list of gentlemen in Concord, Portsmouth, Nashua, and other cities have tested the article and certify to its excellence.

Householders cannot be too careful in this matter of sink drainage. It is often the unsuspected, but sure cause of disease, and while the source of sickness is unknown and unsuspected, it works its evils. A slight expenditure upon a hitherto, in many instances, disregarded source of disease, will be one of the most judicious outlays that can be made; and with an agent in our city ever ready to show the article, which can be easily arranged at a very short notice, there can be no excuse for longer neglect of this important sanitary consideration.

— At Washington base ball matches they now send up a balloon with the score painted on it in great black letters, easy to be seen by every one in the neighborhood of the grounds.

—The Chinese students at New Haven who have formed a base ball nine are making excellent progress toward mastering the national game, but it is evident that the talent of the club has not been distributed to the best advantage. The third base, for instauce, is held by Chin, whose proper sphere is evidently that of umpire.

— An Irish bricklayer was one day brought to an Edinburgh infirmary severely injured by a fall from a housetop. The medical man in attendance asked the sufferer at what time the accident had occured. "Two o'clock, yer honor," was the reply. On being asked how he came to fix the hour so accurately, he answered: "Because I saw the people at dinner through a window as I was coming down."

—It has been often remarked how far superior, both intellectually and physically, the college graduate of our day is to his father. Had the father spent half his time at college in coloring his meerschaum and cultivating his mustache, and the other half in rowing matches on the mill pond, he, too, might have returned home with splendid muscular development, and spelling Cicero and college with a k.—Courier Journal.

— A Dr. Bacon, a temperance lecturer, recently undertook to decide the future condition of individuals for the people of Fredonia, Chautauqua county, N. Y., by declaring in one of his meetings that a young man who recently died there was now in hell; whereupon some 3000 of the inhabitants invited the Doctor to depart from their borders in the space of ten minutes—and he stood not upon the order of his going, but went.

Fattening Brides.

Throughont the Empire of Morocco there are villages where the elder members of the adult population follow professionally the pursuit of fattening young ladies for the matrimonial market of Barbary. The Moors, like the Turks and most other Orientals, give decided preference to "moon-faced" wives over lean ones, and more are solicitous as to the number of pounds their brides weigh than about the stock of accomplishments which they possess. A girl is put under the process of fattening when she is about twelve years of age. Her hands are tied behind her, and she is seated on a carpet during so many hours every day, while her "papa" stands over her with a mairaguc, the big stick, and her mother, at times, pops into her mouth a ball of couscousso, or stiff-made porridge, kneaded up with grease, and just large enough to be swallowed without the patient choking. If the unfortunate girl declines to be crammed, she is compelled; so that ere long the poor girl resigns herself to the torture, and gulps down the boluses lest she should be beaten.

— A Pittsfield (Mass.) young lady recently inquired at Lord & Taylor's store, in New York, for "Louis Quinze" shoes. Some were shown her by a spruce clerk, but, not liking a peculiarity about the heels, she asked if they had none without it. "Oh, no," said the clerk, "Mr. Quinze always makes them just like this." "Mr. Who?" "Mr. Quinze—Louis Quinze—of Paree—he makes all our goods of this class—we have them direct from him. You can see his trademark!" The customer survived to tell the story.

Milestones on the Road to Health.

The recovery of digestion and the resumption of activity by the liver, bowels and kidneys are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health. They speedily become perceptible when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used by the invalid. Nothing so surely and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal. As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the health of the system, so the system can never acquire perfect vigor, health's synonym, until that function be actively resumed. Take, for instance, digestion, a suspension of which is invariably rectified by the Bitters. If the organs upon which it devolves grow weak, biliousness, constipation, headache, poverty of the blood, and a hundred other symptoms supervene, which indicate unmistakably the baneful general influence of dyspepsia. The disappearance of all these symptoms through the use of the Bitters shows with what thoroughness it removes their cause.

Anti-Fat Chemically Examined.

CERTIFICATE.

I have subjected Allan's Anti-Fat to chemical analysis, examined the process of its manufacture, and can truly say that the ingredients of which it is composed are entirely vegetable, and cannot but act favorably upon the system, and it is well calculated to attain the object for which it is intended. THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Don't Quarrel.

People talk of lovers' quarrels as rather pleasant episodes—probably because they are not quarrels at all. It is half play, and they know it. Matrimonial quarrels are another thing. We doubt seriously if married people ever truly forgive each other after the first falling out. They gloss it over, kiss and make up; the wound apparently heals, but only—as those terrible wounds given in battle do—to break out again at some unexpected moment. The man who has sneered and said cruel things to a sensible woman never has her whole heart again. The woman who has uttered bitter reproaches to a man can never be taken to his bosom with the same tenderness as before those words were spoken. The two people who must never quarrel are husband and wife. One may fall out with kinsmen, and make up and be friends again. The tie of blood is a strong one, and affection may return after it has flown away; but love, once banished, is a dead and buried thing. The heart may ache, but it is with hopelessness. It may not be possible to love any one else, but it is more impossible to restore the old idol to its empty niche. For a word or two, for a sharpening of wits, for a moment's self-assertion, two people have been made miserable for life. For whatever there may be before, there are no lovers' quarrels after marriage.

—Sothern, last summer, having hired an attenuated livery stable horse for a drive up the road, stopped at one of the roadside caravansaries, and while his valet was covering the animal, John McCullough came by. McCullough—"Ned, what do you put that blanket over your horse for? he looks too weak to bear up under it." Sothern—"Oh! That is to keep the wind from blowing the hay out of him."

—Mr. R. B. Gans, a farmer near Columbia, Mo., has constructed, unaided, a telescope which several professors who have tested it declare is in all respects one of the best telescopes in the country for its size, the object glass being six inches.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granule. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.
The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking that large, repulsive, and nauseous Pills, composed of clumsy, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each one of Pierce's Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.
$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their search or influence. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.
They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident expectation and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

WOMAN.
By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to Woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the peculiarities presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.
To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it. I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

TESTIMONIALS.

I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

No. 3 BOW STREET.

Daily Chronicle.

Political.

The strongest "out and out" Hayes men are the recently removed collector and naval officer of the New York custom house.

Kearney, the California "sand lots" orator, arrived in Boston on Sunday on his missionary tour to the east. He made a brief address from a balcony of the Sherman house to a crowd that assembled to see him, in which he announced himself as "one of God's own men," and said he despised "the monopoly-infested press of the United States." Judging from what we have read in the press referred to, the sentiment is reciprocal.

A correspondent of the New York Herald, writing from Hampton beach, reports conversations with Ex-Attorney-General Taft and Senator Rollins, who both believe that Grant is a possible candidate for the next Presidency; also a conversation with Minister Noyes when he was there, in which Mr. Noyes said that in an interview with Grant in Paris, at which Mr. Noyes talked with Grant about the evident tendency of the republican party to tender him a renomination, Grant declined to state whether he would accept a nomination, saying he was tired of politics and should hesitate to again enter the arena; that he had had more than his share of the burdens and honors of office, and preferred his ease for the balance of his life.

Mark Twain on Profanity.

In a note to the publishers of his justly celebrated Scrap Book, the famous humorist observes that he invented and patented it, "not to make money out of it, but to economize the profanity of this country." "For," he continues, "you know when the average man wants to find his scrap book he can't find his paste—then he swears; or if he finds it, it is dried so hard that it is only fit to eat—then he swears; if he uses mucilage, it mingles with the ink, and next year he cannot read his scrap. The result is barrels and barrels of profanity." There is another circumstance in life under which the average man is liable to indulge in unlimited profanity. It is when the "family physician" sends him a bill of one or two hundred dollars for treating his wife, while the lady's face has become paler than ever, through the merciless persecutions of caustic and mechanical contrivances. If he does not impulsively send the whole medical profession on a subterranean journey, it is because he is a saint and deserves to be translated. The local treatment generally employed by physicians in this class of diseases is not only barbarous but productive of almost irreparable harm. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as a uterine tonic and restorative, has won unqualified praise from thousands of grateful women.

He Preferred to Walk.

"She's pretty hot, ain't she?" said a backwoods passenger, addressing the engineer of a Mississippi steamer that was racing with another boat.

"So-so," responded the engineer, as he hung an additional wrench on the safety-valve cord to stop the steam escaping.

"I reckon we'll overtake that craft soon," pursued the passenger.

"That's about it," returned the engineer, giving the cords another twitch and hallooing through the trumpet to the fireman to "shove her up."

"One hundred and ninety-five," hummed the passenger, looking first at the gauge and then at the boilers.

"That's about where she's rusticating," put in the engineer. Then the passenger ran his fingers through his hair nervously, and walked about the decks for a few minutes, when he came back to the engineer and observed:

"Hadn't you better leave that boat go?"

"Can't do it. Must pass her."

"But s'posin' we should blow up?"

"Well," said the engineer, as he peeped over the guard to see how fast he was gaining, "if it's the will of Providence for this boat to blow up we'll have to stand it." Then he hallooed to the fireman to roll up another cask of bacon, and to mix plenty of rosin with the coal and give her a little more turpentine and oil. The next moment there was a splash in the river, but before the yawls could be lowered the man had succeeded in reaching the shore, and hallooed out:

"Go on with the race. I guess I'll walk!"

—The town of Black Diamond, California, enjoys the distinction of being the only walled town on the Pacific coast. It has a high fence surrounding it, and the only entrance is a gate, over which is an inscription warning the public of a $5 fine upon any person who leaves the gate open.

— Mrs. Kline's child cried to some purpose on Fourth of July night, in Pittsburgh, Va. It would not be quiet, and the mother roused and walked the floor. She heard a curious creaking in the house, which was a two-story brick substantially built, and not given to much creaking. She wakened her husband, and he took in the situation at once. A cellar had been dug along side of their house which filled with water during the storm, and sapped the solid wall. Bouncing from the bed he grabbed the child, and called on his wife to run. She did so promptly, and just as they reached the street the entire building went down with a crash.

TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1878.

New Hampshire War-Veterans' Reunion.

We condense the following from a circular issued by the committee of the war veterans' associations:

The second reunion of the New Hampshire War-Veterans will be held at the Winnipesaukee Camp Ground, Weirs, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 13th, 14th, and 15th, 1878. All veterans of the army and navy, with their families, who were in New Hampshire regiments; or were natives of New Hampshire, and were members of regiments belonging to other States; and all veterans of other States now residing in this State, are cordially invited to camp with us on the shore of the beautiful lake, in Camp Phin. P. Bixby.

Arrangements have been perfected for reduced rates of fare, for veterans and their families, over the following named railroads: Boston, Concord & Montreal; Concord; Boston, Lowell & Nashua; Northern; Concord & Claremont; Worcester & Nashua and Rochester; Boston & Maine; Eastern (Conway division); steamer Lady of the Lake. It is suggested that the veterans in the various towns and cities organize by squads, or companies, in order to avail themselves of the reduced rates. All tickets will be good:—going, August 13th and 14th; returning, August 14th to 17th, inclusive.

Arrangements have been made with L. R. Weeks, proprietor of Lakeside hotel, to furnish rations as follows: For one shilling (seventeen cents) per meal, baked pork and beans (baked in the ground,) brown bread, coffee, corned beef, sandwich, white bread and butter, hardtack, pickles. Board at the hotel at camp meeting rates. Tents sufficient to lodge all the veterans will be pitched in a beautiful grove, just west of the railroad. Other lodging can be secured at very low rates by corresponding with Mr. Weeks.

All organized bands and drum corps will be transported over the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad free, by notifying the Secretary of the Association, A. C. Hardy, Concord, N. H. All veteran buglers, drummers and fifers are requested to bring their instruments with them, and report on their arrival to Musical Director J. C. Linehan.

The committee would recommend that temporary organizations be formed in every city and town, and a list of the name, rank, regiment and residence of every man be taken by the clerk of the organization, and forwarded to the secretary of the associations, Rev. A. C. Hardy, Concord, who will enter the names in a roster kept for that purpose for future reference and communication. The annual regimental reunions will be held on Wednesday, at four o'clock P. M.

Brown's Cornet Band, of Fisherville, will be in attendance during the encampment, and will give open air concerts,—military and orchestral—at intervals during day and evening, and will also furnish music for dancing.

On Wednesday an address of welcome, oration, poem, sentiments and responses by distinguished veterans and guests; "Chronicles" of regiments and companies—army calls by veteran drummers—camp songs and reminiscences, by "Old Vets.," etc., etc. A special committee has been selected to arrange a series of amusements, consisting of boat and tub races, walking, swimming and jumping matches, base ball and foot ball games and other athletic sports. Arrangements will be made for moonlight excursions on the lake—and on Wednesday evening a grand illumination of camp, and display of fire-works.

Programmes of each day's attractions will be distributed on the grounds.

President Hayes, Gen. W. T. Sherman, Gens. Burnside, Hooker, McClellan, Devens, Stannard, H. B. Sargent, Governors Prescott and staff, Connor and staff, Rice and staff, Fairbanks and staff, Van Zandt and staff, and others, have been invited to be present.

The object of the reunion is to see and speak with each other, to renew old acquaintanceship, to revive old time memories and scenes, and to have a grand old "Camp-fire" without fuss or useless display. It is very earnestly desired that every one of the "Boys in Blue" who can, should be present and answer once more to the Roll Call. Comrades, we are an Army that must constantly and rapidly decrease, let us then close up the ranks, and as name after name is transferred to the Army at Rest, move on in closer ranks till the last response is given, and the Grand Old Army shall only live on earth in its glorious historic deeds, and national blessings.

Major A. B. Thompson, President.
Chaplain A. C. Hardy, Secretary.

True Reformers.

And now the democratic treasurer of the State of Missouri is "unfortunate," in that he cannot account for the trifling sum of $250,000. Moreover, his bond proves to be worthless. The democratic treasurer of the State of Georgia, where the democratic majority is anywhere between fifty and a hundred thousand that is thought desirable by the party managers, is in the same fix as the Missouri treasurer—$250,000 short. But they are both ardent advocates of democratic rule, economy and true reform, all the same.

Yellow Fever.

Yellow fever is reported to be raging in New Orleans, Havana and Matanzas, and gaining a foot-hold in Key West. There were fifty-two cases reported in New Orleans up to Saturday, with twenty-five deaths; sixteen new cases were reported on Friday. In Havana there were ninety-seven deaths from yellow fever, and twenty-two from small-pox, in one week.

Capt. Minot of the bark Wild Hunter, which arrived at New Orleans from Liverpool on Saturday, reports when fifty-two miles off Tortugas he spoke the schooner Lillie Faulkenberg, twelve days from Mobile, bound to Cuba. The captain of the schooner was dead and the mate was dying. Both were cases of yellow fever. Not having any navigator aboard, the unfortunate vessel applied to Capt. Minot for one, and the captain not having one to spare was compelled to refuse. Only three men were seen on the deck of the schooner, which indicated that the vessel had a very small crew or that others were down with the fever.

News and Notes.

At Cleveland, Saturday, Rarus trotted three consecutive heats in 2:14 1-2, 2:15 and 2:14; this equals Goldsmith Maid's best time for any one heat, and gives Rarus the best record ever made for three heats.

Mrs. Weathers, of New Albany, Ind., whipped her daughter Alma, aged thirteen, who thereupon tried to commit suicide by eating up all the matches in the house and then throwing herself into the river. Her mother fished her out and whipped her again.

A number of steam road-waggons are at present undergoing tests in Wisconsin, among the tests being a 200 mile journey over the roads of the State. If one of the vehicles answers all the requirements of the judges its inventor will receive $10,000 from the State treasury.

Laborers on the Washington public works were interfered with by a crowd of 300 or 400 idle "reformers" Saturday. They were twice dispersed by the mounted police, who fired their revolvers, one shot taking effect in the back of a colored man, who was one of the leaders. One of the ringleaders states that he is paid $1 per day to stir up trouble among the laboring classes. This fellow, a ranting, ill-kempt, dirty looking man, has been holding communistic meetings, urging the prevention of any laborer's working for less than $1.50 a day; but it seems a dollar a day is enough for him.

Rev. Mr. DeWitt, of Sturgis, Mich., said recently that it was perfectly right for a person to drink intoxicating liquors if he wanted to. He has lost his pulpit, but the liquor-sellers have presented him with an easy chair.

The new steel despatch vessel "Iris," of 4,000 tons, that has just been added to the British navy, has been tried and proved to have a speed of twenty-one miles an hour. She is lightly armed with 64-pounders, and having the speed of anything afloat, is expected in the event of a war to run away from anything too heavy for her, outmanœuvre any ordinary armed vessel and play hob with the enemy's mercantile marine.

The New York Times of Sunday has a two-column story of a married lady of high position in Boston having been taken in charge on board of a train from Rome to Albany, N. Y., by two well-dressed scoundrels, who pretended she was insane and that they, by the request of her husband, were taking her to the Utica Asylum. They successfully imposed on the conductor and passengers, whose protection the poor woman claimed. She was taken to a disreputable house in Utica, chloroformed, outraged and stripped of her diamonds and all her clothing and left there. The hackman at Utica being known by the conductor furnished a clue to her whereabouts, and she was found by her husband in a terrible condition and taken to Boston. No names are given, and the whole story sounds highly improbable.

A man at Liverpool, Eng., was recently arrested in his bed at three o'clock A. M. for non-payment of school-board fees, it being the custom of the Liverpool officials to make these arrests at night, when they are certain of finding their men at home. So agitated was the prisoner on this occasion that on reaching the jail he died of heart disease. The coroner's jury censured strongly the mode of procedure of the officers.

New Hampshire Items.

Mary Ann Tobin has been arrested at Nashua for attempting to murder her illegitimate child by exposing it in an unoccupied house, with a handkerchief tied tightly about its neck. She confesses the crime. Her paramour, Samuel F. Tilly, is also under arrest.

Stephen Horn and Charles P. Rollins were arrested by Sheriff Davis in Wolfeboro, Saturday night, for stealing a horse from Edwin F. Brown of Moultonboro and a buggy from J. C. Pitman on the night of July 12th. The horse was found in Hampton, Rollins having disposed of it there. The carriage was sold at auction in Boston, Isburgh & Walker being the buyers. At the preliminary examination Rollins pleaded guilty and turned State's evidence. He also confessed to the stealing of the horse and carriage owned by Mr. Mitchell of Plymouth, which were stolen, as was supposed, by the murderer Dickey of Plymouth on the night of his escape from the custody of the officers. In this transaction he implicates two other persons, whose names are withheld, as they had not been captured at the time this item was written. Horn is in Ossipee jail in default of bail in $1200. Rollins is held in $600 in Belknap county as a witness against the parties engaged in stealing the Mitchell team.

Daniel S. Weatherbee, an old man, has been found in the woods in Milford after being twenty-five days without food except such as frogs, roots and berries. He was completely exhausted when found.

A few days ago Arthur Thyng, the three-year-old son of C. D. Thyng, postmaster of New Hampton, fell from the piazza of his father's house to the steps below, a distance of thirteen feet, striking on his head and causing concussion of the brain.

Hubbard Zoller, a grocer of Claremont, left his home for Boston on Monday, July 22d, to pay some bills, taking with him about $800, and saying he should return on the Wednesday or Thursday following. He has not been to Boston, so far as is known, and has not returned home. His friends fear he has been foully dealt with.

The house of Lewis Hunkins, of Sanbornton, was struck by lightning on the evening of July 17th. The house was badly injured, and the family were obliged to move to a house of one of the neighbors while their dwelling is undergoing repairs. The mother of Mr. Hunkins was stunned by the shock, but it is thought she may recover. The same house was struck by lightning four years ago, in which Mr. Hunkins' son came very near losing his life.

Charles Tyler, a leading citizen of Benton, while returning home Saturday afternoon from Haverhill, got out of his carriage to drink at a spring by the roadside, and dropped dead. Cause, heart disease.

Daniel Edes, a farmer of Peterboro, was attacked by a mad bull while passing through a mountain pasture Saturday. The infuriated beast gored and tossed him about some little time before assistance arrived. He lies in a critical condition.

A severe wind at Stoddard Friday night blew down a barn belonging to Mr. Tuttle, killing several young cattle.

Andrew Simon of Hopkinton is wanted by the Concord police for an aggravated assault upon his father.

THE CITY.

Steamer Appledore was crowded on her outward trip to the Shoals, Monday forenoon.

Ex-Gov. Walter Harriman spent Sunday in this city, visiting his son, Walter C. Harriman, Esq.

Alderman Henry A. Yeaton returned on Monday afternoon from a western tour, having extended his travels as far as Nebraska.

The Middle street Baptist church is to be closed during the month of August, Rev. Dr. Alden, the pastor, being on his annual vacation.

The partial eclipse of the sun by the passage of the moon between it and the earth, Monday afternoon, amounted to but little in this vicinity, as the clouds provided a total eclipse.

Rev. James DeNormandie preached in the old church at Star island, Isles of Shoals, on Sunday evening, to a large audience. The choir of the stone church in this city, which has attained such a high reputation since its formation, was present, and was listened to with equal surprise and pleasure by the cultivated congregation.

The special meeting of the stockholders of the P., G. F. & C. R. R. is to be held at the ward room near the Eastern R. R. station at eleven o'clock this forenoon, relative to the bankruptcy proceedings. It is said that it is doubtful if the vote to put the road into bankruptcy can be carried. The bondholders' committee were in session in this city on Monday.

A gentleman went to the Shoals on Monday and carried in his pocket a ball-ticket for the Washington Ball given at the Rockingham house Feb. 22d, 1837, when Edward Smith, Joseph H. Clark and Charles H. Rowe were managers. He has chanced to keep his ticket of admission ever. since. He then lived here, and since has been a successful mechanic in Massachusetts, blessed with an abundance of the world's goods, and what is more to his credit, a liberal discrimination in its disbursement among his less favored fellow men.

A party consisting of Will B. Fitte, Associated Press reporter, George M. Harwood, of Haverhill, Nathan Lunt, Frank Currier and the skipper, arrived in port Saturday afternoon on yacht "Carrie" from Newpuryport, stopped over Sunday, and made sail Monday morning for York beach and other beaches to the eastward. This is a sensible and economical way of spending a vacation of a week or two. With a staunch boat and competent skipper, a "gander party" can get a little more fun and fresh air for their money in this way than any other, provided only that they have some taste for boating.

Schooner Fairfield, Capt. Taylor, from Philadelphia for Rockport, Mass., anchored off Falmouth on Saturday. She parted one chain and dragged the other anchor, going ashore near Falmouth Heights. The wrecking schooner William Newton went to her assistance, lightened her of a portion of her cargo of coal, floated her and took her into Vineyard Haven on Sunday, leaking slightly. The Fairfield is owned here, having been purchased by Portsmouth parties several years ago after being wrecked in the lower harbor, or having her masts cut away to prevent being driven ashore, we believe the latter.

Major Urch on Monday added to the stock in his aquarium at the second Newcastle bridge a monk fish, (known to naturalists as the "fishing frog," we believe, and consisting principally of an enormous mouth filled with wicked looking teeth, with a very small amount of fish attached,) several English hake, a new arrival on this coast, and schools of herring and tinker mackerel. As soon as the latter were put in there was a grand rush for them by all the other occupants of the tank—dog-fish, sharks, cod, etc., and things were made lively for the new comers for a while. The older and larger residents of the tank seem to have become accustomed to each others' society, and dwell peaceably together, reserving their energies until some new capture is added to their number, when they at once club together to attend to his case. The huge skate is still there, very much alive but very lazy.

Judge E. B. Martendale of the Indianapolis Journal is one of the party accompanying the Secretary of the Navy.

The Granite State base ball club of this city go to Newmarket to-day to play the Our Boys club of that town. A barge will leave Market square at nine o'clock.

There were nine camping-out parties in Dow's woods and on the beach and points adjacent, Sunday—that is, there were nine tents pitched in sight; the club-house in the edge of the wood is also occupied. The Newcastle club house built by young men of this city is fully manned, as it has been through all the hot weather; its situation is a fine one. There is one tent on point Pocahontas, Gerrish's island, and it shelters a lively squad of Portsmouth boys; a string of flags gives a gay and festive appearance to the tent, and a horizontal bar is set up for the boys to exercise upon. Other parties, with ladies, are tenting in the fort, and on the Gerrish's island shore higher up the river.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, July 29; Batchelder, J.

Robert Foster, Christopher Gilligan, Peter Gallice, Allen Harrington, Cyrus Smith and Edward Clark, all drunks, were assessed $9.90 each, fine and costs. Foster and Clark, who are old customers of the court, went to Brentwood; and the others will have to go there if they do not pay up.

John and Patrick Sheehan were arraigned for being accessory to the murder of Eugene Sullivan. The principal witness was Patrick Kiley, whose testimony as to the homicide was very nearly the same as given by him at his own examination last week, though he now states that he had crossed the street and was standing with one foot on the sidewalk and the other on the step of the saloon when he saw the blow struck by Hennessey. He further testified that he afterward saw Hennessey and the Sheehans go down on Rollins' wharf. He then went up Jefferson street to Liberty, and down Court street to Walker's coal wharf, where he hid behind a pile of coal and saw three men go down on Commercial wharf and take a boat that was fast to the martingale of a schooner lying there, and row around toward Tucker's wharf. They were gone long enough to have pulled that distance, when he observed them pulling out toward the middle of the river, the Sheehan brothers being at the oars, and Hennessey hanging over the stern of the boat as if holding to something towing in the water. When about two hundred yards from the head of Long wharf, he saw Hennessey take his arm up and turn around facing the Sheehans, and the boat was then pulled back again to Commercial wharf and made fast to the place from whence she had been taken. On cross-examination Kiley said he never told any one but his wife and the priest of the murder, from the time it took place until now. His testimony was not materially shaken by the cross-examination.

Timothy O. Sullivan and John E. Sullivan, brothers of Eugene, testified as to the condition the body was in when found.

No evidence was offered for the defence, and the case was submitted without argument. Judge Batchelder deemed the evidence sufficient to hold the accused to answer before the October term of the Supreme Court.

THE SECRETARY'S VISIT.

Hon. Frank Jones, on the occasion of his calling on the Secretary of the Navy on Monday, invited two ex-members of the United States House of Representatives to go with him, viz.: Hon. John Wentworth of Chicago, and Hon. John R. Reding of this city. Col. Reding and Col. Thompson were members of the same Congress, from 1841 to 1843, and the meeting of the two ex-members on the deck of the Tallapoosa was a pleasant occasion, and highly enjoyed by each.

The Secretary is thoroughly looking over the navy yard, and is much pleased with its capacity for the building and repairing of ships.

SUNDAY ON THE RIVER.

Steamer James Sampson was down the river from Dover on Sunday with a party of excursionists, including a number of ladies, and went outside, passing up the river again at an early hour in the evening, to save the tide. Steamer Clara Batemen took a party to the Shoals, starting about noon and returning at ten o'clock in the evening. The Little May made her usual trip to the Shoals with the Sunday papers. The light-house tender and buoy boat Iris arrived from the eastward shortly after noon, having in tow a barge heavily loaded with materials for the new fog-horn tower at Whale's-back. Toward evening a little steamboat—evidently a yacht, long, low, painted black, and with a very pronounced smoke-stack—ran into the harbor, coming from the direction of the Shoals; our informant could not discover her name or hailing place, but he says she beats everything he ever saw of her size, for going. A large number of small crafts, including yachts with small hulls and immense sails, clam-bungies with big hulls and little sails, and row boats, were skimming about the lower harbor and adjacent waters all day.

BASE BALL.

A game of base ball was played at the Plains on Saturday, between the "Farragut" nine from Rye beach, and a picked nine from this city calling themselves the "Rockinghams." Neither of the nines were in practice, and among the Rockinghams were several who never played a match game before. The game was called at half-past three o'clock, and continued nearly three hours. One reason for its being so long was because there was no effectual back stop behind the catcher, so that whenever a ball passed the catcher valuable time was lost in recovering it. A summary of the score is as follows:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Farraguts	2	1	5	2	2	4	1	1	—	20
Rockinghams	1	0	0	5	1	0	1	2	5 —	15

Umpire, Mr. Israel Kimball, Jr. There is prospect of a return game being played at Rye beach this week.

THE VICINITY.

Right Rev. Bishop Niles preached at "St. Andrew's by the Sea," at Rye, on Sunday.

Hon. James W. Locke, of Key West, Judge of the United States District Court for the southern district of Florida is with his family on a visit to his father-in-law, John Neal, Esq., of Kittery.

The fellow who under the assumed name of Pike recently sold to Mr. Otis H. Whittier of Hampton a horse stolen from Edwin F. Brown of Moultonboro', has been arrested and turns out to be one Charles P. Rollins. Rollins and a man named Stephen Horn were arrested in Wolfeboro' on Saturday night; Horn is in Ossipee jail in default of $1200 bail; Rollins is held in $600 as a witness, he having turned State's evidence and disclosed the particulars of other horse and carriage stealing games.

Anti-Fat Chemically Examined.

The analytical chemist, W. B. DRAKE, of Buffalo, N. Y., recently analyzed Allan's Anti-Fat, and gave the following

CERTIFICATE.

I have subjected Allan's Anti-Fat to chemical analysis, examined the process of its manufacture, and can truly say that the ingredients of which it is composed are entirely vegetable, and cannot but act favorably upon the system, and it is well calculated to attain the object for which it is intended. Milestones on the Road to Health.

The recovery of digestion and the resumption of activity by the liver, bowels and kidneys are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health. They speedily become perceptible when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used by the invalid. Nothing so surely and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal. As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the health of the system, so the system can never acquire perfect vigor, health's synonym, until that function be actively resumed. Take, for instance, digestion, a suspension of which is invariably rectified by the Bitters. If the organs upon which it devolves grow weak, biliousness, constipation, headache, poverty of the blood, and a hundred other symptoms supervene, which indicate unmistakably the baneful general influence of dyspepsia. The disappearance of all these symptoms through the use of the Bitters shows with what thoroughness it removes their cause.

For families visiting Philadelphia, no more cozy, home-like quarters, combined with excellent service, unexceptional cuisine, and moderate prices can be found than at the Colonnade Hotel on Chestnut Street.

Asthma and Phthisic are cured by Adamson's Botanic Balsam, when all other remedies fail. Sample bottle and circular free at the apothecaries. Large bottles 35 and 75 cents. Try it.

Large sums of money have been made in Wall street by persons shrewd enough to invest at the right time. The old house of Alex. Frothingham & Co., brokers, 12 Wall st., N. Tiny Flies and so do diseases of the skin when that incomparable purifier of the cuticle and beautifier of the complexion, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, is used to disperse them. Pimples, blotches, sores and bruises, and the like are invariably removed by it.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

—At Newport, this season, board ranges from $3 to $4 a day at the best hotels, and from $10 to $18 a week at the boarding houses. Carriages cost $6 for the afternoon. Pony phaetons are $3 for the forenoon and $4 for the afternoon.

—MacMahon is said not to be over felicitous in his remarks. Passing through a hospital in Paris, he was told that a patient had meningitis. "A very bad disease," said MacMahon. "It either kills you or leaves you demented. I have had it myself."

—As a young lady from one of the suburban towns was about to step in front of an approaching train at the depot lately, the switchman, as a caution, said, "Whoa, Emma." Whereupon the blushing damsel remarked, with astonishment, to a friend who was with her, "How did he know my name?"

—A man was once brought before the late Judge Stevens of Lawrence, charged with a petty offence. The respondent proved that the offence was committed across the line in the town of Salem, N. H., and pleaded in bar to the jurisdiction of the court. "Exactly," replied the Court, "but you had your mind on it in Lawrence, and I fine you $5 and costs."

—How general must have been the prostration and debility caused by the heat may be judged from the terrible effect of the weather upon the newspapers, which are commonly the last to succumb. The thermometer had been barely three days at 98 degrees when the sea-serpent suddenly reappeared in half of the journals of the United States; and at 99 degrees the exhausted editors began to put in anecdotes about John Randolph of Roanoke.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Minium in Parvo Physic.
The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of choice, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each mild Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.
$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their active agency. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.
They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

WOMAN.
By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.
To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. Of its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its firmly unsuccess cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has wonderful curative powers, and I do not wish a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. Treats minutely of 100 diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, 1878.

A Down East Skipper vs. The Hell Gate Pilots.

Capt. Daniel W. Leighton, of the schooner James Warren, of Machias, now discharging her cargo in this port, recently was bound to New York from Musquash, N. B., and as he sailed up Long Island sound was boarded by a Hell Gate pilot, who wanted the captain to pay him five dollars (as there is no half pilotage law now) and he would leave him and not charge full rates. The captain, who is a live Yankee from Addison, Maine, knew a thing or two and told him when his vessel arrived off Sand's Point (where he could get a tug at the same rate) he could take charge of her as pilot. This the pilot declined, and left the schooner, and when she arrived at New York undertook to collect full pilotage on the ground that his services were declined. But the captain threatened to carry the matter before the Pilot Commissioners of New York, and his vessel did not incur the threatened attachment. Upon his arrival here Capt. Leighton went before a magistrate, with his mate and one of his crew, and stated all the circumstances under oath, and the evidence was on Monday sent to his New York consignee to be laid before the Pilot Commissioners.

It seems the pilot desired to be paid to leave the vessel in order that he could board others on the passage as they came up, and in like manner levy an assessment upon each arrival. These men cruise down the sound, beyond the points where the tugs are found, and seek to impose upon vessels bound through the Gate. But Capt. Leighton was equal to the occasion, and has done a good service to the eastern coasting interest by thus withstanding the attempted extortion. The New Yorkers have many men who are up to all such new moves upon vessels coming to that port, and the vessel owners of New England have paid no little sums of money to keep out of the courts. At any rate, a vessel that brings coal from New York to this port for eighty cents per ton cannot afford to pay port charges where no service is rendered and no equivalent received.

The Next Candidate for Congress.

Republican newspapers are favoring the abrogation of the custom and tradition which require candidates for Congress to reside in the district which they desire to represent. On this point the law and the constitution are silent. Any reform whereby the aggregate intelligence of our legislative bodies might be increased would be welcome to the people.—Exchange.

The system might work well at this time, in this District. The republicans could select some such man as Ex-Gov. Harriman, who would stump the District as a candidate, and instead of permitting the election to go by default, would redeem it by a handsome majority. All that would be needed, would be for the Governor to have his sea-side place in this vicinity, just as Butler did at Cape Ann, and the thing would be done. If the Governor is not willing, there is Austin F. Pike, one of the best men we have for a long time had in the House of Representatives. In fact, there are many men in the State who would carry the District if the plan was adopted to take the best man, no matter where in the State he resided. In the laws in force thirty years ago, the representative was obliged to be selected from inhabitants of the same district. This was omitted in the law of 1852, and in the subsequent revision of the laws upon that subject. It might send a valuable man to Congress. The democratic papers now give out that Mr. Jones is to run for the third term, and the sooner the man that desires the opportunity to contest the election with him is put in training, the better for the republican party.

Fit For the Place.

In view of the probability that the United States Senate will be under Democratic control after the 4th of next March, a small army of place-hunters are already making applications for the positions which it is expected will then become vacant. As is usual, however, the Senators who expect to be in the majority declare that no radical change will be made in either the Secretary's or Sergeant-at-Arms department. If the programme is carried out, Mr. James B. Young, the present incumbent, who has admirably filled the position for years past, will be retained as Executive Clerk, and none of the gentlemen who serve under him will be interfered with. There is no doubt, however, that the present Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms will be removed. Both Mr. Gorham and Col. French are well known as pronounced and influential partisans, and they have never expected to retain their places. For the Secretaryship, a position which comes fully up to the Irishman's notion of "a job with plinty of pay and nothing to do," there are, of course, many candidates. Mr. Henry M. Watterson, of Kentucky, is at the head of the list, and his friends profess that there is no doubt that he will be selected. He would fill the position admirably. For Sergeant-at-Arms it is stated that John G. Thompson, who is at present Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, is the head candidate. Those who are best informed of what is going on in the capital, however, join in the opinion that Mr. James Cristy, one of the present employes of the Senate, will go to the place. United States Senators want a great deal of waiting upon, and John G. Thompson is not quite the person to understand all their little peculiarities.—N. Y. Times.

Barring a pretty bad spelling of our friend Christie's name, the above view of the situation is correct. Mr. Christie's friends in the democratic party in the Senate are none the less appreciative of his powers and capabilities than are those on the republican side. He knows the duties of the place and something more, and we have great confidence in the Senatorial estimate of his capacity. As the projector of a senatorial clam-bake he would be unrivalled, and serve out more champagne and cigars under the head of contingent expenditures, mileage and stationery than could his ablest competitor.

News and Notes.

Isaac Hammill went to John Angelo's farm house near Jacksonville, Ill., at midnight on Sunday, and asked to see Angelo's daughter. In answer Angelo ordered his son Jason, aged fourteen years, to shoot Hammill, and the son blew Hammill's head to pieces with a shot-gun. The father and son were arrested.

The little boat Nautilus, from Boston for England, passed the Scilly islands on Monday, forty-five days out. All well.

Barque Norena, Capt. Chase, of Portland, from Mantanzas, has put into Fernandina, Fla., with the second mate and cook dead, and the first mate and three seamen sick with yellow fever.

Whaling barque Atlantic, Capt. Wing, of New Bedford, at Mauritius, June 17th, reports the loss of two boats' crews, (twelve men), a week before. They had killed whales, hung on to them during the night, and were probably swamped by a storm which came up.

Wisconsin's offer of $100,000 for a successful steam road wagon has produced one which has hauled a wagon weighing 3500 pounds over the 200 miles from Fort Howard to Madison in thirty-three hours or over six miles an hour.

The Boston Post of Tuesday says: "A searching inquiry at Utica, N. Y., yesterday, failed to develop any facts which would throw light on the story of a shocking outrage on a Boston lady which was supposed to have taken place in that city recently. Several versions of a supposed outrage have been given within a few days. The first was to the effect that a daughter of a Boston clergyman had been abducted from a train on the Boston and Albany Railroad, and had been taken to a house of ill-repute in Worcester and robbed. A second version was to the effect that the outrage had been perpetrated between Albany and Pittsfield, and that afterwards the lady had been found in the woods, almost crazy. This story was promptly denied by the family of the lady whose name had been given. The latest version is now said to be false, by the fact no one can be found in Utica who knows anything of the affair, and the officials of the road are equally ignorant."

A very dangerous $100 counterfeit note on the Pittsfield National Bank of Pittsfield, Mass., has just been discovered by the National Bank of Redemption division of the Treasurer's office. No notice of any kind has appeared of this counterfeit. It is evidently made from the same plate as the recent $100 counterfeit, but is better printed, and the numbering is excellent. All notes of this bank of this denomination should be carefully examined before being received. All notes of this issue will be withdrawn from circulation as rapidly as possible.

On Saturday a young man, apparently a mulatto sailor, attempted to outrage a young girl near the Merrimac river opposite Newburyport, but fled on the approach of the girl's mother. In the evening a man supposed to be the same offered violence to an Irish girl at the beach, but was driven off after receiving some hard knocks from the girl.

A large steamer, supposed to be the Lake Megantic, was seen ashore on Anticosti island on Sunday.

Whaling barque Tropic Bird got on shore on the south end of Long Shoal, Vineyard Sound, on Monday. Assistance was sent to her from New Bedford. She had 1200 barrels of oil on board.

Miss Minnie Stevens, daughter of the late Paran Stevens, was married in London on Friday to Lord Arthur Henry Paget.

The labor troubles in Washington have ended, and the leading "reformers" have been sent to the workhouse for sixty days.

A young man named Reynolds, living on Greenville street, Boston Highlands, after being treated a month for cancer in the stomach, and growing very thin on a light diet, became disgusted and ate a hearty meal, which his stomach at once ejected, and with it a lizard two and a half inches long.

During the unavoidable absence of Constructor Pook from the Boston navy yard, the department at the yard will be under the management of Constructor John F. Hanscom.

While Eli Edgcomb and wife, residing in the Nonesuch district, Saco, were out milking their cows Sunday evening, some one entered their house and stole fifty dollars in money. On returning to the house after milking they discovered that some one had been there, and going to their bed room found that a chest had been forced open. In a wallet in the chest they had left $95. Of this the thief took fifty, and left the balance. In the bottom of this same chest was a bag containing $200 in gold and silver, but that was not disturbed.

Anderson, the "red-headed night editor" and champion perjurer of the Potter committee—at least he was the champion perjurer until the committee "went him one better" by producing Weber—is now on the literary staff of the Washington Post, the democratic organ at the National Capital.

Milestones on the Road to Health.

The recovery of digestion and the resumption of activity by the liver, bowels and kidneys are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health. They speedily become perceptible when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used by the invalid. Nothing so surely and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal. As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the health of the system, so the system can never acquire perfect vigor, health's synonym, until that function be actively resumed. Take, for instance, digestion, a suspension of which is invariably rectified by the Bitters. If the organs upon which it devolves grow weak, biliousness, constipation, headache, poverty of the blood, and a hundred other symptoms supervene, which indicate unmistakably the baneful general influence of dyspepsia. The disappearance of all these symptoms through the use of the Bitters shows with what thoroughness it removes their cause.

Anti-Fat Chemically Examined.

The analytical chemist, W. B. DRAKE, of Buffalo, N. Y., recently analyzed Allan's Anti-Fat, and gave the following

CERTIFICATE.

I have subjected Allan's Anti-Fat to chemical analysis, examined the process of its manufacture, and can truly say that the ingredients of which it is composed are entirely vegetable, and cannot but act favorably upon the system, and it is well calculated to attain the object for which it is intended. W. B. DRAKE, Chemist.

PORTSMOUTH, GREAT FALLS AND CONWAY R. R. MEETING.

At eleven o'clock on Tuesday forenoon, in the Elm street ward-room in this city, Gen. Rockwell called the stockholders of this road to order, and Mr. Hackett, the clerk, read the call for the meeting. President Rockwell began to read a statement, when J. W. Emery, Esq., stated that perhaps with a little delay some adjustment of the differences might be made. It was decided that it was best to read the statement, which was as follows:

The circumstances which have led to the calling of this meeting are probably already well understood, yet to prevent misapprehensions and enable the stockholders to act intelligently in view of all the facts, the directors deem it their duty to lay before them an exact statement of the financial condition of the corporation. The entire debt of the corporation is on account of construction. Its capital being insufficient to complete its road, the corporation from time to time borrowed money of the Eastern Railroad Company. By September, 1874, the aggregate of the advances of the E. R. R. Co. (exclusive of its subscriptions to stock) amounted to $1,000,000. In payment of this indebtedness the corporation issued to the E. R. R. $1,000,000 of its bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, and having twenty years to run from December 1st, 1872. After September, 1874, other advances continued to be made by the E. R. R., so that there is now due on current account without interest and after deducting sundry small payments and credits the sum of $14,396.54. No part of the interest on the $1,000,000 bonds issued as just stated has ever been paid by this corporation, consequently the total debt of the corporation, matured and maturing and made up as of June 1st, 1878, is as follows:

MATURED DEBT.

Over-due coupons on the $1,000,000 bonds	$385,000 00
Balance due E. R. R. in open account	14,396 54
Total of matured debt without interest	$399,396 54

MATURING DEBT.

Bonds due Dec. 1, 1892	$1,000,000
Coupons maturing to Dec. 1, 1892	1,015,000
	$2,015,000
Total of debt matured and maturing	$2,414,396 54

The assets of the corporation may be easily stated, though their exact value may be difficult to estimate. Of the $1,000,000 bonds issued as above stated, $514,000 were sold by the E. R. R. Co. with its guaranty of both principal and interest. The coupons becoming due on these bonds prior to Dec. 1st, 1877, were regularly paid by the E. R. R. Co. But under recent decisions of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, the E. R. R. is declared to be without right or power to continue the payment of interest on these bonds. It is further held by the same court that the E. R. R. cannot take up either bonds or coupons by issuing certificates of indebtedness for them. Thus the only assets of the corporation for the payment of debts are the road and other property of the corporation. These are subject, however, to the following incumbrances:

1st. Under the lease of Sept. 12th, 1870, a lease subsequently ratified by the Legislature of New Hampshire, all the property of the road is demised in the E. R. R. in New Hampshire for sixty-nine years from that date, the rental to be such dividends to the stockholders of this corporation, share for share, as the E. R. R. in New Hampshire pays its own stockholders, such dividends to be in lieu of and in full for all rent as well when the E. R. R. in New Hampshire makes a dividend to its own stockholders as when it does not.

2d. The E. R. R. Co., having paid and taken up the coupons due prior to Dec. 1, 1877, on the $514,000 bonds sold by it with its guaranty, has had since the summer of 1877 a first attachment of about $200,000 on all the rights, franchises and property of the corporation. Thus (the right of the stockholders to dividends under the lease of 1870 being excluded) the only assets of the corporation are the reversion in its road and other property—the right to hold and enjoy them after the lapse of sixty-one years.

The present value of this reversionary right it is of course almost impossible to estimate. If sold in the open market it is difficult to see how it could produce any considerable sum, and whatever it may be deemed to be worth, or might produce if sold, the secured claim of the E. R. R. Co. for the sum above mentioned would have to be satisfied in priority to any claims of the general creditors.

In this situation of the affairs of the corporation, the directors have called the stockholders together for the purpose of determining what their interests may require, and, anticipating that bankruptcy might be deemed the only practicable solution of the existing difficulties, they so framed the call for the meeting as to enable the corporation to take the necessary steps to go into bankruptcy if that course should be found advisable.

Mr. Willard P. Phillips of Salem, a director in the road and one of the trustees under the Eastern railroad mortgage, addressed the stockholders, stating the reason that caused the directors to call this meeting and inform the stockholders of the condition of the property. He said at the proper time he should move for an adjournment to the 14th of August. He alluded to the fact that the trustees of the Eastern railroad owed their appointment to the Court that made the decision about which so much comment has been made.

He was followed by Mr. Emery, who stated that there were other views entertained in relation to these bonds from those given in the directors' statement. There are bondholders who do not believe in the recent Massachusetts decision and are not bound by it. A suit involving precisely the same questions is now pending in the courts of New Hampshire. He could not say what the decision of that court would be, but that the Eastern railroad was to have this property for sixty-one years for nothing, and not account for any earning or profits, when the income of the E. R. R. in N. H. and the P., G. F. & C. railroad was pledged to pay these bonds, and when in the suit to which he referred, the E. R. R. Co. had admitted that these earnings were sufficient for this purpose, was it seemed to him improbable. He closed by seconding Mr. Phillips' motion.

The chair stated that the motion had not yet been offered. Mr. Phillips then made his motion to adjourn, which was seconded by Mr. Emery, and the meeting then adjourned to Wednesday, August 14th, at eleven o'clock A. M., at the same place.

THE CITY.

We are indebted to Henry A. Yeaton, Esq., for late Montreal and other Canada papers.

Owing to the rain of Tuesday work was delayed in placing the ways under the new schooner Mary E. Eldredge, and the launch is unavoidably postponed until Thursday.

The Lancaster is to be fitted for sea at this navy yard, and work on her will be shortly commenced.

The new schooner Cocheco, Capt. Seawards, from Bath for Baltimore with a cargo of ice, arrived in the lower harbor on Tuesday.

A small dwelling owned and occupied by John D. Hobbs, was destroyed by fire on Sunday, at North Hampton. Loss $300; no insurance.

The return game of base ball between the Rockingham nine of this city and the Farragut nine of Rye Beach, will take place at the beach Thursday afternoon.

Schooner Mary Hawes, Capt. Haskell, from Rondout with a load of cement, arrived at this port on Tuesday, and in attempting to make her berth ran aground on the spot where Fernald's lumber wharf once stood. The schooner Medford was chartered for forty dollars to lighter her cargo, and went alongside at once. The Mary Hawes will come off all right as soon as her cargo is out.

THE VICINITY.

Samuel Mellows of Newmarket, last surviving pensioner of the war of 1812 in that town, was buried on Saturday afternoon from the residence of his son, A. L. Mellows, Esq. He was a native of Middleton, and his age was eighty-three years.

As Benjamin Ellison's wife and daughter were driving along Water street in Exeter, Monday, a carriage was backed against their team in such a manner as to throw them out. Mrs. Ellison received a bad bruise on the head. The daughter was uninjured.

The Secretary of the Navy attended a complimentary clam-bake at Dover point on Monday afternoon, the steamer Emerald taking the party up the river. The "bake" was entirely successful, and greatly enjoyed by the distinguished visitors. It is reported that the Secretary has accepted an invitation to dine with Hon. Frank Jones before leaving this port.

The case of the Island Ledge House, at Wells beach, burned on February 17th, will undoubtedly go into the courts for a settlement of the insurance. There are seventeen companies, representing $29,000, who state fourteen reasons for declining to pay, the principal one being that the property was insured by W. A. Worster, whose interest was not stated, while the fact seems clear that the Somersworth Savings Bank of Great Falls, which should have been recognized through a mortgage-sale clause, was not known in interest until proofs of loss were made. This change in the title of the property was after the policies were issued and without advising the insurers. At this time the property was unoccupied, and the case is further complicated by two sets of policies, one set containing the clause, "other insurance permitted without notice," and the second set reading, "concurrent insurance permitted, not to exceed $24,000."

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it it the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Princess Salm-Salm.

The Princess Salm-Salm, a lady who had acquired quite an extended reputation, is dead at the age of 38 years. In early life, as Agnes LeClerq, she was well known as an equestrienne. In 1862 she was married to Prince Felix Constanstantine Alexander John Nepoucene Salm-Salm, who was General, Aide-de-Camp and Head of the Household under Maximilian during that unfortunate prince's career in Mexico. On the return of Prince Salm-salm and his wife to Europe, after the downfall of the Mexican Empire, the Princess was decorated with the Order of San Carlos. Her husband became a Major in the Prussian Grenadiers of the Guard, and was killed August 18, 1870, in an engagement with the French. Two years ago the widow married Mr. Heneage, a wealthy English gentlemen, who within a few months has been before the courts trying to obtain release from his engagement to settle upon her a certain dower and to make her an annual allowance, his ground of complaint being that she was greatly in debt at the time of their marriage, and had concealed the fact from him. The Princess has appeared as a writer, having published in 1875 portions of her husband's Mexican diaries. She has also published a book entitled "Ten Years of My Life."

—The tablet furnished by the State of Connecticut for the National Monument to the Pilgrims has arrived at Plymouth, and will be put into position at once. The statue of Morality cut by the Bodwell Granite Company of Hallowell, Me., will arrive on Monday and be put in place at once. The stone for the next statue is being quarried.

—Eliza Weathersby has been quite ill at Larchmont Manor, but has recovered and gone to Saratoga.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS
Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.
The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most delicate stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.
$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Pellets, I plead over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any period of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are pin up in chaff wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.
They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

WOMAN.
By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.
To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in staking both my reputation and my money on its merits.
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not sell as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, postpaid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Daily Chronicle.

Served 'Em Right.

On the morning of the 4th of July William Carroll and William Dunn were shot at East Cambridge, Mass., by a young man named John Devine, and both have since died. At the inquest on the death of Carroll, which was begun on the 30th ult., a witness named Reagan testified as follows: "Saw a crowd in the streets making a great noise, and they passed along the street until they came to Dailey's alley, when Devine, going in the opposite direction, met the crowd, which was taking up nearly the whole sidewalk. When he got to them they gathered around him; one shoved him this and another that way four or five times; some voice said, 'Let the man pass;' Devine turned around and faced them to avoid a blow and a kick that one man made at him; he got near the lamp-post and two of the party ran out into the street to head him off and the rest of the party made a rush at him; he pulled out a pistol and fired in the air; then some one said, 'There's nothing in it but powder,' and all cried out together, 'Kill him!' Devine then retreated about five yards and fired the second shot, the whole crowd pursuing him; he then retreated about five yards and fired the third shot, the crowd being still after him; heard a voice, 'I'm shot,' and Dunn was brought under my window; Carroll came up and said, 'Look at me; I'm shot too;' Devine never uttered a word; did not know any of the persons that were in the crowd." If this evidence is true Devine did just the proper thing in defending himself to the best of his ability from a drunken and ruffianly mob, regardless of what harm he might do his assailants.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1878.

Maine Republican Convention.

The Maine republicans held their State convention at Portland, July 30th. Gov. Connor was renominated by acclamation. The platform adopted is brief and to the point. It challenges the most rigid scrutiny into the republican management of the State finances and government for the twenty-two years the republican party has been in power; approves of "wise prohibitory legislation" in the interests of temperance, and says "it is a source of congratulation that the principle of prohibition, always upheld by the republicans, is now concurred in by so large a majority of the people that it is no longer a party question, the democrats for several years having declined to contest and dispute it;" it demands the full protection of all citizens of every State in the exercise of their rights, and warns the country of the danger of enabling the democrats to make a war-claim raid on the National treasury by giving the democratic party full control of Congress. On the financial question the platform is plain, the following being the planks referring to it:

"The republican party is committed to unremitting efforts not only to secure the legitimate results of the war, the sovereignty of the Union, the equal rights of all citizens and the free and untrammelled rights of suffrage, but also to redeem the pledges which the Government made to those who furnished the means or gave their services to save the Union, whether these pledges are in the form of bonds or greenback notes. We insist that both forms of the debt of the nation shall be paid with the same fairness and integrity with which the honest man seeks to pay his individual debts. We demand honest money for the people; our currency must be made as good as coin, and redeemable in it. The Government promised this. The republican party has legislated to perform it, and in the course of resumption, now nearly accomplished, there must not be steps sideways or backwards. We congratulate our fellow-citizens on the unmistakeable evidence that the near approach to the stable currency is preparing the way for an early permanent revival of business and industry, so long depressed by causes growing out of a gigantic civil war, among which a depreciated and fluctuating currency is most prominent, and greatly aggravated by mischievous agitation of demagogues in and out of Congress, for measures which, if adopted as the policy of the Government, would bring permanent disorder and ruin to business, discredit and dishonor upon the nation, and tend to subvert many of those principles which are fundamental to the existence of civilized society."

The last plank of the platform relates to the marine registration laws, and is as follows:

"The navigation laws which were enacted in the infancy of the republic have proved their wisdom by long and varied experience. They embody the matured judgment of three generations of commercial men. Any radical change in these laws, especially in regard to the registry and enrolment of shipping, would be detrimental to the highest interests of American commerce and a damaging blow at the naval independence of our country."

Reduce the Army.

The Army and Navy Journal compares the relative expensiveness of six army officers, travelling under orders, and a Congressional investigating committee going over the same route at public expense. The army officers handed in a bill of $5.25 for seven meals, with $1.50 for porterage, and the last charge was disallowed. The Congressmen, on the other hand, had a bill for the following items, that was paid:

2 cases of Mumm's Dry Verzenay, at $24 a case	$48
1 dozen 1838 brandy	36
200 imported cigars at $16	42
1½ dozen Vinto de Pastro Sherry	12
10½ pounds Stilton cheese at 70c	7 35
9 pounds Cheddar cheese at 80c	4 50
1 can cream crackers	1 25
1 can of Bent's water crackers	1 25
2 dozen assorted meats	12
2 large jars assorted pickles	1 50
1 trunk	4
1 dozen Old Stag whiskey	15
Hatchet and corkscrew	1 25
Total	$186 43

"Reduce the army to 10,000 men."

Superintendent vs. Scalper.

Superintendent Furber, of the Boston & Maine railroad, has issued a notice cautioning passengers to beware of all persons offering to sell tickets over the B. & M. at reduced rates. Detached coupons from tickets issued by connecting roads will not be received for passages on the trains of that road. The road has no outside agencies, and Mr. Furber seems determined to stop the trade of the scalpers as far as his line is concerned. He says money can be saved by purchasing tickets for points beyond Boston at the offices of his company. Mr. Furber in his contest with the strikers came off victorious, and with his determined energy the scalpers at Portland will ere long find their occupation gone.

The fare from Portland to New York is now by sound steamers six dollars, and by all rail routes eight dollars, including transfer across Boston. Excursion tickets to New York and return are sold over the Eastern and Boston & Maine roads for eleven dollars. The rates of fare are so low that outside parties cannot afford to deal in tickets unless they cheat some one.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29th.

The feeling of discourgement and discontent on the parts of hundreds of worthy, honest laborers of this city because of the scarcelty of labor at living, or, indeed, at any rates, has been taken advantage of by other hundreds of lazy, worthless vagabonds who wouldn't work at any price, to draw them into an unnatural alliance with the latter and into an attitude of hostility towards the constituted authorities, that Friday culminated in an attack on a few men at work for rates less than those prescribed by the commune. Encouraged at their success in forcing these few laborers to desist from work, the tramp and vagabond element was early on the ground Saturday morning to enforce the order that had been posted in conspicuous places to the effect that any laborer accepting work at less than $1.50 per day, would be shot or stoned to death. But the police authorities never acted with more promptness and efficiency. A force of more than 100, well armed, were at the menaced point Saturday morning. The very first demonstration made against the men who had gone to work contrary to the order above named, was the signal for an attack that soon dispersed the crowd; and the would-be-rioters were followed up and routed every time they sought to rally and make a stand. The cowardly sneaks who have done nothing but deliver incendiary harangues on the street corners here during the past six months, testified their devotion to the men they had exasperated up to the point of a lawless act of terrorism, by skulking to the rear out of harm's way. But several of them have been arrested. They completely wilted at the first grasp of the law, showing them to be anything but the dauntless spirits they had pretended, who could be implicity relied on to lead an emeute. They are just worthless, craven-spirited tramps. They mistook the forbearance which led the House of Representatives to allow them to utter their threats within its hearing on the east steps leading into the Capitol when the House was in session, for fear; and the tolerance of the officials here since, for cowardice. They are the sort of wretches who knock down and otherwise assault women who are at a safe distance from male defenders. They are of the class who beg from door to door assuming the most humble mein till they find a domicile only tenanted by women and children, when their real character becomes apparent by some act of wanton destruction, indecent assault or the butchery of these helpless victims. We have hundreds of that class here. Sympathy is with the law-abiding, but now enforced idlers. They are worthy of everything that can be done for their relief. But sympathy for the creatures who have been permitted for months to indulge in the most sanguinary threats towards every member of society who by industry has succeeded in accumulating something, would be criminal; and there is little felt for that class here. By "nipping it in the bud" as was done, we were likely saved a lamentable scene of bloodshed, murder, arson, pillage and nameless crimes whose contemplation must bring an involuntary shudder to every decent man or women. Nothing is more cruel than the mob under such leadership as the men who aspire to that distinction at the National Capitol.

There has been little change to note in the case of the imprisoned revenue officials in South Carolina, since the matter first became public. There is no doubt expressed that the Government will use what force is necessary to bring them before Judge Bond's U. S. Court for its action, though Judge Kershaw and all his white line associates, even that great and good man himself—"conciliated" Hampton—stand in the way. There can be little doubt from the attendant circumstances, that the Ku-Klux officials of that pestilential little community of blatant boasters, including Kershaw, have determined to test the disposition of the government to assert its supremacy and to defend its officials. Their action, in connection with the almost uniform approval of Jeff Davis' late secession drivel all over the south, is regarded as significant if not ominous. From anything known to the public there is no ground for supposing that Hampton has done aught to discourage the spirit of nullification rampant and defiant all over South Carolina; and if Kershaw keeps his word and is backed up by the white people as the Charleston papers assert will be the case, there seems to be no way of avoiding an armed collision.

In the absence of specific knowledge relative to the latest charges against Capt. Eads, it is fair to remember in his behalf that every man occupying the prominent place he has for the past few years, has a multitude of the most malicious enemies who scruple at nothing. Judged by his works Eads is a public benefactor so far as the general purport of the testimony of experts goes, and he should not be condemned unheard. KNOX.

News and Notes.

William Calhoun, thirteen years old, and Charles Storking, aged nine, were playing at Millerton, Conn., on the 26th ult., with an unloaded pistol, when it played them the trick unloaded weapons have played so many others—went off, put a bullet through Calhoun's hand and fatally wounded the other boy.

L. D. Atchinson, who fell a distance of two hundred feet from the trapeze bar of his balloon at Elmwood, Ill., recently, being killed instantly, was a veteran aeronaut and acrobat, having replaced Donaldson with Barnum's show. Some five years ago, while exhibiting in Kentucky, his balloon burst at an elevation of 2000 feet, but he clung to the pieces and escaped with his life, though he was badly injured.

The steamer "Leopard," wrecked on the Londoner near Cape Ann, was sold to a Boston man for $800. The company originally owning her expended $35,000 in vainly attempting to get her off. She had a new boiler put in last year at a cost of $15,000. The purchaser expects to get out some $30,000 worth of her machinery.

Daniel Pratt, the Great American Traveller, found a pocket book on the street in Lynn, took sixty dollars out of it and threw it away, and is in jail. Tappan stole $800,000 from the stockholders of a Boston corporation that trusted him implicitly, and is at large. Moral—

The Providence Journal is "sorry to hear, from a gentleman acquainted with the circumstances, that the report of the cruel outrage upon a highly respectable Boston lady, who was travelling on the New York Central railroad, is true, in all the material circumstances. A Utica dispatch attempts to discredit the story, but there is no doubt of the fact." The Boston papers attempt to discredit the truth of the story.

An engineer in the United States service has recently been in Newburyport, for the purpose of making a survey of the North Gangway rock, preparatory to blasting. The ledge, at its highest point, is only three or four feet from the surface at low water. It runs one hundred and fifty feet from the north pier, and is higher at the farther extremity from the pier, where the work is to be commenced. The contract is to be for removing the rock so that there shall be nine feet at low water. The ledge is a part of that on which the pier is built. These rocks are in the track of vessels.

There were twenty-four new cases of yellow fever in New Orleans on the 30th ult., and one death. Mail communication between New Orleans and Galveston is stopped. William Hines arrived in Cincinnati from New Orleans on the 27th ult., and feeling unwell went to a hotel; on the 30th he was taken to a hospital, his disease proving to be yellow fever. Quarantine regulations are being established on the Mississippi river, for boats from New Orleans.

Four colored men charged with murder were taken from jail at Monroe, La., July 30th, by a mob of several hundred masked men, and hung to a tree in the central square of the town. Two of the victims were under sentence to the penitentiary, and the others were awaiting trial. The verdict of the coroner's jury was "that said parties came to their death by hanging, done by parties unknown."

It has been discovered that parties in Massachusetts are engaged in defrauding the public by issuing illustrated catalogues for silver ware, jewelry, and an invention by which the manufacture of butter can be accomplished at a cost not exceeding four cents per pound.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean decares that the recent dispatch announcing that Geo. W. Burleigh, an infidel barber at Capron, Illinois, had blown his brains out at the conclusion of a lecture, was false. It says the story was written by Burleigh himself and sold to the Chicago Times for $7.50.

The Pekin, China, Gazette says of the terrible famine in that country: "In the earlier period of distress the living fed upon the bodies of the dead; next, the strong devoured the weak; and now the general destitution has arrived at such a climax that men devour those of their own flesh and blood. History contains do record of so terrible and distressing a state of things, and if prompt measures of relief be not instituted the whole region must become depopulated. Local sources of supply are entirely exhausted; the granaries are empty and the treasury drained dry, while the few wealthy people in the provinces have helped with contributions and loans till they themselves are impoverished."

John Unsworth, a cotton factory operative, quite well known in Fall River, Pawtucket, and other manufacturing places in that section, as an advocate of labor reform, co-operation, etc., escaped from Bridgewater, Mass., recently, where he was serving two years for being a tramp. He was pursued, but got in the woods and slept in a barn the first night, having nothing on but a pair of overalls. He robbed a scarecrow of its coat and put it on his own back. The next day a friend at Lonsdale furnished him with a better outfit.

Frank Sanford, eighteen years old, committed suicide in Thomaston, Conn., July 29th, by shooting. His mind had been unsound of late, and on the previous Sunday he tried, happily without success, to poison himself and the whole family by putting Paris green into a pot of coffee.

The little republic of Switzerland has an army of 120,000, organized in eight divisions. There are 95,000 infantry, 16,500 artillery, 3500 engineers, 2700 sanitary force and 2000 cavalry. Besides this, which is called the elite army, there is a landwehr of 92,000 men. What Switzerland does with all this military force does not appear.

A man was lately tried in Edinburgh, Scotland, for the murder of his own child, and it was proved that he was in a fit of somnambulism and quite unconscious when the deed was committed. He was dismissed with the understanding that his friends should see that in the future he slept alone and ran no risk of getting up in the night and killing somebody.

A Des Moines dispatch says that reports from various portions of the State give discouraging accounts of the wheat crop, but claim a good crop of other cereals. The farmers are working night and day and Sundays. Although tramps flood the State, men cannot be got to harvest for wages varying from $1.50 to $3.50 per day and board.

The British steamship Glamis Castle, bound from China for New York, has put into Signapore in distress. She had been four days on a hitherto unknown reef, and threw over $330,000 worth of tea before she got off.

—The editor of the St. Louis Journal is a politician and wants to run for something. He says, "constituency, thou art a jewel."

—A tramp went from Kentucky to Tennessee, passed himself off as an immigrant painter, got the work of painting the house of a widow worth $100,000, and soon after married her. Tramps are not altogether unenterprising.

THE CITY.

Republican mayoralty caucus to-day. See advertisement.

The bill amending the charter of this city, as amended by the Senate so as to be available at the coming election, was passed by the House on Wednesday.

Paymaster Albert W. Bacon, U. S. N., who came from Washington on the Tallapoosa, left this city with his wife on Monday for a brief visit to Mt. Desert.

A dispatch received last evening informs us that on account of the absence of a portion of the Farragut nine the base ball match proposed for to-day between that club and the Rockinghams of this city, at Rye Beach, is postponed.

The U. S. S. Ticonderoga was floated out of the dry dock at the navy yard on Wednesday, July 31st. She was taken under the sheers and masted before night, and moored in position to have work commenced for the putting in of her boilers.

Mr. Calvin Hutchins, of the Boston police, is on his annual visit to his friends in this city and Kittery. Mr. Hutchins has on several occasions since he was on the Boston force found himself in a tight place, but has each time shown himself the right man for it.

Mr. Solon Chase delivered a greenback lecture in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening, 30th ult., to an audience as large as could be comfortably seated. He is a vigorous speaker, and while his sentiments did not come up to the standard of the most "advanced" greenbackers he satisfied the bulk of the party.

United States despatch boat Tallapoosa left the navy yard at half-past six o'clock Wednesday morning, for Portland, with Secretary Thompson and party. The proposed trip to Halifax is given up, owing to the fatigue of the ladies accompanying the party. The Tallapoosa sails direct from Portland to New York.

The obsequies of the Portsmouth, Gt. Falls & Conway railroad were not completed at the gathering in this city on the 30th ult. President Rockwell pronounced the eulogy upon the supposed deceased offspring of the Eastern road, but the mourners desired further time in which to see if the corpse was past all hope of resuscitation.

Schooner M. E. Eldredge is to be launched from the old Raynes' shipyard by her builder, Mr. Wm. F. Fernald, at high water to-day. She is built of the best material in the most thorough manner; her planking and thick strake are unusually heavy for a vessel of her size, and the fastenings are correspondingly stout. Her length on the keel is 101 feet, over all 108 feet; breadth of beam thirty feet; depth of hold, twelve feet six inches. Her head stays are wire; other standing rigging of six and a half inch hemp. She is fitted throughout with the Norcross patent galvanized iron blocks, with steel hooks and pins; a peculiarity of these blocks is that the pins travel, and not the sheaves. Her spars were made by Mr. William R. Martin, and her sails and colors by Mr. Thomas S. Gay. The flags were presented by Mrs. Eldredge, wife of Hon. Marcellus Eldredge, in whose honor the vessel was named. The schooner has all the modern improvements in gear and fittings, and is in all respects a first class craft.

The little steam yacht Zilpha, of which mention was made in the CHRONICLE of the 30th ult. as having arrived at this port on the previous Sunday, (her name not being then given,) went to Portland on Monday, the 29th, and returned on Tuesday evening. She made the run from Portland to this port in eight hours, including an hour's detention at Cape Porpoise and York, her actual running time from wharf to wharf being seven hours. On the passage from Portland she encountered a very heavy sea, but made nothing of it, and the gentlemen on board of her speak in the highest terms of her behavior in a seaway. She attracted a great deal of attention on Wednesday, being visited by a large number of persons. She is twenty-four feet long and three feet three inches wide, and the amount of water she needs daily for her boilers is two bucketsful. Her usual speed when running is nine miles an hour, but when in a hurry she can go twelve without much crowding. There are three gentlemen on board, and they intend to steam up to Dover and about Great Bay, and then up the Merrimac, before returning.

THE VICINITY.

Dr. Linderman, director of the United States mint, is expected at Rye beach this week.

One of the best informed republicans in York county, Maine, where the inflation heresy has had a heavy run, puts the greenback vote at 1000, more than one half of which will come from the democrats.

According to the statement of the directors of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad, the Eastern railroad has paid a large sum as interest on Conway bonds for which it turns out that the Eastern was under no legal liability, and for which it has sought to obtain security by attaching the Conway road. In other words, the Eastern road appears to have squandered two hundred thousand dollars in paying voluntarily what it was not bound to pay, and which it now seeks to have repaid by the aid of the law.

THE GREENBACK CAUCUS.

The greenback party of this city caucussed at the Court House on Wednesday evening. The meeting was called to order by James Janvrin, president of the greenback club; George E. Hodgdon was chosen moderator, and Michael R. Perkins secretary. On motion of William Conn, proceeded to ballot for a candidate for mayor, with the following result:

Whole number of votes	133
Necessary for a choice	67
Albert A. Fernald had	1
Andrew B. Sherburne	16
Joshua Stackpole	20
Luther E. Martin	96

And Luther E. Martin was declared the nominee of the caucus, the nomination being then made unanimous on motion of Mr. Conn. A committee waited upon Mr. Martin, who appeared in the hall and accepted the nomination, amid cheers for "the next mayor of Portsmouth." A committee of three from each ward was appointed to nominate candidates for aldermen and councilmen, and reported the following list, which was adopted:

WARD ONE.

Aldermen—Joseph Parry, James M. Goodrich, William F. Fernald.

Councilmen—Marcus M. Collins, William Critchley, Jr., Asa T. Walker, John H. Rose, Herbert W. Sheldon.

WARD TWO.

Aldermen—James R. Morrison, Geo. B. Mudge, Edward J. Moulton.

Councilmen—George E. Stearns, Lewis Green, James H. Hurd, David Flynn, James Sanborn, Edward T. Morrison.

WARD THREE.

Alderman—Andrew B. Sherburne.

Councilmen—Benjamin Tripp, William H. Haddock,

WARD FOUR.

Aldermen—James Janvrin, Joshua Stackpole.

Councilmen—Charles W. Martin, Elisha B. Grover, J. Wylie Coleman, Addison Carroll.

Maine Greenback Convention.

At the greenback convention for the first Congressional district of Maine, at Portland, Wednesday, 209 delegates were in attendance. J. H. Harriman of Sanford presided, and Edward H. Gove was nominated as candidate for Representative. The democrats do not relish this nomination at all, as they cannot support Gove; they favored the nomination of Gen. Anderson, a hard-shelled democrat, in which case the democratic convention would have endorsed him at its meeting in Biddeford to-day.

Political.

The democracy of Maine are coquetting with the greenbackers, and the hard-money Post of Boston advises a coalition between the "mint-drops" party and the "fiat-money" men of that State. The republicans of Maine in convention unanimously resolve that the national honor must be maintained by the honest payment of all honestly owed debts, and for a currency as good as coin and redeemable in it.

Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, next to Lee the oldest of the confederate generals, and one of the ablest leaders of the confederacy, will be a member of the next Congress from Virginia.

The Georgia Chronicle and Constitutionalist agrees with Jeff. Davis in principle, but says: "If the south could leave the Union without firing a shot, she would not do it. The Union means to her, now, profit and domination beyond her hopes, and at the expense of her bitterest foes, who have been blown up by their own torpedo."

Voorhees' campaign out in Indiana is directed, not only against his natural political opponents, but against Governor Hendricks also. He makes no concealment of his enmity to Hendricks, and it has become a distinctive feature of the canvass.

—Some very remarkable traits of intelligence have recently been observed in the large chimpanzee of the New York aquarium. It is a known fact that the discharge of firearms causes considerable uneasiness to all the members of the monkey tribe, frequently frightening them so badly as to cause death. There is a performance on the stage of the aquarium in which a pistol is used, and for fully five minutes' preceding its discharge the chimpanzee is on the watch for the moment of its report, and his actions meanwhile are precisely those of a child under like circumstances. He will get to the farthest corner of his cage and watch the stage intently, then suddenly rush back to a place where a view of the performance can be had, and just as the pistol is about to be fired he will seek the far corner and actually place his hands over both ears to exclude the noise of the pistol's explosion. As soon as the noise has taken place the chimpanzee will run briskly to the glass side and peer intently at the stage again as if endeavoring to ascertain the cause of so much commotion.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Aug. 27, '77.

DR. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Your Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets have cured me of the worst form of chronic liver complaint of ten years' standing. I had tried every physician of whom I could hear, and every remedy that was recommended, but gradually grew worse, until I could hardly move around. I did not expect to live thirty days, but, thanks to your remedies, I am now well and strong. Yours truly,

MANLY MAXIN.

Fat People Easily "Sunstruck."

Fat people are not only liable to sudden death from heart disease, apoplexy, etc., but statistics show that they are more liable than others to "sunstrokes" and affections arising from extreme heat. An extensive experience in the treatment of corpulence has resulted in the introduction of Allan's Anti-Fat, a safe, certain and speedy remedy for the cure of this terrible condition. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. If corpulent people who are exposed to the rays of the sun value life and a comfortable existence, let them use Allan's Anti-Fat. Sold by druggists.

Milestones on the Road to Health.

The recovery of digestion and the resumption of activity by the liver, bowels and kidneys are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health. They speedily become perceptible when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used by the invalid. Nothing so surely and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal. As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the health of the system, so the system can never acquire perfect vigor, health's synonym, until that function be actively resumed. Take, for instance, digestion, a suspension of which is invariably rectified by the Bitters. If the organs upon which it devolves grow weak, biliousness, constipation, headache, poverty of the blood, and a hundred other symptoms supervene, which indicate unmistakably the baneful general influence of dyspepsia. The disappearance of all these symptoms through the use of the Bitters shows with what thoroughness it removes their cause.

Army and Navy officers make their headquarters at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia. So do leading business men from all sections, while for families and large parties of travellers it also offers unequalled attractions.

"A stitch in time saves nine." A dose of Adamson's Balsam in season may prevent a long cold or fever, and perhaps a resultant death. It cures coughs, colds, asthma, and all lung troubles. Keep it in the house. Price 25 cents.

The causes of charity and education are always worthy of a hearing, but when the public read the following experience, many will write to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, with a view of following the example:

The undersigned was the holder of Whole Ticket No. 31,079, in the Louisiana State Lottery, which drew the First Capital Prize of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, on Tuesday, June 11th, 1878, said ticket having cost the sum of Ten Dollars, and the amount was promptly paid on presentation of the ticket at the office of the Company.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Abel Stone's bakery in Keene was burned on the night of the 29th ult. Loss $2000; partially insured. Walter Mansfield was run over by a hose carriage and seriously injured.

Hubbard Zoller, the Claremont grocer who disappeared last week and whose friends feared foul play, it is now supposed ran away with a woman he had no right to, leaving his lawful wife behind.

There was an important post mortem examination at Hanover, Sunday, July 28th, on the body of Jason Patteo, aged 71. In 1827, Dr. R. D. Muzzey legated both carotid arteries for the purpose of rendering the removal of a bleeding tumor in the back of the head less dangerous. The tumor was subsequently removed. It was the first operation of the kind ever performed. The main point intended by the post mortem was to ascertain how nature furnished new conductors of blood for the brain. The vertebral arteries were distended and had performed their own natural functions as carotids.

Base Ball.

The contest for the League pennant this season surpasses in interest that of any season since the League Association was organized. The six competing clubs are more evenly matched than before, and, what could not be said of the season of 1877, the play has been "on the square." Another feature of this season's campaign has been the increasing doubt as to the ultimate result as the closing part of the race approaches. As between Boston, Chicago and Cincinnati, occupying respectively first, second and third places in the record of won games up to date, there is yet so much margin left to rally on as to leave it quite uncertain as to which will be first and which second at the end of the race. The Milwaukee club is practically out of the race, it being a struggle more between the nine from Indianapolis and the Providence club as to which shall stand fourth at the close.

Of the twenty-six games the Boston club have yet to play seven are with the Milwaukee and six with the Indianapolis, two clubs which have thus far been unable to win a single game from the champions, whereas the Chicago team have finished their series with the Milwaukees and have but three games to play with the Indianapolis nine, and the Cincinnati club have finished their series with the Indianapolis nine and have six games to play with the Milwaukees. It will thus appear that the Chicago and Cincinnati clubs have to play the majority of their remaining games with the stronger teams of the six competitors, while the Bostons have to play theirs with the weakest. This would look like certain victory in store for the champions were it not for the "glorious uncertainty" of the game, which leaves nothing sure as a basis of calculation except the certainty of defeat in the case of bad management or dishonest play.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS
Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.
The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking bulky, repletive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and delicate tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.
$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets, we first so specify a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.
They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

WOMAN.
By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.
To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, fingered it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it, for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Daily Chronicle.

Irreverent Nevadans.

The Bodie Standard says that Bishop Whittaker of Virginia City has been paying pastoral visits to the ungodly towns of Tybo and Ward, Nevada. At Tybo he could secure no other place for divine worship than a gambling hell. In response to the litany, in place of "Amen," an excited individual, with his pants in his boots, exclaimed "Keno!" At Ward, a horse race had been appointed for the afternoon, and the reverend gentleman would have been quite deserted but that the head men put off the race until after the "preachin'," in consequence of which considerate attention the Bishop had a good congregation. The hardy miners enjoyed the preaching very much. It was to them quite a feast, but the subsequent horse race was the dessert.

—Charley E. Michael, a Baltimore schoolboy, has met a singular death, resulting from the pinching of his arm by the mother of a mate with whom he had quarrelled. His arm swelled so in a few days that he was removed to the hospital, and his parents refusing to have it amputated, death soon followed.

—Kentucky has a tardy and singular triumph of justice. Grove Kennedy, a desperado, committed murder, and defied anybody to interfere with him. He appeared at one of the most fashionable watering places of the State, so inert was the sense of justice in the community. The Governor, after his attention had been called to the case by the newspapers, resolved to see whether the law could be enforced. He sent a detective officer, who, by a stratagem, arrested Kennedy, and hurried him to Louisville. There being no assurance that the local officers would prevent a rescue, the Governor returned the prisoner to the court having jurisdiction to try him, escorted by a company of the State guard. This military company had to remain on duty during the trial, and maintain the majesty of the law at the point of the bayonet. The trial miscarried, so that a new trial was ordered. This time Kennedy was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1878.

News and Notes.

In December last there was a terrible explosion in the candy factory of Greenfield & Sons, New York city, which is now for the first time explained. James Gresham had an office in the factory of Greenfield & Sons, and now it appears that Gresham has discovered and manufactures a terrible explosive, made from asphalt charged with electricity, which has a power far in excess of any other known explosive. He sells it only to the Russian government. It is now believed that it was this explosive which caused the disaster, though Gresham denies that there was any of his manufacture in the building at the time it occurred.

There is so much yellow fever at New Orleans, eighty cases and thirty-three deaths having been reported, that clear bills of health are now refused ships sailing from that port.

Steamer Lake Megantic, before reported ashore on Anticosti island, is a total loss. She was an iron vessel of 1446 tons register, and was owned in Canada. All hands were saved, and one hundred of her cargo of cattle.

E. M. Orr, a gambler at Little Rock, Ark., shot his lawyer, J. B. McLaughlin, fatally, because the latter held the former's valise for services rendered him in a recent trial. Orr was arrested.

R. S. Spofford of Newburyport has returned from Washington, where he sought a permit for the British steamer Frederickton to run on the Merrimac. The law is dead against her.

The lately arrived autocrat of the New York Herald office lingered in the editorial rooms very late one night, and all the fellows supposed that he wouldn't turn up again until next day at dusk, anyhow. But Bennett was nosing and slashing around at six in the morning, and kept it up until noon. The fellows were late of course. The only responsible man who appeared on time was City Editor Meighan. "Meighan," said the young man, "consider your salary doubled, draw it four weeks in advance and take a month's vacation." So Meighan and his family are now inhaling the White Mountain air.

The President has issued a proclamation that our government and that of Britain, with a view to the reciprocal protection of marks of manufacture and trade in the two countries, have agreed that subjects or citizens of each shall have in the other the same rights as belong to native subjects or citizens, or as now granted or may hereafter be granted to subjects and citizens of the most favored nation, in everything relating to property in trade marks and trade labels. It is understood that any person who desires to obtain this protection must fulfill the formalities required by the laws of the especti ve countries.

A meeting of the creditors of the Boston Belting Company was held Wednesday, at which an investigating committee reported a grand total of liabilities of $979,588.92, good assets of $534,364.86 and questionable assets of $351,000. It was voted that the company go into bankruptcy. An agreement between John G. Tappan, Henry F. Durant and J. H. Cheever has been brought to light, which shows that Mr. Durant, the President of the company, was cognizant of the operations of Mr. Tappan.

At last the boat-race at St. John, N. B., between Hanlan and Ross, is done with, ending in an inglorious fizzle on Wednesday. After numerous delays and much talk the two carsmen started at five o'clock, but before they had pulled over half the course Ross capsized his boat and floundered in the water until he was picked up, while Hanlan quietly rowed to the end.

A private bank at Bloomington, Ill., was robbed Tuesday night, July 29th, and bonds valued at $16,000 were carried off, and $4000 in currency.

Some of the chaplains in the navy are reported in a very bad way, drinking, gambling, and so dissipated generally that some commanders of vessels petition for their removal on account of their bad influence on the service. The navy department is going to investigate.

New Hampshire Items.

Mrs. H. F. Messer, of Grafton, fell in stepping from a load of hay to the scaffold on Wednesday, and broke her thigh.

John Lecair and his little daughter went from attic to basement of White's Mill in East Jaffrey on a runaway elevator. Both were taken up for dead, but fortunately escaped serious injury.

The cotton mills of the Exeter Manufacturing Company will start up again Monday, having been closed about one month. A large quantity of goods has been sold and shipped since the mills closed.

The Nashua people are surprised because the complaint of attempted murder of an infant by Mary Ann Tobin was withdrawn, and a new one issued for wilful neglect, to which she pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. The infant was found in an unoccupied house, where it had been from Tuesday morning to Thursday noon without nourishment; and a handkerchief was tied about its neck with evident intent to strangle it, though it was too loosely tied to effect that end.

Mrs. Margaret Fernald of North Hampton, whose age is 77 years, is the youngest of eighteen children, she being the only survivor. Her mother was over 100 years old at the time of her death, and her father 84, who supported his family entirely by his own hands. One of her sisters reached the advanced age of 96 years.

The remains of United States Senator Moses Norris, who died in Washington in January, 1855, were exhumed at Manchester Wednesday, and will be buried in Pittsfield, his native place. A suitable monument will be erected by his townsmen.

The greenback movement is attracting considerable attention in Manchester, and at the present rate of progress is liable to interfere somewhat with the calculation of old party leaders. A large meeting was held Wednesday evening in City Hall. Speeches were made by E. B. Hazen of Manchester and William Weaver of Nashua.

It is said one hundred and fifty pounds of bugs have been picked this season on the potato patch of the Insane Asylum at Concord.

A large spider was captured at Washington, in this State, a few days ago, while crossing one of the streets. It was placed in a wide-mouthed bottle, and the distance between its feet while standing still was two inches, and it carried upon its back upwards of fifty young spiders. It resembled a mouse in size, when crossing the street.

In Fremont, a few days ago, the engineer in Spaulding's mill had his pocket-book stolen from a chest in the mill. It contained about $50 in cash, with papers valued at $500. A few hours after discovering his loss he fell into the large driving-wheel of the engine, and was seriously injured, breaking two ribs and receiving internal injuries.

Since the fire at the St. Paul's school at Concord, the $600 communion service has been missing and is thought to have been purloined.

There is a small-pox excitement in Raymond. Thus far six cases are reported.

Political.

In Farmingham, Ill., the other day the farmers were so intent in harvesting that they could not afford to take time to go and vote for a police magistrate. The low and idle population of the place seized the opportunity and elected an ex-convict just out of jail, to fill the place. When it was too late the industrious, decent men were very much excited. This is a good item for intelligent citizens to cut out and read just before every election.

Gen. Massacre C. Butler, the hero of the Hamburg butchery and now United States Senator, has delivered a speech in South Carolina. It contains the usual amount of bluster about himself. He felt justified in promising that before he had concluded his term he would satisfy Congress that it was bound to recognize South Carolina as an independent sovereign State; he was determined that people should know that there is such a spot on earth as South Carolina. The people found that out a good while ago. What they are learning now from Butler, Hampton and Kershaw is that it is the same State that it always was—brimful of the sentiment which bred secession.

Four States will hold elections during the month of August: North Carolina and Tennessee on the 1st, Kentucky on the 5th, and Alabama on the 6th. The republicans have practically abandoned all these States to the democrats. In North Carolina there is but little interest beyond the election of a Legislature, which will elect Mr. Merrimon's successor in the United States Senate. Justices of the Supreme Court are also to be elected. The election in Tennessee will be for judges. In Kentucky only county officials and minor officers will be voted for. Alabama elects a full State ticket.

Hon. Wm. P. Frye was renominated by acclamation on the 31st ult. by the republicans of the second Congressional district of Maine, and Hon. Llewellyn Powers in the fourth district.

The democratic journals have latterly dwelt largely upon an alleged affidavit of Eliza Pinkston, contradicting her previous statements concerning her treatment and the killing of her husband. It now proves that she made no such statement, although a democratic agent offered her $200 and democratic protection—which means a great deal to a negro in Louisiana—if she would so testify before the Potter committee.

General Sypher was before the Potter committee yesterday, but developed nothing of interest. The committee should investigate Tilden's cipher. That might pan out rich.—Indianapolis Journal.

Ben. Butler owns a yacht. It is some consolation to know that no owner of a yacht has ever been chosen President of the United States.—Baltimore Gazette.

—What can pass before the sun without making a shadow?—The wind.

—A Syracuse man calls his wife Sluggard, because she gets mad and goes to her aunt every time he stays out to the lodge.

Milestones on the Road to Health.

The recovery of digestion and the resumption of activity by the liver, bowels and kidneys are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health. They speedily become perceptible when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used by the invalid. Nothing so surely and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal. As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the health of the system, so the system can never acquire perfect vigor, health's synonym, until that function be actively resumed. Take, for instance, digestion, a suspension of which is invariably rectified by the Bitters. If the organs upon which it devolves grow weak, biliousness, constipation, headache, poverty of the blood, and a hundred other symptoms supervene, which indicate unmistakably the baneful general influence of dyspepsia. The disappearance of all these symptoms through the use of the Bitters shows with what thoroughness it removes their cause.

Fat People Easily "Sunstruck."

Fat people are not only liable to sudden death from heart disease, apoplexy, etc., but statistics show that they are more liable than others to "sunstrokes" and affections arising from extreme heat. An extensive experience in the treatment of corpulence has resulted in the introduction of Allan's Anti-Fat, a safe, certain and speedy remedy for the cure of this terrible condition. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. If corpulent people who are exposed to the rays of the sun value life and a comfortable existence, let them use Allan's Anti-Fat. Sold by druggists.

Army and Navy officers make their headquarters at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia. So do leading business men from all sections, while for families and large parties of travellers it also offers unequalled attractions.

"A stitch in time saves nine." A dose of Adamson's Balsam in season may prevent a long cold or fever, and perhaps a resultant death. It cures coughs, colds, asthma, and all lung troubles. Keep it in the house. Price 85 cents.

Large sums of money have been made in Wall street by persons shrewd enough to invest at the right time. The old house of Alex. Frothingham & Co., brokers, 12 Wall st., N. Tetter Flies and so do diseases of the skin when that incomparable purifier of the cuticle and beautifier of the complexion, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, is used to disperse them. Pimples, blotches, sores and bruises, and the like are invariably removed by it.

THE CITY.

Samuel Rowe, Esq., of the Capitol police at Washington, D. C., is at home on a thirty days vacation.

We are informed that Mr. Clement March, formerly of this city and of Greenland, died on July 21st at his farm near Charleston, West Virginia.

Mr. William H. Gardiner of this city, a graduate of Dartmouth, has declined the position of Principal of the academy at Washington in this State, tendered him by a unanimous vote of the trustees of the school.

Schooner M. E. Eldredge was launched at two o'clock Thursday afternoon, leaving the ways beautifully and being brought up almost without effort, having on just the right amount of speed. The schooner sits the water handsomely, and is a beautiful vessel. A large number of persons were on the bridge and Noble's island, to witness the launch.

The Boston papers of Thursday authoritatively announce that Hon. Frank Jones cannot "in justice to himself run for Congress again," but that "if his life is spared he will hold himself in readiness at all times to perform his whole political duty, especially to help to carry New Hampshire next November, and to elect a President in 1880." As we interpret this, it means that Mr. Jones will not again be a candidate for Congress from the first district, but will be a candidate for governor next fall.

There was a heavy sea in the bay on Wednesday, and as the gallant Secretary of the Navy steamed out of the harbor in the Tallapoosa he was saluted by the heavy swell of old Neptune's bosom. In fact, the Indiana seaman had seen enough. In the smooth and placid seas of a calm day all was enjoyment and comfort, but now the turbulent waves beat high, and the Dover point clams or something of the kind caused an uneasiness in the official system. In fine, the Secretary concluded that he had seen enough of a life on the ocean wave for the present, and would not journey further east by sea, so he ordered the Tallapoosa to be headed for Cape Ann, where she arrived before Wednesday night. Several of the party think they will enjoy the return back, if taken by rail.

A yawl boat loaded down almost to the gunwale with rockweed, and managed by two men, came up the river from below on Wednesday, apparently bound for some point above Portsmouth bridge, and hugging the Noble's island shore pretty closely as though intending to go through the first span of the bridge. In passing the end of the Eastern railroad wharf she went a trifle too close to the stern of the schooner Active, and the schooner's mainboom took the end of the boat's mast and tipped her crew and her cargo of rockweed into the river. The shipwrecked mariners were picked up by men from the schooner, and their boat towed ashore; and as soon as they got her free of water they started straight off down river after another load of rockweed.

On Wednesday Col. Kent discovered that two of his prisoners at the jail, Frank Ward and John Haley, were engaged in an attempt to escape, and had already made fair progress at digging through the stone wall. They were at once placed in safer quarters, and may consider themselves certainly booked for trial at the October term of the Supreme Court, whose sitting they are confined to await. Wednesday evening State Detective Ayers of Massachusetts was at the jail, and fully identified Ward as Charles W. Taylor of Newburyport, a noted character but not a good one. Ward and Haley are the fellows who were captured at Breakfast Hill, Rye, some time ago, while asleep, with a stolen horse and wagon in their possession, the wagon being loaded with the proceeds of thirteen burglaries committed in one night on the way from Concord to Rye.

The two noted liquor detectives, Drake and Webster, who have made such a stir in the middle of the State by their prosecutions for liquor selling, and were recently mobbed in Newmarket, do not depend on any lawyer of the locality where they are operating to draw up their complaints and warrants against the dealers. They have a lot of printed ones, carefully drawn up, and requiring only the dates, names and special circumstances to be inserted, and this they attend to themselves, so there is no chance of the complained-of dealer getting off through a defect in the document. Unless our information is widely incorrect, a good many of these blanks have already been filled out with the names of liquor dealers in this city; but just when the earthquake will come off we are not aware.

The foundation of stone and cement for the foghorn tower at Whale's-back was finished on Saturday, 27th ult., and on Sunday at low tide the workmen made ready for setting up the first section (ten feet in length) of the iron tower, which was put in place at low tide on Monday. At high tide Tuesday there was a heavy sea, which swept around the light-tower with such force as to smash three of the heavy castings of the new tower to pieces, delaying the work of erection until duplicate castings, which were immediately sent for, are received from Portland.

The match game of base ball between the Granite State club of this city and the Our Boys of Newmarket, which was originally set for Tuesday, 30th ult., was postponed on account of the welcome rain that day. But the match is not given up, and if the weather is fair a big team will leave Market square at nine o'clock this morning for Newmarket, taking the Granite States and enough others to fill the seats.

Two pairs of ladies' kid slippers, handed in to the police station Thursday afternoon, await their owner on call and proof of ownership.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

The republican mayoralty caucus was held at the Court House on the afternoon of Thursday, the polls being opened at four o'clock and closed at eight. Four tickets were in the field, bearing the names of Thomas E. Call, Jeremiah F. Hall, Henry A. Yeaton and William H. Sise. Mr. George W. Pendexter was chairman, and the checklist was used. The result of the ballot was as follows:

Whole number of votes	460
Necessary for a choice	231
William R. Preston had	1
John H. Broughton	1
John H. Locke	1
Lowell Jenness	1
William E. Hadley	3
Henry A. Yeaton	12
Thomas E. Call	34
William H. Sise	188
Jeremiah F. Hall	219

And there was no choice. The caucus then adjourned to four o'clock Saturday afternoon, when the polls will be opened and kept open until eight o'clock in the evening.

The republicans of ward four held their caucus at the Court House at half-past seven o'clock Thursday evening, and nominated candidates as follows:

Aldermen—John E. Ham, John Nutter.

Councilmen — Lafayette V. Newell, George Humphries, Charles W. Drown, Horace S. Spinney.

Overseer of the Poor—Joseph Grace.

Assessors — Oliver Ayers, Oliver H. Locke.

"A STRICT TEMPERANCE MAN."

The Times of a recent date, in referring to an item of ours regarding the mobbing of two liquor detectives at Newmarket, or their arrest for slandering one E. A. Keep, a lawyer of that town, we are not sure which, says:

> The statement made by the CHRONICLE * * that Mr. Keep is a "free-rum lawyer," is false. We are told by some of his intimate acquaintances that he is a strict temperance man and never drinks anything stronger than water.

Possibly the Times' estimate of Mr. Keep's temperance character is correct; but anyway, we did not charge him with being a drunkard, but merely with being a lawyer and in favor of free rum. Our authority for this was a letter in the Rockingham Advertiser of Newmarket, headed "Blood Money," and signed "E. A. Keep," denouncing the liquor spies and all their works; and in this letter we find the following passage:

> One thing is certain, that if this goes on as law and justice, it will lead to bloodshed and outrage in our streets. If we cannot be protected by law, we will by might. The moral convictions and principles of every citizen of our State whatever these [their] views on temperance and prohibition questions, revolt in loath and contempt against it, and will ask for no mask or disguise to tar and feather these shunks [skunks] and pimps.

This may be the language of truth and soberness, and of a "ramrod temperance man;" but it does not sound just like it, to us. Rather, in our estimation, is it a direct invitation to those opposed to the operation of the liquor law to use lawless violence against persons endeavoring to enforce that law,—as was shortly afterward done in Mr. Keep's own town. He says "if we cannot be protected by law we will by might,"—and who he means by "we," unless it is the liquor dealers, we fail to see,—and his assertion that persons of his way of thinking (which according to him includes "every citizen of our State") "will ask for no mask or disguise to tar and feather these skunks and pimps," the liquor spies, seems to be an open invitation for mob violence and crime to defend the liquor interest. Mr. Keep may be a temperate man, but his language is intemperate to a marked degree.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen Thursday evening:

Mr. Harriman appeared before the Board in behalf of F. W. Rogers, and made explanation as to suits in which the city is trustee. City Solicitor was sent for to make statements regarding the matter.

Committee on police reported City Marshal's report correct, and it was accepted.

Alderman Hadley offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

> Whereas, His Honor the Mayor without knowledge of or authority from this Board, and without consulting its committee on streets, has taken upon himself to order many repairs and in some cases general alterations in the grading and roadbed of some of the streets, entailing the employment of a very large number of men (four times the number which would have been considered an excess a few weeks ago,) thereby causing an unwarranted use of the public money, evidently with the intention that the amount appropriated by the City Councils as a fair amount to perform all necessary services upon the streets to the end of the fiscal year shall be at once disbursed and frittered away, leaving little or nothing of that appropriation for the use of the coming city government with which to continue any necessary repairs—clearing the streets from snow, or any incidental work which may occur before the expiration of the year—therefore
> Resolved, That this Board request of His Honor an explanation of his acts as aforesaid.

The Mayor in explanation referred the Board to Section 2d, Chap. 9th of the City Ordinances, and also stated that he had always consulted the chairman of the committee on streets, always referred all matters to the Board, and never intentionally exceeded his authority; and he considered the repairs now being made on the streets as necessary.

Recommended to lengthen the funnel on the Hanover street engine house, and put in gas. Referred to committee on fire department, with power.

Adjourned.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Aug. 1; Batchelder, J.

Thomas H. Smith and John Henry, transient customers, were arraigned for drunkenness, pleaded guilty, and were assessed $9.90 each. The officials declining to take crackers, clay pipes, tobacco and matches in payment, and Thomas and John having nothing else in their pockets just then, the pair went to Brentwood to work.

"IN VINO VERITAS."

We are glad to note in a recent issue of our democratic neighbor's paper a more Chesterfieldian tone, when speaking of certain officials whose names heretofore in the Times have been coupled with adjectives and designations not always elegant or respectful. It gladdens our heart to see, in the Times, that Cols. Fisher and Young of Dover "gave tone" to the recent clambake at Dover point tendered the Secretary of the Navy, and that official must have rejoiced thereat, although we guess the Colonels had to give something more than that, to the bake. Constructor Wilson ceases to be "Red Oak," at the point; Collector Howard is transferred from plain Mr. Howard to the "Hon." A. F. Howard, "the urbane Collector of the port;" while Dr. Wentworth suddenly becomes in the eye of the writer, "honorable in his profession." It is apparent that the Times had a representative at the bake who was in good humor, as the writer does not fail to add that the barkeeper at the Point Cottage is a good "mixer."

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

A special term of the Circuit Court of the United States will be held in this city on the thirteenth inst., when Mr. Justice Clifford, Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States, will preside. All cases heretofore heard before the late George F. Shepley, Circuit Judge, and in which decisions have not been announced, will be re-heard if parties are ready with their cases. Judge Clifford goes to Washington before the October term of this Court, and if the vacancy in the circuit judgeship is not to be filled until the assembling of Congress this will be the only opportunity to hear their cases for a long time. All the papers in cases submitted to the late Circuit Judge have been returned to the files of the Court.

THE VICINITY.

Gen. Samuel C. Lawrence, a former President of the Eastern railroad, is staying at the Oceanic, Star island.

The Portland Argus states that the deficit in the accounts of Ex-Collector Wedgwood of Biddeford amounts to $5044.73. His bondsmen are ready to make the city good for the amount thus shown.

At the recent State convention of the republicans of Maine Mr. Dennis M. Shapleigh of Kittery was the York county member of the committee on resolutions, and Mr. James M. Andrews of Biddeford was chosen as the York county member of the State committee.

Postmaster Hamilton, of Biddeford, on the 30th ult. met with a heavy pecuniary loss in the death of a stallion named "Spangle," seven years old, that he had a few days before refused $3000 for. The horse made a record of 2:37 when five years old, and is said to have shown better than 2:25 in private not long since.

George A. Hayes, about twenty-one years old, for some time past employed as a salesman in the jewelry store of John Federhen & Sons of No. 34 Tremont street, Boston, is under arrest for stealing rings, watches, etc., from his employers, and property to the value of about $200 has been recovered. Young Hayes belongs in Dover, is of good family and had always previously maintained a good reputation.

York county, Maine, is not to be without a democratic organ, notwithstanding the demise of the Maine Democrat of Saco. Mr. William S. Noyes, formerly of that paper, announces that he will immediately commence the publication of the State Democrat at Saco, to be of the same size and price as the defunct Democrat. All the subscribers to the dead paper will have the new one sent them for the remainder of the time for which they have paid, or will have the balance due them on their subscription returned by Mr. Noyes on demand.

The democrats of Biddeford caucussed on the evening of July 30th, to choose delegates to the district and county conventions. An attempt was made to get the caucus to instruct the delegates "to vote for no others than those who have shown themselves to be true and consistent democrats," but this was opposed, as the democrats at that time hoped that the greenbackers' convention (which met in Portland next day and nominated for Congress Mr. E. H. Gove of Biddeford, a former republican and an active temperance man,) would nominate Gen. Sam. J. Anderson, an old democrat, in which case it was intended for the democrats also to nominate him in hope of defeating Hon. Thomas B. Reed, the present republican Congressman. The delegates chosen went uninstructed.

On Monday, 29th ult., five boats were sword-fishing off Wood island, at the entrance of the Saco river. They took twenty-seven fish, varying in weight from 200 to 800 pounds. One 600-pounder, ten feet long without the sword, which was three feet long, was taken to Saco and cut up into steaks. The catching of sword-fish is rather exciting sport. The fish are harpooned, somewhat after the fashion of whaling. They are seen resting near the surface of the water, with the back-fin waving above. The boat approaches, and when sufficiently near the harpoon is driven into the fish. A long line fastened to the harpoon is attached to a barrel, or perhaps a dory, and the fish is allowed to run it until death ensues. When the iron is driven into him he darts about with great velocity, and the barrel acts as a buoy and guide to the fishermen.

—There is no bee so humble but that he can be distiguished when you sit down on him.

—Olive Logan writes from Paris that the next sensation is to be about ladies' stockings. She says it is to be of lace—the stocking, not the sensation, and, of course, quite expensive; "open work from the toe over the knee, and so transparent that ladies will have to wear a silk stocking under it. Once let the American women see them," says Miss Logan, "and they'll all die but what they'll have them, until some new folly comes in."

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

FRANK E. DEARBORN,

NO. 40 MARKET ST., PORTSMOUTH.

—There are more ladies than Gentile men in Salt Lake City.

—"Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching," has a different signification now, and the "Cheer up, Comrades, as they Come," is a most feeble cheer.

—As a prisoner at Montreal was being led away he stooped to kiss his wife and child, who were standing without the bar, but the convict to whom he was handcuffed jerked him away so as not to allow him to embrace them.

—Mary Benton, of Eton, Durham, England, is in her one hundred and forty-eighth year. She cooks, washes and irons, threads her own needle and sews without spectacles. What a deal of gossip that woman must have heard in her time.

—A small flat bug has appeared in Massachusetts which is armed with a sword or point about a quarter of an inch in length, with which it stabs the potato-bug, killing him in a short time," and so proving a valuable coadjutor in the Murphy movement.

—A traveller once wrote of the Russians' passion for strong drinks: If a fly fell into his wine, a Frenchman would throw away both fly and wine, an Englishman would throw away the fly and drink the wine, while a Russian would swallow wine, fly, and all; so as not to lose whatever wine the fly had drunk.

Ex-Governor Noyes, our Minister to France, sailed on Saturday to resume the duties of his post. He left for the purpose of answering a base slander; and he has answered it so completely that not a party journal in the country is so base as to repeat it. Still, the slander is on the records of the House of Representatives, and is likely to remain there as long as the democrats have control of that body, although there is not a man among them who does not know it is a lie. His case is more unfortunate than that of Secretary Sherman, because his duties keep him among a people who have heard the libel, but cannot know how complete is the refutation.—Boston Advertiser.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS

Or Sugar-Coated. Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed, being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any coloured or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability, and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and enclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and roadbed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for the class of diseases, and for none that will, at all times and under all circumstances act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will fulfil the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer to sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it on so liberal terms conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions, when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

New Hampshire Items.

The Manchester ball players returned from their western trip Thursday evening. Manager Perkins claims that only two games were honestly lost, and that western umpiring exceeds the wildest eastern imagination for rank unfairness.

Claremont is wild with excitement over some recent scandal cases. Herman Zoller, the grocer who suddenly disappeared, leaving a wife and family, it turns up went off with a Miss Edminster, who had previously borne a high reputation; and now it is reported that A. C. Briggs, Zoller's clerk, a young unmarried man, eloped on Thursday with Mrs. George Taylor, a young married woman with a pleasant home, a kind husband and a little son. Briggs and Mrs. Taylor were traced to Essex Junction, Vt., and it is believed they have gone to join Zoller and Miss Edminster.

The deaths at Manchester for July numbered ninety-five, the largest for any single month in the history of the city. Seventy-three of these were among the foreign population. Cholera infantum, measles and diphtheria were leading causes. Nine funerals were reported one day during the heated term. Only twenty marriage certificates were issued during the month.

—The State Prison convicts at Concord, observes the Lowell Courier, are setting a good example, for 250 of them are thrown out of work by the late fire, and not a word of complaint from any of them.

—"What is the national air of this country?" asked a foreigner in Washington. "That's the national lair," replied a native, pointing to the capitol, "but the animals are all out in the jungle just now, chasing voters."

A Bad Result.

Mr. Durant, the heretofore considered wealthy revivalist, who was to demonstrate the difficult problem of a rich man's entering the kingdom of heaven, seems to have been pretty essentially ruined, as far as treasures upon earth are concerned, by his quondam friend Tappan. There used to be a saying that "there's nothing like leather." Mr. Durant in his professional labors as a lawyer discovered the immense profits in rubber manufacture, and he invested therein. Like Mr. John Haven Cheever, a native of this city, he became immensely wealthy, that is, if Rubber Company's stock may be considered as an indication of wealth. Mr. Durant liberally endowed his favorite scheme of Wellesley College, and thought he had enough of this world's goods for a rainy day. That day has arrived, but he finds his easily and rapidly accumulated riches have disappeared. Easy come, easy go, has been his experience. He has been, as he says, robbed of his wealth, but he has good powers still unexhausted for earning another fortune. One wonders to see a man with, as it is denominated, "so many eggs in one basket." But the eager Durant believed that there was nothing like rubber. From his published statement we infer he invested all in rubber, and then endorsed for rubber, and carried others' funds to the same hopper. Such men, speculators intent upon success, and in whose lexicon there is no such word as fail, applicable to their hobby, never anticipate the contingency that has overtaken the revivalist rubber man. They venture everything upon one kind of chance, and not having the discipline of experience in money earning or money saving, never set aside that secure investment for the rainy day. Durant and Tappan it would seem were too eager of results to carefully study means. Intoxicated with the prospect of great wealth, with which doubtless they intended to do much good to their fellow men, they failed to see that they were violating the ordinary laws of labor and economy. In short, they preached one theory and practiced another, and in their haste to be rich have broken down. Mr. Durant would have us know that Mr. Tappan is a dreadful wicked man. What Mr. Tappan has to say of his legal friend is still in reserve. The reputation for property of these men, and their credit, seem to have possessed one of the qualities of rubber, a power of tension almost unlimited.

A Modest Set.

The democratic State convention of South Carolina met Thursday, and nominated Gov. Hampton and the rest of the old State officials. The committee on platform reported resolutions urging "unity of purpose and action among the democrats; denouncing a fusion with the republicans and deprecating the presence of independent candidates; also strongly urging the fostering of immigration, inviting citizens from every quarter of the globe to homes in South Carolina; also directing attention to the revenue troubles in the upper counties; urging Congress to so amend the law as to quiet the irritation of these troubles, and requesting President Hayes to grant amnesty to illicit distillers in said counties." Truly, these South Carolina bull-dozers are a modest set. Not only do they require amnesty for the democratic defrauders of the revenue, but Congress must alter the laws of the United States so that they will not conflict with Kershaw's interpretation of the law of South Carolina!

News and Notes.

There was a narrow escape from a serious accident on the Eastern railroad in Lawrence, Mass., Thursday evening. As the 5:40 passenger train from Salem was nearing the curve at the Boston & Maine round house, going at a high rate of speed, the hind axle of the engine broke, letting down the driving wheel on the fireman's side. The fireman jumped, narrowly escaping a blow from the parallel rod, which flew upward. The loosened wheel fortunately fell outward from the track.

The ice dealers of New Orleans have had a conference with the Mayor, and knocked off twenty dollars a ton, which, however, still leaves the price at forty dollars. They promise to reduce still further, but the people are so mad at their extortion that there is a strong movement to cut off all patronage from the monopolists and organize an association to order and sell ice at cost, which need not be much over fifteen dollars a ton.

Gen. Sherman has received a letter from Gen. Ord, informing him that Col. McKenzie had not yet crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico, and giving as a reason why he had not that the river was to high to warrant the move, and that consequently all was quiet on the Rio Grande.

The iron-mill owners of Philadelphia held a meeting three weeks ago and gave their hands notice that a reduction of ten per cent. would be made in their wages after the 1st of September. The hands refused to submit to it, but have been allowed until the 10th of September to decide whether they will accept or not. If they have not then decided, the reduction will take place.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 1st.

The honestly disposed and industrious laborers of other sections than Washington will do well to ponder some of the facts ascertained by individual investigation and by the examination in the police court of the incendiaries arrested here as the leaders of the attempted riot last Friday and Saturday. Cohen, who aspires to the distinction of leader in feeble imitation of Kearney, is a Jew tramp from Arkansas. He professes to be a machinist, but seems to have been tramping from one Southern city to another ever since his arrival on these shores, ten or twelve years ago. He came here a few months ago and soon succeeded in getting quite a following among the roughest and most ignorant of our population. The respectable labor organizations appear to have repudiated him from the first. About every evening for the past four months he has delivered harangues at the street corners to such as he could induce to stop and hear him. By persistent appeals to the most degrading and brutal passions of human nature, he has exasperated a portion of his recruits up to the attempt of last week. It seems that he has almost always, if not upon every occasion, wound up his performance by taking up a collection "to push on labor organizations," he professed, but really to support him in his laziness. One of his secretaries (he had arrived at the distinction of having several—all tramps like himself) has "gone back" on the "great agitator" since they were both arrested; and he testified that though the bargain was for an equal "divvy," Cohen always took the lion's share of the plunder cozened out of his deluded followers. Cohen yesterday paid his fine and is in the lecture field again. Any locality can have him by making early application. For the good of the cause we will consent to spare him for the balance of his natural life. His "secretaries" and some of the more prominent of his other dupes had a fine imposed, in default of which they go to the workhouse or jail, for terms varying from thirty to ninety days.

No one incident of the Presidential campaign better illustrates the indifference, if not approval, of the Bourbon leaders to the countless atrocities perpetrated against political opponents in the south than the case of Eliza Pinkston. Her husband was killed by inches and horribly mutilated; her child was brained and left with the husband to the buzzards or to rot in the sun, while she was cut and hacked to pieces by the gentlemanly Ku-Klux riders of barbaric democracy. Notwithstanding the abhorrence aroused by the sight of her mutilations among northern democratic visitors at New Orleans, pending the count of the vote in November, 1876, democratic statesmen, even U. S. Senators, did their best to discredit her sworn statements. It was intimated that the murder of her husband and child and her own maimed condition were due to republican assassins, in pursuance of a plan concocted by the leaders, whereby innocent democrats were made to bear the odium. Mrs. Pinkston's very existence was denied in some democratic communities more than ordinarily ignorant. It now appears that the reputed "second confession" of Mrs. Pinkston, alleging that republicans were the murderers and outragers as stated above, resulted from a deliberate falsification of a recent statement from her, reaffirming her testimony as given in New Orleans in 1876. A Col. Zacharie, one of the most prominent democratic politicians of Louisiana, is given as the author of the fabrication. If what is alleged of him is true, he has sounded the lowest depths of infamy.

It is understood that Judge Bond will hold a special term of his court to hear the cases of the revenue officials imprisoned in South Carolina, for shooting an assailant while in the line of their duty. Interest here is largely concentrated on these cases, and we are waiting to see whether the government will be deterred from defending its own officials by the bluster of a white-line Judge of a State Court.

Cabinet meeting yesterday was largely occupied with Mexican matters, particularly a counter charge of raiding into Mexico by citizens of Texas, preferred by the Minister of Diaz here. We seem to be pursuing the expectant plan of treatment in our differences with that country; and all are waiting some movement by Ord to give us the cue as to our future policy with the "greaser" government.

We are expecting a visit from Mr. Kearney; but if his Boston speech is the best he can do, we shall give Cohen the preference as the most logical and practical, and less mischievous of the two great men.

EYON.

Common Sense.

Many imagine all advertised medicines to be worthless nostrums, and indiscriminately condemn them; but is it not an injustice to the thousands of respectable citizens who give voluntary evidence of benefits received, to thus question and doubt their veracity and integrity? Fairbanks' standard scales are extensively advertised. Does it necessarily follow that they are inferior in make, and less accurate than others? Have they not been demonstrated to be among the best? Again, is it common sense to suppose that a physician with capital could be induced to hazard it and a hard earned reputation upon a worthless article? R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., is the proprietor of the most popular family medicines in the market. His reputation as a skillful surgeon and physician has been fully established for many years. Would physicians and clergy, after having tested his medicines thoroughly, unite in commending them to the afflicted, if they possessed no merit? The undersigned take pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce and his Family Medicines to all who may need them:

Political.

The republicans of the first Maine district have nominated Hon. Thomas B. Reed for Congress. Mr. Reed is square for honest money. Against him will run Gove, the candidate of the repudiationists, and Anderson, the democratic candidate, who was a copperhead of the worst stripe during the war, and is now in favor of a flood of worthless, because irredeemable, currency.

Solon Chase was nominated for Congress by the greenbackers of the second district of Maine, Thursday.

The "nationals" carried the municipal election in Memphis, Tenn., Thursday, by from 4000 to 6000 majority, electing all their candidates. A colored democrat and a white national had a dispute, and the colored man was shot dead.

The Newburyport Herald has this pleasant word to say of one with whom it does not agree politically: "Charles Levi Woodbury is the most outspoken democrat in this State in favor of the 'honest dollar,' and it would not be surprising if he should be their candidate for governor. He is a son of Levi Woodbury, who but for his untimely death would have been elected President in 1852, instead of Pierce; and his son is a man of more learning and ability than the father."

THE CITY.

Mr. Charles L. Tidd and his family are on a visit to this city. Mr. Tidd left here ten years ago, and is now in successful oil business at Pleasantville, Penn.

Mr. E. H. Gove of Biddeford, the greenback candidate for Congress in the first district of Maine, will address the greenback club of this city on Monday evening.

The U. S. S. Ticonderoga was taken into the dry dock at the navy yard on Friday, to be coppered. Her boilers are all in, her lower masts stepped and her topmasts on end.

Lt. Col. Field, U. S. M. C., on Wednesday, July 31st, turned over the command of the marine force at the navy yard to Lieut. Whipple, pending the arrival of the new commandant ordered here.

Democratic nominations, ward three, Friday evening: Alderman—Alexander Robinson; Councilmen—John A. Hammond, James M. Goodrich; Assessor—Justin V. Hanscom; Overseer of the Poor—Samuel S. Frye (for the fourth time.)

Henry F. Durant, the president of the Boston Rubber Belting Company, recently found to be ruined by the swindling operations of its treasurer, John G. Tappan, is the revivalist who created such a stir in this city and elsewhere six or eight years ago. Mr. Durant's fortune is swallowed up in the wreck.

The following are the national banks designated as depositories of the United States in this State, that will be supplied by the Treasury upon their application with standard silver dollars from the mint, for circulation: the First National Bank of Portsmouth, the First National Bank of Concord, and the First National Bank at Manchester.

C. Dwight Hanscom & Co. will sell at their auction store, No. 16 Congress street, at ten o'clock this (Saturday) forenoon, the remainder of the furniture removed from the house of the late John S. Harvey, including a piano, bedsteads, bureaus, extension table, spring beds, pictures, clocks, etc., all which will be sold to the highest bidder for cash.

The Good Templars have elected the following as officers for the ensuing term: Robert B. Munroe, C. T.; Ellen Ayers, V. T.; Garrie E. Randall, S.; George Critchley, M.; Emma Randall, D. M.; Amanda Holbrook, C.; Louise White, R. S.; Susan Deverson, L. S.; Susan Huse, I. G.; Edgar Haddock, O. G.; Eugene Sanborn, T.; Herbert Peverley, F. S.; Sarah Pickering, A. S.

We have received from the American News Company of New York a copy of "The Dance of Death," by William Herman. This is the famous book in opposition to "round dances" which was so warmly endorsed by Mrs. Gen. Sherman—the general himself, by the way, being very fond of those same dances—and has had a wide sale. The language employed is forcible, and conveys the author's meaning in no obscure style; Mr. Herman evidently fully believes the waltz a shameless and deadly affair, immoral and degrading in itself and leading directly to open sin and dishonor. The book is handsomely printed and bound, and is for sale in this city by Moses Brothers.

The Eldredge Brewing Company of this city, in addition to the business already carried on by them, will commence the coming winter the manufacture of lager beer, and have advertised for proposals for the building of a lager-beer ice-house, the dimensions of which will be forty feet front and rear, seventy-one feet on the sides, and fifty feet high. There are to be three cellars, and an ice chamber and attic. Two of the cellars will be ten feet in height; the third, to be used as a fermenting room and air chamber, will be sixteen feet high. The ice chamber will be twety feet high, and store a thousand tons of ice. The structure is to be of granite and brick, and will contain all the modern improvements for the manufacture of lager. The outside will be handsomely finished and decorated, it being the intention of the proprietors to add one more to the number of fine buildings owned by them; and they claim that the lager they will produce will take rank second to none in the market.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

The republican caucus of ward one was held Friday evening in the Elm street ward room, commencing at half-past seven o'clock, and nominated candidates as follows:

Aldermen — William E. Hadley, Albert A. Payne, Floron Barri.

Councilmen — Charles E. Young, Charles E. Hodgdon, Arthur F. Pfeiffer, Frank G. Thurston, Ira W. Brock, James E. Dixon.

Overseer of the Poor — William H. Smith.

Assessors—William Stearns, James A. Rugg, Alfred C. Hoyt.

The republicans of ward two held their caucus at the Court House on Friday evening at half-past seven o'clock, and the following nominations were made:

Aldermen— Plumer D. Norton, William A. Hodgdon, John Laighton.

Councilmen—Arthur W. Walker, Oliver M. Jellison, John S. Tilton, Warren T. Webster, Josiah F. Adams, Charles Manent.

Assessors—Lewis G. Davis, Rufus K. Oxford, Eben F. Brackett.

Overseer of the Poor—Samuel S. Green.

At the republican caucus of ward three, held Friday evening, the following candidates were nominated:

Alderman—Elijah Clough.

Councilmen—Frederick G. Haddock, George H. Alton.

Overseer of the Poor—Joseph Spinney.

Assessor—James S. Seavey.

The adjourned republican caucus for the choice of a candidate for mayor takes place at the Court House this afternoon; polls open from four o'clock to eight.

We are authorized to say that Mr. Thomas E. Call is not a candidate for the republican nomination for mayor, and positively declines to permit the use of his name.

We are also authorized to say that Henry A. Yeaton, Esq., for whom votes were cast in the recent caucus, is not a candidate for the nomination to the office of mayor.

THE COMING ELECTION.

The election to occur on Tuesday is to decide what sort of men are to administer our municipal affairs for the coming year. Too often, during a municipal year liberal criticisms are bestowed upon city officials, and it is remarked sometimes that it is a wonder how some men are selected for offices in the City Government. It is a very simple proposition. Men are selected by a caucus, the result of which is in most instances predetermined by active canvassing in behalf of the successful candidate.

What is needed always is a full expression of the wishes of voters at the caucus. Let every one interested in the welfare of our city attend the caucus and indicate his preference for the best men.

To-night, the republicans are to select some gentleman as their candidate for Mayor. The office is a responsible one. The Mayor is the Chief Executive officer of the city, and should be selected, not because a candidate has ambitious views or selfish purposes to gratify, but because he is a sound, practical business man, who has demonstrated his ability to manage public affairs by proper results in private life. Let a man be designated who is not only in favor of an economical administration of our city interests, but who possesses the stamina to carry out such ideas in the details of the office. We more than ever need every effort put forth to keep down our expenses. The times are still dull, and money is not as freely circulating as it was ten years ago. Taxable property does not increase to any considerable extent, and tax payers expect only judicious outlays of the sums they contribute toward the expenses of our City Government. There are men eminently fit for these positions, but they will be selected only by the presence of men at the caucus for nominees, who have an interest in the honest and able adnomination of municipal affairs.

We urge upon those who think they are taxed too highly, who think that the affairs of the city might be managed more economically, and who are ready to complain at the results every year, to go to the various meetings where candidates are to be designated, and help nominate the right men. It is a duty of every votor to take an interest in the primary meetings. They are the controlling element in our politics, and when a proper interest is shown by a full attendance, the result always produces a better ticket in the field. His duty, at the election on Tuesday should not be neglected by any one, on the ground that he has no interest in these affairs. Every citizen should show that he not only appreciates the right to indicate, to some degree, the characters of the men who are to manage our city business, but that he will not permit this right to be neglected by an omission on his part, on any occasion. A full caucus is not only a guaranty that good men will be selected as candidates, but that at the polls, the strength of the party is to be brought out.

THE GREENBACK CAUCUS.

At the adjourned meeting of greenbackers, Friday evening, Asa T. Walker was nominated for alderman in ward one in place of James M. Goodrich, who lives in another ward. The following additional nominations were made:

Assessors— ward one, Isaiah Wilson, Daniel E. Littlefield, Samuel Maddock; ward two, Albert A. Fernald, James M. Sheldon, James M. Locke; ward three, Charles H. Hayes; ward four, James W. Sowersby, Walter T. Brooks.

Overseers of the Poor—ward one, Elisha Tripp; ward two, Orwin Griffin; ward three, Thomas Lester; ward four, Charles H. Tucker.

BASE BALL.

The Granite State club of this city went to Newmarket Friday afternoon, and showed the Our Boys of that place how to play by a score of twenty-two to two. McGlinchy's curve pitching was something new to the Newmarket nine, not a run being earned by them. The general play of the Granites was good, that of Pfeiffer being especially fine, he assisting in putting out fifteen men at first base. The score was:

Innings	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Our Boys	0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 0—2
Granite States	2 0 6 0 2 4 2 2 4—22

THE VICINITY.

Deputy Supreme Regent R. H. Perkins of this city instituted Plumer Council of the Royal Arcanum at Epping, July 30th.

The Congregational parsonage at South Seabrook is nearly finished, and will be ready for occupation in a few weeks. The plastering has been put on.

Rev. S. S. White, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in South Hampton but recently of Lyme, has lately purchased a place in South Hampton and taken up his residence there.

A Greenland farmer who last spring planted an "improved variety" of tomatoes is now disgusted at finding he has been carefully tending a patch of the weed called "beggar's lice." He prefers the old-fashioned kind of tomatoes now to any improved variety whatever.

The democratic convention for the first Congressional district of Maine was held at Biddeford on Thursday. On a ballot for a candidate for Representative 183 votes were cast, of which 170 were for Samuel J. Anderson of Portland. [Gen. Anderson was the man whom the democrats had hoped the greenbackers' convention would nominate, and he did get next to the highest vote in the greenback convention, from which we judge that he is a democrat first and a greenbacker next.] Ephraim C. Spinney, Esq., of Kittery, was a member of the committee on resolutions; this committee reported but one resolution, and that was to adopt the platform of the last democratic State convention. Gen Anderson appeared before the convention, accepted the nomination, and delivered a greenback speech.

Two fishermen in the employ of Col. Dumas, of the Boar's Head hotel, Hampton, recently caught in their net a sturgeon nearly twenty feet long and estimated to weigh nine hundred pounds. A correspondent says the season at Hampton beach in July was the dullest for many years; on Sunday, July 28th, Dumas had but sixty-five guests, and the other hotels and the boarding houses but few compared with the rush of former years. There are four boarding house proprietors in Hampton named Leavitt, two of them having the same Christian name, and the result is that many ludicrous mistakes are made by visitors and in assorting the mails.

Fat People Easily "Sunstruck."

Fat people are not only liable to sudden death from heart disease, apoplexy, etc., but statistics show that they are more liable than others to "sunstrokes" and affections arising from extreme heat. An extensive experience in the treatment of corpulence has resulted in the introduction of Allan's Anti-Fat, a safe, certain and speedy remedy for the cure of this terrible condition. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. If corpulent people who are exposed to the rays of the sun value life and a comfortable existence, let them use Allan's Anti-Fat. Sold by druggists.

Milestones on the Road to Health.

The recovery of digestion and the resumption of activity by the liver, bowels and kidneys are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health. They speedily become perceptible when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used by the invalid. Nothing so surely and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal. As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the health of the system, so the system can never acquire perfect vigor, health's synonym, until that function be actively resumed. Take, for instance, digestion, a suspension of which is invariably rectified by the Bitters. If the organs upon which it devolves grow weak, billiousness, constipation, headache, poverty of the blood, and a hundred other symptoms supervene, which indicate unmistakably the baneful general influence of dyspepsia. The disappearance of all these symptoms through the use of the Bitters shows with what thoroughness it removes their cause.

Army and Navy officers make their headquarters at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia. So do leading business men from all sections, while for families and large parties of travellers it also offers unequalled attractions.

"A stitch in time saves nine." A dose of Adamson's Balsam in season may prevent a long cold or fever, and perhaps a resultant death. It cures coughs, colds, asthma, and all lung troubles. Keep it in the house. Price 50 cents.

Thousands of persons have their eyes turned towards Wall-street. That is where thousands of dollars are made daily from investments ranging from $50 to $250. The reliable brokers, Alex. Frotingham & Co., 12 Wall st., N. Y., send their Financial Report free,—which explains why.

Tetter Flies and so do diseases of the skin when that incomparable purifier of the cuticle and beautifier of the complexion, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, is used to disperse them. Pimples, blotches, sores and bruises, and the like are invariably removed by it.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

—Where there's a willow there's a wave.

—A Springfield woman, who was recently made a widow, told her husband in his last sickness of her scheme for his successor and he gave it his approval. The next wedding is to take place before the snow flies.

—The largest flour mill in the world is being built at Niagara Falls; its capacity will be about one thousand two hundred barrels a day. The structure is placed on the hydraulic canal, with a perpendicular fall of 190 feet.

—It has just been found out that a western man gained a big reputation for patriotism on the Fourth by backing his mule against a high board fence and letting it kick. Even his next door neighbor mistook the sound for artillery firing.

—When Major Nepeau came home to England from Madras and was about to smoke in Mrs. Nepeau's boudoir, his wife objected. "Ma," said her little son, "you used to let Mr. Woolley smoke here." The end of it was that the Major got a divorce and Mr. Woolley, as co-respondent, was mulcted in costs.

—The mysterious incendiary fires at Greenville, N. Y., two years ago, which ended with the destruction of the house and barn of B. N. Finch, who had many enemies, have been explained by the discovery of a skeleton in the woods of a neighboring town, with letters stating that the suicide had been hired by Mr. Finch's enemies to play the incendiary.

—An old housekeeper in an English castle, while doing the honors of the picture-gallery to some visitors, heard one of them remark that, judging by her portrait, "Marie de Medicis must have been exceedingly plain." "Not at all," said the old lady indignantly, jealous of the honor of the family. "I have been told that she was nearly related to the Venus of that name, and the family were all handsome."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.
The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pill, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a diminutive Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.
$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, in explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time. In any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in chewy wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.
They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad insures
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns. ifeb20 79

WOMAN.
By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.
To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effective remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it on such under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly justified in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from constitutional causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

How Fast Can You Think?

"Quick as thought" and "quick as lighting" are commonly used as synonymous expressions. But their difference is really great. An electric impulse traverses a wire as a wave of motion: a nervous impulse proceeds by a development of chemical change in the nerve. It runs along the nerve somewhat as combustion follows a train of gunpowder, and not much if any more rapidly. Indeed, Helmholtz has clearly determined the rate of nervous propagation to be less than 100 feet a second, or about a mile a minute. To use a rude illustration, if a railway could feel, the sense report of a train starting in New York would reach Albany but a little in advance of the fastest trains that have been run upon the Hudson River road. Even along courses as short as the nerves of the human body an appreciable time is required for the passage of nervous impulses.

With a simple apparatus, Hirch found that a touch upon the face could be recognized and responded to by a predetermined signal operated by the hand, in one-seventh of a second. With a sound test, acting of cause upon the ear, the answering signal was made in one-sixth of a second; when the eye was addressed, the response came in one-fifth of a second. Since the distance travelled by the nervous impulses was nearly the same in all these experiments, it is evident that the greater part of these differences of time noted must be charged to the greater or smaller rapidity of the act of recognition; the entire process in each case being the transmission of a sensation (touch, hearing or sight) to the brain, its recognition, the willing of the signal agreed upon, the transmission of the order to the muscles of the hand, and the movement of those muscles. Thus it would appear that less time is required for recognizing a touch than a sound, less time to hear than to see. But what part of the fifth, sixth or seventh of a second, as the case might be, was consumed in the act of recognition?

Donders was successful in answering this question by the use of several forms of apparatus involving entirely different methods, yet yielding the same results. He found for instance, with the "noematachograph" that the double act of recognizing a sound and willing the response required 75-1000 of a second. Of this time 40-1000 of a second was required for simple recognition, thus leaving 35-1000 for volition. With the "noematachometer" he found that the same time—40-1000 (or 1-25) of a second—was required to judge which was the first of two irritants acting on the same sense. A slightly longer time determined the priority of signals acting on different senses, as a sound and a light. It also took longer to recognize a letter by seeing its form than by hearing its sound.

This in a man of middle age. Young people thought the quicker, but the difference was not great. In all the experiments the time required for a simple thought was never less than a fortieth of a second. In other words, the mind can perform not more than twenty-four hundred simple acts a minute, fifteen hundred a minute being the rate for persons of middle age.

From these figures it will be seen how absurd are many popular notions in regard to the fleetness of thought, how exaggerated are the terrors of remorseful memory that moralists have invented for the method of dying. And we may reasonably "discount" also the stories told by men saved from drowning, cut down before death by hanging, or rescued from sudden and deadly peril from other causes. No doubt a man may think of a great multitude of experiences, good or bad, in a few minutes; but that the thoughts and emotions of a long life may surge through the mind during the seconds of asphyxiation is manifestly impossible.

Admit that the speed of mental action is abnormally rapid at such times, say 2500 simple cognitions a minute, or 150,000 an hour. If a man were an hour in drowning, instead of a few minutes, and all the time be given to a mental review of life, he would, if forty years old, have time to give ten thoughts of the simplest character to each day that he lived. In other words, memory would have time to review the experiences of at most the hundredth part of one second out of each day's waking thoughts.—Scientific Amer.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 3, 1878.

Another Big Steal.

Saturday forenoon a rumor was spread on the street in Boston that a defalcation had occurred in the Eliot National bank, and that the matter had been known to the directors for several days, and kept from the public. On inquiry, the rumor was found to be true, and that the cashier of the bank, Mr. R. B. Conant, had embezzled $70,000, which he had lost by speculation in stocks. It appears that the first knowledge the officers of the bank had that anything was wrong was on Tuesday last, when Mr. Conant went to Mr. Goodwin, the president of the bank, and told him that he was a ruined man and State prison stared him in the face. Mr. Goodwin was much surprised, and on inquiring what he meant, Mr. Conant replied that he had embezzled funds of the bank and desired that a meeting of the directors be called, as he wished to make a full confession. A meeting of the directors was called on Wednesday, and Mr. Conant made a voluntary and full confession of all that had taken place. He stated that he had taken about $70,000, which he had lost in California mining stocks, which are commonly known as the Bonanza mines. His operations in these stocks commenced some time ago, but he never used any of the money of the bank until within the last three months, when he was called upon to make good margins on account of the great depreciation in the value of the stocks. Conant is about forty years old, and has been in the service of the bank for sixteen or seventeen years, for ten years as cashier, with a salary of $4000 per annum. He has stood high in the community, and is now utterly broken down, and penniless.

A Bacolic Brute.

A local correspondent of the Peterborough Transcript, signing the name "Looker-On," recently wrote that paper as follows:

There has been, and still is, a case of unparalleled cruelty in this place, committed upon an old worn out horse, that is used unshod, and should long ere this have been killed. It was required to draw a load of hay up a steep hill, and because he could not do it, he was beaten with chains, kicked, and his ears pounded into shreds with stones, and then filled with gravel, and the bleeding skin tied over it. The poor creature stood with tears streaming from its eyes; and when the cars were being crushed between the stones, sent forth groans that must have pierced a human heart. And this is not all; for in the pasture it has been assailed by its cruel master, from which its mutilated body shows the fiendish hand that has invented other means of torture than that of blows. And this is done by a father in the presence of his two sons, who look approvingly on, aiding when needed. One is a graduate from the Peterboro' High School in the class of '77, and when remonstrated with, replied that it was only an old horse.

In the next issue of the Transcript another correspondent asks if there "is no law in the State to prevent such cruelty as Looker-On tells of," and adds:

It seems almost incredible that such things should be allowed in a civilized community. How any one, male or female could be a looker-on, and not do something besides remonstrate, when that did not avail, is more than can well be imagined. The question of a hell has been ably discussed by a number of divines. I do not know how they have disposed of it, but for my part I hope there is one, so that folks who practice such cruelty can enjoy it to the full hereafter.

The Transcript makes no direct answer to the query as to a State law against cruelty, but in its local news we find the following:

Charles E. Batchelder, Esq., Secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at Portsmouth, visited this place Wednesday, and procured the arrest of the party charged with abusing his horse, an account of which was given by a correspondent in our last issue. He was brought before Justice Miller, waived an examination, and was bound over in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the September term of court. Four witnesses were also bound over in the sum of $50 each.

An Old Fraud.

A San Francisco report says the suit of the United States against William B. Carr, growing out of the notorious Pinney transactions while he was chief clerk in the navy pay office and obtained from the bank $1,000,000, has been on trial in the United States Circuit Court, resulting in the acquittal of Carr. The chief feature of the trial was the incidental, unlooked-for vindication of Rufus Spaulding, Pay Inspector at the time Pinney used the regular navy certificates as collaterals for money obtained from banks. In his testimony, corroborated by others, Pinney completely established the innocence of Spaulding in connection with the transactions. Two years ago Secretary Robeson ordered a court-martial, which sat forty days, and on its finding Spaulding, after nineteen years' service, was dismissed in disgrace. The banks obtained this crimination of the pay inspector with a view to recovering from the government their losses, as Spaulding was the legitimate servant. Pinney testified in the case of the Clay Street Savings Bank that its President, Willard E. Burr, knew that the navy certificates were irregular and given to deceive the Bank Finance Committee, while President Burr was paid five per cent. commission for negotiating the loans, putting in his pocket $21,000, and the bank lost by the transaction $243,000. Other banks lost $750,000, of which the Masonic alone loses $254,000. Spaulding will ask the Secretary of the Navy for a new trial with a view to his vindication and the restoration of his commission.

News and Notes.

From Salt Lake comes a report that the town of Alta was burned Thursday night. It contained about 200 wooden buildings, and the people have all fled to the mountains. A train was sent from Salt Lake to bring in the destitute. The fire began in the Swan House, by Judge Varne's lying down on a lounge and falling asleep with a lighted cigar in his mouth. His charred remains were found in the building. The loss is estimated at $100,000 to $200,000.

Harrison Smith, a Jersey City policeman, was found dead in bed at his home, Thursday morning of last week, with his head broken to pieces and fifteen stabs and gashes in his body. A woman with whom he lived and who was reputed to be his wife, was sleeping with him at the time of the murder, and pretends she knew nothing of the affair until she woke up and found him dead by her side.

It appears that the Sylvan woman who failed to secure $1000 from Lawyer Allen in Boston by a blackmailing dodge is the same woman that played a similar trick on an old man in Cincinnati several months ago.

Boston's assessed valuation shows a shrinkage of $56,413,400 from last year.

A tornado swept through Indiana and Kentucky, Thursday, doing immense damage to property.

American fishing schooners arrived at Port Mulgrave, N. S., from Northbay, Friday, with full fares of fish.

R. J. Saulsbury and J. S. Iverson of Macon, Ga., met at a point near Augusta, but on the South Carolina side of the river, Thursday morning, and exchanged shots, but no damage was done, and the affair was settled. The parties refused to give the cause of the trouble.

Paris green used by a farmer in his potato field came near destroying a picnic party near Ottawa. They had their lunch spread on a grassy plot in an adjoining field, and the wind blew a quantity of the poison over the eatables. At one time it was thought that not one of the party would recover.

A lecture bureau has offered Mrs. Tilton $50,000 to lecture the coming season. The offer is under consideration.

Jack Spencer, tavern keeper at West Concord, Vermont, recently rode into a pit, it being very dark and he very drunk, and his jaw was broken to pieces, while his throat was cut so as to necessitate sewing up, and he received other injuries. He now promises to give up drinking.

Mary Pritchard, aged nineteen, and Abraham Lynch and Robert Dick, each about twenty, were thrown from a swing which broke at Lonaconing, Md., and Miss Pritchard's neck was broken and her skull fractured, causing instant death, and Mr. Dick sustained a severe concussion of the brain, while Mr. Lynch escaped with a few bruises.

The United States is one of the largest producers of carpets in the world. In 1875 the value of the product was $52,376,168. In 1872 our importations of carpetings amounted to about $6,000,000, but in 1877 the value of such imports was $674,911. In 1844 a man with a helper could weave no more than seven yards of Brussels carpet in a day. Now a girl will weave fifty yards in that time.

Petroleum brings to this country from abroad more gold than any other commodity except cotton. Fifteen years ago not a barrel had been exported. In 1877 the value of the petroleum exported was $61,479,438.

The recent resumption of work on the Washington Monument brings to mind the disposition of a stone that was designed for a place in the structure. The American Minister told Pope Pius IX. that it was proposed to insert monoliths from the various States and nations, and the Pope sent one to America. It reached Washington in 1854, when the Know Nothing excitement was at its height, and the young men of Washington resolved that the Romish contribution should not make part of the monument. They therefore gathered together at night, chipped off a few pieces of the stone for relics, took it to the middle of the Potomac, and dropped it in.

Whittier and Holmes will both contribute poems to the September Atlantic.

Political.

The publishers of the New Era, the new daily greenback paper of Portland, have been arrested and brought before the U. S. Court for sending their papers through the mails for distribution, swearing that they were sent to regular subscribers.

Congressman Brentano of Chicago has begun a libel suit for $25,000 against Mr. Michaels, editor of the Neue Freie Presse, for certain charges in relation to the alleged bribery of a Chicago Congressman to vote for the District of Columbia bonds in the late session.

The North Carolina election has gone all one way, the democratic State ticket having no opposition. Both houses of the legislature are conceded to the democrats by a decided majority.

The democrats of the fifteenth Congressional district of Ohio, on Friday, after having had 1254 unsuccessful ballotings, finally succeeded in nominating George W. Geddes for Congress.

The unexpected withdrawal of Hon. Henry W. Blair from the contest for re-election to Congress in the third New Hampshire district will cause regret among those who know him. He is serving his second term, and it was almost universally expected that he would accept a renomination. His withdrawal surprises and disappoints many of his friends. —National Republican.

Photographing a Heart Beat.

One of the most remarkable applications of photography is that by which it is now made to register, and in the most accurate manners, the motion of the heart. The device by which this result is attained is indeed a triumph of inventive skill. It consists of a thin India rubber bag, to which a short glass tube is attached; sufficient mercury is poured into the apparatus to fill the bag and a portion of the tube, and the instrument is then placed over the heart of the person to be examined. Arranged in this manner every pulsation of the heart is indicated by a corresponding movement of the mercury of the tube, and, by suitable photographic apparatus, provided with a moving sensitive slip of paper, a perfect registration of the extent and rate of pulsation is obtained. The interesting fact is made known by this process that the fall of the pulse sometimes takes place in successive horizontal lines, the columns reascending two or three times before falling together.

—Down in Florida, the other day, a rattlesnake spent half an hour in charming a thirteen-foot alligator, and then, with all the strength it could muster, struck the saurian with its fangs. For a moment the alligator shook tremulously, then made a semi-circling backward movement peculiar to the species, and brought his tail down upon the snake with fatal effect.

—A few days ago we announced the fact that a Hampstead youth of sixty-five years and a Hampstead lass of twelve years had committed matrimony at the instigation of the girl's mother, who secured the marriage certificate. Now we have to state that that same mother has, in the selfishness of her heart, robbed her little daughter of her bridegroom of a month, by eloping with him, leaving the child to care for herself as best she can. This is downright meanness.—Laurence American.

THE CITY.

Smelts were being taken from the wharves along the river last week, the little fish having appeared earlier in the season than for several years past.

The Rockingham base ball nine of this city play the return game with the Farragut nine of Rye beach this afternoon, at the Plains; game called at three o'clock. A barge will leave Market square at two o'clock for the grounds.

Mr. Edward H. Gove, of Biddeford, who was on Saturday announced to deliver a greenback address in this city Monday evening, by Saturday forenoon's mail notified the local greenback managers that he could not possibly appear, being fully engaged in the campaign in Maine.

Mr. William H. Goodwin, president of the Eliot National Bank of Boston, whose cashier, Conant, has recently stolen $70,000 of the bank's money, as related in another column, is a son of Portsmouth. The bank will not be in any way embarrassed even if Conant's stealings should turn out a total loss.

The New York Society of the Pioneers of California gave a reception to Gen. John C. Fremont in the Sturtevant House in that city Thursday evening. In the list of invited guests of the society we notice the name of Col. Edwin R. Goodrich of New York, formerly of this city, who was on Burnside's staff during the war of the rebellion.

There is talk of Portsmouth being visited by Dennis Kearney, the California advocate for a fair division of property, at some not far distant date. What we should like to know is, to whom will he give the lager beer saloon of Citizen Schwab, of New York, when the grand "divvy" comes off? "Property is crime," and Citizen Schwab is one of the criminals; but perhaps his crime would be condoned on the plea that his property was amassed without labor.

On Saturday afternoon, as the riggers were raising the sheers on the new schooner M. E. Eldredge, the head of the sheers suddenly slued to one side, and struck Capt. Joseph Muchmore, the master rigger, throwing him heavily across the top of the house, from which he fell to the deck, striking the back of his head on the rail in falling. He was insensible for nearly an hour, but we are pleased to say that he is now better, and will probably be out in a day or two.

A "BANG-UP" NOTICE.

A reporter of the Alta California of San Francisco has been looking along the wharves of that port, and found there a Piscataqua-river-built ship of which he discourses as follows: "In our rambles along the wharves yesterday, we went on board the ship 'Granite State,' and had an inspection of her. An examination below shows that she has very heavy knees, beams, stanchions, breast-hooks, etc., all securely fastened. Her waterways are unusually heavy, and her skin in the heaviest we have ever seen in a vessel. She is, without exception, the finest-looking and the strongest ship we have ever seen. She has nice, easy lines, a fine bow, and a nice elliptic stern, and will undoubtedly sail well when she has a chance. A glance below, in her cabins, shows taste and elegance. The ship's construction was superintended by Captain W. Ross, at present in command, and as he carries his family with him, the cabin has been arranged for 'keeping house.' It is really a perfect Paradise, and all the details show good taste in the captain and his lady. The ship looks well on deck. A glance around shows that Captain Ross takes good care of his vessel. A long poop-deck extends well forward of the mainmast, thus giving considerable extra room under deck for the stowage of light cargo, etc. The accommodations for the men are neat and comfortable, while her ground tackle is of the latest improved patents. She carries three skysails, and as all her standing rigging is of wire, she presents a very neat appearance aloft. She was built at Kittery, Me., and launched in August, 1877; is owned by Daniel Marcy, of Portsmouth, N. H., and is a credit to the Granite State. She registers 1683 tons, and will carry 2500 tons easily, and should secure a preference in business. She is unquestionably a model ship, and one of which her owners and Capt. Ross, her master, may well be proud. May his days be long in the gallant ship." We don't believe any of the Boston-built—or anywhere-else-built—ships are liable to win more favorable notice than the foregoing.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

The adjourned mayoralty caucus of the republican party was held Saturday, the polls being opened at four o'clock and the result of the balloting declared at eight. Messrs. Henry A. Yeaton and Thomas E. Call, both of whom had been supported at the first caucus, declined to permit the further use of their names, and the contest therefore was between the friends of Dr. Hall and those of Col. Sise. The ballot was as follows:

Whole number of votes	661
Necessary for a choice	331
John H. Broughton had	1
George W. Pendexter	1
Jeremiah F. Hall	314
William H. Sise	345

And William H. Sise was declared the candidate of the republican party for Mayor of the city of Portsmouth for the ensuing municipal year. Col. Sise was notified of his nomination by a committee appointed by the chair, and appeared before the caucus and in a brief speech accepted the honor conferred upon him.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

The democrats of ward one caucussed Saturday night, and made nominations as follows: Aldermen, Nathan Whalley, Joseph Parry, Joseph C. Perkins; Councilmen, John W. Caswell, Samuel J. Gerrish, Charles E. Boynton, Charles H. Garrett, Ira C. Seymour, Alexander G. Cobb; Assessors, William S. Hadley, James F. Jenness, Nathaniel D. Miller; Overseer of the Poor, John S. Treat.

In ward four the democratic caucus made the following nominations: Aldermen, George A. Perkins, Benjamin F. Mugridge; Councilmen, Stephen B. Pearson, Jr., William G. Marshall, John S. Tuckerman, Robert W. Phinney; Assessors, Henry F. Wendell, William P. Bennett; Overseer of the Poor, James W. Nutter.

GREENBACK COMMITTEES.

The following are the committees appointed by the greenback party for the several wards of this city:

Ward one—William Conn, William Critchley, Jr., William Andrews, William F. Fernald, Herbert K. Sheldon, John E. Milton, John M. Jones, John H. Rose, Nathaniel K. Raynes, secretary. Ward two—Charles H. Joy, John E. Roberts, Edward J. Moulton, George A. Mudge, George E. Hodgdon, Michael R. Perkins, George E. Stearns, George Burtt, David Flynn. Ward three—Jacob H. Haddock, James M. Goodrich, Thomas J. Sheldon, Thomas Lester, Andrew B. Sherburne, Clarence B. Mason. Ward four—Gardner J. Greenleaf, Charles Anderson, Robert Green, Elisha B. Grover, Major S. Langdon, Charles Smart.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

In the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight.

An Act to amend the Charter of the City of Portsmouth:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:—

SEC. 1. The city of Portsmouth hereby is and shall continue to be divided into four wards, which shall be constituted as follows:—

Ward one shall contain all that part of said city included within a line beginning at the Piscataqua river, at the Spring market, and running to and through the center of Bow and Market streets, through Market square and the center of Congress street and Islington street to a point opposite the southeastern corner of land of Justin V. Hanscom, thence northerly in a direct line to the northwesterly corner of land of Charles E. Walker, on McDonough street, thence continuing the same course across McDonough street to the north mill-pond, thence northerly by a direct line to the easterly end of North street at the north mill bridge, thence through the center of North street to Dennett street, thence through the center of Dennett street to Creek street, thence through the center of Creek street and Newington road to Dodge's lane, thence through the center of said lane to the westerly end thereof, thence by a direct line to the junction of Sherburne road with the new road leading from Myrtle street to Newington, thence through the center of said new road to the line between Portsmouth and Newington, thence northerly by said line to Gosling road, thence easterly through Gosling road to the river, and by the river easterly of Noble's Island to the point begun at.

Ward two shall contain all that part of said city included within a line beginning at the Spring market and running through the center of Bow street and Market street through Market square and the center of Congress street and Islington street to a point opposite the easterly end of the house now occupied by Charles C. Jones, thence southerly by the easterly end of said house, thence by a direct line to the center of Cass street opposite the center of State street, thence by a direct line to the junction of Middle road and Lafayette road, thence through the center of Lafayette road and South road to Richards avenue, thence by a direct line to Wentworth street, thence through the center of Wentworth street to the center of Pleasant street, thence to and through the center of Washington street to Puddle dock, thence through the said dock to the river, and by the river to the point begun at.

Ward three shall contain all that part of said city lying westerly of wards one and two and the center of Lafayette road.

Ward four shall contain all that part of said city not included in the above described wards, including all the islands except Noble's Island.

SEC. 2. The inspectors of check-lists, and all ward officers in the city of Portsmouth, shall hereafter be elected biennially, or once in two years only, on the Tuesday next following the first Monday in November, and shall hold their respective offices for and during the term of two years, and until others are elected and qualified in their stead; that the first election of inspectors of check-lists and ward officers, under this law, shall be held in November, A. D. eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, and the second in November, A. D. eighteen hundred and eighty, and so every two years thereafter in every alternate November, and upon the day herein before designated. The inspectors of check-lists and all ward officers now in office in said city shall hold their respective offices until the Tuesday next following the first Monday in November, A. D. eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead.

SECTION 3. At every election held in said city, there shall be appointed and commissioned by the mayor two supervisors of check-lists and elections for each ward, who shall be, at the time of their appointment, voters in the ward in which their duties are to be performed, to be stationed on duty at the ward room in their respective wards at every election, one of whom shall represent the leading minority political party of said city, one for each ward to be chosen by the majority political party of the board of aldermen of said city, and the other by the leading minority political party of said board of aldermen, who, before entering upon such office, shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of the duties thereof by the city clerk, and their term of office shall continue for the election to which they shall be chosen; and they shall have the power of constables and police officers, and shall receive from said city the same compensation as is paid to moderators. Said supervisors shall attend the wardroom or place of election to which designated on election days; shall have access to the desk or place where the check-list and ballot-box are kept; shall see that no fraudulent vote is cast by parties personating others or in any other way; and that voters have proper access to the polls. They shall be entitled to such a position in the desk or room where the balloting is done as shall give them an opportunity at all times to examine the check-list and witness the checking; and they shall also be entitled to have the ballot-box or boxes in which the ballots are deposited kept in such place and position that they may see and protect it from any fraud during the balloting, and until the votes are counted and declared, and neither said ballot-box or boxes, or the votes contained therein, shall be carried from the presence of such supervisors from the time the polls are opened until the polls are closed and votes declared. They shall see that the moderator, in receiving votes and in counting the same in presence of the selectmen, and the clerk in checking names, are not interfered with or molested. Nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize said supervisors to assume or exercise the authority of selectmen, moderator, or ward clerk, or to interfere with said officers in the discharge of their respective duties.

SEC. 4. Any person interfering with said supervisors in the execution of the duties of their office shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not more than six months, or both. On the request of the board of inspectors, the mayor shall detail such police force as may be necessary to preserve order, and enable such supervisors to discharge their duties. In all elections in said city the polls in the several wards shall not be kept open later than six o'clock in the afternoon.

SEC. 5. Nothing in this act shall invalidate the warrants and check-lists now posted in the several wards as constituted prior to this act, for the election to be held on the first Tuesday of August, A. D. eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, and said warrants shall be a sufficient and legal notice of said election in all the wards as constituted by this act; and all business transacted at said election shall be legal and valid. And said check-lists when corrected by the board of inspectors of check-lists, to conform to the boundaries of the several wards as established by this act, shall be the check-lists to be used at said election. And all the inhabitants of that part of the city of Portsmouth which by this act is disannexed from wards one and two and annexed to ward three who would have been entitled to vote in said wards one and two, except for the provisions of this act, shall be legal voters in said ward three, at said election, and their names shall be placed upon the check-list of that ward, but inspectors of check-lists and ward officers, shall not, however, be then chosen.

SEC. 6. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 7. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.
D. H. BUFFUM,
President of the Senate.

Approved August 1, 1878.

New Hampshire Items.

Ira A. Paine gave an exhibition of rifle shooting on the Manchester base ball grounds Friday afternoon. He pronounced it one of the most satisfactory to himself of any yet given, notwithstanding the severe storm. He hit nineteen glass balls in less than one minute. He hit a base ball fifteen times in succession, thrown with curves by Leary, the professional pitcher for the Manchesters, using Evans' repeating rifle. Twenty-five of twenty-six glass balls were hit with the rifle, and ten of twenty glass balls with a Colt's army revolver, thrown at his head from a distance of thirty yards.

Benjamin Perkins of New Durham was arrested and taken to Wolfeboro' Thursday, by United States Marshal Patterson, on complaint of defrauding the government in the sum of six cents by placing upon letters cancelled postage stamps. A hearing was had before Commissioner Bartlett, resulting in holding Perkins in the sum of $500 for his appearance before the Circuit Court in October.

The severest thunder-shower of the season passed over Manchester Friday afternoon. The streets were flooded and many cellars on Elm street filled with the overflow and back-water from the sewers. Steam fire-engines were used in pumping them out. St. Ann's Catholic church was struck by lightning, laying open the spire several feet.

One of the attractions for visitors at the Crawford Notch Hoeus just now is a British sailor who swallows living frogs—for a consideration. He lives in a hut known as the "house that Jack built," and is something of a hermit in his way. He takes a frog by the hind leg, gives it a souse in water, opens his mouth, and compels it to jump down his throat. He says the creatures live for some little time in his stomach, but he doesn't mind that. One day he swallowed 16 young frogs and wanted no more food for a day and a half. He acquired the habit of eating frogs and snakes once when shipwrecked, and is in want of no other food.

Clear the Way

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the non-griping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fiber, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

Fat People Easily "Sunstruck."

Fat people are not only liable to sudden death from heart disease, apoplexy, etc., but statistics show that they are more liable than others to "sunstrokes" and affections arising from extreme heat. An extensive experience in the treatment of corpulence has resulted in the introduction of Allan's Anti-Fat, a safe, certain and speedy remedy for the cure of this terrible condition. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. If corpulent people who are exposed to the rays of the sun value life and a comfortable existence, let them use Allan's Anti-Fat. Sold by druggists.

Army and Navy officers make their headquarters at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia. So do leading business men from all sections, while for families and large parties of travellers it also offers unequalled attractions.

"A stitch in time saves nine." A dose of Adamson's Balsam in season may prevent a long cold or fever, and perhaps a resultant death. It cures coughs, colds, asthma, and all lung troubles. Keep it in the house. Price 85 cents.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

DOCTOR PIERCE'S
ALT. EXT. OF
Golden Medical Discovery
CURES DISEASES OF THE THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD.
In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has inserted into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigor of health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the various diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
If you feel languid, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, loss of appetite, bowels alternate with the flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS AT $1 PER BOTTLE.
Prepared by R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Sole Proprietor, at the WORLD'S DISPENSARY, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. JOHN TRIPP'S
BLOOD PURIFIER
Is the most wonderful discovery for the radical cure of SYPHILIS and SCROFULA. It never fails to entirely eradicate either of these diseases and all Blood Poison from the system. It has been in private practice eighteen years, and over 10,000 cures effected by it are on record.
Sole Eastern Agency, 306 Columbus ave., Boston, Mass. Office hours, 8 to 11, A. M., 2 to 7 P. M. Send for pamphlet. Cure in all cases of Syphilis in either stage guaranteed. eod1ly78

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. in
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

INVALIDS' HOTEL.
The very large number of invalid people who daily visit India, from every quarter of the United States and Canada, that they may consult Dr. R. V. PIERCE, and the widely celebrated Faculty of Specialists in Medicine and Surgery associated with him, rendered it necessary that the founder of this institution should provide a place on a grand and commodious scale for their entertainment and comfort.
ADVANTAGES OFFERED.—The Invalids' Hotel is more complete in its appointments than any similar institution in the world. The building is located in one of the most healthful and desirable portions of the City of Buffalo, and commands a fine view of Lake Erie, Niagara River, and the surrounding country, being situated in the midst of an extensive system of beautiful parks. The Hotel is furnished with a patent safety passenger elevator, to convey patients to and from the different floors; is provided with all kinds of approved baths, and has also connected with it a well-appointed gymnasium and bowling alley to afford proper means of exercise.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms, whether requiring medical, surgical, or mechanical treatment, come within the province of the medical specialists.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are the facilities of this infirmary of a superior order as regards the remedial means and appliances for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females. The employment, in moderation, of tonic, chemical, electro-thermal, and other approved baths, is in many cases an invaluable auxiliary to the remedial means on which we resort in such cases. Dry friction to the surface, general shampooing, Swedish movements, and light calisthenic exercises, to enliven and equalize the circulation of the blood in the system, relieve congested parts, improve digestion, and strengthen the muscles, produce important beneficial results in all cases to which these means are applicable. No experimenting is resorted to in the treatment. The most approved medicines are carefully employed, and the judicious regulation of the diet, to suit the condition of the patient, the thorough ventilation of the sleeping apartment, the cheering influence of music, social intercourse, innocent games for amusement, and all those agencies which tend to arouse the mind of the patient from despondency, and thus promote recovery, are not neglected.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty, by which the greatest skill is attained and the most happy results secured.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of the practice in the Invalids' Hotel is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases are very largely treated in this department, and with results which have been highly gratifying to both physician and patients.
EYE AND EAR.—Special attention is given to the delicate operations on the eye and ear, a competent oculist and aurist being under engagement to conduct this branch of the practice.
Invalids arriving in the city and desiring to consult us, should come directly to the Hotel. It is easily accessible by carriage, omnibus, or street cars. Miller's Omnibus Agents, on all incoming trains, can be relied upon to deliver passengers and baggage with security and dispatch.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1878.

A New "Scholarship" Needed.

The latest defalcation in Boston is attributed to losses in speculation in mining stocks. For a man like Mr. Durant, who as a lawyer could so easily humbug others, when he was in practice, to be in turn overreached in a business affair, is not to be wondered at; but that a cashier of a bank, a man presumed to possess ordinary intelligence, and any sort of knowledge of what transpires in the world, should try his hand at mining shares, seems almost incredible. Everybody knows that this mining business is and always has been a species of gambling, the game depending upon the amounts mined in spots likely at any moment to become exhausted as to material wealth, and also upon the fair dealing of those who managed the affair.

The game has been to get back in dividends the original sum paid for shares, and then trust to luck for an excess beyond the first outlay. Confiding women, uninformed youth, men living at a distance from cities, persons whose names could be obtained from local postmasters, and others, have from time to time been the buyers of mining stock; and where one Bonanza like Culumet and Hecla has been discovered, there have been numberless instances of worthless stocks, the certificates of which lie in the back recesses of the safes and bureau drawers of disgusted holders.

Glowing accounts of mining results have raised the hopes of confiding investers, to be followed by the inevitable result of disappointed expectations and empty treasuries. And yet a Boston cashier has been found weak enough to speculate in mining stocks. It would seem that a school to instruct such men not only in the first principles of finance, but in the morals of money handling, is much needed in the meridian of Boston, and the next generous man that adds to the fund of Harvard College, should found a scholarship where common sense could be taught for the benefit of the future finances of the modern Athens.

Chronicle Correspondence.

CONCORD, August 5.

To-day brings the law makers of the State back again with the determination to wind up their affairs if possible. One large job has been finished this past week. By the persistency of Judge Sargent of Concord, the chairman of the committee relating to the subject, the revision of the statutes has been completed. The matter was ended in the House Tuesday afternoon. It was sent to the Senate immediately and that body opened its mouth and swallowed it at one gulp, only making three verbal amendments, which the House immediately concurred in on Friday. The scene will close with the signing of the act by the Governor.

Wednesday and Thursday were mostly occupied with the consideration of the taxation of railroads. Mr. O. C. Moore, editor of the Nashua Telegraph, opened and closed the debate. It has been characterized as the most brilliant and able debate that has been heard in the House for many years. The speakers kept to their text better than is usually the custom upon such occasions. Those in favor of the railroads spoke rather for the railroads themselves than in regard to the taxation of them. As a usual thing the lawyers of the House spoke against the taxation. The debate was participated in by Messrs. Lund of Concord, Blodgett of Franklin, Shurtleff of Colebrook, Rolles of Ossipee, Henry of Greenville, Dodge of Enfield, Sinclair of Bethlehem, Marston of Exeter, Stevens of Nashua, and Hobbs of Ossipee against, and by Messrs. Moore of Nashua, Wallace of Newton, Sanborn of Unity, Worcester of Hollis, Foster of Canterbury, and Patterson of Hanover in favor of the bill. In the course of the debate the railroad committee was treated in far from a complimentary manner, and counter charges were also made. Mr. Moore had numerous questions put to him, some of which he chose to call conundrums. He listened with patience to one and all, not deigning to make a reply until all had finished. Then, Thursday afternoon, he made one of the most eloquent as well as convincing speeches that has ever been made in that hall. For one hour and three-quarters he held his audience as it were in the palm of his hand. Every point was answered and turned to the advantage of the bill. His listeners were convinced that he was thoroughly in earnest. The doorways and gallery were completely filled with spectators, the latter with ladies of the best families in Concord. One or two expressions in the debate must not be lost. Mr. Patterson, speaking in regard to the charges made against the railroad committee, said with all his energy and emphasis, "Calling a man a thief and a liar does not make him so, and by pummeling his skin becomes tougher, as I know by experience." Mr. Shurtleff of Colebrook in speaking of the good railroads had done spoke of the improvement to the town of Bethlehem. He said, "Before the railroad went thro' that town the turkeys were so poor that they had to lean against the fence to gobble."

Immediately at the close of the debate on the taxation of railroads on that afternoon Mr. Stevens moved to take the matter from the table and consider it. Then the democrats began their fillibustering motions and ceased from voting in hopes of leaving the republicans without a quorum, but 193 republicans were present, and after defeating fillibustering for two hours the House concurred. The Speaker called Bingham of Littleton to order, yet he persisted in being out of order and the speaker put the motion while Bingham continued to howl. The next morning's issue of the People contained a savage and indecorous criticism upon the speaker's action, and notwithstanding the speaker made a satisfactory and competent reply to the members of the House on Thursday, yet Friday morning's issue of the same paper contained an even worse one than on the day previous. I suppose all that can be done about it is to take it and consider the source from whence it comes.

The most exciting event of the session was the concurrence of the House on Wednesday afternoon with the amendments of the Senate to the bill to amend the charter of the city of Portsmouth.

Quite a pleasant affair took place on Friday morning in the House. One of the pages came in bringing two elegant bouquets of handsome hot-house flowers labelled "To General Marston of Exeter and Judge Bingham of Littleton, the two oldest bachelors of the House as well as the handsomest, from an admiring lady in the gallery." Mr. Sinclair of Bethlehem made the presentation speech in his witty manner which kept the House in a roar of laughter. Mr. Bingham said, "I don't know what would have happened had this taken place in my younger days;" while Mr. Marston replied, "I know what would have happened had it taken place in my younger days."

The republicans made an effort to work on Saturday, but the democrats did everything to oppose it and finally prevailed. Friday afternoon was consumed by the democrats talking until a quorum was not present, and by calling for a division which showed a quorum not present the House was adjourned. Mr. Patterson in discussing with Sinclair asked him if he would stay over Saturday and work. Mr. Sinclair replied, "I either will or will pair off with you and go home."

It is the custom now if a bill excites considerable discussion and first one side and then another offers an amendment, for some one to move that the bill be indefinitely postponed. Quite a number of bills have been served that way of late, and it is not a bad idea. A. B.

New Hampshire Items.

A few days ago a child of John Patenaud, of Littleton, twenty months old, was struck by a passing railroad train and thrown some distance into a clump of bushes. To the surprise of every one he was found to be unhurt, with the exception of a few slight bruises.

The old Court House at Plymouth in which Daniel Webster made his first plea has been repaired by Hon. H. W. Blair and presented by him to the Young Ladies' Library Association of Plymouth, to be used as a library and reading-room, thus preserving to future generations a building of great historical interest.

A statement made Dec. 31, 1875, showed 696 men of good standing in the department of the Grand Army of the Republic in New Hampshire; that of June 30, 78, showed 1150; a gain in two years and a half of 454 men, of 246 since Jan. 1, 1878. There are ten Posts more in the State to-day than there were Jan. 1, 1875.

John Genac, of Laconia, thirteen years old, accidentally and probably fatally shot himself while playing with a revolver Sunday.

News and Notes.

Michael Winn, of West Randolph, Vt., shot his eleven-months-old babe dead and mortally wounded its mother, Saturday morning, and then killed himself, while insane. Mrs. Nathan Adams, of Stowe, Vt., drowned herself Saturday. Ellen Whitten, of Monmouth, Me., hanged herself Thursday night. Henry Webb, of Bridgton, Me., cut his throat with a carving knife Saturday. Lewis H. Davis, well known as one of the song-and-dance men, Chase and Davis, killed himself in St. John, N. B., Saturday.

A tow-boat blew up near Gallipolis, Ohio, Saturday evening, killing two men and fatally wounding three more.

Leo Miller, a greenback campaign speaker from New York, publishes a card in the Banger Commercial concerning the charges of immoral relations with Mattie Strickland. In explanation he says he and Mattie Strickland, in November, 1875, formed a civil and conjugal contract as partners, and he has ever since cherished her as a beloved companion and mate.

Mrs. Huppleberg, of Brooklyn, N. Y., sought to hurry up a slow fire Friday evening by pouring kerosene on it from a can; her funeral took place on Sunday. Mrs. Rose Boudroe, of Cohoes, N. Y., kindled her fire Saturday evening with kerosene, and her remains were buried on Monday.

Assaults on women by tramps continue to be reported. In Trenton, Iowa, last week, two tramps were fed by a farmer's wife, and then learning from her that her husband would not be at home till evening they feloniously assaulted her; her little daughter was tightly wrapped in a blanket to prevent her escaping, and when unwrapped she was dead. On Saturday a fourteen-years-old daughter of Hon. Edward Crosby of Brattleboro', Vt., was brutally assaulted by a tramp, near her home, her screams being stifled by a handkerchief stuffed into her mouth. Gen. Marston's tramp law will soon guaranty women in New Hampshire protection from such fellows as these.

The catamaran Tarentella made the passage from Edgarton to Nantucket, July 29th, with a fair wind and plenty of it, in one hour; the distance is twenty-eight miles. This is about as fast sailing as is recorded.

Fat People Easily "Sunstruck."

Fat people are not only liable to sudden death from heart disease, apoplexy, etc., but statistics show that they are more liable than others to "sunstrokes" and affections arising from extreme heat. An extensive experience in the treatment of corpulence has resulted in the introduction of Allan's Anti-Fat, a safe, certain and speedy remedy for the cure of this terrible condition. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. If corpulent people who are exposed to the rays of the sun value life and a comfortable existence, let them use Allan's Anti-Fat. Sold by druggists.

Army and Navy officers make their headquarters at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia. So do leading business men from all sections, while for families and large parties of travellers it also offers unequalled attractions.

"A stitch in time saves nine." A dose of Adamson's Balsam in season may prevent a long cold or fever, and perhaps a resultant death. It cures coughs, colds, asthma, and all lung troubles. Keep it in the house. Price 25 cents.

Thousands of persons have their eyes turned towards Wall street. That is where thousands of dollars are made daily from investments ranging from $50 to $250. The reliable brokers, Alex. Frotzingham & Co., 12 Wall st., N. Y., send their Financial Report free,—which explains fully. 12

Tiny Flies and so do diseases of the skin when that incomparable purifier of the cuticle and beautifier of the complexion, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, is used to disperse them. Pimples, blotches, sores and bruises, and the like are invariably removed by it.

ELECTION DAY.

The polls open at 9 o'clock this forenoon, and close at six in the afternoon. A plurality elects all officers.

The board of inspectors of check-lists will be in session this morning from 8 to 10 o'clock, and from 1 to 2 o'clock this afternoon, at the City Building, for the purpose of furnishing certificates to any persons whose names may have been left off the list, and whom the board are satisfied have a right to vote.

THE CITY.

Rev. James DeNormandie preached at South Eliot on Sunday afternoon. The stone church choir accompanied him, and favored the people with some of their choice music.

One of the horses driven in Mr. William Prior's "hourly" dropped dead Monday morning while the team was being prepared for starting out. The loss is a heavy one to Mr. Prior.

The three-story brick building corner of Ceres and Bow streets, with the lot on which it stands and the wharf adjacent, will be sold by auction at noon to-day, on the premises, by Morse & Ilsley. See advertisement.

The Eastern railroad car shops in Boston were on fire Monday evening, cutting off telegraphic communication in this direction, all the Western Union wires from the eastward passing over the top of this building in entering Boston.

Steamer Speedwell arrived at this port from Gloucester, Mass., on Sunday, and moored alongside the wharf at the navy yard. Her boilers need some repairs, and she is to have put on board a new hoisting engine for lifting the dredges of the Fish Commission from the bottom of the ocean.

A letter received in this city from one of the company of ship Paul Jones, now at Shanghai, China, says that she had some rough weather in the Indian ocean, and had her wheel carried away by a sea. The same sea took a number of small articles off deck, and injured Capt. Gerrish so that he was laid up for three weeks.

The Veteran Artillery Association held a meeting in the City Rooms on Monday evening. The last year's committee on clam-bake were re-appointed with full power to make arrangements as to time and place, etc., for the annual re-union and clam-bake this year, and the election of officers was postponed to that time and place.

Steamer Clara Batemen carried out a fishing party of twenty persons on the 4th inst., and they were very successful, taking about 1000 lbs. of nice fish, and a big mackerel shark. Steamer Little May took out to the Shoals on the same day a large party—over twenty—and brought them all in again in safety; she was deep as a sand-barge, but went along nicely with a dory containing two persons in tow.

A portrait of Mr. Elbridge G. Pierce, Sr., painted by Miss Mary E. B. Miller, is to be seen at W. G. Myers' book-store. Miss Miller is a pupil of Mr. U. D. Tenney, who has painted so many excellent portraits for persons in this city and vicinity, and this picture shows that she does credit to her instructor. Many of the portraits painted by famous artists of former days are stiff artificial-looking affairs compared with this life-like picture of Mr. Pierce.

HE DOESN'T LIVE HERE.

The Times of Monday evening says:

A gentleman, while riding in a railroad car, remarked to his neighbor in the same seat: "I used to read an evening newspaper, but I gave it up, because then I could find no news in the next morning's paper."

It is evident that the gentleman referred to doesn't live in this city.

SEBASTOPOL TAKEN.

The old-line managers of the democratic party in ward four ("old ward three") met with a regular Waterloo defeat at the caucus on Saturday evening. The younger portion of the party thought they had been led by the nose by the Bourbon element long enough, and determined to take a new departure. They laid their plans, and when the caucus organized were all ready to carry through a resolution to nominate candidates by ballot, instead of having the ward committee make up a ticket for the caucus to "endorse," as has been the custom heretofore; and they did carry such a resolution through, to the intense disgust of the old hard-shells, who were obliged to accept the ticket nominated by the young democracy. It was a hard dose to swallow, and occasioned a great many wry faces among the old fuglers who have run things to suit themselves for untold centuries in that ward; but they had to swallow it, for the "boys" had the votes on hand. Luck to 'em!

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

The democratic mayoralty caucus was held Monday evening at the Court House. A nomination was effected on the first ballot, which was as follows:

Whole number of votes	187
Necessary for a choice	94
Henry Peyser had	1
William T. Frye	1
Albert R. Hatch	1
Daniel Marcy	5
Marcellus Eldredge	67
Samuel P. Treadwell	111

And Samuel P. Treadwell was declared the nominee of the democratic party. The nomination was then made unanimous. Mr. Eldredge, who received next to the highest vote in the caucus, had repeatedly informed his friends that he could not and would not accept a nomination if tendered him; and knowing that by strict party usage Mr. Treadwell was entitled to the nomination this year, used all his influence in his favor.

The democratic caucus of ward two was held Monday evening, and the following named candidates chosen: Aldermen, Thomas H. Odion, Albert R. Hatch, Calvin Page; Councilmen, Shirley B. Cunningham, William P. Burley, Benjamin M. Parker, William T. Frye, George E. Hill, Samuel H. Gardner; Assessors, George E. Marden, Thomas Neil, Benjamin Russell; Overseer of the Poor, Albert Hayes.

BASE BALL.

The second game of the series between the Rockingham and Farragut clubs was played at the Plains on Monday afternoon, in the presence of some three hundred spectators, including a large number of ladies in carriages. The "color" of the home club was blue and that of the visitors white, the fair lady critics and friends of the respective clubs flying these colors in profusion, and liberally applauding the playing of their favorites. The Rockinghams deserve great credit for their perseverance and pluck in playing the up-hill game which they did. In the ninth inning Whittem tied the game amid wild enthusiasm and French scored the winning run, the applause at this point being simply immense. Of the individual playing in the field that of Dalton, J. Dorr and Beach of the Rye team was particularly fine, Randall, Pfeiffer and Whitcomb excelling for the "blue boys." The umpire in his position (a hard one to fill) was perhaps a little partial, but we were glad to notice that he favored the "whites." Those understanding the "national game" can interest themselves by perusing the following score:

CITY COUNCILS.

A special meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen was held Monday afternoon at four o'clock. The Mayor stated to the board that a bill had been introduced in the Legislature as follows:

SECTION 1. The Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire is hereby authorized to issue bonds to an amount not exceeding the amount of its capital stock, and to secure the same by mortgage of its road and franchise and all other property owned by it to a trustee or trustees resident in the State of New Hampshire, and any sale made by the trustee or trustees by virtue of any power contained in said mortgage, in case of default shall be held to be a good and valid foreclosure of the same.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

The Mayor further stated that the following remonstrance had been largely signed by tax-payers:

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

The undersigned, tax-payers of the city of Portsmouth, respectfully remonstrate against the passage of an act by the Legislature authorizing the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire to issue bonds, as we believe such action will permanently impair the value of the stock in the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad held by the city of Portsmouth, and the subscription for which was made for the benefit of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire and upon their promise to pay an income or dividend thereon; the security for the payment of which will be seriously impaired by the creation of a mortgage debt where none now exists, and the summary mode providing for the wiping out of the property in case of default in payment of interest.

The board then unanimously passed the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, There is a proposition before the Legislature to create a large indebtedness of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, which may if allowed to pass and become a law seriously impair the security for rentals, and diminish the value and possibly prevent the payment of dividends upon the shares of stock in Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, in which the city is interested to a large extent,

Voted, That the Mayor be authorized and requested to oppose any such legislation before the legislative committees, and to associate with him such persons in aid of the object of his visit to Concord as he may deep expedient.

The Mayor offered the following explanation supplementary to that given on Thursday evening to Ald. Hadley's resolution asking information in regard to work being done on the streets:

In further answer to the resolutions offered by Ald. Hadley at the last meeting of this Board, and passed on motion of Ald. Yeaton, I desire to say that I believe the resolution to have been drawn in a spirit of envy and malice, and that it was a premeditated plan to injure me before the people. The resolution falsely charges me with exceeding my authority and squandering and frittering away the public money, and was passed without giving me a hearing; first condemning me, and then asking for an explanation. And inasmuch as the duty of keeping the streets in repair is entirely within my province, and in accordance with my oath of office, and as I have of late employed a number of men to perform that labor, who in most cases were very needy—their wives and children wanting bread—and also having no other means of paying their taxes—and in my own judgment and that of the chairman of the committee on streets, the repairs on the streets were necessary — if acting as above is what the gentlemen call frittering away the public money, I am willing they should enjoy the pleasure of the commendation they evidently expected to receive for their vote of censure.

[This explanation as offered also contained a statement that a copy of Ald. Hadley's resolution was given to a newspaper reporter before it was submitted to the board.]

Ald. Yeaton explained his position, stating that he voted for the resolution from no malice or ill will toward the Mayor, toward whom his feelings had always been friendly, but to bring the matter before the board and give the mayor a chance to reply.

Ald. Hadley stated that no copy of the resolution had been delivered to any one before it was introduced to the board, but two having been made up to that time, one of which is the one on file with the board. Mr. Hadley called on our reporter to state if he received a copy of the resolution before it was given to the board.

The reporter stated that no copy was given him until after the resolution was adopted, and then only at his personal request.

Ald. P. D. Norton said that a newspaper reporter told him that he had a copy before it was introduced. Our reporter asked if he was the one referred to, which Ald. Norton answered in the negative.

Ald. Yeaton persisted that no malice or even censure was intended on his part.

The mayor then ordered the sentence relating to the giving a copy to a reporter to be stricken out, and as amended the explanation was placed on record. The mayor verbally stated that he had told the street commissioner to discharge all men he had not work for; that his duty was to supervise and the commissioner's to oversee, and that he had employed those who came to him pleading poverty.

Ald. Yeaton still objected to the mayor's explanation as presented going on the record, the mayor holding to his decision in opposition to Mr. Yeaton's wishes.

Ald. Hoyt said he did not see the resolution until it was nearly written, when he suggested that it might be construed as a censure.

Ald. P. D. Norton argued that it was quite within the line of the mayor's duty to supervise the work on the streets.

Ald. Hadley did not object to the mayor's explanation going on the record.

Ald. Hoyt did not think that Sec. 2 of Chap. 9 gave the mayor power to place men on the streets as he might think fit.

Ald. Yeaton submitted the following written protest against the mayor's statement going on record:

I protest against the entry upon the record of the paper presented by His Honor the Mayor, inasmuch as it reflects unjustly upon myself. H. A. YEATON.

Ald. Hoyt and Payne also protested against the mayor's statement being recorded.

Adjourned.

The following supervisors of elections were chosen by the board for the various wards, under the recent amendment of the city charter: ward one, John W. Shannon, republican, Ira C. Seymour, democrat; ward two, Joseph R. Curtis, repub., I. Nelson Goodrich, dem.; ward three, Elijah Clough, repub., Israel Marden, dem.; ward four, George M. Ayers, repub., Alonzo K. W. Green, dem.

THE VICINITY.

There are now encamped on Gerrish's island parties from Keene and Pittsfield, in this State, and Methuen, Mass., besides the Portsmouth party on Point Pocahontas, and the sea moss gatherers who are tenting it further up the harbor.

The recent rains have brought the corn and potatoes, and "fall feed," right along in this vicinity. From Rye, Stratham, York and Eliot we have advices that only very early planted potatoes have suffered enough to materially affect the yield, and brown pastures are green again, and the corn is earing out well.

The premises of Mary York of Newmarket were raided by Deputy Sheriff Smith, Monday, and a quantity of liquors found. The complainants reside in Newmarket. Mrs. York is one of the parties proceeded against some weeks since, at the time Webster and Drake, the "liquor spotters," were assaulted by a mob.

Sheriff Legro of Rochester with a posse made a raid on the suspected liquor dealers at Salmon Falls, Sunday. On entering the stores of George L. Wentworth and Temple Lord a large quantity was found on the tap; also several barrels in the stable and cellar of each, from which it was drawn for sale. A large crowd collected and intense excitement prevailed, but no assaults were made.

A young, good-looking woman on Monday stole a very nice Ivers buggy from Mr. Josiah Dearborn of Epping. She put up with a team of her own, Sunday evening, at the farm house of Mr. Parks, near the Dearborn place. Next morning early she drove to Dearborn's, took her horse out of her own old wagon and harnessed him into Dearborn's, and drove off. She is about twenty years old.

Constable Blake Roberts, of Newmarket, was assaulted in that town shortly before midnight on Saturday, by a crowd of boys and young men numbering forty or more. He was badly injured, receiving over twenty cuts and bruises on his head from stones and other missiles. An ex-police officer failed to rescue Mr. Roberts from the hands of the cowardly mob of roughs, but a plucky young man named Walter Shute at length came along and took the injured man home. The attack on Roberts was an incident of the free-rum crusade.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Two Scenes.

Scene 1st—Two lovers by moonlight alone. He: "You ought to know I love you, darling." She looks down, blushes and—snuffs. He: "Don't you love me just the least little bit?" She: "Yes (snuff,) I love you ever so much (snuff;) I could die for you." (Snuff and kisses infinitum.)

Scene 2d.—One year after marriage. He: "Confound it! I wish you would break yourself of that disgusting habit of snuffing." She (deprecatingly:) "I can't help it Charlie, I've had the catarrh four or five years." He: "Forgive me, dear, I didn't mean to be cross, but in the name of Cupid, get some of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They say it is a sure cure. You know Ed. Brown, they said he was incurable, and it cured him completely." She: "I'll do anything to please you, Charlie." (Interesting tableau.)

The "filthy condition" of New Orleans is said to be the cause of the yellow fever epidemic there.

Robert Thompson (colored) and Mary Cross (white,) who were married by Rev. J. W. Webb (colored) in 1877, and who have since lived together, were arraigned before a magistrate in Alexandria, Va., last week, and committed to jail to await the action of the court. The officiating clergyman was also required to give bail to answer at court. The penalty fixed by law for the principals is confinement in the penitentiary for not less than two years, and for the officiating minister a fine of $200.

During a thunder storm at Philadelphia, Sunday, lightning struck a Methodist tent while services were being held. A girl eleven years old was instantly killed, and another girl and two boys fatally hurt.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S

ALT. EXT. OR

Golden Medical Discovery

CURES DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated with these symptoms you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

INVALIDS' HOTEL.

The very large number of invalid people who daily visit Buffalo, from every quarter of the United States and Canada, that they may consult Dr. R. V. PIERCE, and the widely celebrated Faculty of Specialists in Medicine and Surgery associated with him, rendered it necessary that the founder of this institution should provide a place on a grand and commodious scale for their entertainment and comfort.

ADVANTAGES OFFERED.—The Invalids' Hotel is more complete in its appointments than any similar institution in the world. The building is located in one of the most healthful and desirable portions of the City of Buffalo, and commands a fine view of Lake Erie, Niagara River, and the surrounding country, being situated in the midst of an extensive system of beautiful parks. The Hotel is furnished with a patent safety passenger elevator, to convey patients to and from the different floors; is provided with all kinds of approved baths, and has also connected with it a well-appointed gymnasium and bowling alley to afford proper means of exercise.

CHRONIC DISEASES of any form, whether requiring medical, surgical, or mechanical treatment, come within the province of our several specialties.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are the facilities of this infirmary of a superior order as regards the remedial means and appliances for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females. The employment, in moderation, of the douche, medical, electro-thermal, and other approved baths, is in many cases an invaluable auxiliary to the remedial means to which we resort in such cases. Dry friction to the surface, general shampooing, Swedish movements, and light calisthenic exercises, to enliven and equalize the circulation of the blood in the system, relieve congested parts, improve digestion, and strengthen the muscles, produce important beneficial results in all cases to which these means are applicable. No experimenting is resorted to in the treatment. The most approved medicines are carefully employed, and the judicious regulation of the diet, to suit the condition of the patient, the thorough ventilation of the sleeping apartment, the cheering influence of music, social intercourse, innocent games for amusement, and all those agencies which tend to arouse the mind of the patient from despondency, and thus promote recovery, are not neglected.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty, by which the greatest skill is attained and the most happy results secured.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of the practice in the Invalids' Hotel is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases are very largely treated in this department, and with results which have been highly gratifying to both physician and patients.

EYE AND EAR.—Special attention is given to the delicate operations on the eye and ear, a distinguished oculist and aurist being under engagement to conduct this branch of the practice.

Invalids arriving in the city and desiring to consult us, should come directly to the Hotel. It is easily accessible by carriage, omnibus, or street cars. MILLER'S Omnibus Agents, on all incoming trains, can be relied upon to deliver passengers and baggage with security and dispatch.

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 2d.

The importance of the late decision of the Interior Department, making all railroad-grant lands not sold within three years subject to pre-emption at $1.25 per acre, is liable to be overlooked in the heat of political strife and crowded aside by the thousand and one other matters demanding public attention. Of course it will be contested by roads interested, and they will seek to evade it. But it will be difficult to get it reversed by the courts as it is founded on the conditions of the grants, and in equity as well. And the tens of thousands of beneficiaries among the laboring masses should not forget that they are indebted for the decision in their behalf to Hon. E. M. Marble, Assistant Attorney General of the department in question. But there is one thing the Central and Union Pacific roads are not likely to forget, and that is to extort from those so unfortunate as to have to patronize them, the last dollar they can grind out by their powers as monopolists created by government. The recent advance of freight rates looks like retaliation. It has been heard of here with indignation; and we all hope the next Congress may take up the work of subordinating their management to law, where the 45th dropped it, and of restricting their powers of extortion and robbery.

Since Patterson, Senator of South Carolina, prostituted the influence of his high position to foisting on the Senate a Ku-Klux murderer, his word don't make a deep impression. The Star reiterates the assertion of its reporter that Patterson recently said in substance that the administration would ultimately be brought on its marrow-bones by Wade Hampton and Ku-Klux Judge Kershaw, in the matter of the imprisoned revenue officials. Assurances have been repeatedly given that South Carolina will be made to respect the habeas corpus process issued to bring those prisoners before a U. S. Court; but not a few regard the silence maintained in official circles during the past few days, and the uncontradicted boast of nullification sympathizers to the effect that government will yield in the issue it raised with Judge Kershaw, as ominous of the deep sense of humiliation and disgrace that will be felt if the United States is finally bull-dozed into delivering up its officials to the tender mercies of Palmetto State ruffians, to be imprisoned or hung because they presumed to defend their own lives while in the execution of a bounden duty. "Wait and see."

Kearney is coming, but our long experience with demagogues enables us to tell one at a glance; besides, the manner and matter of the agitator's speeches betray him. Cohen and his crowd, none of whom could probably be induced to work at any price, still demand "bread or blood"—they taking the former and leaving it to somebody else to secure the latter. Their experience with the police last week has taken the fight all out of them, and they discreetly limit themselves to cheap talk. KNOX.

The Achievements of Stanley, and Other African Explorers.

This book is a complete history of Stanley's explorations in Africa; together with a concise account of the late explorations by Baker, Cameron and others. By Hon. J. T. Headley. Hubbard Bros., Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati and Springfield.

No recent event has excited a deeper and more wide-spread interest in the country, than the brilliant achievement of Henry M. Stanley, in the field of African exploration. Ever since the announcement of his arrival, in a famished condition, at the mouth of the Congo, the public have eagerly awaited a detailed account of his thrilling experiences, and the results of his discovery. The announcement therefore of this volume, from the pen of so brilliant and popular an author as Mr. J. T. Headley, will be received with lively interest and satisfaction, and this interest will be greatly heightened by an examination of the book itself. Since the death of Livingstone, the work of exploration has been pushed with great vigor. Sir Samuel W. Baker with a small army under royal authority, ascended the Nile, and was the first European to penetrate from the north into the great central lake region. Lieut. Cameron, of the English royal navy, reached the same region from the east, and then pushed across the continent overland, to the western coast, and last and greatest of all, the daring and intrepid Stanley, breaking through the barriers which had proved insuperable to all former explorers, in the face of a thousand perils by savages, cataracts, disease, wild beasts and starvation, forced his way down the dark river, 2500 miles, and solved the great mystery by proving the Lualaba river discovered by Livingstone to be verily the headwaters of the mighty Congo, and thus opening a grand highway from the west coast to the heart and treasures of one of the most populous and productive continents of the globe. The narrative is intensely interesting and exciting. To follow Stanley in his marvelous voyage down the unknown river, fighting thirty-two battles with man-eating savages, passing fifty-seven cataracts and rapids, to read of the desertion of a large number of his party panic-stricken at the terrors of the forest; of threatened starvation in the middle of the great river whose banks were filled with hostile savages; of enormous labor in hewing through dense jungle to pass the great cataracts; of the vast wonder-land bordering this mighty river, rich in ivory, minerals and fruit, where "every prospect pleases and only man is vile;" to learn all the incidents and adventures of this marvellous journey, and of the grand ovations which have everywhere honored the indomitable American, one must follow the thrilling pages of this book. The publishers deserve great praise for the superb manner in which they have brought out the work. The beauty of its typography and binding and the number and excellence of engravings, are in keeping with its value and character. Undoubtedly it will be more extensively read than any other book of the year.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1878.

Kearney the Great.

Dennis Kearney, the California "sandlots" orator, addressed a crowded meeting of "workingmen" in Faneuil Hall, Boston, Monday night, with great applause. Among other valuable information he told the people that he came to this country "with a head full of brains to help develope the country." He says he never smoked tobacco or drank whiskey in his life. He is—as might be expected—opposed to the press, concerning which he orated as follows: "First and foremost I will pay my respects to the newspapers. The newspapers, from the earliest history of printing, have been on in the interests—take it down, reporters—of cut-throats, political bilks, daylight thieves and midnight assassins. A newspaper is an enterprise like all other enterprises. For the reporters of the press I have great respect. The reporters of newspapers are workingmen like ourselves, working for bread and butter. But for the villanous, serpent-like, slimy imps of hell that own these newspapers I have the utmost contempt. As I stated, the newspapers are enterprises. These men start a newspaper and they want to make money. The first thief that comes along with a purse of gold stolen from the masses offers it to the newspaper proprietor and buys the columns of the newspaper and uses that newspaper for his own corrupt practices; and the newspaper men that sell their columns to such men deserve the condemnation of all honest men. I have known some of the dirtiest, drunkenest bummers that God Almighty ever put breath into write articles for newspapers condemning this honest, popular uprising of the people. I hope the reporter will put that down. I received this afternoon a copy of the San Francisco Chronicle, containing a despatch from New York or Boston, it is all the same; and to enlighten the minds of the masses upon the manner in which news is transmitted from the Atlantic to the Pacific, I will just read an extract as it was transmitted to San Francisco by the Associated Press—a villanous, thieving, infamous band of scallawags that are aiming to control public opinion. If the workingmen of the United States of America possessed within their breasts a single spark out of which the flame of freedom could be formed they would not permit such monsters to live in their midst. They would control these telegraphs, they would hurl these infernal scallawags from power and select honest men to transmit the plain, unvarnished news from one part of the Union to the other." Mr. Kearney garnishes his harangues most liberally with profanity, and has an abundance of abusive epithets for all who do not receive the gospel of communism according to Kearney. His style, which was so popular with San Francisco hoodlums, will hardly carry away with enthusiasm the real workingmen of the east—who can nearly all read.

News and Notes.

The Austrian troops are meeting with considerable armed resistance in their march into Bosnia and Herzogovinia. At Naglai, on Sunday, they had an engagement with the Bosnians, losing seventy men, and in the advance on Mostar, the same day, a fight occurred near Citlak, the losses, however, being small on both sides.

The Globe Gaslight Company have declared a semi-annual dividend of three per cent., and we learn from the treasurer that the business has become sufficiently prosperous to assure a like dividend in the future. This company contracts to light the streets of cities and towns beyond the gas district, furnishing a light from gasoline equal to the best coal gas. This company already has contractain over fifty cities and towns in New England.

The following choice bankruptcies are announced in New York city: Gen. Frederick Vilmar, Commander of the Second Brigade of the National Guard; liabilities, $138,000; no assets. John Livingston, a builder; liabilities, $127,000; no assets. Hiram Johnson, a lawyer; liabilities, $113,000; no assets.

Warren Bailey of South Egremont, Mass., and George Craver of Housatonic, Mass., extensive dealers in counterfeit money, have been arrested.

Mr. Wm. H. Goodwin, president of the Eliot National bank, in a statement made to the Boston Herald declares that Cashier Conant did not "boss" the bank, but was under the control of the board of directors.

The Massachusetts papers speak of a new railroad being completed as far as the poor farm in a town in Middlesex county. That is about the point reached by many railroads.

Four river thieves attempted to rob the schooner Zephina Stillman, Capt. Fisher, Sunday night, but the captain practised on them with his little shooting-iron, and instantly killed Charles Anderson, mortally wounded Edward Wilson, and badly hurt John Smith. The latter and a fellow named Drew escaped. The vessel was lying in Delaware bay at the time.

Commodore Charles D. Jackson, U. S. N., died at Middletown, Conn., Saturday, aged about 75 years. He entered the service from Georgia in 1818, and was commissioned a commodore in 1862.

Stations for the display of cautionary signals have been ordered by the chief signal officer at the following points on the New England coast: Millbridge, Belfast, Deer Island and Boothbay, Me.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Newburyport, Marblehead, Highland light, Chatham, Hyannis, and New Bedford, Mass.; Watch Hill in Rhode Island. This makes a total of thirty-one stations of this class established since July 1st.

A notorious band of New York river thieves known as the "North River Pirates," whose headquarters for ten years were at the corner of Charlton and West streets, has been finally broken up, six of the thieves being in the State prison at Trenton, N. J., and the others fugitives from justice. William O'Day, the leader, is now in Sing Sing prison serving a five years' term for stealing $5000 worth of silk from the White Star dock. During the ten years' existence of this gang it is estimated by the police that they have stolen along the North river $500,000 worth of property. The members of the band were O'Day, William Scanlon, Michael Cassidy, Michael Cavanagh, John Sheehy, alias Sheehan, William Grady, Timothy Mahoney, John Finnell, "Big Mike" Shanahan and "Little Mike" Shanahan. Scanlon and Cassidy were arrested October 10, 1877, on a charge of robbing the Bremen Steamship Company, and while they were in confinement their messengers were watched and their confederates discovered. A number of them were arrested and some were tracked to Buffalo. One of the most desperate of the thieves, "Big Mike" Shanahan, was found in a house in that city, but he jumped out of a four-story window and escaped. On Friday last Scanlon, Cassidy, Cavanagh, "Little Mike" Shanahan, Sheehy and Grady were sentenced by Justice Garrettson of Hoboken to State prison for ten years each.

There was a very severe thunder storm with heavy wind at Washington, D. C., Monday afternoon. Forty or more houses were unroofed, and several buildings blown down. One colored woman's house was blown into the river, and the woman drowned. Many public and private buildings were struck by lightning. The damage will reach $75,000.

John Lanhan, nineteen years old, was jealous of the attentions shown by a cavalry man to Georgie Drake, an actress in a variety show at San Antonio, Texas, and shot his rival through the thigh, fatally wounded the girl, broke another man's arm with a pistol bullet, and then made his escape.

A large haul of stolen dry goods, the proceeds of robberies in Chicago and Cleveland, was made Sunday in the house of a German actress named Amy Hatzfield, in Cleveland.

Naval Affairs.

U. S. S. Trenton has arrived at Cherbourg from Lisbon.

The U. S. schoolship St. Marys, which arrived at New London, Conn., on Saturday, from Madeira, was boarded on her arrival by custom house officers who seized a quantity of smuggled goods, consisting of wines, gloves, silks, Turkish rugs and carpets. Commander Phythian of the St. Mary's says the goods, with the exception of the gloves, were sent home by officers of the United States ship Alliance, now at Lisbon, to their families, and he claims ignorance of the law relative to the duties of customs. The goods will be confiscated.

New Hampshire Items.

A valuable horse belonging to Calvin Boyd of Londonderry, and a wagon belonging to Mr. Rollins, were stolen Saturday night, it is thought by a branch of the gang lately operating extensively in the northern part of the State.

A man calling himself J. Ridley, from New Haven, Conn., has been about Plymouth swindling merchants, hotel keepers and others. His game was getting up a business directory, with payment made in advance, and leaving town without paying any bills except those for rum. He is a large, portly man, weighing about 200 pounds, with sandy moustache, and had on a gray tweed suit.

By the burning of the Eastern railroad car shed in East Cambridge, Monday evening, eight passengers cars and two Pullman cars were destroyed. The Pullman cars were the "Hampton" and "Lenora," and were valued at $15,000 each. The total loss is about $50,000. The fire was first seen on the roof, but how it caught is unknown.

Joshua Parshley of Barnstead, a county pauper, committed suicide Sunday night at the Belknap county farm by hanging. His age was 79 years.

The Robinson Female Seminary, at Exeter, is reported to be seriously embarrassed financially, owing to depreciation of its capital, nearly all of which, some $200,000, was invested in certain canal stock in New York. It is said there is now but about $25,000 left to support the institution. The building, with the grounds, cost about $50,000.

Political.

The greenbackers in the 4th Maine district hope to defeat Powers for Congress. Dan Voorhees it is said is to take the stump in the 1st Maine district in favor of the Bourbon democrat and repudiator, Gen. Anderson, against Hon. Thomas B. Reed. The greenback club of Newport, Me., has disbanded, and its officers and nearly all its members will vote for honest money.

Senator Lamar announces that he shall oppose the shot-gun policy hereafter in Mississippi. It is rumored that Jeff. Davis is to run for the United States Senate there. We have always heard (from the democrats) that the stories about the shotgun policy of Mississippi were "radical lies."

ELECTION DAY.

A stranger in the city, Tuesday, would not have guessed that an election was going on. The streets were as free of drunken or partially drunken men as on other days, the number of teams conveying aged or lukewarm voters to the polls was much smaller than usual, and there was an almost total absence of excitement. The indications in the forenoon were for a light vote, the republicans apparently feeling certain of victory, the democrats seeming badly demoralized, and the greenbackers appearing to hope only to make a decent record in the returns, having no expectation of carrying anything in particular. The newly appointed supervisors occupied their positions with severe dignity, finding nothing of any account to do in the way of checking fraudulent voting, and the ward clerks were not badly driven by the rush of voters. The rain came down cheerily at about five o'clock, but probably made no material difference in the sum of the vote. The polls closed promptly at six o'clock, as the law directs; the details of the voting are given in another column. The following is a list of the

CITY OFFICERS ELECT.

Mayor—William H. Sise, republican.

Aldermen—William E. Hadley, Albert A. Payne, Floron Barri, Plumer D. Norton, William A. Hodgdon, John Laighton, republicans; Alexander Robinson, George A. Perkins, Benjamin F. Mugridge, democrats.

Councilmen—Charles E. Young, Chas. E. Hodgdon, Arthur F. Pfeiffer, Frank G. Thurston, Ira W. Brock, James E. Dixon, Arthur W. Walker, Oliver M. Jellison, John S. Tilton, Warren T. Webster, Josiah F. Adams, Charles Manent, republicans; John A. Hammond, James M. Goodrich, Stephen B. Pearson, Jr., William G. Marshall, John S. Tuckerman, Robert W. Phinney, democrats.

Assessors of Taxes—William Stearns, James A. Rugg, Alfred C. Hoyt, Lewis G. Davis, Rufus K. Oxford, Eben F. Brackett, republicans; Justin V. Hanscom, Henry F. Wendell, William P. Bennett, democrats.

Overseers of the Poor—William H. Smith, Samuel S. Green, republicans; Samuel S. Frye, James W. Nutter, democrats.

Col. Sise's vote this year is 71 above Mr. Broughton's at the last election; Mr. Treadwell's vote is 194 less than he had at the last election, and if all the greenback vote, 165, had been thrown for him, he would still have lacked 29 votes of his last year's support.

It was a quiet election, but the republican party and candidates have no reason to complain of it.

The total vote for mayor this year is 1751, against 1740 last year.

THE CITY.

We wish to express our thanks to the clerks of wards one, two and four, and to Mr. Frank W. Rand, for the prompt furnishing of election returns on Tuesday evening.

Hon. Frank Jones has published a letter "to the democracy of the first Congressional district of New Hampshire," stating in positive terms that he is not a candidate for renomination.

The war veterans residing in this city and vicinity are requested to meet at the Common Council room this (Wednesday) evening at eight o'clock, for the purpose of making arrangements to attend the War Veteran's Re-union at Weirs Landing, August 13th, 14th and 15th.

The St. Mary's Benevolent Society on Monday evening passed a vote of thanks to Mr. Samuel Barrett, station agent of the Eastern railroad, for the obliging courtesy shown and the efficient arrangements of transportation afforded on the occasion of the society's picnic at Pinkham's grove, July 4th.

Patrick Kiley, committed to jail without bail by Judge Batchelder of the police court some days ago on a charge of complicity in the murder of Eugene Sullivan, has been released by Judge Foster of the Supreme Court, bail being given in the sum of $1000. Messrs. John Dixon and George Scott are Kiley's bondsmen.

The British ship Kate Kellock, commanded by Capt. Charles C. Ricker of this city, has been lost off Cape Horn on the voyage from San Francisco for Liverpool. She sprung a leak in a gale, in which she labored very heavily and was completely dismantled. The crew jettisoned a portion of the cargo of wheat, and managed to keep her afloat until the weather moderated, when they abandoned her in the boats. A portion of the crew were picked up by ship Potosi, and landed at Sandy Point, Chili, and it is hoped that all hands are saved.

Messrs. Morse & Ilsley sold at auction on Tuesday the store at the corner of Bow and Ceres streets. There was a goodly number in attendance; the auctioneer, Mr. Morse, stated that the property was owned in common by two parties, neither of which desired to repair the building since the fire. Consequently it was to be sold to the highest bidder. The auctioneer then called for bids. A pause ensued, when Mr. Wm. L. Kennard of Eliot offered one thousand dollars for the property, and no one present having the courage to raise above this, the estate was knocked down to Mr. Kennard. The buyer is a gentleman of large means.

N. H. S. P. C. A.

At the last meeting of the above society the following report was made:

Cases wholly or partially investigated during the month of July, twelve; overdriving horses, three; using old and worn out horses, two; bird shooting, two; insufficient feeding, two; horse beating, one; overloading picnic wagons, one; dog poisoning, one. Animals killed by procurement of society, five. Number of prosecutions, one.

A contribution of $22.00 was received from friends to defray the expenses of going to Peterboro' and prosecuting Mr. Usher. The thanks of the society were tendered the friends who contributed this sum.

Mrs. Pickering reported that she had received 500 papers for distribution from the Massachusetts society.

A committee of three was appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the death of Mr. Parrott, one of the vice presidents of the society.

TWO SCAMPS.

Ward and Haley, now in jail here awaiting trial for several burglaries, have been fully identified through the efforts of Col. Kent; "Ward" is Charles W. Taylor, and "Haley" is Jeremiah Toomey, both of Newburyport, and both respectably connected. When they were first arrested it was supposed from their appearance that Ward was the leader and Haley his dupe, the latter being a green-looking, simple-appearing individual; but it turns out that Haley (or Toomey) is a rascal of the first water in his own right. He has been in the house of correction at Ipswich, Mass., and in the Westboro' reform school, from which latter institution he is now a fugitive, having escaped three times previously. On one of these occasions he broke into the officers' quarters during church service on Sunday, arrayed himself gorgeously in an officer's uniform, lighted a cigar, and walked out; but the outer guards wanted to know who this new official was, and he got no further just then.

On the night of inauguration day, in Concord, last year, these two fellows broke into the store of Woodward & White, and each fitted himself with a nice suit of clothes, leaving his own tramp's suit in exchange. On the same night they broke into a bar-room, from which they stole some money, and then burglarized French's shoe store and rolled the safe into the street. Being unable to open the safe there they then stole a team, put the safe into the wagon and hauled it off, and attempted to blow it open, in which however they failed.

It was this same enterprising pair that broke into the Kearsarge house in this city, Peyret's liquor store, Newman's saloon and other places, one night some months ago. On the following night they broke into the dining room of the Boston & Maine railroad station in Exeter, stole what they could lay their hands on, and afterward entered several stores with varying success as to the plunder captured. They have also at various times operated in Hampton, Seabrook, and that vicinity.

Their series of robberies in May last, which resulted in their arrest, will be remembered. After breaking into several stores in Concord and Fisherville they stole a horse and wagon and drove toward the coast, breaking into and stealing from stores all along the route, and were finally captured in the woods at Breakfast Hill while asleep, the stolen horse, and the stolen wagon, loaded with stolen goods, being found in their possession, the thieves being armed to the teeth with revolvers, knives and bludgeons.

A few days ago they attempted to break jail, and the jailor found they had files, an auger, a chisel, a saw made out of a razor, a case-knife and other tools in their possession, evidently passed in from the outside by a confederate, whom it is said lives in Portland. Four hack-saws were intercepted on their way into the jail, being found hidden outside. Other prisoners in the jail were in the plot to escape.

On Monday last Sheriff Kent went to the place in the woods where they were arrested, where he found a dark lantern buried in the ground; and a search in the lockup where they were confined before being brought to this city resulted in the discovery of a bunch of skeleton keys, and two switch keys belonging to the Eastern railroad and one of the Maine Central. It is evident that the State prison is a good place for Messrs. Ward and Haley to reside for the next dozen years or so.

THE VICINITY.

Steamer Empire State made a trip from Boston to the Shoals, Tuesday.

The principal of the Spruce street grammar school at Biddeford, Mr. E. S. Morris, has resigned that position, and Mr. Royal E. Gould has been chosen to fill the vacancy.

The Exeter Machine Company are building ten large ventilating blowers for use in the new capitol at Albany. In the capitol of New Hampshire the blowers are furnished by the people, and renewed year by year.

Clear the Way

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the non-griping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fiber, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

His Occupation Gone.

Had the Arkansas "doctor" that "tapped" the fat man, thinking he had drops", lived to-day, he would, like Othello, find "his occupation gone," for Allen's Anti-Fat, a purely vegetable remedy, safely, but positively, reduces corpulency at from three to six pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

In our northern latitude where sudden changes of temperature are so common, be sure and keep supplied with Adamson's Balsam. It tempers the climate and wards off consumption. Price 25 cts.

Convenient alike to the business centre and the best resident portion of Philadelphia, and conducted as a model first-class hotel, the Colonnade has achieved an enduring popularity.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, as officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Crew Massacred by Savages.

Capt. Williams, of the British schooner Beatrice, which left Guam on the 15th of June, for Yokohama, brings an account of the wreck of a foreign-built vessel, on the island of Namayonne, in Hall's Group, and of the murder of the crew of twelve persons, who are said to have afterward been eaten by the natives. It appears that when Capt. William was at Pulwat island, he was informed that a boat containing twelve men had landed at Namayonne, and that the islanders had murdered the strangers, and afterward eaten them; also, that the Pisercrare islanders had fought with the Namayonne men and taken the boat from them, but on Capt. Williams proceeding to Pisercrare, he was told that they had broken it up, and thus his endeavors to find a clew to the ship's name or nationality failed. On his return to Guam, Capt. Williams was informed by the master of German schooner Tuitela, which arrived four days previously, that he had seen the wreck of a vessel of about 1000 tons burden on the Namayonne island, but was prevented by the islanders, who warned him off, from making inquiries as to what she was or as to the fate of her crew. As an American man-of-war was about to be despatched from Hong Kong in search of the missing vessel, we may perhaps get news from that quarter before long.

Prof. Swift of Rochester, N. Y., states that at the recent eclipse he discovered the planet Vulcan. His account confirms that of Prof. Watson as to Vulcan's distance from the sun, etc.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S
ALT. EXT. OR
Golden Medical Discovery
CURES DISEASES OF THE
THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD
In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above exercised for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined as harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has bestowed upon the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the above diseases cannot by bad blood, be conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
If you have dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, coated tongue and chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS AT $1 PER BOTTLE.
Prepared by R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Sole Proprietor, at the WORLD'S DISPENSARY, Buffalo, N. Y.

$777 is not easily earned in these times, but it can be made in three months by any one of either sex, in any part of the country who is willing to work steadily at the employment that we furnish. $66 per week in your own town. You need not be away from home over night. You can give your whole time to the work, or only your spare moments. We have agents who are making over $20 per day. All who engage at once can make money fast. At the present time money cannot be made so easily and rapidly at any other business. It costs nothing to try the business. Terms and $5 Outfit free. Address at once, GUY & CO.
H. HALLETT & CO., Portland, Maine.

BLOOD PURIFIER
IS the most wonderful discovery for the radical cure of SYPHILIS and SCROFULA. It never fails to entirely eradicate either of these diseases and all Blood Poison from the system. It has been in private practice eighteen years, and over 10,000 cures effected by it are on record.
Sole Eastern Agency, 206 Columbus ave., Boston, Mass. Office hours, 8 to 11, A. M., 2 to 7 P. M. Send for pamphlet. Cure in all cases of Syphilis in either sex guaranteed. eod1y79

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. Its
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis.
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

BLUE ARMY BLOUSES.

WE have just received a few more of those BLUE ARMY BLOUSES, which have been in such demand for the last twelve months.

C. E. MYERS & CO.,

No. 3 BOW STREET.

Daily Chronicle.

A SKELETON IN THE CLOSET.

"BRANDON COYLE! ARE YOU MAD?"

She had stolen up behind him noiselessly, she had snatched the loaded pistol from his desperate hand and hurled it through the open window into the bay below. And not one instant too soon to save him from the crime of self-destruction.

He whirled around upon her, and they stood facing each other with eyes flaming defiance.

How like, yet unlike, were these fierce, beautiful creatures — twin sister and brother!

She, with her slender, well-rounded, lissom form; with her small, fine features and clear, deadly-pale yellow face, darkened by great, deep, hollow black eyes; the whole overshadowed by heavy, clustering auburn curls — a subtle, wistful face.

He, somewhat taller, fuller, and more supple, like another human snake, of a little larger growth, with a paler complexion, darker eyes and darker hair.

They were the orphan niece and nephew of Christopher Coyle, Esquire, an old bachelor living on his ancient patrimonial estate of Caveland in the North of England.

Now they stood glaring at each other a full minute in silent menace. Then both spoke at once:

"Aspirita!"

"Brandon!"

"How dared you stop me?"

"How dared you raise your hand against your own life?"

"I dare do what I please," he answered, sulkily.

"So do I—except—except to rush from life to death—from the known to the unknown!" she retorted, solemnly.

"There can be no more perfect perdition than I suffer now! Why did you stop me?" he cried, with a groan of anguish.

"Because I would not have you destroy yourself for the sake of a peevish girl. Come, Brandon. Rouse yourself! Do be a man!" she exclaimed.

"I cannot live without Arielle!" he wailed.

"What a mooncalf you are, to be crying after a girl! If you cannot live without her, then why don't you live with her?" scornfully demanded the girl.

"'Live with her?' You know she is to be married to Valdimir Desparde tomorrow," replied the young man.

"She is to be married to-morrow; but this is to-day; and 'there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and'—but proverbs are vulgar, and you know what I mean."

"I do not!"

"You must stop the marriage, Brandon!"

"'Stop the marriage?' I wish I could! 'Stop the marriage!' How am I to do that, I pray you!"

"Hush, Brandon! Come and sit down here on the sofa by me, and I will tell you what to do to break off this marriage, near as it is, and to win the bride for yourself, much as she is now devoted to her affianced lover," whispered the girl.

The suicidal phrenzy in him was laid for the moment, even though it might return.

"Now attend to me, Brandon. Before he became your successful rival in the favor of Lady Arielle Montjoie, Valdimir Desparde was your most intimate friend, was he not?" inquired Aspirita.

"Of course he was," exclaimed Brandon, grinding his teeth.

"You were in his entire confidence?"

"Yes."

"You have often heard him regret, deplore the unfathomable mystery that hangs over his own and his sister's childhood?"

"Oh, to be sure. Haven't I told you so often enough?"

"And he rather resents his guardian's, Lord Beauvedere's reticence on this subject?"

"Yes, yes; but what has all this to do with the question of this detestable marriage?" exclaimed Brandon, impatiently.

"It has everything to do with stopping it. But you must be patient, my lad. Calm yourself, and collect your thoughts; for I must put you through a cross-examination, and then feel my way."

"I don't understand you."

"No? But you will as I go on. Tell me, first, exactly how much Valdimir Desparde really does know of his early history? He has told you, I suppose?"

"Yes; but it is very little. He knows only so much as he remembers. He has heard nothing. Lord Beauvedere, the only person in possession of the facts firmly refuses to speak one word on the subject."

"Lord Beaudevere's reserve is very merciful."

"What do you say?"

"Lord Beaudevere's reserve is very merciful to Valdimir Desparde and his sister."

"What do you mean, Aspirita?"

"I will explain presently. But go on and tell me all Valdimir Desparde has told you of his early life, Brandon."

"Let me think. Oh! He remembers living with his mother and his little sister, in very poor lodgings, in the narrow street of a great city, whose name he has forgotten, even if he ever learned it—"

"Was it in this country?"

"No, for he crossed water to come here."

"In France, then?"

"No, for they were English-speaking people who inhabited the city, and they had black servants. He thinks it must have been New York or New Orleans, or some other American city."

"New Orleans, probably, if they had had many blacks. But go on."

"The name of the city, and even of the country, is lost to him in the morning mist of his dawn of memory.

"There was something concerning his father, the elder Valdimir Desparde, whom, however, he does not remember ever to have seen. But his mother never held up her head again. She used to cry over him and his sister, and pray to the Lord to take them out of this world, and save them from the evil to come—"

"Ah!" gasped Aspirita, as she listened to every word of this little story.

"At length the mother took to her bed, from which she never arose again. One day a minister came and sat by the bed and wrote a letter for her, which was sent away. After that she grew weaker. Another day a gentleman arrived, a stranger, who afterwards proved to be Lord Beaudevere."

"Well, Brandon, why don't you go on?" eagerly demanded the attentive girl, seeing that her brother paused.

"I am trying to remember what Desparde told me of this stranger. Of he did not know who he was until long afterwards. Lord Beaudevere had this mother and her children immediately removed to a more comfortable house, and provided them with everything they could want. Desparde remembers distinctly his mother's peaceful death, while Lord Beaudevere stood, with Vivienne in his arms and Valdimir by his side, promising the dying woman to be a father to them while he should live. Then followed the funeral and the black dresses. Then a long, long voyage in a sailing-ship, all vaguely remembered by Valdimir."

"Did his sister—did Vivienne recollect nothing of this?"

"Nothing. Her earliest memories date from their life at Cloudland, whither their guardian took them immediately on their arrival in England."

"And we know all the rest from hearsay—how the bachelor, Lord Beaudevere, represented these children to his neighbors as his little cousins and wards; how he sent Valdimir to Eton, and afterwards to Oxford, where the young man distinguished himself as much by devotion to study as by skill in athletic sports; how the guardian sent him on his continental tour, and at his return celebrated his majority at Cloudland, presenting him to the tenantry as the heir; how the baron procured the most accomplished governess and masters for Vivienne, and took her to London and had her presented to the queen. All this we know of these two individuals, whose earliest days were passed in a squalid tenement-house in a foreign city," said Aspirita, scornfully.

"Well, the fellow is the heir-presumptive of the title and estates of Lord Beaudevere! If it were not so, he might never have dared to aspire to the hand of the Lady Arielle Montjoie. Or if he had, his aspirations would have been treated with contempt."

"Then if he is the heir of the Barony of Beaudevere he must be so through his mother, for he cannot be so through his father, since the name of Desparde is not to be found in the Beaudevere genealogy," said Aspirita, sententiously.

"It is probably through his mother, whoever she was, since Beaudevere is one of those baronies mists that, failing male heirs, descend to the female. But I know nothing about it," replied Brandon, testily.

"Do you know that he really is the heir?"

"Yes, because it is so set down in the Peerage. Under the tabular list of noblemen, with their titles, family names, seats, and heirs, you will find this entry: 'Beaudevere — Baron; Family name, Beaue; Seat, Cloudland, in ——shire; Heir-Presumptive, Valdimir Desparde, Esq.'"

"Ah! Just now you alluded to this young man's father as Valdimir Desparde the elder. So that the son bears the exact name of his father?"

"Yes, the exact name of his father."

"He knows that, does he?"

"Yes, he knows that; but that is absolutely all that he does know of his father."

"Then we will try to enlighten him!" exclaimed Aspirita, with a blaze of malignity from her big black eyes.

"You do know something, then? cried Brandon, starting.

"Yes, I do. I know that Lord Beaudevere is merciful in leaving Valdimir Desparde in his ignorance, and that he would have been much more merciful to have left him in obscurity," said Aspirita, solemnly.

"Sister! What do you mean? What discovery have you made?" exclaimed Brandon, in great excitement.

"One that I intend you to reveal to Valdimir Desparde. And when you shall have done so, should he be the man of honor we believe him, he will release Lady Arielle from her engagement to him, and he will fly to the uttermost parts of the earth rather than wed with her."

"What is this discovery? Explain yourself!" exclaimed Brandon Coyle, starting up and standing before her.

Aspirita put her hand in her pocket and drew forth a folded newspaper, yellow and faded with age, and so worn all around its creases that it threatened to fall to pieces on being opened.

"What is that?" demanded Brandon, reaching forth his hand.

"Don't touch it yet. It is the New Orleans Courier of sixteen years ago. Uncle sent me up with his keys to open his secretary and fetch him some documents which he described to me. That was this morning, while the bailiff was here. Well, I went up to his secretary in the library, and unlocked the upper drawer, but had hard work to pull it out. When I did so, by main strength, at last, I pulled it too far, and it fell with a crash—"

"For Heaven's sake, get on!" impatiently exclaimed Brandon.

"And the jar, or something, touched or started the spring of a secret space at the back of the drawer that flew open and let this paper tumble out. There was nothing else in the hiding-place but this paper. Oh! you will call it fate—its falling into my possession in this way?"

The young man eagerly seized the paper.

He looks at the lines she had indicated until his gaze dilated into a stare, his cheeks grow pale, and chin fell—aghast with horror!

"Oh, this is terrible! terrible! terible!" he exclaimed, when at last he could speak for emotion.

"If it be so terrible in your eyes, what must it be in his?" whispered Aspirita.

"What, indeed! Oh, this is worse than the worst that could be imagined!" he muttered.

"He—Valdimir Desparde—ought not to be permitted to marry Lady Arielle Montjoie," whispered Aspirita.

"Ought not? He must not and shall not! Oh! that Lord Beaudevere could have known this and kept it concealed!" bitterly exclaimed Brandon.

"He did it in mercy to Valdimir and Vivienne!"

"But what sort of mercy, or even justice, has he shown in his dealings with Lord and Lady Altofaire and Lady Arielle Montjoie?"

"Perhaps he thought this secret would never come out to injure them."

"And yet an old paper fortunately comes to light just in time to save the young lady from ruin and her family from dishonor. I will take this paper to the Earl of Altofaire this morning and lay the case before him!"

"No, no! Do not so?"

"Why not?"

"Because, if you do, the earl will stop the marriage, for Lady Arielle's sake, and then all Lady Arielle's sympathies will be with her betrothed lover, and she will remain faithful to him, and perhaps—even elope with him!"

"That is true! What, then, would you advise me to do with this paper?"

"Take it to Valdimir Desparde! Remind him of his oft expressed desire to penetrate the mystery of his own early life, and of his constant wonder at his guardian's reserve on the subject. Then tell him that you have accidentally discovered the secret—that you feel in honor bound to reveal it to him. Then show him the paper."

"Oh, Asp! Asp! what a serpent you are!" exclaimed Brandon Coyle, half in admiration, half in dread.

"Stay," she murmured. "I hope that Valdimir does not suspect that you ever aspired to the hand of Arielle."

"No. He has not that matter of triumph over me. It was while he was on his 'grand tour' that I—made a fool of myself, and I have not seen her since her rejection of my suit."

"And she has never told her betrothed of your offer, you presume?"

"Who? Arielle? Arielle boast of her conquest of one man to another man? I have heard of women who do such things, but Arielle—never!"

"So much the better. Then your way is clear. Go to him as his old friend, on the strength of your old mutual affection, and tell him, with as much seeming hesitation and delicate sympathy as you can assume, of the discovery you have just made, and of the uncompromising sense of duty that constrains you to communicate it to him. He will fly the country! I know he will. But he will come to bid me good-by first; I know that too. And then if I do not commence a treatment of consolation and cure, my name is not Aspirita Coyle!"

"Oh, Asp! Asp! So that is your game, is it?"

"That is my 'game,' as you call it, Brand. You thought I had your happiness only in view! Pooh, pooh, brother! we are egotists all. You love the bride elect. I like the bridegroom expectant. We work together for our mutual interests. Behold all!"

"But, Aspirita, would you marry a man who did not think himself good enough for Lady Arielle Montjoie? A man in his exceptional circumstances?" inquired Brandon Coyle, in surprise.

"Yes, I would. I am not Lady Arielle Montjoie. I am Aspirita Coyle, the orphan, dependent on my bachelder uncle, whose estates will all go to you. Besides, I love him," added the bold beauty, without a moment's hesitation.

"Humph! A man with such a reproach attached to his name! You must love him for himself alone, then?"

"No! for myself alone! I might be capable of killing him to prevent another woman having him!"

"Brave, Asp! But oh! the fates forbid that ever your sting should strike me!"

"Go now, and execute your mission to Cloudland. It is time, unless you would prefer a dramatic forbidding of the bans at the very altar to-morrow!" said Aspirita, not a whit discomposed by the questionable compliments of her brother.

"Can't forbid the bans, since there have been no bans! They are to be married by special license," said Brandon, almost gayly, so much was he elated by the prospect of preventing the marriage.

"They were to have been married, you mean! But they certainly are not to be now," amended Aspirita.

"And, meanwhile, as the parties most concerned, they should be informed of their changed prospects," added Brandon Coyle, with a smile; and, rising, with a bow he left his sister, and, a few minutes later, departed on his detestable errand.

Aspirita Coyle looked after him, a great light of triumph dilating her dark eyes until they seemed the mouths of caverns leading down to the abyss of her darker soul, as she muttered to herself.

"Now, Valdimir Desparde, you shall be mine! It may take trouble and time, but I can work and—wait!" The above we publish as a specimen chapter; but the continuation of this story will be found only in the N. Y. Ledger. Ask for number dated August 17, which can now be had at any news office or book-store. If you are not within reach of a news office, you can have the Ledger mailed to you for one year by sending three dollars to Robert Bonner, publisher, 180 William street, New York.

A Sample Democratic Platform.

The Democratic State Convention of Louisiana met at Baton Rouge on the 6th inst. The platform adopted demands government subsidies for the Texas Pacific railroad and the line of steamships from New Orleans to Brazil; approves of the Nicholls government and the Potter-Tilden fraudulent investigation; charges the hard times to republican financial legislation; demands the abolition of national banks, and a return to the old system of State banks; calls for the "immediate and unconditional repeal of the resumption act;" and demands vigorous inflation of the currency, and that the national debt shall be paid in greenbacks. In short, the Louisiana democrats demand unlimited subsidies for the south, and the virtual repudiation of the national obligations.

No Defence Needed.

At a republican mass meeting at Belfast, Me., on the 6th inst., Senator Blaine and Congressman Hale delivered powerful speeches in favor of an honest financial policy for the nation. The Boston Post says: "They said not a word about the administration or the terrible 'rebels,' and did not try to defend their own political record." The political record of James G. Blaine and Eugene Hale needs no defence from any one.

News and Notes.

A passenger train on the Panhandle railroad collided with a freight train near Steubenville, Ohio, Wednesday. Ten or twelve passengers were killed and about twenty wounded.

By a washout on the New London Northern railroad in Vermont a train was wrecked on Wednesday, and three men were killed and two injured.

Royal B. Conant, the defaulting cashier of the Eliot bank of Boston, was arraigned before commissioner Hallet, in Boston on the 6th inst., and gave bail in $20,000 for his future appearance.

Mr. F. H. Tappan publishes a letter in the Boston papers in answer to Mr. Durant's long explanation of John G. Tappan's management of the Boston Belting Company's affairs. Mr. F. H. Tappan "goes for" Mr. Durant with a pointed pen, and makes him out to be a very hypocritical and unworthy individual; but Mr. E. S. Converse, one of the witnesses invoked by Mr. Tappan, says in a letter that the latter's principal assertion concerning him "is absolutely false," and that he considers Mr. Durant's conduct throughout as "upright, honorable and straightforward."

Capt. Bogardus, the champion American pigeon shooter, has had another close match in London with somebody named Coventry, an Englishman of "good family" and a noted expert of the London Gun Club. Bogardus beat by one bird, he killing seventy-nine out of a hundred, and Coventry seventy-eight.

The steamer Star of the East on her last trip down the Kennebec ran into a schooner off Bowdoinham, the cat-head of the schooner passing through the baggage room of the steamer, smashing baggage, etc. Also on her trip from Boston Saturday morning she ran into shooner W. S. Sheppard, loaded with ice for Washington, tearing up the deck, breaking several beams of the schooner so that she will have to discharge a portion of her cargo for repairs. The steamer was uninjured.

The authorities and people of Brattleboro', Vt., moved energetically to capture the ruffianly tramp who feloniously assaulted the little Crosby girl in that town on the 3d inst. Some twenty professional tramps who had been picked up from about the country and even out of the State were taken before the girl on Monday, who immediately recognized one, who had been captured in New Hampshire, as the villian. He protested his innocence, however, claiming his ability to prove an abili, he being in North Adams at the time the crime was committed. He will be allowed to fully establish his innocence if possible.

New Hampshire Items.

The Geneac boy who was supposed to have been shot accidently at Laconia, on the 3d inst., confesses to his father that he was shot by a boy named Henry Campbell, aged thirteen years, who was with him, and threatened to kill him unless he promised to say it was accidental.

The directors of the Manchester baseball association on the 5th inst. voted to disband the club, among the causes contributing to their action being the high salaries paid the players, stories of crookedness, unreliable habits of individual players, and the disinclination of the community to spend from $5000 to $8000 for amusements open to suspicion of bargain and sale. The Manchesters brought home from their western trip about $600, and their indebtedness, if any, is small. The expenses thus far have been about $7000, all told. On the 6th arrangements were made for the club to play out their record to the end of the season.

A Campaign Slander.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce was a candidate for State Senator, his political opponents published a pretended analysis of his popular medicines hoping thereby to prejudice the people against him. His election by an overwhelming majority severely rebuked his traducers, who sought to impeach his business integrity. No notice would have been taken of these campaign lies were it not that some of his enemies (and every successful business man has his full quota of envious rivals) are republishing these bogus analyses. Numerous and most absurd formulas have been published, purporting to come from high authority; and it is a significant fact that no two have been at all alike—conclusively proving the dishonesty of their authors.

THE CITY.

Several young men of this city have shipped on the U. S. S. Speedwell, now at the navy yard.

Hon. Jonathan Dearborn has arrived home from a month's sojourn at South Poland, Me., looking hale and hearty.

Steamer James Sampson, of Dover, Capt. Smart, brought a party of thirty down the river from Durham on Wednesday.

The new chandeliers in the vestibule of the post-office are well placed, and add greatly to the light of the place in the evening.

An organization known as the "National Faith Mission and Prisoners' Friend Society" was organized at Old Orchard camp-meeting, with William A. Loyne, Volunteer City Missionary of Portsmouth, as Vice-President for New Hampshire.

Mr. Lewis Sargent, of Newmarket reports that he was robbed of a watch and eight dollars in money at about ten o'clock on the evening of election day. He was in a shed in the rear of the Franklin House when he was assailed by three men, two of whom held him while the other stole the property.

Mr. James M. Goodrich, who was chosen as a Common Councilman from ward three at the late election, is a member of the city committee of the greenback party, and voted the straight greenback ticket, though his name was also on the democratic ticket. Mr. Goodrich claims to be the first greenbacker elected to office in the State of New Hampshire.

Mr. Ira W. Stevens of this city, while engaged in coupling cars on the Concord railroad, Tuesday morning of this week, met with a painful accident, his right hand being partially crushed between two cars, the bones of the third and fourth fingers being broken. Dr. Whittier attended the patient, who is doing well. Mr. Stevens graduated from the high school in the class of '77.

On Tuesday evening a lady on Middle street sent word to the police station that some one was trying to break into her house. The officers hastened to the place, hoping to make a good haul, and found an unlucky marine who, having hoisted in more fluid than he could take care of, had lost his reckoning and was vainly endeavoring to reach the navy yard by way of Middle street.

One of the greenback party's candidates for aldermen, in ward one, went back on the party and voted the democratic ticket, according to his previous custom; he was on the democratic ticket as well as the greenbackers', but failed of election. The greenback candidate for assessor in ward three we are informed also found old party ties strong enough to make him vote as he had always previously done, with the republicans.

In the list of "city officers elect," as published in the CHRONICLE of Wednesday morning and republished in the Times of the same evening, two errors occurred. The name of Albert L. Payne, as alderman-elect from ward one, was given as Albert A. Payne; and Alfred C. Hoyt was credited with an election as assessor from the same ward, when he did not receive a vote, Mr. George W. Pendexter being the candidate, and duly elected.

On Tuesday, as six western cattle were being driven from Mr. Cyrus L. Brown's place on Hancock street to the slaughter-house near Newcastle for the purpose of being butchered, on getting into the pasture where the slaughter-house stands they concluded to indulge in one of the stampedes so popular on their native heath. Taking to the water in spite of the efforts of their would-be drivers, they swam to Salter's island and then crossed to South road, where they were headed off and again driven to the pasture, only to take to the water again and swim nearly to Pest island, where they were once more headed off by a boat. They then landed at Newcastle, near the second bridge, crossed the island and again went in swimming from Goat island point, finally landing on Sullivan's (or Seavey's) island at the navy yard, where they were driven into a coal shed and kept for the night. Wednesday morning Mr. Brown determined to kill them where they were, to avoid the possible danger of driving such wild creatures through the streets; and Mr. James Carroll went over with his gun, and brought each one down by a single shot.

PORTSMOUTH SAVINGS BANK.

At the annual meeting of the corporation of the Portsmouth Savings Bank, held Wednesday afternoon, the following officers were elected:

William Simes, President; W. H. Y. Hackett, John Stavers, Lyman D. Spalding, William R. Preston, Samuel Adams, George L. Treadwell, Charles H. Rollins, Joseph H. Thacher, Charles H. Mendum, William H. Rollins, John Knowlton, Charles Robinson, John Sise, Benjamin F. Webster, Thomas E. Call, Daniel Marcy, John Laighton, Marcellus Bufford, Trustees.

The Trustees subsequently chose Jos. H. Foster, Treasurer.

A FEMALE HORSE THIEF.

Wednesday morning City Martial Entwistle was notified that a team answering to the description of one stolen in Londonderry on Saturday, 3d inst., had passed over Portsmouth bridge into Maine. The Marshal and Assistant Marshal Gray immediately started in pursuit, but had a difficult job of it; the roads on the Maine side of the river cross and recross each other in the most intricate manner, the mud was so soft the team could not be traced, and enquiries along the road failed to elicit any information. But fortunately they took the right turns, and overhauled the chase in York, about eight miles from this city. On coming up with the fugitive team the Marshal bade the driver—which was a young woman—"good morning;" her indignation at being saluted by an unknown man was considerable, but much less than she exhibited on the Marshal's insisting on accompanying her; she was very wrathy indeed at first, when the Marshal turned her team around, but he being a handsome man and good talkist succeeded in partially reconciling her to the situation before they arrived at the police station. The girl gives her name as Cora Fraser, says she belongs in Ellsworth, Me., and is but fifteen years of age; she is certainly very young, and has certainly led a hard life. She says the team was delivered to her in Londonderry on Monday by a man of whom she gives a description, who stated to her that he had been engaged in other unlawful acts and had once been in State prison; that she drove the team from Londonderry through west Epping to Rye, arriving there Monday evening and remaining in the woods near Wallis' sands until Wednesday morning at an early hour, when she started for Maine. On being questioned as to whether it was not she who put up with Mr. Parks at Epping, Sunday night, and next morning swapped her own old wagon for Mr. Josiah Dearborn's nice Ivers buggy without asking his consent, she denied it. She was arraigned in the evening before Judge Batchelder for stealing the buggy, and was put under $600 bonds to appear at the October term of the Supreme Court.

LEGISLATIVE HEARING.

A hearing was had before the Senate committee on railroads, at Concord on Wednesday, upon the bill allowing the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire to issue bonds to the amount of its capital stock.

S. C. Eastman, Esq., stated that the E. R. R. in N. H. expected soon to come into possession of the railroad, and was without rolling stock with which to operate it, and wanted funds to purchase engines, cars, etc., for use of the road.

City Solicitor Hackett appeared and opposed the scheme, representing the interest of the city in the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, and claimed that the security of the latter road as to dividends would be taken away if the E. R. R. in N. H., now without a debt, was allowed to put its property out of its hands, when the P. & D. R. R. relied upon this property for proper security when the lease was executed. Mr. Hacket explained at some length, the workings of the road and its contingent liabilities, and denied that if the E. R. R. in N. H. case should be decided in its favor there was need of purchasing any rolling stock, as if the suit was so decided, there could be little doubt that the manner of hauling through trains would be speedily arranged. Mr. Hackett presented the proceedings of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen relative to this subject, and also the remonstrance of a large number of prominent citizens against the passage of the proposed bill.

He was followed by Judge Woodman of Dover, who presented like papers in opposition to the passage of the bill, and stated that the P. & D. R. R. was built upon the security of the E. R. R. in N. H. for its rentals.

Col. Hackett called upon Hon. Frank Jones, who made a clear and comprehensive statement of the state of affairs, and the lease of the P. & D. R. R.

Col. Young of Dover and Mayor Broughton of this city also made statements concerning the question.

There were present several of the members of the House from Dover and Portsmouth, Senator Philbrick, Sheriff Kent and others.

A dispatch received here after the train left Concord stated that the committee voted to indefinitely postpone the bill.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

Regular meeting, Wednesday evening. Present the Mayor and Messrs. May, Vaughan, Gardner, Sherburne, Wendell, Hackett, Hoyt, Knight and Locke.

John Pender, Esq., was unanimously elected secretary.

Standing committees were announced by the Mayor as follows: On salaries, Mr. Vaughan, Mrs. Wilson, and Mr. O. M. Knight; on text books, Gardner, Pender and Vaughan; on examination of teachers, Hackett, Hoyt and Mrs. Knight; on truancy, O. M. Knight, Wendell and Sherburne; on purchases, Locke, Gardner and Pender.

DISTRICT COMMITTEES.

District No. 1, Hoyt, Locke and Mrs. Knight.

District No. 2, Pender, Hackett and Mrs. Wilson.

District No. 3, Gardner, Wendell and Sherburne.

Messrs. Gardner, May and Vaughan were appointed a committee to nominate members of the Grade Committees, and reported as follows: Intermediate—Mrs. Wilson, Drs. Sherburne and May; Primary—Mrs. Knight, Messrs. Pender and Locke; Grammar—Messrs. Gardner, Vaughan and Hoyt; Suburban—Hackett, Wendell and O. M. Knight. The report was accepted and adopted.

Alfred C. Hoyt was elected member of the High School Committee for three years.

Resignation of Miss Nellie L. Philbrick as teacher in the Franklin primary school was accepted. Miss Annie E. Smart was appointed teacher in the Haven school to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Miss Lizzie H. Dodge. Miss Mary E. Prescott was transferred to the sixth division of this school, and the vacancy caused by the promotion of Miss Prescott was filled by the election of Miss Emma F. Johnson under a suspension of the rules.

Report of committee appointed to consider claim of R. K. Oxford, referring the bills to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, was accepted.

Mr. Gardner offered the following:

Whereas, Since the last meeting of the Board of Instruction one of the teachers of our public schools, Miss Lizzie H. Dodge, has deceased,

Resolved, That in the death of Miss Dodge, we lose a faithful and efficient teacher, whose highest ambition seemed to be to win the affection of her scholars, as well as the good opinion of the committee.

Resolved, That the sympathies of this Board be extended to the family and friends of the deceased in their affliction.

A copy of the foregoing was directed to be sent to the family of the deceased.

The committee on salaries recommended that salaries paid last year be paid during the ensuing year. Adopted.

Subject of manners of paying teachers, by the week or otherwise, was laid on the table.

A vote of thanks to Mayor Broughton for the efficient manner in which he has officiated as presiding officer was passed.

His Occupation Gone.

Had the Arkansas "doctor" that "tapped" the fat man, thinking he had dropsy, lived to day, he would, like Othello, find "his occupation gone," for Allen's Anti-Fat, a purely vegetable remedy, safely, but positively, reduces corpulency at from three to six pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

Clear the Way

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the nongriping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fiber, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

In our northern latitude where sudden changes of temperature are so common, be sure and keep supplied with Adamson's Balsam. It tempers the climate and wards off consumption. Price 25 cts.

Convenient alike to the business centre and the best resident portion of Philadelphia, and conducted as a model first-class hotel, the Colonnade has achieved an enduring popularity.

Tiny Flies and so do diseases of the skin when that incomparable purifier of the cuticle and beautifier of the complexion, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, is used to disperse them. Pimples, blotches, sores and bruises, and the like are invariably removed by it.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S ALT. EXT. OR

Golden Medical Discovery

CURES DISEASES OF THE THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are shown directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, loss of appetite, coated tongue, with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and bogus hunger, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

INVALIDS' HOTEL.

The very large number of invalid people who daily visit Buffalo, from every quarter of the United States and Canada, that they may consult Dr. R. V. PIERCE, and the widely celebrated Faculty of Specialists in Medicine and Surgery associated with him, rendered it necessary that the founder of this institution should provide a place on a grand and commodious scale for their entertainment and comfort.

ADVANTAGES OFFERED.—The Invalids' Hotel is more complete in its appointments than any similar institution in the world. The building is located in one of the most healthful and desirable portions of the City of Buffalo, and commands a fine view of Lake Erie, Niagara River, and the surrounding country, being situated in the midst of an extensive system of beautiful parks. The Hotel is furnished with a patent safety passenger elevator, to convey patients to and from the different floors; is provided with all kinds of approved baths, and has also connected with it a well-appointed gymnasium and bowling alley to afford proper means of exercise.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms, whether requiring medical, surgical, or mechanical treatment, come within the province of our special specialties.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are the facilities of this infirmary of a superior order as regards the remedial means and appliances for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females. The employment, in moderation, of tonics, alteratives, electro-thermal, and other approved baths, is in many cases an invaluable auxiliary to the remedial means to which we resort in such cases. Dry friction to the surface, general stimulation, Swedish movements, and light calisthenic exercises, to enliven and equalize the circulation of the blood in the system, relieve congested parts, improve digestion, and strengthen the muscles, produce important beneficial results in all cases to which these means are applicable. No experimenting is resorted to in the treatment. The most approved medicines are carefully employed, and the judicious regulation of the diet, to suit the condition of the patient, the thorough ventilation of the sleeping apartment, the cheering influence of music, social intercourse, innocent games for amusement, and all those agencies which tend to arouse the mind of the patient from despondency, and thus promote recovery, are not neglected.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty, by which the greatest skill is attained and the most happy results secured.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of the practice in the Invalids' Hotel is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases are very largely treated in this department, and with results which have been highly gratifying to both physicians and patients.

EYE AND EAR.—Special attention is given to the delicate operations on the eye and ear, by a distinguished oculist and aurist being under engagement to conduct this branch of the practice.

Invalids arriving in the city and desiring to consult us, should come directly to the Hotel. It is easily accessible by carriage, omnibus, or street cars. MILLER'S Omnibus Agents, on all incoming trains, can be relied upon to deliver passengers and baggage with security and dispatch.

Captain Kidd.

A recent article in the CHRONICLE relating to a search not many years since at the bottom of the Hudson river, for some of the legendary long-buried treasures of the famous freebooter, having excited a desire on the part of some of its readers to know more about him, the following will suffice to show who he was. A curious antique ballad once existed relating to him, of which the following disjointed fragments are all that survive in the memory of the writer:

"His name was Robert Kidd,
And most wickedly he did,
As he sailed.

For the bible in his hand
He had thrown into the sand,
As he took leave of the land,
When he sailed.

He murdered William Moore,
And he left him in his gore,
Not many leagues from shore,
As he sailed."

In conclusion, he invites "the young and the old" to come to his execution, and telling them they were

"Welcome to his gold
When he was dead and cold,
For by't he'd lost his soul,
And must die."

The first known of his history is that previous to 1696, he was an enterprising shipmaster sailing from the port of New York, where his family resided. The war, which was terminated by the peace of Ryswick in 1697, had given rise to a system of legalized piracy, under the name of "privateering;" many of the vessels engaged in it having received commissions from James the Second, then in exile, to cruise against the commerce of England. Under the administration of Gov. Fletcher, of New York, not a few of these piratical vessels sailed from ports within his jurisdiction. Fletcher being removed from his government, the king resolved to appoint some one who would break up a system that had become so alarming, and commissioned Lord Bellamont, a nobleman of high rank, as governor of New York, and soon adding thereto the provinces of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. It was resolved to fit out a naval expedition to break up the pirates, and, unfortunately, Kidd was selected to command it. He was then in London, and was highly recommended for the place by Mr. Livingston of New York, who had known him there, and happened then to be in London, where he was consulted upon the subject by Lord Bellamont.

The idea at first was to fit out a government ship of thirty guns, to be manned with a hundred and fifty men, but so many difficulties were interposed by the admiralty, the expedition as a public one failed, and a private adventure was planned as a substitute. It had two objects, one to cruise against the French with a commission as a privateer; the other to seize and send home all that were caught who had been concerned in piracy; and high expectations were raised of making the enterprise a profitable one. Mr. Livingston offered to be concerned with Kidd in one-fifth of the vessel, and to be bound for the faithful execution of his commission. Several of the nobility also took shares in the adventure, among them several dukes and earls, and Lord Chancellor Somes.

The chief management of the affair was entrusted to Lord Bellamont, through whom the commission of Kidd was issued, who sailed from Plymouth for New York in a ship called the Adventure Galley. On his way he took a French ship having on board a most valuable cargo, which was taken into New York and condemned, and where Kidd enlisted a large number of men by promising them a share of the prizes he might take. Bellamont did not reach New York, for some cause or another, until two years after Kidd had sailed from England, and found, on arriving there, that instead of exterminating piracy, as he had been commissioned to do, he had become the terror of the ocean in waging war against vessels of all nations. Such an issue of an expedition, which the ministry and leading whigs had originated, could not fail to bring reproach upon its authors, and among other results from it, Lord Somes was dismissed from his post of honor. He, with earls Portland and Oxford, were impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors, including a connection with Kidd; but, as it was a party movement, without any serious results.

With his augmented crew, Kidd made his way to the Indian ocean, where he made many rich prizes, and having divided his booty with his crew, and giving a portion of them one of his prizes, they went on an expedition of their own. Burning his own vessel, in one of his prizes, with the remainder of his crew he pursued the same course with like success, and then leaving most of his men in the West Indies, with pockets well-filled with their ill-gotten gains, with the rest, in a small craft, he made his way to Boston, where he was fool-hardy enough to engage in trade. As soon, however, as his arrival was known he was arrested, but not until he had drawn his sword upon the officer who came to take him into custody. After much delay in procuring a sure conveyance for so desperate a culprit, he, in company with another notorious pirate named Bradish, was finally sent back to England, where he was tried, convicted and executed on the 8th of May, 1701, for the joint crimes of piracy and murder, he having killed his gunner, William Moore, by striking him over the head with a bucket; from the consequences of which, as it occurred in an altercation between them, he would probably have escaped, but for the charge of piracy also against him. Such is a sketch of the life and adventures of the renowned Captain Kidd, who has been the theme of so many wild legends for the largest portion of two centuries, and whose ill-got wealth has been supposed to have survived him, in sums untold, if their places of concealment could only be discovered. The Greenback State Committee

Held a meeting at the City hotel, Manchester, Wednesday evening. Fifty members of the committee were present, from all over the State, and cheering reports were given as to the increase of adherents to the greenback party. It was decided to hold a State Convention at Manchester on the 5th of September for the nomination of full State and county tickets, and members of Congress.

Kearney's Favorite.

Some of the papers find fault with Kearney, who champions the election to office of workingmen only, for his panegyric on Ben Butler. In his Faneuil Hall speech he said:

I feel like bringing to Massachusetts a greeting of love to a man who is lesser than Macbeth, yet greater as the fiery and unconquerable Rupert of debate—to that chivalrous and white-plumed knight of the rostrum, the gallant and gifted and glorious Butler. We all may take heart and hope, and hope that he will receive the reward from the workingmen of Massachusetts he so justly merits.

The anti-Kearney papers undertake to sneer at the horney-handed workingman, Butler, and hint that it is a queer way to crowd "politicians and lawyers" out of politics by advocating the claims of a man who has been a politician and lawyer all his life. These papers do not take into consideration that Gen. Butler is a seaman and owns a vessel called the America, and that when he is on board her he splices the main brace regularly, besides doing other hard work. The New York monopoly-owned papers of course talk meanly of the great apostle. The Herald says that Kearney has not yet learned the difference between scolding and reasoning. The Times says Kearney fairly outdid his great exemplar, Butler, in blackguardism and vituperation. The World styles the speech a panegyric on the Kearney of Massachusetts by the Butler of California. But meanest of all, the Herald's San Francisco correspondent says that Kearney's eulogium of Butler was stolen—actually stolen, word for word—from Col. Fitch's eulogium on Blaine on the occasion of the ratification of Hayes' nomination, with only the substitution of Butler's name for Blaine's.

A Large Cargo.

The largest cargo ever taken out of Boston was that which started for Europe in the steamer Hooper on Tuesday, 6th inst. It was made up of 161,609 bushels of corn, 15,803 bushels of wheat, 500 barrels flour, 386 hogsheads tobacco, 1400 bags oatmeal, 174 barrels pork, 150 barrels lard oil, 150 tierces and 300 racks lard, 969 boxes bacon and hams, 205 bales cotton, 330 live cattle, 727 live sheep.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 6th.

The disinterested patriots who have thus far laid Mr. Hewitt's committee on the state of labor, and the country, under such a load of obligation by their invaluable suggestions and advice, are not of a character to inspire much confidence in the utility of anything to be drawn from such a source. "Citizen Schwab" has presented some original views; and a majority of all who have been so far accorded a hearing occupy similar relations to the several factions that have gained an equivocal notoriety by the peculiar social or labor doctrines they advocate, as Schwab does to the communists proper. While the democratic politicians of New York State and city naturally look to the element represented by Schwab, and the leaders of the ruffian classes generally, for support, there is no good reason why government should appropriate money to aid Mr. Hewitt to effect the alliance that Lieutenant-Governor Dorsheimer failed of accomplishing. It would be no more ridiculous for Congress to appoint a committee to ascertain the views of Cohen or any of the other vagabonds prominently identified with the riotous demonstrations here the other day, than for Hewitt to call in such blatherskites as Schwab and his fellow agitators to aid in solving great social and economic problems.

Notwithstanding hot weather the republican Congressional committee has been vigorously pushing the preliminary work of the campaign for a full month. On the other hand the Bourbons have only just begun to make preparations, everything seemingly waiting for Thompson of Ohio to come and put the machine in working order.

Congressman Foster's late speech in accepting a re-nomination in Ohio the other day has attracted wide-spread attention and created no little sensation. It is regarded as significant chiefly because of Foster's leading part in the adoption of the "southern policy" and of his intimate relations with the President, as friend and counselor. According to the report of the speech received here, he repudiates all responsibility for any further adherence to a cause that has demonstrated the utter lack of gratitude of the southern politicians, and that has encouraged the whole south to hope and labor for a resurrection of the "lost cause." Some of its fruits are seen in the "solid south" of to-day, and Foster advises a north equally solid. In short, it is what the ex-rebel and Bourbon doughface would stigmatize as an intensely "bloody shirt" ultimatum. Nothing known to the public indicates that the President shares Foster's convictions in the premises. But the speech is regarded as a notification on the part of one of the joint originators of a method of conciliation that effectually destroyed his party throughout the "C. S. A.," that he has had more than enough of it until the south shows some sense of appreciation of what was done for her, abandons her purpose of despoiling the Treasury, and ceases to cheer the treasonable utterances of unshriven traitors who plunged her into rebellion.

Hampton's proclamation to Ku-Klux murderers that they may come out of their hiding places without fear that the government will molest them for past crimes, is followed by a report that the President has amnestied the whole batch of illicit distillers in that State. A very ominous reticence has been observed in Cabinet circles for the past four days relative to the imprisoned revenue officials in Hampton's Kingdom, in strange contrast with the assurances previously given that the supremacy of the government should be vindicated and the bully Kershaw be made to swallow his defiant boasts. But the officials still remain in prison, subject at any time to a visitation from the mob, which papers from that section tell may happen in at any time if we are not more respectful to the "great and good man" and his "Courts of Justice."

Congressman Springer, one of the most hopeless Bourbons and subservient dough-faces, openly says that Hayes will be impeached next session on the testimony elicited before Potter's committee. None know how slight a pretext democracy will avail itself of to put Mr. Hayes from the Presidential chair and precipitate revolution, save those who have observed the drift of the conspirators here at headquarters.

The express companies are leaving no stone unturned to divert government from its purpose to transport coin by mail and to extend the protection of registration to 3rd class mail matter. But as the loss of the companies will be the public's gain, all opposed to these grinding monopolies will rejoice to see them defeated.

We participate to some extent in the yellow fever panic, and continued hot weather aggravates our apprehensions. KNOX.

News and Notes.

Brig Kaluna, from Philadelphia for Greenock, was struck by lightning Aug. 2d and totally dismantled, her masts and yards being shivered to splinters and her sails and rigging destroyed; she was towed into Philadelphia by a steamship that fell in with her. Schooner A. J. Bentley was struck by lightning the same day and not far away, and had her mainmast badly shattered.

Colonel Casey has submitted his report on the Washington monument to the President, who will call a meeting of the joint commission and lay it before that body. Among the recommendations in the report is one that the monument shall be run up to 525 feet, instead of 486, and that work shall be commenced as soon as possible and carried on until the monument is completed.

At a greenback meeting in Lowell, Mass., Wednesday evening, a railroad fireman said privately that he belonged to an organization that at a signal would destroy every locomotive in the country if the corporations became stubbornly antagonistic.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Boston Belting Company was held Wednesday, at which a plan was perfected by which the company can resume business and pay its debt at maturity. The plan provides that Messrs. Durant, Cheever and Josiah S. Tappan shall give up to the company stock to the value of $186,500, and that $200,000 in new stock shall be issued. From the sale of these two lots, and the stock assigned by John G. Tappan, amounting to $198,500, sufficient funds can be obtained to pay the company's debts.

Vernon Bros. & Co.'s paper mill at Northampton, Mass. was burned Thursday. Insurance $225,000.

By the explosion of a Russian powder magazine in Fotest, Wednesday, 55 persons were killed and 31 wounded.

A Vienna despatch to the London Chronicle, Thursday, said that an attempt was made to murder Bismarck Wednesday night.

Three women, while running to shelter from a storm at Anna, Illinois, were instantly killed by the top of a large oak tree breaking off and being hurled upon them.

Officer Bird of New York while chasing a man Sunday morning on Twenty-seventh street fired at him, but missed, and the bullet instantly killed an unknown young man who was passing by at the time.

William Reed of Malden, Mass., a lad nineteen years of age, is to attempt the feat of walking from Boston to San Francisco. He will carry a knapsack and shelter tent, and will sell photographs of himself to pay his expenses. He has already walked from Texas to Boston, so that he understands what he is about.

A daughter of Thaddeus Frost, aged twenty-seven years, who lived with her father at Belmont, Mass., committed suicide by pouring kerosene oil over her head and clothing and setting fire to it. She had been insane for some time, and was closely watched.

Clear the Way

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the non-griping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fiber, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

THE CITY.

See advertisement of auction sale of real estate, on Myrtle street, at noon today.

Mr. R. M. Rollins of Londonderry was in town on Thursday, and identified the horse found in possession of Cora Fraser as being the one stolen from him on the 3d inst.

Steam fire engine Moses H. Goodrich, which has been undergoing repairs, was tested at Madison street reservoir Thursday afternoon, the result proving satisfactory.

It was fifty years on the 24th of July since Hon. John R. Reding of this city issued the first number of the Haverhill Gazette, a Grafton county democratic paper which was discontinued in 1861 by his successors.

All hands of the ship Kate Kellock, Capt. Ricker, before reported dismasted and abandoned on the voyage from California to England, were saved. The wreck was fallen in with Jan. 17th, with her decks swept clean.

After the adjournment of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen on Thursday evening—the last meeting of the old board—Ald. Coffin invited all hands, including our reporter, to visit an oyster saloon for refreshments at his expense. Most all of 'em went.

Hon. John H. Broughton, the retiring Mayor, and Mayor-elect Sise, were on Thursday engaged in a tour of the city, Mr. Broughton pointing out and explaining to Col. Sise various things which it was proper Mayor Sise should be cognizant of on taking the chair as chief magistrate of the city.

A marine named James Haraden fell overboard off Goodrich's wharf, at about half-past nine o'clock Thursday evening. He had a good deal of fluid concealed about his person before he fell into the water, but not enough to keep him from bellowing vigorously, which brought to the rescue people who fished him out.

The will of Peter C. Coffin of Plymouth, Mass., formerly of this city, contains a bequest of $2000 for a Home for Indigent Women in this city, which institution it is proposed to establish as soon as the funds of the Eclectic Association in aid of this object shall have accumulated sufficiently for the purpose.

A large picnic party of colored people went from this city to Wallis' Sands, Rye, on Thursday. The society of Hibernians had a picnic at Pinkham's grove, Dover Point, on the same day; and the proprietor of the Dover Point house gave a clambake at the point, which was largely attended by parties from Dover and this city.

Sheriff Kent on Thursday received a despatch from Ellsworth, Me., saying that the female horse thief, Cora Fraser, belongs there, and left for Lowell, Mass., last fall, with her aunt. In Ellsworth the girl was considered rather simple. Of Charles Newell, the man she says delivered the team to her, nothing is known in Ellsworth.

Among the possible candidates for the democratic Congressional nomination in this district are mentioned Judge Ira A. Eastman of Gilmanton, Dr. Wm. H. H. Mason of Moultonborough, John S. H. Frink, Esq., of Greenland, Hon. John W. Sanborn of Wakefield, Hon. John F. Cloutman of Farmington, Hon. John C. Moulton of Laconia, and Hon. Marcellus Eldredge of this city.

Mr. John A. Rand, one of the carpenter's engaged on the extension of the store lately occupied by Messrs. Henry H. Ham and Wm. B. Lowd, on Thursday afternoon fell from a beam and broke his ankle. He was attended by Drs. Folsom and Potter, and on examination both bones of the leg were found to be fractured, the small one being snapped short off and the large one cracked through.

On Thursday afternoon a little girl named Junkins, about five years old and belonging in York, came down stairs from Davis Brothers' photograph saloon just as Mr. Henry Wendell was driving past in his team, and started to run across the street directly in front of it. Mr. Wendell was fortunately walking his horse at the time, but though he used every endeavor to avoid a collision the child persisted in crossing and was struck on the side of the head by one of the hind wheels, receiving a few slight bruises. Mr. Wendell stopped his team and procured a physician, who pronounced the child uninjured save the trifling bruises.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Aug. 8; Batchelder, J.

Clement Huntress was complained of for assaulting Charles F. Staples of Eliot, a minor. The substance of the testimony was that Mr. Huntress struck at the Staples boy several times, and did strike him twice. Mr. Huntress stated to the court that he had been repeatedly insulted by the father and brothers of the boy, and had great provocation for punishing the boy himself. Judge Batchelder informed him that the law did not sustain him in inflicting punishment; to punish is the province of the law only, and the penalty for insults is more severe than for common assaults. In consideration of the provocation under which defendant acted, he was let off on probation.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening:

The Mayor reported his action in regard to the proposed mortgafie of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, which was approved.

Col. Hackett asked the use of the Common Council room for meeting of stockholders of Portsmouth & Dover railroad. Granted.

Bill of Wm. P. Israel for gravel used on public roads, was called up, and it was ordered that $25 be paid Mr. Israel in full of his claim.

Communications were received from William Alton and S. P. Rogers.

Bills amounting to $7621.93 were ordered to be paid.

Josiah F. Adams made a statement regarding the burial of a suicide two years ago, for which he has never been paid. The bill is for $23. Referred to next board.

In convention with Common Council, canvassed vote for Mayor, as follows: William H. Sise 989, Samuel P. Treadwell 592, Luther E. Martin 165 scattering, five. Alderman Hoyt and C. W. Norton, and Councilman Lang, were appointed a committee to notify Col. Sise of his election as Mayor.

Bill of E. D. Coffin & Co., $11.67, for painting and papering a building in court house yard, was ordered paid. Other bills of same parties, one of $154 for repairing and painting 77 street signs, one other of $7.22, were ordered to be paid when certified by the proper committees.

Harry J. Freeman's bill of $25, for use of building as ward room until next March, was ordered paid to date.

Ald. Hoyt's report as special committee to inspect the drainage system of Boston, was accepted and referred to next board.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mayor Broughton for his impartial services as chairman, Mr. Broughton briefly responding.

Adjourned.

JOHNSON'S UNIVERSAL CYCLOPÆDIA.

From Rev. Dr. Wm. M. Taylor, Pastor of Broadway Tabernacle Cong. Church, New York: "I was attracted to Johnson's New Universal Cyclopædia* by the remarkable list of Editors and Associate Editors on its title-page; and now that I possess it, and daily consult it in the prosecution of my studies, I bear willing testimony to the fact that the work is in every respect worthy of the reputation of the workmen. There is evidence, in every article, of independent research, painstaking thoroughness, and laborious condensation. In the Theological department, which is perhaps the most difficult in such a work to handle, it is perfectly fair, holding back nothing which ought in honesty to be put forward, and putting forward nothing which cannot be substantiated. In the department of Science it is superior to any work of the kind with which I am acquainted; and in that of History it is full and impartial, the articles being written in the interests of truth, and not in those of party. It is a Library in itself, and ought to be on the table of every reader."

*Johnson's New Universal Cyclopædia: A Scientific and Popular Treasury of Useful Knowledge. Illustrated with Maps, Plans and Engravings. A. Johnson & Son, Publishers, New York City. J. Reid, Jr., Canvasser for Portsmouth. Address P. O. Box 1111.

THE VICINITY.

During a heavy thunder shower, Wednesday afternoon, a large number of trees were struck by lightning in Seabrook.

John Griffin, the lad who was injured by jumping from a train at South Newmarket a few weeks since, died Tuesday morning, the 6th inst.

On Wednesday morning the men tending the weir at Gerrish's island found they had entrapped a huge sturgeon, and after a hard struggle secured him alive and transported him to Major Urch's aquarium; but he had injured himself so much in his resistance to capture that he died before night, and was taken to Eliot for the hogs to eat. He was eight feet long, and weighed two hundred and fifty pounds.

The statement that the Robinson Female Seminary at Exeter is financially embarrassed is positively denied, and it is said the seminary mentioned is in as good condition, if not better, than it has been for two years past. The seminary funds at present are worth $120,000. The investments are made in various ways, and have an income of over $5000.

Marshal Usher of the Massachusetts District sends a circular to the former friends of Gideon Haynes, who undertook to keep some kind of a hotel in Newcastle a season or so ago, by which the friends of the Ex-Warden of the Massachusetts State Prison are informed how much he owed about this region when he left it for other fields of unfitness.

Mary York of Newmarket was on Tuesday, 6th inst., arraigned before a justice of the peace on a charge of keeping liquor for sale, and was bound over in the sum of $200 for her appearance at the Supreme Court. Her rummery was raided on the previous Sunday by a deputy sheriff, who acted on the complaint and information of citizens of the town.

The following, from the Biddeford Times, is sufficient to moisten the eyes of a wooden Injun in front of a cigar-store: "Among the many sights at Presumpscot Park, there is one which hushes the exuberant feelings of the visitor. We refer to the stall in which Spangle died. The emblems of mourning to be seen here tend to show that the esteem in which this noble animal was held by his managers, was akin to that manifested for a human being. A form of a horse has been constructed, on which is placed the blankets and harness formerly used on Spangle, while his shoes are nailed to the stall. Black crape is fastened around the entire distance of the stall. The stall is kept locked, but is shown to all who desire to see it, by the former gentlemanly manager of Spangle. At the head of the stall is the following inscription: 'Gray Stallion Spangle; 7 years old. Record, 2:37. Private trial, 2:24 1-2. Owned by B. F. Hamilton, Esq., of Biddeford. Died at Presumpscot Park, Portland, July 30th, 1878.'"

A Big Blow.

Newburyport, Mass., had a violent wind and thunder storm Wednesday afternoon. The wind was very high. The steamer Fredericton, of that city, with 1000 passengers, was blown down the river a mile before she could be stopped. Many tents at Salisbury beach, where there were thousands of visitors, including Senator Ingalls of Kansas, were blown down, and one tent, caught by the wind, was taken to sea. Several ladies fainted, and two while landing from the steamer were blown into the river. The schooner Lucy K. Coggswell, at her wharf, had her foremast shivered by lightning into thousands of pieces; the maintopmast was broken, the mainmast split and a hole cut through her deck; loss $600. On Johnson's wharf a man while locking his store had the padlock struck from one hand, the key from the other, and was badly stunned. On Prospect street a tree was struck. It was the heaviest thunder-storm for years. After the storm, about five o'clock, in a crowd of sailing and steam vessels, the schooner Alvaretta ran into the steamer Kitty Boynton, full of passengers, cutting into her broadside, smashing the ladies' cabin, and came near sinking her. One man was slightly injured.

New Hampshire Items.

The Concord coal dealers have agreed to sell coal at retail only C. O. D., which means currency on dump.

During a heavy gale and shower on Wednesday, Briggs' piano stool manufactory at Peterboro' was struck by lightning. Shingles were torn off and glass and windows shattered. The damage is light. The workmen received a severe shock.

Andrew Gault, a prominent citizen of Bow, fell from a beam in his barn on Wednesday and received injuries that it is thought will prove fatal.

John P. Spain, eight years old, son of Martin Spain of Concord, was drowned in Horse-shoe pond Tuesday, 6th inst.

Watton Richard, twelve years old, was drowned in a pond at Amoskeag on Sunday afternoon, 4th inst., while in swimming.

A diabolical attempt was made to burn a dwelling in Mill Village early Monday morning, the 5th inst., in which a family of five persons were sleeping. The incendiary, in order to make his work more sure, saturated a portion of the outside of the building with kerosene oil. The flames made such progress before being discovered as to burn through the walls into the room where the family were sleeping. The fire was subdued before doing much damage. The building was insured for $250, which is double its value. The owner of the house, Arthur P. Young, does not occupy it. Suspicion strongly pointed toward him. He was arrested and arraigned on complaint of setting the fire, and was held in the sum of $1500.

—Some students at Kiefi, while walking in the woods with their professor, discovered the body of a girl of thirteen hanging to a tree. They succeeded in cutting the rope and applying restoratives before life was extinct, but they were interrupted in their humane work by the monks of a monastery of the Greek church near by, who declared that the girl had been put to death because she was possessed of a demon. An investigation proved that the child belonged to an honorable family, and that the monks had attempted to kill her to conceal the fact that one of their number had debauched her.

DEATHS.

CHEEVER. In Boston, Aug. 6th, Mrs. Sallie C. Cheever, wife of William H. Cheever, and daughter of the late William Clark, M. D., of Boston. Her remains were brought here for interment.

DAVIS. In Biddeford, Me., Aug. 6th, Emma J. Davis, daughter of John L. and Elizabeth Davis, aged 21 years, 3 months and 12 days.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

FRANK E. DEARBORN,

NO. 40 MARKET ST., PORTSMOUTH.

A New York detective, named Walker, and his wife, complain that another detective named Forbes and his wife have robbed them of $13,000 and fled to Europe by one of the steamers.

A gun, which promises to be the most terrible agent of modern times, is on exhibition in New York. The "rifle battery," as it is called, is so constructed as to deliver its fire either in a right line or in horizontal, radiating lines. The barrels, ranging in number from six to twenty, are sufficiently far apart to prevent heating from continuous firing, and are fired successively instead of simultaneously, at the rate of 20,000 shots an hour. A steel cover in front of the gunners protects them from the enemy's fire.

The Cleveland Leader finds a foundation for the recently current story of an outrage upon a lady on the New York Central railroad in the following, which it declares to be true: About a year ago the wife of a young man of Newark, N. J., son of a Boston physician, started on a visit to Massachusetts, and was to have been met by her husband at Jersey City. On reaching the depot of the Pennsylvania railroad he found her missing. A scoundrel had captured her by representing her as being insane, had taken her to a New York assignation house and there had robbed her. The husband got on the track at once, found her within an hour without the aid of police or detectives, rescued her before any greater outrage than robbery had been committed, and managed to keep the matter out of the papers until recently.

Henry Jackson, aged seventeen, recently took a younger boy out into deep water at Leavenworth, Kansas, and deliberately drowned him, apparently without any definite motive except to kill somebody. Jackson says that he had no ill-will toward his victim, but he had made up his mind that he would like to be hanged as a murderer. The poor little fellow should be put in jail and petted, the same as Pomeroy.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S ALT. EXT. OR

Golden Medical Discovery

CURES DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD.

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer has brought forward an hitherto unknown fact in nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has intuited into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, that were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which have been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Cough, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Old ulcerous, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the unity only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

INVALIDS' HOTEL.

The very large number of invalid people who daily visit Buffalo, from every quarter of the United States and Canada, that they may consult Dr. R.V. PIERCE, and the widely celebrated Faculty of Specialists in Medicine and Surgery associated with him, rendered it necessary that the finance of this institution should provide a place on a grand and commodious scale for their entertainment and comfort.

ADVANTAGES OFFERED.—The Invalids' Hotel is more complete in its appointments than any similar institution in the world. The building is located in one of the most healthful and desirable portions of the City of Buffalo, and commands a fine view of Lake Erie, Niagara River, and the surrounding country, being situated in the midst of an extensive system of beautiful parks. The Hotel is furnished with a patent safety passenger elevator, to convey patients to and from the different floors; it provided with all kinds of approved baths, and has also connected with it a well-appointed gymnasium and bowling alley to afford proper means of exercise.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms, whether requiring medical, surgical, or mechanical treatment, come within the province of the several specialists.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are the facilities of this infirmary of a superior order as regards the remedial means and appliances for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females. The employment, in moderation, of tonic, chemical, electro-thermal, and other approved baths, is in many cases an invaluable auxiliary to the curative means to which we resort in such cases. Dry friction to the surface, general shampooing, Swedish movements, and light calisthenic exercises, to enliven and equalize the circulation of the blood in the system, relieve congested parts, improve digestion, and strengthen the muscles, produce important beneficial results in all cases to which these means are applicable. No experimenting is resorted to in the treatment. The most approved medicines are carefully employed, and the judicious regulation of the diet, to suit the condition of the patient, the Dormitory ventilation of the sleeping apartment, the cheering influence of music, social intercourse, innocent games for amusement, and all those agencies which tend to arouse the mind of the patient from despondency, and thus promote recovery, are not neglected.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty, by which the greatest skill is attained and the most happy results secured.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of the practice in the Invalids' Hotel is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases are very largely treated in this department, and with results which have been highly gratifying to both physician and patients.

EYE AND EAR.—Special attention is given to the delicate operations on the eye and ear, a distinguished oculist and aurist being under engagement to conduct this branch of the practice.

Invalids arriving in the city and desiring to consult us, should come directly to the Hotel. It is easily accessible by carriage, omnibus, or street cars. MILLER'S Omnibus Agents, on all incoming trains, can be relied upon to deliver passengers and baggage with security and dispatch.

Daily Chronicle.

The Secret of Business Success.

It is claimed that Vanderbilt exhibited great nerve and shrewd business sagacity in the purchase of stocks and railroads controlled by him. Yet, whenever he made an investment he received in return an equivalent either as his own, or as collateral security. Dr. R. V. Pierce has invested many thousand dollars in, advertising, depending entirely upon the superior merits of his goods for security. The unparalleled popularity of his family medicines, and the annual increase in their sales, attests in arguments stronger than words of their purity and efficiency. If the blood be impoverished, the liver sluggish or there be tumors, blotches, and pimples, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will effect a speedy and perfect cure. If the bowels be constipated use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. Debilitated females suffering with those peculiar dragging-down sensations and weaknesses, will find Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a safe and certain remedy. Prompt relief and a permanent cure have so universally followed its use, that the doctor now sells it under a positive guarantee.

OAKLAND, Douglass Co., Oregon, Jan. 23, 1877.

DR. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Your Golden Medical Discovery has cured my daughter of goitre, after many physicians had failed. Inclosed please find $1.50 for a copy of The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. With us it takes the place of the family physician.

Yours truly, AARON ALLEN.

MT. VERNON, Ohio, July 10, 1876.

DR. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, AUGUST 10, 1878.

Nullification Nullified.

The nullification programme of the So. Carolina fire-eaters has been modified by order of Wade Hampton. The revenue officials confined by order of Kershaw, the State judge, were on Thursday taken from the sheriff as prisoners of the State of South Carolina by the United States Marshal on a writ of habeas corpus, and restored to his custody as prisoners of the United States, their cases having been transferred to the United States Court. The despatch says: "All was done quietly, the sheriff acting under instructions of Gov. Hampton." This is all very well; but it does not alter the fact that Judge Kershaw declared the United States laws a nullity when they conflict with the laws of South Carolina, and that the democratic press of the State universally sustained him-showing that in South Carolina Wade Hampton is a bigger man than Uncle Sam.

The Temperance Mass Meeting.

Extensive arrangements are making for the temperance mass meeting at Epping Camp Grounds, on Wednesday, August 21st; Governor Prescott has been invited to preside, and has promised so to do, if his engagements permit. General Neal Dow, legal suasionist, and A. S. Palmer, moral suasionist, have accepted invitations to be present, together with other temperance apostles. The former announces that he will speak on "Abstinence a Christian Duty—Prohibition a Political Necessity." The subject of Mr. Palmer's address has not yet been decided upon. On the following days, Aug. 22d and 23d, a Sabbath school convention will be held on the ground, at which several distinguished persons from abroad, with workers of all denominations, are expected. Rev. B. K. Pierce, D. D., editor of Zion's Herald, will conduct the services. The regular Hedding camp meeting exercises, which commence Monday, the 26th, closing on the 31st, will be under the joint direction of the presiding elder of the Dover district and the chairman of the National Camp Meeting Association for the Promotion of Holiness. The farm, of which the original camp ground was a part, has been purchased by the Hedding Association, which, together with other lands, makes the estate about 180 acres in extent. About forty-five families are now residing there. A large stable has been built by the association.

News and Notes.

The Boston Journal of Thursday evening contained a report that Hon. John G. Sinclair of Bethlehem had been guilty of "financial irregularities," in that he had forged the names of certain endorsers of his notes,—a report which Mr. Sinclair promptly and emphatically denies. Mr. Sinclair challenges any one to produce a single piece of paper of the character hinted at in the Journal, and says: "I am more troubled about the regular paper than the irregular paper of mine."

Kimpton, the missing financial agent of South Carolina, who has so long escaped detection, was arrested in Westfield, Mass., Thursday afternoon.

A boy fourteen years old, named Charles Yates, was attacked by a shark while bathing in the East river, New York, Thursday afternoon. The shark was carrying him off when another boy threw a heavy stone they had procured for anchoring their boat, and struck the shark on the head. This stunned him and he let the boy go, and his companion took him into the boat, but his injuries are so great he cannot live. The shark escaped.

Letters received from Iquitos, a Peruvian naval station on the Amazon, announce that deplorable reports have been received as to the sanitary condition of the laborers on the Madeira and Marmore Railroad. Virulent fever was carrying off numbers daily, whilst medical attendance is scarce, and hospital arrangements of the poorest description. The fever is reported of the same type as that which raged in Panama during the construction of the Inter-Oceanic Railroad. The laborers spoken of are mostly Americans.

The most remarkable birth ever known occurred at Salesville, O., recently. Mrs. McCormick gave birth to five healthy children, four boys and one girl. The medical works have but few instances of such wonderful births, and when they do occur the children have scarcely ever been known to live. In this case the mother and children, in the common language on such occasions, are "doing well."

The women in the Post Office Department at Washington quarrelled like cats about having the windows open or shut; so at last the Postmaster General had to interfere and make a rule that windows should not be opened till a certain hour in the day.

New Hampshire Items.

The St. Paul's School communion service, which was thought to have been stolen, has been found, half melted, in the ruins of the building recently burned at Concord.

A heavy storm passed over Manchester Thursday night, and another one Friday morning.

Walton's saw and grist mill at Bolton was burned by lightning Thursday night; loss $12,000.

Mrs. John Nelson of Canterbury, a middle-aged lady, was thrown from her carriage while descending a hill in Belmont Wednesday, and seriously, if not dangerously injured. The horse took fright from the hold-back becoming unfastened.

An English tramp, Billy Jones, a few weeks ago made his appearance in Hampstead, and told so pitiable, and apparently plausible a story, that John Johnson pitied him, and gave him employment. A daughter of Johnson became fascinated with the tramp, and the result was that through the instrumentality of the girl's mother, they went to Chester and were married, after which they returned to Hampstead and took up their abode at the house of Johnson, he being away from home building a house at the beach. July 28th, Billy Jones and Mrs. Johnson eloped, leaving the young wife, (who, by the way, was but twelve years old,) and a young brother eight years old, to bear the news around. The neighbors were aroused and made a search for elopers. They are supposed to have gone via Salem. Great excitement prevails in the neighborhood. Sheriffs Kent of Portsmouth and Odlin of Exeter are on the track of the runaways. If they are captured, it is feared they would be roughly handled should they fall into the hands of the Hampstead people. The mother accompanied her daughter to Chester, and gave her consent to the marriage, where a clergymen so far forgot his duty to society as to marry a child to a vagabond.—Exeter News-Letter.

Political.

Beverly Douglass of Virginia, democrat, the most drunken member of the present Congress — which is saying a great deal—has been thrown overboard by his constituents, who have nominated Gen. Beale, late of the confederate army.

Senator Lamar having openly declared that henceforth he will stoutly oppose what is known as the shot-gun policy in Mississippi, and will contend for peaceful elections and the right of all to vote freely, a number of prominent republicans of that State have agreed to endorse Mr. Lamar, and believe that by co-operation with some of the leading independent democrats a division of that party can be accomplished in Mississippi. Threats of this independent movement come from all portions of the State.

His Occupation Gone.

Had the Arkansas "doctor" that "tapped" the fat man, thinking he had dropsy, lived to day, he would, like Othello, find "his occupation gone," for Allen's Anti-Fat, a purely vegetable remedy, safely, but positively, reduces corpulency at from three to six pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

Clear the Way

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the non-griping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fiber, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

In our northern latitude where sudden changes of temperature are so common, be sure and keep supplied with Adamson's Balsam. It tempers the climate and wards off consumption. Price 25 cts.

THE CITY.

The tramp law goes into effect to-day.

To-night look out for the shower of meteors in the north-east.

To-morrow the moon will be in conjunction with Jupiter, and Monday evening she will rise partially eclipsed.

The Portsmouth delegation to the meeting of the Greenback State Committee at Manchester speak in high terms of their treatment by the Manchester brethren.

At a special meeting of the Reform Club, Thursday evening, it was voted not to endorse the proceedings of Webster and Drake, the "liquor spotters," after a thorough discussion of the question in all its bearings.

Mr. M. H. Cleaves of Boston is intending to publish a journal of the leading business houses of Portsmouth, to be issued about Sept. 1st. It will give a brief history of most of the leading houses, and will without doubt prove a valuable sheet.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Aug. 9; Batchelder, J.

Charles E. Gray (not the worthy Asst. Marshal of the city, whose name is somewhat similar,) was complained of by Abby S. Holmes for stealing a shawl and sun umbrella belonging to her from the house of B. F. Walker on Jefferson street. The magistrate deemed the evidence sufficient to hold Gray, and he was ordered to give bonds in $100 for his appearance before the Supreme Court. He procured bail.

Jeremiah Manning, a marine, was charged $9.90 for one drunk.

ANTI-CRUELTY SOCIETY.

At a special meeting of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held at Dr. May's office in this city on Friday, Alexander H. Ladd, Esq., was chosen a Vice President to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Capt. Wm. F. Parrott. The constitution was amended to provide for three trustees of the permanent fund instead of one as heretofore, and Mrs. John J. Pickering of this city, Ex-Gov. Fred. Smythe of Manchester, and Hon. Josiah B. Sanborn of Concord, were chosen Trustees.

AT THE SHOALS.

John Gardner, the renowned musician and fiddlist of this city, is spending a few day at Appledore, hoping to lay up enough energy during a brief season of rest and refreshment—a good deal of refreshment—by the sea to carry him through the winter campaign.

Prof. Eichberg and Prof. J. K. Paine are also at the Appledore, for the season.

The are now 450 guests at the Appledore house, and 250 at the Oceanic, Star island. The "boating element" from Appledore took 11,000 mackerel last week with hook and line, and on Wednesday some of the amateur fishermen brought in cod weighing sixty pounds each, and over. The fishing was never better than this season, and is at its best now; and safe, roomy, comfortable boats with competent and attentive skippers can be procured at either island whenever required.

And the patrons of the Oceanic can now depend on receiving the courteous treatment which they formerly looked for only at Appledore—Mr. Chris. E. Rymes now runs the Oceanic.

NARROW ESCAPE.

During the thunder shower which commenced at about noon on Friday, Mr. David Burke of this city, a well known fisherman, and a young man named Frank Hutchings, had a unique and startling adventure from which they were fortunate to escape with their lives. They were at the time lying off Boon island in Mr. Burke's boat, mackereling, a number of other fishing craft being in the vicinity, and their boat—one of the large, two-masted, clinker-built "Isles of Shoals whale-boats," as they are called—was struck by lightning and fairly split in two, going to the bottom almost instantly. At the time of the shock Mr. Hutchings was in the cuddy, and the boat opened so quickly, that he literally fell out through her bottom, and was carried down a long way by the sinking wreck. Mr. Burke was thrown some distance over the boat's side, and also went down with her; but both men came to the surface unharmed, and were picked up by the other boats near and brought in to this city. The boat was owned by Mr. Burke, and we are informed that he possesses no other property; the loss is a heavy one to him, as she afforded him the means of gaining a livelihood.

On Friday evening we were informed that Mr. Hutchings was seriously ill, Dr. Potter having been called to attend him. His head and chest troubled him a great deal.

A TORNADO.

A very heavy storm of rain, hail and wind passed over Seabrook and Rye, Friday afternoon, and great damage was done by it. In Seabrook a new house just built by Lowell Boyd was lifted from its foundations and the chimney levelled. Mr. Boyd and James Sovter, the builder, were in it, but soon got out. A cow belonging to Washington Eaton was killed by a tree beneath which she sought shelter being blown down across her neck. Many trees were broken off or uprooted.

In Rye the force of the wind was tremendous, and great numbers of trees were overthrown within a wide track, the roads being rendered impassable in many places by the fallen trunks. The glass in many windows were broken by the hail; and a coachload of bathers from the Farragut house who were caught out in the storm were scared half out of their wits, several of the ladies being cut by broken glass from the coach windows. Nearly all the bathing-houses were blown to sea, and the bridge leading to the bathing beach demolished. Sebastis Dana, an Indian who was tenting on the beach, had his tent carried away from over his head and got a bad cut over his eye from a flying stick. G. H. Jenness' bowling-alley was wrecked, and the post-office doors blown in and the place drenched with water. A small boarding house near the beach, owned by N. E. Cate of Northwood and occupied by about twenty persons, was split in two, but the inmates escaped uninjured. Many chimneys were thrown down, among them those of the boarding-houses of C. Austin Jenness, Oliver P. Jenness and Amos Jenness, and S. B. Spear; C. Austin Jenness' barn was unroofed. The chimney of the Farragut House engine room was blown down, and the roof and verandah of the house injured. Hardly a boarding house in the town wholly escaped. Four heifers in the pasture of Mr. Charles Odiorne, near Little Harbor, were killed by a thunderbolt. No loss of human life is reported.

Capt. Rand, of steamer Appledore, reported that when coming in from the Shoals in the afternoon what appeared to be a large fire was raging in Rye. Throughout all the commotion on the land, the Isles of Shoals were having a dead calm.

Hotel Wentworth at Newcastle was struck by lightning, but no damage was done, the electric fluid striking a rod and passing harmlessly to the ground.

HON. W H. Y. HACKETT.

The apprehensions which our whole community has felt for some time that the illness of this distinguished citizen might prove fatal, grew only stronger when it was announced Friday that his disease had assumed a more serious aspect. He sank rapidly but peacefully away, and died about four o'clock in the afternoon.

WILLIAM HENRY YOUNG HACKETT was born in Gilmanton, in this State, Sept. 24th, 1800. He received his early education at Gilmanton Academy, then an institution of some note, and read law, first with Stephen Moody of Gilmanton, and afterwards with Ichabod Bartlett of this city, and began the practice of law here in the year 1825. On the 21st of December, 1826, Mr. Hackett married Miss Olive Pickering, second daughter of the late Joseph W. Pickering, and immediately after occupied the house No. 69 Congress street, which has been his home to the present time. Many of our citizens will recall the happy celebration of the golden wedding not quite two years since, when the couple, venerable but still unbroken by the experiences and cares of half a century, stood in the room consecrated by so many home associations, while children and children's children came to bring their offerings, and the house was thronged with the few who could go back over the whole period, and the many who were friends of later years.

Soon after coming to the Bar, Mr. Hackett was elected a Director of the Piscataqua Bank, an office he held until he became President, and this latter position he retained until the affairs of the bank were closed. He was then elected President of the Piscataqua Exchange Bank, and held that office for twenty years. In the winter of 1863, being in Washington as counsel in an important suit in the United States Supreme Court, Hon. Salmon P. Chase, then Secretary of the Treasury, requested him upon his return to Portsmouth to establish a National Bank. He did so, and this was the First National Bank of this city, and also of the country, and he became its President and was at the time of his death.

Mr. Hackett was also President of the Piscataqua Savings Bank, recently organized; the oldest Trustee of the Portsmouth Savings Bank, and a Director in the P., S. & P. R. R. He has frequently represented the city in the Legislature, has been President of the New Hampshire Senate, was a member of the present Convention for revising the State Constitution, and the oldest practising lawyer of the Rockingham Bar.

Mr. Hackett had an easy and pleasant manner of speaking, which made him the first choice as a presiding officer upon all public occasions, and for many years no one has had kinder or more just and acceptable words of eulogy for associates who have earlier been called away. His reading and studies have been directed in the line of historical and biographical research, and his conversation abounded in interesting reminiscences of many who long ago were prominent in the business and politics of New England and especially of New Hampshire.

While Mr. Hackett must be greatly missed by our active community, nowhere can his loss be more felt than in the South Parish of this city, where his constancy, his punctuality, his careful attention and his unswerving loyalty to his successive pastors have made him always a prominent and cherished member. When as a young man, he came to Portsmouth, and was not quite decided which church he should attend, he heard one day in a company the preaching of Dr. Parker so severely criticised for the emphasis it laid upon a true life rather than a correct creed, that he thought to himself he should like to hear this clergyman preach who was so greatly denounced. The next Sunday he went to Dr. Parker's church, and from that time until his death, unless out of town or seriously ill, was hardly once absent from his accustomed seat.

For an unusually long life he has been an example of industry, diligence, fidelity, temperance, success in all public duties and private relationships; of uniform kindness and regularity, of unostentatious hospitality; of one who attained wealth, position, influence, not by a fortunate turn of speculation, but by persevering toil—a representative of a generation fast passing away, which held that steady application to a chosen pursuit was a characteristic of all true manhood and all useful living.

It is long since we have been called upon to notice the decease of one so widely as well known in our community, or whose death will be felt in so many circles, one more justly honored or more worthily regretted; and of what this loss is to that quiet home circle we may not speak. It is greater to us all because of that activity of life which has given no impression of the inroads or feebleness of old age. In undecayed vigor of mind he asked for his children and his children's children, and with calmness and confidence spoke a parting word to each one. We may be grateful for what this long life has brought with it, and that before increasing infirmities and disabilities, which would have kept him from chosen activities and been to him a constant weariness, he has been gathered to his people.

Mr. Hackett leaves two sons—William H. Hackett, counsellor-at-law, of this city, and Frank W. Hackett, counsellor-at-law, of Washington, D. C.; and two daughters—Mrs. Robert C. Peirce, of this city, and Mrs. E. M. Stoddard, of Norfolk, Va.

LETTER FROM DOVER.

DOVER, Aug. 8th.

In the new brick building being erected by J. Albert Walker of Portsmouth, at the corner of Washington and Locust streets, one of the granite lintels has been found to be broken and will have to be taken out. The building is a credit to the enterprise of Mr. Walker, and will be a great ornament to our city. Its location is such that it will always be in demand for occupancy, and it is already engaged by Uncle Sam and other reliable tenants.

A boat race on the Cocheco between Charles Hall of this city and a Kittery boatman, from the Central street bridge to Fourth street, came off one evening this week, when Hall won.

Quite a stir was made in town at the proposed legislation asking for leave to issue bonds by the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire. The city government took the matter in hand, passed resolutions condemning the act, and sent a committee to Concord to oppose the action before the Legislature.

The largest marine arrival of the season was that of the schooner Surprise, which was towed up the Piscataqua and Cocheco rivers by the steamer Mystic last week. The Surprise brought 375 tons of coal for the Cocheco Co., and by taking advantage of a high flood tide came up to the wharf without lightering. The Mystic has had employment nearly all the season, and the cargoes of coal have often arrived in large vessels, such as before this year were never seen with cargoes so far up stream.

This calls to mind a circumstance connected with the removal of obstructions upon the Cocheco river. Soon after Hon. Frank Jones was elected Representative in Congress, Col. Bracewell and another gentleman went to Portsmouth to confer with the member-elect upon the subject of river improvements. Further appropriations were needed, and the member from the District was relied upon to urge the granting of a sum before the committee of Congress having the matter in charge. The visitors went to the Rockingham House, on their arrival by the early morning train, expecting to find Mr. Jones as yet about home, but learned that, early as it was, he was at his office. Thither they proceeded. Col. Bracewell in his plain English way said to Mr. Jones, "I don't know but we have come on a fruitless errand. You are President of the Dover railroad and a wharf owner, and interested in having our coal landed here in Portsmouth." "Gentlemen," replied the newly chosen Representative, "you don't know Frank Jones. I intend to represent the district and every part of it. I am a Portsmouth man and have large interests here, but I shall look after the interests of every part of my district that needs my attention." The Dover people breathed easier. They explained their wants and returned to the head of navigation with the feeling that no matter where the member happened to reside, he had no selfish views as to locality or personal interests.

Mr. Jones has always been prompt in looking after the claims of his constituency. No matter who called upon him or wrote to him, republican or democrat, their business was attended to. His tables at Washington were filled with letters. His secretary was daily going the rounds of the departments upon some errand for his New Hampshire correspondents, for though not an administration member Mr. Jones in every legitimate business and social relation had a large, very large, influence in Washington, both in and out of Congress. Differing from him in politics, it is but an act of simple justice to say that he has been faithful in this respect, and his withdrawal will be a loss to the State. His position on the naval committee, his friendly relations with the Secretary of the Navy and others at Washington, were of service to your part of the District, and his successor, of whatever political faith, will be fortunate if at the end of four years he leaves the office with so many in the District to acknowledge obligations of this kind as has been the case with the present incumbent. The declination of Mr. Jones is a serious matter for the democracy. Such an energetic candidate as Mr. Jones has proved himself to be is not often to found. The parties must soon place their respective candidates before the people and wait for the verdict.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Co. are having put up an iron fence in front of their new mill. The mill is one of the finest buildings of the kind in the State, and if in the "sweet by-and-bye" good times return to us, may prove a judicious outlay. At present it has been more profitable to the mechanics and traders of this region than to the shareholders. Most of the latter are non-residents; Dover has invested in railroad rather than in factory stocks, and her people to-day own 4496 shares in the Boston & Maine railroad, or more in that corporation than is owned in any other place in the State. QUILL.

THE VICINITY.

Sloop Alice, of Exeter, Capt. Fernald, lost her mast at Portsmouth bridge on Wednesday. She refitted here and took back a full cargo to Exeter.

Miss Laura Quinn of South Newmarket had an unpleasant experience recently, through swallowing a dose of laudanum thinking it lavender, for which it was put up by a storekeeper. An emetic arranged matters all right.

Miss Belle Durgin, of Exeter, well known as one of the Alleghany Swiss Bell Ringers, recently became the wife of Mr. J. Frank Moore, formerly of Gorham but now connected with the Fifth Avenue hotel of New York city.

In Biddeford, Thursday, Whitten's carriage factory building and a frame building adjoining, occupied by Samuel Hanson as a grocery store, and Leonard Dearborn, barber, on the lower floor, and tenements above, were destroyed by fire. Loss $8000.

The whole number of houses in North Hampton is 257; cattle, 669; dogs, 42. Rate of taxation, $85 on $1000. Eighteen persons pay a tax of $40 or over; the highest taxes are paid by the heirs of J. L. Philbrick, $116.59, and Albert Batchelder, $110.

The statement which has gone the rounds of the press that Samuel Mellows of Newmarket, recently deceased, was the last surviving soldier in that town of the war of 1812, is incorrect. Laban Kenistor of that town, who served a year and a half, is still living there at the age of eighty-nine years.

A curious worm recently killed in New Haven, Conn., was about four inches long, had eight little legs, a body checkered like a black adder's, only a little darker, a head and mouth like a turtle, and one eye on the top of its head. When touched it made a hissing noise like a snake, and when put into the fire stood the heat for about half a minute, stretched out to double its previous length, and died. A worm or reptile of the same variety was found in a house in Exeter last week. Will some of our eminent naturalists tell us its history?

Robert Beady, aged twelve years, surrendered himself to the police in New York, Thursday, and asked to be sent home. His story was that his mother, who lives in Saco, whipped him on the previous Sunday for not going to church, and in revenge he stole $5, and ran away from home "to make his fortune." He landed in New York on Monday with ten cents in his pocket, took to selling papers for a living, and in less than a week concluded he had been a great fool.

M. every Sunday,—except the first Sunday in each month, when the Children's Choral Service and public catechising, commencing at four o'clock, is substituted for the usual one at 5:00; seats free at this service. Preaching to-morrow by Rev. Mr. Gushee, of Cambridge.

Mission services; William A. Loyne, Volunteer Missionary. Residence at Faith Home, 16 Deer street. At home daily from 8 to 10 A. M. and 12 to 2 P. M. Services every Sabbath at the Alms House at 10:30; at the County Jail at 12:30. Consecration Meeting every Monday evening at the Home.

At the Middle street (Baptist) church, Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., pastor, services at 10:30 A. M. and 6 P. M.; Sunday school at the church at 2:45 P. M. Church services suspended until Sept. 1st.

The Reform Club will hold a meeting in Franklin Hall at four o'clock, or immediately after church in the afternoon. Admission free.

—A large crane, six feet eight inches in height, and measuring nine feet between the tips of its wings, lighted on the top of the engine boiler as an express train was leaving Marshfield, Mass., the other morning, and remained there till suffocated by the smoke.

—Mrs. Ella Morse, of South Royalston, came very near losing her life a few nights since. Her child became uneasy, and she placed the milk to feed it with upon the top of the lamp-chimney to warm, and then fell asleep. The lamp exploded, but did not wake her. It awoke her father in another part of the house, however, and he found the fire running about the room, and the pillow upon which his daughter lay was on fire, just ready to singe her hair, while she and her child were sleeping soundly. He promptly extinguished the fire and saved two lives.

—A most remarkable escape from death by lightning occurred Sunday, at Wapping, Conn. A young lady, named Katie Belcher, was struck, the lightning beginning with her hat, which was set on fire. It tore her hair completely off the back part of her head, ran down her back, tearing her clothing to pieces and her shoes into fragments. She was rendered insensible by the shock, but soon recovered, and has experienced no serious injury. Another young lady was rendered insensible, and fifteen or twenty others were more or less shocked.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S ALTERATIVE
Golden Medical Discovery

CURES DISEASES OF THE
THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD
In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in these and all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, either sex, in any part of the country who is willing to work steadily at the employment that we furnish. $66 per week in your own town. You need not be away from home over night. You can give your whole time to the work, or only your spare moments. We have agents who are making over $20 per day. All who engage at once can make money fast. At the present time money cannot be made so easily and rapidly as any other business. It costs nothing to try the business. Terms and $5 Outfit free. Address at once. ODY28 18

BLOOD PURIFIER
IS the most wonderful discovery for the radical cure of SYPHILIS and SCROFULA. It never fails to entirely eradicate either of these diseases and all Blood Poison from the system. It has been in private practice eighteen years, and over 10,000 cures effected by it are on record.
Sole Eastern Agency, 396 Columbus ave., Boston, Mass. Office hours, 8 to 11, A. M., 3 to 7 P. M. Send for pamphlet. Cure in all cases of Syphilis in either stage guaranteed. eodly29

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double throughout its entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
now on this line well illustrates the far-seeing sagacity of its management, in accordance with which no effort is spared to improve every available means which may be adopted to contribute to the safety of its patrons. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

INVALIDS' HOTEL.
The very large number of invalid people who daily visit Buffalo, from every quarter of the United States and Canada, that they may consult Dr. R. V. PIERCE, and the widely celebrated Faculty of Specialists in Medicine and Surgery associated with him, rendered it necessary that the founder of this institution should provide a place on a grand and commodious scale for their entertainment and comfort.
ADVANTAGES OFFERED.—The Invalids' Hotel is more complete in its appointments than any similar institution in the world. The building is located in one of the most healthful and desirable portions of the City of Buffalo, and commands a fine view of Lake Erie, Niagara River, and the surrounding country, being situated in the midst of an extensive system of beautiful parks. The Hotel is furnished with a patent safety passenger elevator, to convey patients to and from the different floors; is provided with all the improved baths, and has also connected with it a well-appointed gymnasium and bowling alley to afford proper means of exercise.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms, whether requiring medical, surgical, or mechanical treatment, come within the province of our several specialties.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are the facilities of this infirmary of a superior order as regards the remedial means and appliances for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females. The employment, in moderation, of tonic, chemical, electro-thermal, and other improved baths, is in many cases an invaluable auxiliary to the remedial means to which we resort in such cases. Dry friction to the surface, general shampooing, Swedish movements, and light calisthenic exercises, to enliven and equalize the circulation of the blood in the system, relieve congested parts, improve digestion, and strengthen the muscles, produce important beneficial results in all cases to which these means are applicable. No experimenting is resorted to in the treatment. The most approved medicines are carefully employed, and the judicious regulation of the diet, to suit the condition of the patient, the thorough ventilation of the sleeping apartment, the cheering influence of music, social intercourse, innocent games for amusement, and all those agencies which tend to arouse the mind of the patient from despondency, and thus promote recovery, are not neglected.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty, by which the greatest skill is attained and the most happy results secured.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of the practice in the Invalids' Hotel is very ably managed by a gentleman of nature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases are very largely treated in this department, and with results which have been highly gratifying to both physician and patients.
EYE AND EAR.—Special attention is given to the delicate operations on the eye and ear, a distinguished oculist and aurist being under engagement to conduct this branch of the practice.
Invalids arriving in the city and desiring to consult us, should come directly to the Hotel. It is easily accessible by carriage, omnibus, or street cars. Miller's Omnibus Agents, on all incoming trains, can be relied upon to deliver passengers and baggage with security and dispatch.

C. E. MYERS & CO.,

No. 3 BOW STREET.

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

CONCORD, August 10.

On Wednesday Mr. Moore's bill for the taxation of railroads came up. Mr. Shurtleff of Colebrook opened the ball by pouring in red hot shot against the bill and in a cruel manner repaid the charges against the railroad lobby by dissecting such men as N. G. Ordway, W. C. Chandler, Chas. Gaffney, and Ruel Durkee, who were working for the railroad bill. He was followed by Messrs. Lowd of Concord, and Sinclair of Bethleham. Mr. Moore of Nashua then replied in as effective a speech as he ever made in his life. He answered every point made and by his clear and forcible speech he drew forth rounds of applause. Mr. Sinclair moved that the bill be referred to the next session of the legislature, and upon this he demanded the yeas and nays. It was lost by a vote of 139 yeas to 191 nays. Upon this motion, in Rockingham county there were 22 yeas and 26 nays,—Adams, Call, Tredick and Wendell voting for, and Curtis, Ryder and Sherburne voting against, while Goodrich did not vote, being the action of the Portsmouth delegation. Immediately after the rejection of Mr. Sinclair's motion Mr. Hobbs of Ossipee moved a substitute for Mr. Moore's bill, which was in substance the same, with the exception that the rules for governing the State Board of Equalization in determing the actual valuation of railroads were omitted, which is certainly a very important measure. The consideration of this substitute was the work of the evening session. It was advocated by Messss. Hobbs of Ossipee, Marston of Exeter, Stevens of Nashua, and Huse of Manchester. It was as ably opposed by Mr. Moore of Nashua, who has almost single handed fought this great battle alone. After much dodging and changing of votes the substitute was adopted by a vote of 170 yeas to 142 nays. On this proposition Rockingham county voted 28 in favor and 17 against; and the Portsmouth delegation voted as follows: Adams, Call, Ryder, Tredick, and Wendell in favor, Curtis against, while Goodrich and Sherburne did not vote. Mr. Moore, then making the most of the necessity, moved that the rules be suspended and the bill passed, which was accordingly done. The bill is now before the Senate and they are wrestling with the subject, while more railroad men are in attendance than there are members of that body.

Another matter that provoked considerable discussion was a bill providing for the repeal of the moiety clause in the prosecution of rum sellers. The temperance men were divided upon the subject; in some sections they were very earnest for its repeal while in others they were equally opposed to it. Those in Dover and Nashua were very clamorous in their demand that it be retained, while those in Concord were as clamorous in the other direction. The bill was finally defeated, on motion of Mr. Wallace of Milford that it be indefinitely postponed, by a vote of 170 yeas and 133 nays. A number of republicans voted for the postponement of the bill, because they thought they saw a cat in the meal from the fact that the democrats so eloquently argued the passage of the bill and voted so solidly for it.

Bills amending the charters of the cities of Manchester, Dover, and Keene have been passed this week, not without some hard fighting on the part of the republicans. The bill amending the charter of the city of Keene was brought up on Tuesday afternoon, and after a sharp fight the matter was brought to the main question when the matter was defeated by a want of a quorum on the part of the republicans, the democrats as usual refusing to vote. The same thing happened on Tuesday night. Enough has been said in regard to such detestable actions to absent republicans.

The Dover bill was ordered to a third reading on Thursday after hard work and defeating fillibustering tactics of the democrats. Just before the session closed Thursday afternoon Mr. Moore of Nashua said, "Let every republican be on hand to-night and remain here all night if need be." They were on hand. The subject was the consideration of the amendment of the charter of the city of Keene. After defeating the usual fillibustering motions, then came the usual question of the speaker, "shall the main question be now put?" Then came in another disgraceful scene on the part of the minority, namely, the discussion of the previous question to waste time. If ever the application was just, that of calling this Legislature a wind mill, it was doubly true that night. For the speeches of the young shoots of the democracy contained nothing but wind on that occasion, and that of the worst kind. They commenced their job at 8:20 and kept it up until just before one the next morning, when finding that they could not accomplish their end, namely, of dispersing the republican quorum, they hauled down their colors and allowed the Keene bill to be ordered to a third reading. Friday Mr. Moore of Nashua introduced a resolution that the speeches be limited to five minutes. The democrats then commenced their factious opposition again, and used most of the day in chin music. In the afternoon the leading democrats met the leading republicans in conference and a compromise was agreed upon, which both parties accepted but which some of the democrats especially disliked.

It was agreed upon the part of the majority that the five minute speech rule be withdrawn; they should allow the minority opportunity to make amendments and give them a reasonable time to discuss them before moving the previous question. The minority agreed to allow the business of the House to go on, to make no dilatory motions, and to vote on all questions so as not to leave the House without a quorum. A. B.

Portsmouth Chronicle

MONDAY, AUGUST 12, 1878.

The Storm.

The atmospheric and electric disturbance on Friday was widespread and disastrous. Wallingford, Conn., suffered more than any other place; a tornado threw down a Catholic church, and twenty houses in "Wallace's row," besides moving and shattering other buildings. Trees and fences were blown down, and a new brick school house was completely demolished. Between twenty and thirty persons were killed. The ruins in many places took fire, but the heavy rains extinguished the flames. Over forty houses and about fifty barns were destroyed in Wallingford and its immediate vicinity.

In Massachusetts the storm was very severe. Ten houses were struck by lightning in Fitchburg, but none were burned. In Woburn there was a heavy fall of hail; Josiah Leathe was killed by lightning, and two women were injured. In Gloucester a buggy in which a man and woman were riding was struck by lightning and the top knocked off, but the occupants escaped serious harm. The schooner Maud Muller had her mainmast splintered, and three of the crew were made insensible. In Lowell two barns were set on fire, and much damage was done by the flood of rain. In Haverhill many trees, fences and chimneys were blown down, and also the pumping station of the aqueduct company. In Newburyport the lightning struck many trees but did no serious damage, though two men were prostrated in Newbury. In Marlboro' the Methodist church was struck and injured, but not destroyed. In Winchester a little girl eight years old, daughter of Varnum Locke, was instantly killed by lightning. In Lawrence and North Andover several buildings were struck, and in the latter place a man and woman were rendered insensible; the Boston & Maine railroad track was washed badly. In Malden, Mrs. Mary Maud Chapman, twenty-three years old, was instantly killed, and her house set on fire; other houses were injured, and a man stunned for an hour. In Hamilton a large barn was burned. In Lynn a large boarding-house was struck, and the sixteen inmates all more or less affected.

At Derby Line and South Royalston, Vt., several large barns were struck by lightning, and consumed.

In the State of New York vast quantities of rain fell, and railroad travel was seriously interrupted. Many buildings were destroyed by lightning, bridges washed away and crops damaged.

In Belleville, Ont., great damage was done, houses, barns and crops being burned by lightning or prostrated by the wind.

News and Notes.

Schooner Mary Limeburner is appropriately named. She belongs in Rockland, Me., and carries lime. She put into Sandy Hook on Saturday with her cargo of lime on fire.

James R. Austin, a Boston insurance broker and formerly captain of the Roxbury City Guard, and Mrs. John V. N. Stults, who inherited nearly a million of dollars from her father, the late Thomas Dunbar, are involved in a disgraceful scandal. Mrs. Stults has three children, and is about thirty years of age. Austin has a beautiful and accomplished wife, and two children. Mrs. Stults, on being reproached by her husband for her unfaithfulness, boldly avowed her preference for Austin.

At Titusville, Fla., Friday, John R. Saunders met a young man named Sweeney, charged him with insulting his sister, and before Sweeney could draw to defend himself, shot him three times. Sweeney fired three shots at Saunders after being wounded, and died in a few moments.

A Stockton, California, despatch says that fifteen tramps attempted to board the west-bound train Thursday evening, but were driven off by the train hands. The tramps assaulted the train men with clubs and stones, and the leader fired two shots without effect at the rear brakeman. The latter returned the fire, inflicting a wound from which the tramp died. The brakeman was exonerated by the coroner's jury and was discharged from custody by the police judge.

H. P. Sheller, cashier of the Lewisburg, Penn., National Bank, has shelled out $50,000 of the bank's funds in wildcat speculations, and is now in prison for want of $20,000 bail. William Torrey, cashier of the First National Bank of Ashland, Penn., which suspended a year ago, is also under arrest for stealing the funds of the bank and falsifying the books.

Government on Friday bought of the Bank of Nevada 1,200,000 ounces of fine silver, paying the London rate with cable exchange, in standard dollars.

One evening recently a train on the Eureka & Palisade railroad of California ran into a heavy thunder-storm near Garden Pass, and for a short time the lightning played around too lively for the comfort of the passengers and train men. It struck a ledge of rocks near the track and shook the train as if an earthquake had taken possession of the country. It then forked off, and demolished the headlight of the locomotive and danced around over the iron horse at a fearful rate.

We desire to call special attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Richardson, Boynton & Co., of New York City, whose reputation for standard goods in their line is unequalled in the country. Furnaces, ranges and fireplace heaters have been made a specialty by this house for the past twenty-five years, and no firm is so well and favorably known throughout the country for manufacturing substantial, first-class goods. Every family should give close attention to their heating and cooking apparatus, as a means of grace; for in no particular does their happiness so much depend as upon these two departments of household life. If these are inefficient and health-destroying, everything else goes wrong. The very best of this class of goods are always the cheapest in the long run, especially those furnaces that are the most durable, economical in fuel and perfectly free from gases. These furnaces have a world-wide reputation for these merits, and are deserving of the public patronage; and their yearly increasing sale is the sufficient evidence of these justly-claimed merits.

The defalcation of Conant, the cashier of the Eliot bank of Boston, is reported by the bank examiner to be $88,000.

The New England Publishing Co., No. 16 Hawley street, Boston, have in press to be issued about Sept. 1st "the Life and Education of Laura Dewey Bridgeman," the deaf, dumb and blind girl, born in Hanover, N. H., and now at the Perkins Institute for the Blind, South Boston. Laura's history has attracted the attention of thousands in England and Germany as well as in America, and the interest which has been awakened in her will be increased by this, the first corrected account of her remarkable career. The work is written by Mrs. Mary Swift Lamson, Laura's first teacher, and is made up largely from her daily diary written during Laura's school life at the Institution, with such selections from Dr. Samuel G. Howe's reports as to enable the public to understand how this wonderful child was taught, and how almost miraculously she gained the education which she now so fully enjoys. The light which the new work will throw on many questions, educational, social and moral, will cause it to be widely read and commented upon. The volume will be a 12-mo of about 400 pages, on fine paper, beautifully bound with two portraits of Laura, and fac-similes of her singular composition and penmanship. The price at retail will be $1.50.

Since 1840 the fastest steamships in the Atlantic trade have increased their speed from 8.3 knots per hour to 15.6 knots, and the consumption of fuel per 100 indicated horse power has been reduced from 4.7 hundred weight to 1.9. In 1877 there were 182 steamers of 556,650 tons in the service, of which 125, of 377,095 tons were English. The record of rapid passages since 1840 shows a gradual reduction from 14 to 7 days, and during the same time 56 steamers have been lost with 5,430 lives.

Daniel Fiske, aged eighty years, fell from a beam in his barn at Dublin on Friday and was killed.

Political.

Gen. Butler delivered an address in the city hall at Biddeford, Friday evening, to an audience as large as could get into the place. Edward H. Gove of Biddeford, the greenback candidate for Congress from the first Maine district, presided. Gen. Butler's speech was denunciatory of both the old political parties. He proclaimed the paper-money policy as an old democratic doctrine, and demanded the payment of the national debt in irredeemable shinplasters. The general also confessed as follows: "I love the laboring man, the prince of the earth."

There is not the slightest use of holding Congressional elections this fall. The Boston Post says: "The democrats are certain of the two houses and are no less certain of electing their president in 1880." The Post would give a little something to be able to feel as confident as it talks.

The Huntsville (Ala.) Democrat thus addresses Jeff. Davis in regard to his recent secession speech: "Your appreciative countrymen will always be glad to hear your words of wisdom and truth, however much your and their enemies may bellow and paw the earth, like bulls at a baiting."

The result of the South Carolina Republican Convention tells a serious story. In view of the past bloody experience, it was deemed expedient to hold the convention in secret, and all its discussions were not reported, but this article from its platform is sufficiently clear to be understood by all: "We deem it inexpedient to nominate candidates for governor and other State officers, because, owing to the condition of affairs in this State, occasioned by the rifle-club rule and two years of democratic supremacy, it is impossible for republican voters in many counties, without incurring great personal danger, to organize for the campaign or to vote at the election when held." Yet South Carolina is a State which nobody doubts at a fair election would give a large republican majority.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

The New Hampshire lodge of Odd Fellows have voted to remove to Pythian Hall, and will hold their first meeting there Wednesday, 21st inst.

The third of the series of games between the Farragut and Rockingham base ball clubs will be played at Rye beach the last of the week instead of to-day as reported.

The banks in this city will be closed from half-past ten o'clock A. M. to three P. M., to-day, in respect to the memory of the late William H. Y. Hackett, whose funeral services will be held at eleven o'clock A. M.

It is not a circus now—it is an "equescurriculum." W. C. Coup's is on the way here, to exhibit early in September. It has trained horses and other animals, devil fish, a flying machine and hosts of other features.

Miller's Weekly speaks of fourteen carriages attending a funeral and refusing compensation. It is not stated how much the owners of the vehicles charged, though it was quite creditable to the carriages to be so accommodating.

On Saturday a little son of Mr. Henry Spinney, six years old, fell overboard from near Dixon's smoke-house into Puddle dock, and floundered about in the water some little time before he was discovered, when a boat put off and hauled him in. He was about gone when picked up, but by persistent efforts was brought to.

A Boston paper of Thursday says: "It is whispered in democratic circles that at the dinner of the friends of Mr. Speaker Randall at Taft's on Tuesday last, when he was present, the democratic candidate for the Presidency was decided upon. It would be strange if the political horoscope should be realized, for it was in a private parlor of the Rockingham House at Portsmouth, N. H., that a few leading politicians decided that General Frank Pierce should be the coming man."

The Portsmouth Journal says of Miss Miller's oil-portrait of Mr. E. G. Pierce, Sr., that "it is the most life-like and speaking likeness we ever saw, and in finish is au fait. We learn that it was the recreation work of Miss Mary E. B. Miller, who in her leisure moments has accomplished a piece of work of which she may well feel proud. It is a copy from life in three-quarters size, and so highly pleasing to the family of our venerable citizen that they have secured it."

Mr. Woodard, of the firm of Woodard & White, of Concord, clothing dealers, whose store was twice broken into a few weeks ago, was in this city on Saturday and visited the jail, where he recognized a suit of clothes found in the possession of Haley—of the firm of Ward & Haley, alias Taylor and Toomey, peripatetic burglars—as having been stolen from his store. Sheriff Kent has secured a two-inch chisel and railroad spike used by the thieves in breaking into several stores; the marks on the doors and windows of all the stores they operated upon show that a two-inch chisel was used in every case.

SECRETARY THOMPSON'S VISIT.

Speaking of Secretary of the Navy Thompson's visit to the Northern naval stations, the Philadelphia Times well says: "Having duly announced his coming he appears at a navy yard, and finds it in its best clothes. After lunching with everybody who has time to lunch, he looks around, says that a new door-knob is needed here, a new coat of paint there, and a heavier layer of whitewash on the planks which are rotting yonder; then he goes, leaving the horse marines and others laughing in their sleeves at him." 'T was just so at the Portsmouth station. —Portsmouth Times.

The penchant of some of the democratic newspapers to be funny in their allusions to the head of the Navy Department has become chronic. The custom has come down from the preceding administration and the attempt at wit has a certain stale, bilge-water odor about it that disgusts rather than provokes any one. The late Secretary Robeson was described as the breezy tar with flowing trousers, monkey jacket and tarpaulin hat, giving impossible orders aboard ship, and however much abused or "taken off" he was never disturbed by these attempts at wit. The present Secretary, a gentleman of mature years, is perhaps as close and careful a student of the duties of his position as any Cabinet officer ever seen. He comes from the west, and although possessing from a Congressional experience and a vast fund of information acquired in professional life a general knowledge, had no immediate acquaintance with the capacities of the various navy yards for supplying the needs of the government in efficient vessels of war. So intent was the Secretary upon attaining a perfect familiarity with every department of the navy yard near this city that he declined a dinner, to which Representative Jones invited him, where our townsman intended the Secretary should meet a goodly number of our leading citizens of both political parties, and went nowhere to lunch even, except as far as Dover point at the invitation of the commander of the Tallapoosa. In fact, the Secretary's stay here, as such pronounced democrats as Congressman Jones and Ex-Congressman Reding could inform the editor of the Times did he care for the facts, was devoted to the single purpose of acquiring information needed to properly discharge the duties of his important position. Here the Secretary saw the Lancaster, and learned of the skill of our mechanics and of their reputation for faithful work. Instead of "going round to lunch" he studied the cost of repairs, and as this ship will be needed for sea service ere long, determined to give the order for her repair while here. The assertion as to the results of the Secretary's visit to this naval station is so diametrically opposite to the truth, as every one who knows anything about the matter can testify, that we feel obliged to say as much as we have. For the credit of Portsmouth we cannot permit such a foolishly weak story to pass uncontradicted.

REAL ESTATE CONVEYANCES.

The following transfers of real estate in this vicinity have been recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds:

PORTSMOUTH.

Jeremiah Johnson, of San Francisco, Cal., to Henry Little, of Exeter, land and buildings, $1100.

SANDOWN.

Ezekiel E. Currier, of Hampstead, to Barzilla H. Rand, of Sandown, land, $200.

FRIDAY'S STORM.

The following additional particulars concerning the effects of the tornado at Rye on Friday are given: Ninety-four trees were blown across the road in Brown's Mill lane in the space of one hundred yards. Amos Brown had ten acres of woodland laid flat—only a few trees remained standing. [Large gangs of men were ordered out by the highway surveyors to remove the fallen trees and make the roads passable.] Richard Jenness had two or three hundred heavy timber pines blown down, some of them more than two feet in diameter. A. G. Jenness, Amos P. Brown, Richard Jenness, David Jenness, and one or two others, lose, in the aggregate, probably at least fifteen hundred cords of wood. All up and down the South road the fine shade trees and apple trees, and the huge oaks and pines which had withstood the storms of centuries, were twisted off and torn to pieces, like tender plants in an ordinary gale. The loss will foot up many thousands of dollars, besides the destruction of the many fine trees that beautified the landscape.

Farther inland the storm did great damage. In Mont Vernon the barn of Arthur Trow, with its contents, was destroyed; loss $1000. Much damage was done to crops, trees and glass, in Mont Vernon and Milford. In Manchester the lightning struck a number of buildings; Walter Bond was prostrated in the cloth room of the Amoskeag mills, and Mary Roach on Elm street, but both recovered. In Keene the houses of Sylvester Spaulding, Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Woodward were struck, but the damage was not large. In Nashua the batting mill and Congregational church were struck, and many telegraph posts, but without serious results; the railroad tracks were badly washed. In Exeter the barn and house of George G. Larkin were struck, but only trifling harm was done. In Stratham a barn belonging to Elisha Chase, was struck and burned, with another barn and shed adjoining, twenty-five tons of hay, a horse, five pigs, and farm utensils; no insurance.

THE VICINITY.

A party of one hundred and fifty Dover people went to Old Orchard beach Thursday.

The schooner Alida, of Hyannis, Mass., bound from Tennants' Harbor for Albany with a cargo of granite, sprung a leak off Boon island on Friday and was abandoned in a sinking condition by her crew, who were picked up by the schooner Daniel Pierson, of Darien, Ga., and landed at Portland on Saturday.

A man who has been visiting at York beach from Great Falls informs the Journal of that town that twelve or fifteen cottages at the beach have not been opened this summer.

Orren Smith and Levi L. Brackett have been chosen delegates from Kingston to the republican county convention for Rockingham county. Both are favorable to the nomination of Col. Kent for Sheriff.

A little black-and-tan dog, named "Gip," belonging to a member of the family of Rev. Dr. Spalding of Dover, was recently taken to Biddeford by some of the family in a carriage. The party stayed in Biddeford several days, and when they were ready to return home could not find their dog, and left an advertisement with a Biddeford paper offering a reward for his return. On arriving at Dover they found Gip, worn out and footsore but evidently glad of heart, waiting on the doorstep to welcome them.

A salve peddler and a store-keeper in Saco gave a free circus one evening last week. The salve peddler commenced to sell his wares, using the usual methods of hawkers to collect a crowd. Mr. J. H. Ripley, a store-keeper, objected, and commenced to pound a bass drum, which soon magnified the crowd several times. As often as the hawker commenced to talk Ripley would play a drum solo. Finally some boys began to pelt Mr. Ripley with eggs, one hitting him and another hitting the drum, and several striking the door of his store, in which he was standing. Ripley then got angry and drew a revolver, and for a time serious consequences were threatened, but finally the salve dealer removed from the place.

Clear the Way

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the non-griping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fiber, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

His Occupation Gone.

Had the Arkansas "doctor" that "tapped" the fat man, thinking he had dropsy, lived to day, he would, like Othello, find "his occupation gone," for Allen's Anti-Fat, a purely vegetable remedy, safely, but positively, reduces corpulency at from three to six pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

In our northern latitude where sudden changes of temperature are so common, be sure and keep supplied with Adamson's Balsam. It tempers the climate and wards off consumption. Price 25 cts.

—A much-admired dress in the park, last week, has excited some curiosity as to its construction. I have the permission of the fair owner and designer—an Irish beauty, by the way—to reveal the secret. It was made of thirty-nine silk pocket handkerchiefs (you know the blue-and-white things that stick out of all fashionable breast-pockets just now), and parasol and hat were all en suite. The effect of the "symphony in spots," as a passing Whistlerite called it, was really very pretty.—London paper.

—An English critic seeing the Princess of Wales, says: "Suddenly a thrill seems to go through everybody. Every carriage draws to the side. A policeman in very white gloves trots past. Then comes a little phaeton drawn by two gray horses. A lady 'divinely tall and most divinely fair,' bows and smiles. You see a charming vision of children's faces; the carriages close behind, and it is not till the round has begun again that you are fully aware that you have indeed seen the Princess. She is so truly well dressed that you have not even been able to distinguish the color of her bonnet strings."

—A Willimantic, Conn., miss, wrote the following words: "Wanted; a husband," accompanied by her address, upon a spool in one of the factories in that place. The silk was then wound upon the spool and it was sent among many others to a shoe factory in South Norwalk. Here a Ridgefield gentleman chanced to see it after the silk had been removed, and at once took a fancy to address the maiden. She at once responded, and they corresponded for some time, until she at length disclosed the startling fact that she was already engaged, but would provide him with one as good. She did so, and to all appearances her offices were accepted with a relish, as their names appeared among the list of marriages last week.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

A Strange Whist Match.

An interesting match of 1000 points at whist was completed recently by four gentlemen at Litchfield, Conn., the winning pair making 1003 points to their opponents' 994. The most remarkable feature of the match was the persistent ill-luck of the winners till just at the close. The defeated side had the lead from the very first till their score had reached 990, at which point they were passed for the first time. The total number of games played was 184, the winners making 95 to their opponents' 89. At the 25th game the defeated side was 90 points ahead; at the 100th only 7 points; at the 150th, about 60 points; at 980 they were still about 30 points in advance. It was then that luck turned over to the other side, who passed them at 990 and won the match only nine points ahead. The best hand held contained eight trumps; the highest card in one hand was an eight; in another a nine. Only one "slam"—the entire thirteen tricks—was made during the match.

—"Three years ago I went out of the door not owning the clothes I had on. You all went for me; now, I—n you, I will get even with you," said Peter McGeoch, the great gambler of Milwaukee who successfully engineered the July wheat corner.

— This story was current in Berlin during the Peace Congress: A celebrated opera singer stayed at the Kaiserhoff, and wanted to leave early in the morning. Having packed her things, and being on the point of departure, she suddenly discover that her shoes were lacking. She ran the bell, and the sleepy chamber-maid coming, the singer exclaimed, "Quick, quick, my shoes." The servant went, and returned in a few minutes with a pair of pretty Parisian boots. But when the prima donna attempted to put them on she found they were too small. She now discovered that she had somebody else's shoes—and fancy the consternation of the lady and the shock to her vanity, upon being told that they were the shoes of the Earl of Beaconsfield!

—One day this summer we rode fifty miles in a railway car, seated behind four men, who were playing with those awful playthings of the devil—cards. They played euchre until they were tired of it. They played a little seven-up, pedro, and occasionally a trifle of poker. We never heard a dispute. Their bursts of merriment occasionally at some unexpected play repeatedly drew our eyes from our book. They never quarrelled, and never called names once. When we got out at our station we looked out of our window and watched a party of young men and maidens play croquet. In fifteen minutes we saw two persons cheat successfully. We heard the one party who did not cheat accused of cheating five times. We heard four distinct, bitter quarrels. We heard a beautiful young girl tell two lies, and a meek-looking young man three, and finally we saw one young girl throw her mallet against the fence so hard it frightened a horse, the other young girl pounded her mallet so hard on the ground that it knocked the buds off an apple tree, they both banged into the house at different doors, and the two young men looked sheepish and went off after a drink. Now, why is this? Isn't croquet a good, moral game?—Hawkeye.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and specific medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of these diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the advantages of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thoroughly, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other virulent mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fevers, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Foreboddings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, a Cathartic, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

Daily Chronicle.

What is Heat Lightning?

The flashes of lightning often observed on a summer evening, unaccompanied by thunder, and popularly known as "heat lightning," are merely the light from discharges of electricity from an ordinary thunder cloud, beneath the horizon of the observer, reflected from clouds, or perhaps from the air itself, as in the case of twilight. Mr. Brooks, one of the directors of the telegraph line between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, informs us that on one occasion, to satisfy himself on this point, he asked for information from a distant operator during appearances of flashes of this kind in the distant horizon, and learned that they proceeded from a thunder-storm then raging about two hundred and fifty miles eastward of his place of observation.—Prof. Henry.

Guy's Hospital in London.

The most splendidly endowed hospital in the world, probably, is Guy's. Guy was the son of a Thames lighterman, and became a bookseller, growing well-to-do by contracting with the University of Oxford for the privilege of printing Bibles, for which they had a royal privilege. His fortune was, however, made by buying up the certificates of pay due given to sailors, when the government had no funds at hand wherewith to pay them, in Queen Anne's time, and by lucky speculation in South Sea stock. But for a most trifling cause his money would probably never have gone to charitable purposes. He had determined to marry his maid-servant, and, preparatory to the wedding, ordered the pavement to be mended in front of his door to a point which he marked. The maid, while he was out, observed a broken place in the pavement, which the paver had left untouched, and pointed it out. "Yes, I know," said the man, "but Mr. Guy told me not to go beyond his mark." "Well," said the maid, "mend that place. I'll take the blame, if there be any." Guy, probably taking this as an assumption, was greatly irritated, and broke off the match. Besides erecting the hospital, at a cost of over £18,000, and endowing it with £220,000, he erected almshouses and a library at Tamworth, Staffordshire, (where his mother was born, and for which he was a member of Parliament,) gave £2000 a year to Christ's Hospital, and left £80,000 among those who could prove themselves in any way related to him. His benefactions are the largest ever made in England. He lived to be eighty-one, long enough to see his hospital roofed in. It now has a princely income from his endowment.

—A young lady of Bolton could not decide between two aspirants for her hand, and told them to decide the matter themselves, discarding duelling. They boat-raced, the winner being so exhausted that he could not get out of his boat for some time, but he walked home with his prize, who had been a spectator.

— Some time since a clever Tuscaroran was arrested for cattle-stealing, and hauled up before Judge Flack, at Elko, for trial. The jury acquitted him without leaving the box, and upon his return here a friend inquired as to the result of his trial. "No cause of action," said the gentleman; "I merely killed the ox in self-defence and ate him for spite, and, of course, I was acquitted by the intelligent jury."—Elko (Nev.) Times.

— A Montpelier man went into a store the other day, leaving his horse and buggy hitched outside. The horse being of an inquisitive turn of mind, rubbed his bridle off and attempted to find his master. He went up the steps from the street to the front door and entered the store. The door being narrow the buggy was left outside on the sidewalk with a broken whiffletree. The horse, finding no man in the front store, proceeded to the back room, where he was met by his master, who led him out.

—Some years ago a cobbler, given to drinking, went, after copious libations, to procure more beer in a champagne bottle, and somehow contrived to jam the bottom of the bottle on an iron spike, and break it. He then placed the bottle accidentally upright, but in such a position that flies could creep under the base of it, and next morning discovered that the bottle was full of them, many lying drowned in the residue of the unspilled lager. A little observation enabled him to see that flies always ascend to get out of confinement, and do not seem to have any idea of getting out by a contrary course. He ultimately took out a patent for a glass fly-catcher, and the wire fly-catcher, now so successful, is merely an adaptation of the same principle.

—Springfield, Ill., has been convulsed with laughter over a trick played on the State Gazette, which attempted to establish itself when the State Journal suspended. It had no Associated Press franchise, but daily clipped and reprinted the dispatches of rival sheets, including the headlines. At last it opened negotiations in writing with a Register pressman for one of the earliest copies of that paper, so that the Gazette could get out an hour later with the dispatches cribbed. The Register prepared and inserted a bogus dispatch in its issue, purporting to give an account of a severe storm at Winchester, which, it said, killed the pastor of a German church in his study, and that with his last breath he uttered the words, "Ich habe diese Nachricht gestohlen." The Gazette had its advance copy of the Register duly delivered by its supposed confederate, and stole not only the genuine dispatches, but also published very conspicuously, and with displayed headlines, the bogus telegram. When the public read and translated "Ich habe diese Nachricht gestohlen," meaning "I have stolen this dispatch," the joke was seen.

Portsmouth Chronicle

TUESDAY, AUGUST 13, 1878.

Worth Considering.

John Bull imports more than he exports, Uncle Sam on the other hand exports more than he imports. England, according to a prevalent notion, ought to be getting poorer and we richer. Yet the fact is that though both countries are affected by a general depression of trade, in England since 1873 pauperism has constantly decreased; in this country it has rapidly increased. There are several reasons for this curious and important difference. One of them is that though we export an enormous quantity of agricultural products we sell but a trifling amount of our manufactures abroad. We have no foreign commerce and cannot get rid of our surplus products.

But there is an additional reason, which is brought out incidentally by an English writer, Professor Fawcett, in an inquiry into the cause of the commercial depression which troubles all the world. He remarks that though England imports much more than she exports she does all her own carrying trade and almost all that of the United States and many smaller countries, and thus earns a vast amount of money yearly, even upon the products we send her. He remarks that in 1876 the United States exported agricultural products to the value of four hundred and sixty-five million dollars, but that England, doing the most of our carrying trade, earned the freight money on almost all this vast sum. Thus, he says, for the quarter of wheat which is imported into Liverpool from New York, and which is entered as worth forty-six shillings, England has to pay the United States only forty shillings; the remaining six shillings is received by the English shipowner and importer. Before 1869 between seventy-five and eighty per cent of our commerce was carried in American ships; in 1876 less than thirty per cent was so carried; the great remainder was borne in foreign bottoms, and the freight was earned by foreigners.

Here is an important leak, the stoppage of which would add materially to our prosperity; and very many persons believe that it will be stopped as soon as Congress allows Americans to buy ships where they can buy them the cheapest. They argue as follows: "Englishmen are allowed to buy ships wherever they wish. Why should not Americans enjoy the same rights? Why should we continue to lose the great sum which England earns by doing our carrying trade? Let Congress give us free ships and stop an exhausting drain on our resources, which costs us probably not less than fifty millions of dollars a year; for when American citizens can procure ships as cheaply as British subjects can, American goods will again be carried principally in American bottoms." The question of free registration is a difficult one to settle so as to please everybody, but this view of it is well worthy consideration.

The Storm.

Caleb Maynard's house and barn, at Northfield, were struck by lightning on Friday morning, and everything but his stock burned. Loss $3000; insurance, $1600.

John Spinney, a seaman, who was on board the schooner Maud Muller when that vessel was struck by lightning at Gloucester, Mass., during the great storm of Friday last, died of his injuries next day.

At Wallingford, Conn., the tornado seems from the statements of eyewitnesses to have been something like a waterspout. Two storm clouds were seen to meet over the pond in the Wallingford Community's district, creating a furious whirlwind which sucked up the water of the pond, and then advanced through the town with a rotary motion, destroying about everything in its track. One boy was blown a long distance and literally beheaded; one woman had her hand torn off, and another her foot. A Mr. Murray, who was in an addition to his house not yet closed in when the storm struck, was found buried up to his neck in sand which had blown in. J. Holdie's wife, daughter and baby boy were killed in the wreck of his house, and Mr. Holdie carried two hundred feet and dropped almost uninjured. A barn was carried away, and the hay it contained left on the mows. One house was broken in two and one half carried away, the other half, in which the family fortunately happened to be, not being much damaged. One frail wooden building directly in the path of the tornado was unhurt. The dead body of a Mrs. Downes was carried six hundred feet. Twenty-seven of the dead were buried on Sunday. The pecuniary loss is estimated at from $200,000 to $250,000.

The Yellow Fever.

By a circular from the office of the Surgeon-General at Washington we learn that up to Saturday noon there had been thirteen cases of yellow fever at Port Eads at the mouth of the Mississippi, but no deaths. At New Orleans, up to the same date, 431 cases and 118 deaths, there having been 236 new cases and 65 deaths the previous week. At Key West, no new cases were reported during the week. There have been two cases of the fever, one fatal, at Cincinnati, and one fatal case at Memphis, all being of persons from New Orleans. In Havana there were 239 deaths from yellow fever and 21 from small-pox during two weeks ending Aug. 3d. In Matanzas the fever had got among the shipping; in Cardenas it was in the town but had not reached the bay.

News and Notes.

We find the following news item going the rounds. "The Canadian authorities have issued orders forbidding revenue marine steamers of that country from succoring American vessels when in distress in Canadian waters. This action on the part of the British government will be investigated by the treasury department." We do not believe any such order was ever issued by any government.

A gold watch formerly owned by President Andrew Jackson has been found in a pawnbroker's shop in Boston. On the back of the inside case is the inscription: "Andrew Jackson, Hermitage, 1826."

The act passed at the last session of Congress giving a pension to any soldier, or the widow of one, who served fourteen days in the war of 1812, has caused such a rush of claims into the Pension Bureau at Washington (over 23,000, in the proportion of five widows to one veteran) that thirty-five clerks and copyists have been added to the force, and many clerks are working nights to keep up with the regular business. The surgeon-general's office, also, which was nearly two years behind with its work a few months ago, has gained a year already with additional help, and expects to be entirely up with it in six months.

Since the opening of the United States Court at Greenville, S. C., 267 cases had been disposed of up to Saturday last. Verdicts in eighty cases have been obtained from juries, and in the remainder the defendants pleaded guilty under the suspension of judgment rule. A number marched in Saturday from the mountains and a hundred or more were expected in on Monday.

The Boston police have captured a gang of burglars and sneak thieves that have been operating extensively in that vicinity.

The trial of Peter McManus, for the murder of Frederick Hessen, a coroner of Northumberland county, Pa., opened on Saturday. Hessen was murdered by Molly Maguires on the night of the 18th of December, 1872. McManus was bodymaster of the Mollies when the murder took place, and he acknowledged to Dennis F. Canning, county delegate, that he was connected with the murder, and that he was sorry for it.

Holyoke, Mass., boasts a romantic marriage last week, a girl in the Union paper mill having been wedded to a young man from abroad, with whom she had corresponded, but whom she had never seen 'till twenty-four hours before the ceremony.

Budd Evans and William Fretwell had a fight at Austin, Miss., Saturday, and each killed his antagonist.

A Paris special says Lewis Baker, who shot Bill Poole in New York in 1855, died there last week. He had lived there since 1856 under the name of Jackson.

The "Junction House" at White River Junction, Vt., was burned Saturday morning. Loss over $50,000. Fire engines from Hanover and Lebanon, N. H., arrived about an hour after the fire broke out, and did great service, saving the hotel stables and neighboring buildings.

George Seyfang, Charles John and John A. Nuhn were arrested near Lancaster, N. Y., on Sunday, by Constable Besser and John Snyder, for shooting at a mark in violation of the Sunday law. On the way to Lancaster in a buggy the shot-gun went off and injured Besser and Snyder, probably mortally. It is alleged that Seyfang fired the gun. He claims it was accidental.

John Ten Eyck, the negro convicted of the murder of Mr. and Mrs. David Stillman of Sheffield, Mass., is to be hung on Friday of this week. The scaffold for his execution is already prepared.

In the recent battles between the Austrian army of occupation in Boshia, and the Bosnian insurgents, 500 of the latter were killed and 700 taken prisoners. The insurgents number 100,000.

David Bailey has been postmaster of Cambridge for a little more than fifty consecutive years. Probably this is the longest official life known in the United States. Mr. Bailey was appointed during Jackson's administration.

An English court has decided that if a person is sent by his employer to get a check cashed, and spends or pockets the proceeds, he is not guilty of theft. The only thing that can be done is to bring a civil suit for the recovery of the money, which may be beyond recovery. The argument is that the check is not stolen, as it is placed in the hands of the person aforesaid by the owner for a purpose, and the money is not stolen, as it was not in the possession of the owner. This was laid down as law.

On Saturday, Aug. 3d, at Buffalo, N. Y., the noted trotting horse Rarus went a mile in 2:13 1-2, and it was so entered on the record. This is the quickest time ever made, but it is now disputed, not on the ground that the horse did not make it but that it was done on a fourth trial, whereas three only are permitted by the National Trotting Association, and that this remarkable time being made in an extra heat it does not constitute a record.

There was another heavy storm at Washington, D. C., on Saturday. St. Ann's Orphan Asylum was unroofed and many houses injured. Many trees were broken off or uprooted, and much damage was done by the excessive rain.

New Hampshire Items.

Mrs. M. M. Ladd and daughters, of Boston, guests of the Hon. William E. Tutherly, of Claremont, started for Concord Thursday morning. At the station, the horse kicked through the dasher, breaking the leg of one daughter just below the knee.

Mr. Andrew Gault, of Bow, while working on a high beam in the barn on Wednesday, made a misstep and fell to the floor beneath, striking on the top of his head. He was picked up insensible, and has since died.

—Charles Reed is the successor of Morrissey at the Saratoga Club House. He is described as "a well-knit muscular man, about five feet ten, strongly marked swarthy features, quiet demeanor, warm hospitality, and ready to take the chances without flinching."

THE CITY.

The new city government will organize to-day.

See notice of front room to let furnished or unfurnished, near Rockingham house.

Col. Jerome C. Butler commences his popular excursions to the Shoals in the steamer Appledore next week, and will have two a week until the close of the season.

Mr. Ira A. Paine, the wonderful marksman, will give an exhibition of glass-ball shooting with the shot-gun, rifle and pistol, at the Trotting Park on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

Sheriff Kent went to Newburyport on Monday and secured $153 worth of railroad tickets stolen from the Salisbury Mills depot of the Eastern railroad, Dec. 15th, 1877, by Ward and Haley, now in jail here awaiting trial.

Mr. William Pryor having discontinued his street carriage on account of the death of one of his horses, the business will be continued by Mr. Edward H. Balch, whose "hourly" appeared on the streets on Saturday for the first time.

The Portsmouth Weekly says the man who pays no interest is always in clover. Possibly a man may let his payments of interest go and feel as if he were in clover, but we think it more honorable to pay interest as it becomes due, and not repudiate.

A handsome silver water-pitcher was on Monday evening presented to the efficient and ever-courteous City Clerk, Hon. Marcellus Bufford, by Hon. John H. Broughton. The pitcher is inscribed, "Presented to Hon. Marcellus Bufford, City Clerk, 1878, by Mayor Broughton.

Supplies for the new signal station in this city have been forwarded from Washington. The station is assigned to Section Seven, and will be under the supervision of the Sergeant at Portland, Maine. "Sergeant" J. Dwight Rundlett will be signal officer here, with George E. Nutter as electrician. The weather reports will reach here at 11:27 P. M.—Times.

"Fighting Joe Hooker" was at the Rockingham house on Monday. He has been taking a trip among the mountains—not for the first time, unless the rebellion records are sadly at fault. He probably found it safer, if less exciting, to be "above the clouds" on Mount Washington than on Lookout mountain.

The funeral services of Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett were held at the Unitarian church on Monday forenoon at eleven o'clock, and were largely attended by members of the Rockingham Bar, and prominent men of this and other cities. Rev. James DeNormandie officiated, the services being simple and impressive. Ichabod Goodwin, William L. Dwight, John Stavers and Edward P. Kimball were the pallbearers.

On Saturday parties were trying to raise the fishing boat of David Burke, which was sunk on Friday by being struck by lightning. She went down in five fathoms of water, about three miles to the eastward of Whale's-back light, and not near Boon island, as at first reported. They succeeded in getting her foresail, and left her buoyed off so that she could be easily found on Sunday. On Sunday they again went to work at her, and succeeded in raising her and bringing her in; but she is a hard looking wreck. The lightning had split her open forward, and her thwarts and rails were torn out by the grapplings used in raising her. The boat that rescued Burke and Hutchings when their craft went down, had her bowsprit carried away by getting entangled in the sinking boat's rigging. The rescuing boat is owned by George Adams, and was manned by him and William Snow at the time.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Aug. 12; Batchelder, J.

Fred Stone was brought up on a charge of stealing a two-foot rule from James H. Perkins of Rye. He acknowledged taking the rule, but claimed that Mr. Perkins owed him a dollar and he took the rule to get square; but it being shown that he had said nothing about the dollar owed him until after the stolen rule was found in his trunk, the magistrate took no stock in the story, and sentenced him to jail for twenty days and to pay costs, $9.05.

THE U. S. S. SPEEDWELL.

The following we take from the Boston Traveller of Saturday:

It has been asserted that the United States steamer Speedwell, Capt. Beardslee commanding, put into Portsmouth for repairs. This is a mistake. She was not disabled in any way, and was apparently as capable of service as when first put in commission. She was ordered to Portsmouth at the suggestion of Capt. Beardslee for important alterations. The facts in the case are these: The Speedwell was built about ten years ago, and about that time, on a trial trip, was pronounced a failure in the important point of speed. When Capt. Beardslee took command of her, he made a thorough investigation of her boiler and machinery, and discovered gross mistakes in their construction. Being a competent engineer, he at once began the preparation of plans for her alteration and improvement. These he perfected in time for submission to Mr. Secretary Thompson, at Gloucester, when he was on his late trip of inspection to the navy yards and stations. The Secretary approved these plans, and gave immediate orders to take the Speedwell into Portsmouth for alterations specified by Capt. Beardslee. She will be ready for use next Wednesday, when the United States Commissioners will begin again their work of investigating the mysteries of the "great deep."

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Aug. 11th.

The furious tornado and thunder storm of last Friday is still almost the sole topic of talk and attention here. The track of the tornado is about three miles long by half a mile wide, and within that space the scene is one of utter wreck. It started on its work of destruction near the North Hampton line at the Four Corners, and followed the road at the south end, finally passing off to sea. Its roar was apalling, and evidently frightened the cattle, horses, dogs and birds as much as it did the human beings who heard it approaching. Joseph J. Jenness, on the South road, had thirty apple trees and two acres of heavy timber trees overthrown. Uri. H. Jenness had fifty apple trees and a large woodlot levelled. Alfred G. Jenness had nearly all his trees blown down, and about forty panes of glass in his house broken. George White had a lot of glass broken. Benjamin Batchelder had but one solitary apple tree left standing in his orchard; and a tall clump of pines owned by Lowell Jenness were all prostrated. David Jenness' fine orchard was nearly ruined, and his large woodlot much damaged. David Philbrick lost a number of fine fruit trees. Richard Jenness' woodlot was thrown down, and he was unable to get his horse out of the pasture owing to the fallen trees. The "Sawmill road" near L. T. Sanborn's was badly blocked, and "Love-lane road" was even worse, both being wholly impassable. Abram Perkins and Amos Brown had large woodlots overthrown. Both foot-bridges leading to the bathing beach were destroyed, and the rails of the road bridge were blown to pieces. Chimneys, fences and stone walls were demolished. The squall did not last long—probably not more than two minutes; it was very dark during its continuance. A young man named Frank Sleeper was rowing a dory loaded with rockweed from the ledge to the landing near the fish houses when he heard the roar of the approaching wind; he just managed to reach the beach and jump out of his boat when the squall reached him, threw the dory over on the rocks and smashed her into fragments. The heavy hail which accompanied the tornado made sad havoc with the crops and glass windows. Altogether it was the most disastrous storm that ever visited this town, brief as it was; and it is little less than miraculous that no lives were lost.

A game of base ball was played here last Monday between the Rising Sun club and the Rye Beach nine, the former winning by a score of fifteen to ten.

A hop came off at the Sea View on Wednesday evening, which was attended by a large and fashionable company.

A union meeting was held at Mr. Amos Brown's on Thursday evening, a large number being present. It was intended to hold the exercises in the garden, but owing to a shower the meeting was held in the barn. Rev. Ira. S. Jones, paster of the Christian church, conducted the services, which began with the singing of a hymn by a select choir, with organ accompaniment by Mrs. C. O. Philbrick. Prayer was offered by Rev. Charles A. Dickey of Philadelphia who is stopping at the beach, and after another hymn by the choir Rev. Mr. Farnham of Boston gave an address, and was followed by Rev. Willis E. Hadley, pastor of the Congregational church of this town, and Rev. Mr. Dickey, the meeting closing with the singing of the doxology by the congregation, and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Jones.

A private theatrical exhibition was given at the Farragut house on Saturday evening, and a large audience was present and much pleased with the entertainment. At the close of the performance there was a hop, Harlow's orchestra, of Portsmouth, furnishing the music.

Rev. Charles A. Dickey of Philadelphia preached at the Christian church on Sunday to a large congregation, making especial allusion to the recent terrible tornado.

The hotels at the beach are now well filled with guests, and many of the private boarding houses are full. Gas lights have been placed in the walks about the Farragut house.

A man, a native of this town, who recently died and was buried by his relatives, was once the owner of a good property, which he squandered through intemperance and died penniless.

SCRIBE.

THE VICINITY.

Steamer Empire State, with over one thousand excursionists, made a trip from Boston to the Shoals on Sunday.

A Kittery nine played a game of base ball on Saturday at Newcastle with a nine of the latter town. The Newcastle boys won by a score of forty-two to fourteen.

An eight-years-old son of John O. Foss, of Rye, was kicked by a horse, Saturday night, and severely injured about the head. His jaw was broken and several teeth knocked out, and some bad flesh wounds were inflicted.

The Times says: "A valuable stallion belonging to Mr. G. Wallace Pickering of Newington, while pasturing a few days ago, attempted to drink from a deep pit, and falling in was unable to extricate himself, and died there from his injuries."

There was a large gathering at Kennebunkport one day last week to witness the swell wedding of the season, being the marriage of President Robbins of Waterville University to Miss Nott of New Haven. Friends from Connecticut and Massachusetts were in attendance, and a sumptuous wedding feast had been prepared. The officiating clergyman was about to tie the knot when the bridegroom discovered that he had failed to comply with the law of the State, in that he had not filed his intention of marriage with the town clerk. There was no way out of the difficulty but by postponing the wedding, which was done. The wedding feast was eaten all the same, and the next day the couple went to Massachusetts, where they could be married without a delay of five days, which would have been necessary had they remained in Maine.

A correspondent at York Corner, Me., writes us an account of the performances of a resident on "Long Hill," who, as is alleged, envious of the thrifty condition of a row of young willows recently set out by a neighbor, one evening "after faithfully performing his duty in the prayer-meeting" dug up the aforesaid trees, "liberally watered the ground at their roots with old pork pickle and then carefully replaced them. The result of his work was soon apparent, for in a few days the willows presented a parched and dried appearance, as if they had been burned. It was probably the intention of the 'gentleman' that the trees should die slowly, and the cause should be considered to be the hot weather. But the common sense of the owner, and his olfactory organs, led him at once to the right conclusion in regard to the destruction of his trees." How our correspondent discovered that this was "the right conclusion" in the matter is not stated; and owing to this omission we decline to avail ourselves of our correspondent's permission to "insert in full the whole name" of the alleged pickle dealer, even though he did add to the heinousness of his conduct by previously "faithfully performing his duty in the prayer-meeting."

Fortune of the Republic.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's lecture at the Old South in March is put in neat covers by the Riverside Press, and is found among the recent publications of the extensive publishing house of Houghton, Osgood & Co. of Boston. Some persons make a point to read everything of Emerson's that is published. Others attain to the mastery of but few of his subjects; but here is a book of forty pages full of wisdom and enjoyable by every one who appreciates the thoughts of one of the most brilliant minds of our day. Our booksellers have it.

Had the Arkansas "doctor" that "tapped" the fat man, thinking he had dropsy, lived to-day, he would, like Othello, find "his occupation gone," for Allen's Anti-Fat, a purely vegetable remedy, safely, but positively, reduces corpulency at from three to six pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the non-griping, easily acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fiber, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

More Quickened Conscience.

A fair to medium Detroiter went home to supper the other night to find that his wife had entered the house only a moment before him, and he naturally inquired where she had been.

"Richard," she answered, in a very sober way "I have been to consult a fortune teller!"

"What!" he exclaimed, turning pale in an instant, and staggering back against the wall.

"Yes, I have been to consult a fortune teller," she went on, as the tears came to her eyes.

"Bosh! madam. Fortune-tellers are humbugs—swindlers—liars!"

"Richard, this fortune-teller told me—"

"I won't hear it—I want none of their nonsense!" he interrupted.

"Richard, it concerns you!"

"I don't care! I want my supper—I have no time for foolishness!"

"Richard, she says that you are—"

"I tell you I won't hear any of her balderdash! She lied about me of course, and I'll make her take it back or go to prison!"

"Richard, dear, won't you let me say that she said you were gradually killing yourself by too close attention to business?"

"Did she say that?"

"Why, of course she did!"

"Lizzie, forgive my harsh words. I see that they tell the truth and the truth only. After supper I'll get a carriage, and we'll ride out, and while we are down town you'd better get that new bonnet you spoke of!"—Detroit Free Press.

—Some old sportsmen are rather incredulous of Dr. Carver's wonderful feats with the rifle. They claim that his bullets are hollow and filled with quicksilver. On being fired, the bullet bursts and the quicksilver scatters like small shot, and any one of the globules hitting the glass ball would shatter it.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No one of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blotched Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

BLUE ARMY BLOUSES.

WE have just received a few more of those BLUE ARMY BLOUSES, which have been in such demand for the last twelve months.

C. E. MYERS & CO., No. 3 BOW STREET.

Daily Chronicle.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 12th.

Three years ago Quartermaster General Meigs refused to pass a claim filed by the Richmond & Danville railroad for the transportation of troops over it at the rate of 6 1-2 cents per mile; he however recommended it be paid two cents per mile, the Government rate paid to all other roads. Subsequently Gen. Ingalls was temporarily acting Quartermaster-General while Meigs was in Europe, and the claim was then renewed so far as to demand the difference between the rate asked and that allowed—in other words for 4 1-2 cents per mile additional for every soldier carried over it. Ingalls passed it to Belknap, who approved it shortly before he went out in disgrace. Secretary of War Cameron promptly rejected it and was threatened by the attorneys of the company with a mandamus to compel him to reverse his action. Their success at bulldozing him was very indifferent, and they went to the 2d Comptroller. He referred them to the Solicitor of the Treasury, who recommended payment. Secretary Sherman overruled this and refused to pay. Then the attorneys went to the democratic economists and reformers of the House, and found them ready for just that kind of a job. The appropriation committee, with all the papers before it, recommended a special appropriation to pay this claim of 4 1-2 cents per mile more than was allowed by government for similar service to any road in the country. Of course the sympathies of democratic reformers were excited by the Confederate antecedents of members of the company—perhaps by other considerations also—and they ratified the recommendation of Mr. Atkins' committee. Representatives of the party now filling the land from Maine to California, and from the northern lakes to the Rio Grande with its dolorous howls for "reform and economy," deliberately swung the doors of the Treasury wide open and invited the thieves to go in and help themselves. It is roughly estimated that $50,000,000 will not suffice to satisfy the claims that may be urged under this precedent. Other southern roads are already at work preparing to file their claims.

Late import statistics go to confirm the belief obtaining among many intelligent observers that the day of our dependence on foreign manufacturers whose products in years past kept up such a constant drain on American gold has forever passed by. We give a few figures to prove this, as follows: The value of all cloths and cassimeres imported during the three months ending June 30th was $2,076,530; of blankets, $400; of carpets, $124,245; of hosiery, shirts and drawers, $40,402; of wine, $783,265; of cutlery, $358,668; of files, $63,289; of saws and other tools, $1,055; of iron and steel rails, $102,273. The showing of the latter is especially beggarly as contrasted with the quantities we imported a few years ago. The statement is also made that much of the wine, champagne, etc., consumed in this country at the present day under the impression that it is the product of French and German vineyards, comes to us from California, which annually produces above 8,000,000 gallons for home consumption, besides large and increasing quantities exported to England and continental Europe.

Enough is being done in a political way to insure us against stagnation. The Republican National Committee has been organized and engaged in the preliminary work of the campaign for over a month. Its antagonist has manifested a disinclination for work, and is still "preparing" in a half-hearted, apathetic way. Congressman Foster reiterates here the sentiments of his Ohio speech relative to the "southern policy," touching, incidentally, upon other matters. The inference to be drawn from what he said relative to the former is, that considering the cost to the republican party the "policy" shows fruits only of a negative kind, wholly unsatisfactory; and that while the President's honesty is still conceded, his course relative to the south and official appointments has left him comparatively friendless in Ohio.

South Carolina Ku-Klux butchers are bidden to come out of their hiding-places by their Governor, who assures them there is nothing to fear. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue also instructs subordinates in that sink-hole of treason, nullification and illicit whiskey, that all those heretofore engaged in the manufacture of the latter are to be forgiven on their promise to desist and help mould a sentiment in favor of legal whiskey. This seems to have been done to conciliate the Charleston News and Courier, angry at the bare possibility of their being punished like other criminals who have defied the law and made the murder of political opponents and United States officials a pastime. Meanwhile the revenue officials who killed one of this kidney in self defence remain in prison. The banditti seem to have conquered. KNOX.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1878.

Reformers Helping Themselves.

While the republicans ruled in the south, the democrats, north and south, never wearied of talking about republican corruption and "carpet-bag" thieves. Undoubtedly there were some mighty big scoundrels in the republican party of the south; but they were all long ago voted out of office by the shot-gun and the halter, and the simon-pure native-born chivalry have had things all their own way—and yet the stories of corruption and official stealing by wholesale at the south do not cease. The State treasurers of Georgia and Arkansas—both good democratic treasurers of democratic States—are each troubled by "discrepancies" of $250,000 in their accounts; and now a deficit is reported in the treasury of the democratic State of Missouri, amounting to over half a million dollars. In addition, the State has lost large amounts by the failure of the National Bank of the State of Missouri, and the Martin Bank, in both which the treasurer had made large deposits. The amounts are alleged to have been stolen by a ring which has controlled the State treasury, and that the only resource which the State has is the treasurer's bond, which is practically worthless, and about $400,000 in bonds of the Kansas City Water Works, a private corporation. The treasurer has, during his whole term of office, carried among his assets a worthless check on the Martin Bank for $296,000, which was accepted by the legislative examining committee as cash. The July interest on the State bonds has not been paid. All the Missouri officials are democrats, and enthusiastically devoted to Reform—with a big R.

A despatch from St. Louis, Tuesday, says the deficits in the State treasury of Missouri aggregate a full million dollars. Great is democratic Reform!

News and Notes.

The Orange Young Britons and the Union men of Ottawa, Canada, had a riot Monday night, in which a dozen persons or more were shot, stabbed or badly beaten. Several will die. Three Orangemen and three Union men were arrested.

At a family fight in Edgefield, S. C., Monday night, Brooker Ioney was killed, having six bullets fired into him, and Mark Ioney fatally wounded; W. L. Coleman, a friend of the Ioneys, badly wounded; James and Thomas Booth instantly killed; and Benj. Booth mortally wounded. Five others, lookers on, were wounded. All were of a low class of whites. Wade Hampton was addressing a political meeting near by and ordered a militia company to the scene, but they arrived too late to check the fight.

Capt. Jacob P. Holm, a wealthy and respected retired shipmaster of Boston, has been put into an insane asylum by his wife and son. It is alleged that he is perfectly sane, and that the wife and son only desire to get his property away from him.

The New York Times' Washington dispatch says that Ex-Secretary Bristow has been given charge of the government's interests in the trial of four revenue officers in South Carolina, and he has accepted the charge. The trial will begin early in September before Chief Justice Waite, with Judges Bond and Ryan on the bench with him.

The inviting shape in which Messrs. Houghton, Osgood & Co. have issued Charles Dudley Warner's "In the Wilderness" causes us not only to take the book as a chance acquaintance we have made in the Atlantic, but to afford ourselves the pleasure of going through it with renewed delight. We confess we were once just a bit skeptical in regard to the bear story, but the endorsement of our friend Houghton's name on the book makes our faith expand to the requisite capacity for crediting all the statements of the author. Mr. Dudley's charming manner of narration and his characteristic humor pervade every line in the book, and for relief in dog-days or a cheerful enjoyment as the more sombre season of the year sets in, there can be found nothing better at the book stores.

There is great excitement along the southern coast and the Mississippi valley, caused by the rapid spread of the yellow fever plague. Business and travel are greatly impeded by the measures adopted to check the progress of the dread disease. Many new cases are reported at various places.

A Russian torpedo cutter exploded, Monday, in the harbor of Nicolaieff, killing thirty-four persons.

The troubles at the shops of the Milwaukee and St. Paul railway have assumed a serious character, and nearly 400 men are locked out in consequence of a threatened strike. There has not been any disturbance, and it is hoped that the difficulties may soon be arranged to the satisfaction of all concerned.

A despatch from Halifax, N. S., states that a letter received there announces that Chick's excursion schooner from Boston went ashore July 27th on Isle Bois, Strait of Belle Isle, and is a total wreck. No lives were lost. The schooner left Boston some two months ago for a round trip to the northern shores of Labrador, and had on board some forty excursionists from Boston and vicinity.

A receipt taken up by the tornado at Wallingford, Conn., was found next morning in Pascodale, R. I., sixty-five miles distant.

Mrs. Burnett's new novel, "Haworth's," which is to begin as a serial in the November Scribner, is to be more fully illustrated than is the custom of that magazine. It is to be published in England contemporaneously, as the leading serial of "Macmillan's."

C. P. Cranch—equally well known as poet and artist—will contribute a humorous poem, illustrated by himself, to the forthcoming September number of St. Nicholas. Celia Thaxter will have a poem in the same number.

New Hampshire Items.

Martin Dickey, of Plymouth, who murdered young Eastman last June and escaped from an officer who had him in charge, was arrested at Port Henry, N. Y., Tuesday morning, by Sheriff M. H. Brown of Plymouth.

Hon. John G. Sinclair brands the reports concerning his financial irregularities as false in every partiular.

The money drawer in the ticket office of the Lancaster depot was robbed of about $30 Saturday night, and C. W. Booma is under arrest upon suspicion of being the thief.

A laborer on the Manchester & Keene Railroad, whose name is unknown, was killed at Harrisville on Friday, by a number of rocks falling upon him. His head was completely crushed.

Several attempts to throw trains off the track of the Ashuelot railroad have been chronicled within a few months. John E. Pelkey of Swanzey, ten years old, was arrested Monday and arraigned before the police court at Keene, and committed to jail to await the fall term of the Supreme Court. He owns up to putting all the obstructions on the track. The only reason that he gives is that he heard his uncle once telling something about cars tipping over by putting something on the track. As soon as possible it will be arranged to send him to the Reform School.

The Manchester & Keene Railroad commences running regular passenger trains from Greenfield to Hancock this week.

Erskine S. Messenger of Stoddard, late tax collector, has been put under $1500 bonds for his appearance in court, charged with embezzlement.

During the violent storm on last Friday a pair of valuable oxen were killed by the lightning in Temple, belonging to M. H. Fisk. Much damage was done in that vicinity.

Naval Affairs.

Chief Engineer Richard W. Bartleman is ordered to the Lackawanna, at the Mare Island navy-yard, 27th instant.

Passed Assistant Engineer A. B. Bates is detached from the Mare Island navy-yard and ordered to the Lackawanna.

The Wyoming, bound from Havre for Washington, has been spoken at sea, short of coal. She has plenty of canvas to get along with.

The Naval Register, just issued, shows the total number of officers in all branches of the navy and marine corps, active and retired, at 2067.

Political.

Acklen, the Louisiana Congressman who showed his "chivalry" in the little affair in a Washington eating-house, in which a young widow and the ex-confederate Gen. Rosser were mixed up, has been renominated by acclamation.

"One Congress cannot bind another," is the significant declaration of the Washington Tilden organ.

General Ben. Butler "came not to make a speech" in Maine the other day, and then went on to make the most acceptable oratorical effort of his life. He declared that he had left the old parties. While we felicitate ourselves, as republicans, we stoop on this august occasion to congratulate the democracy. They have had a narrow escape.

The Boston Pilot condemns Kearney's "filthy adjectives, riotous allusions, absurd advice and brass-kettle oratory," and warns him that if he wishes to aid the laboring men it will be necessary for him "to study the real wrongs of workingmen and propose remedies; to abandon abuse and adopt argument; to admit that it is not a crime to grow rich by honest means; to make friends for the workingmen, not enemies; to say something practical every time you speak, and not to speak till you have the useful word ready; to say nothing about Gen. Butler, but a great deal about the reasons why workingmen should vote for him; in a word, to be a leader by prudence, foresight and common-sense." That is asking more of Kearney than Kearney is able to comply with.

Bradford Herring, an ex-union soldier and influential colored politician of Jefferson county, Miss., left his party and joined the democrats in 1876, and was exhibited throughout the county as a "cultured colored democrat." Recently he made a speech to the colored republicans in which he stated that "his associations with the democracy had fully convinced him that that party was the enemy of the political welfare of the colored people, and advised them to remain steadfast in their affiliations with the republican party and place no reliance in the fair pledges and promises of the democracy." The consequence was that Herring immediately degenerated from a "cultured colored democrat" to a "d—d radical nigger," and was recently shot and disabled while on his way to a blacksmith shop, and then hung by the neck to a limb, and his dead body left for the crows and buzzards.

Among those who have done good service in discussing the financial question stands conspicuously Hon. Henry W. Blair, of New Hampshire. He made an admirable speech during the late session of Congress, which the National Republican Committee have printed in two forms—one being unabridged and the other giving the chief points for those who have not time to study the question thoroughly. It makes an admirable campaign document, and reminds us to regret that Mr. Blair will not consent to return to Congress again.—Traveller.

THE CITY.

It is reported that George E. Hodgdon, Esq., of this city, will offer himself to the greenback State convention as at candidate for Member of Congress from this district.

Mr. Ira W. Paine, who is undoubtedly one of the greatest marksmen in the world, with the shot gun, rifle and pistol, will give an exhibition of glass-ball shooting, etc., at the Trotting Park this afternoon, commencing at three o'clock. Teams will run from Market square; fare 25 cents for the round trip. There is nothing objectionable in these exhibitions, as there is in pigeon-shooting matches, and the most humane ladies and gentlemen can fully enjoy the remarkable skill displayed. Tickets, admitting gentleman with ladies, 50 cents.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Aug. 13; Batchelder, J.

Thomas Philbrook, a young man who behaves well enough when sober, but who is a hopeless slave to strong drink, judging from the number of times he has figured in the police court for drunkenness, was up on the usual complaint. He was ordered to Brentwood for thirty days, and to pay costs taxed at $6.90.

Samuel George, for drunkenness, was sent to the County Farm to work out $9.90, fine and costs.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

The new City Government organized at ten o'clock Tuesday forenoon, at the Court House.

The councilmen elect chose Arthur F. Pfeiffer temporary chairman, and on the second ballot elected the same gentleman President, the vote standing: Josiah F. Adams, one; Arthur Walker, six; Arthur F. Pfeiffer, ten.

On motion of Mr. Walker the election of Mr. Pfeiffer was made unanimous.

In convention of both boards, Mayor Brougton administered the oath of office to Mayor-elect Sise. Mayor Sise then swore in the aldermen and councilmen, and a ballot was had for City Clerk, resulting as follows: Alonzo F. Craig, one; Marcellus Bufford, one; Olive M. Loomis, one; Daniel J. Vaughan, twenty-one—and Maj. Vaughan was declared elected.

Robert E. Rich was elected Clerk of the Common Council.

Mayor Sise then read the following

ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Councils:

Having been elected by our fellow citizens to the highest municipal position in their power to bestow, I have taken the oath of office of Mayor as required by law. Grateful to our people for this hearty expression of their confidence, and fully appreciating the responsibilities resting upon me, I now assume the duties incumbent as Mayor, and assure you that they shall be performed to the best of my ability and for the good of the whole.

First, for information in regard to the debt of the city, I refer you to the statement published by the city authorities Dec. 31st, 1877.

I am informed that our schools are in excellent condition and will compare favorably with those of any city in New England, I trust they will have the earnest and unbiased support to which they are so richly entitled. Money cannot be more wisely expended than when disbursed for the education of the young.

From personal and careful inspection I find our fire department to be in perfect order, much of of this being due to the officers and men connected therewith. This vital branch of our public service should always be kept up to the highest standard.

The streets are in excellent condition; large repairs have been made of late under the direction of our efficient street commissioner, and they have been well done, so that not much more will be required this year.

The management of the city farm by the present superintendent and matron is highly spoken of by all. For its condition I refer you to the report of December last. None of the land formerly belonging to this farm, which was laid out into streets and house lots three years since, has been sold; I would suggest that another reason besides hard times is that the price ranges too high, and I would therefore call your speedy attention to this support.

Our poor, as near as I can learn, are well cared for, and there is little if any real suffering among us. This is as it should be.

In the police department, upon the efficiency of which so much depends, I would earnestly advise the appointment of good and reliable persons. I think our city for order will compare favorably with any seaport of its size.

Nothing has been done yet to abate the north and south mill-pond nuisances. The immediate consideration of the subject is of vital and healthful interest to us all, and I specially desire your earliest action on this important matter.

Balances of the appropriations for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1878, are as follows:

Salaries	$2471 34
Fire Department	216 04
Police	3330 00
Watch	690 53
Street Lights	1703 88
School Houses, Rents and Repairs	1000 99
Printing	1904 95
Roads out of compact part of the city	358 09
Sidewalks	282 92
Sprinkling Streets	636 94
Health Committee	519 54
Contingent	189 25
Jackson Hill Street, land damages, &c	1290 31
	18 95

Excess of Expenditures:

Bridges	$375 64
Sewers	140 20

Gentlemen, we are expected to administer the affairs of the city with the greatest economy, in so far as it can be done to its best advantage. I therefore ask you to co-operate with me in thus endeavoring to meet the wishes of all of our citizens in this respect. Let us one and all be constantly animated by the sole desire to work unitedly together for the advancement of those interests of our beloved city which we have in common.

The convention then adjourned.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

TUESDAY, August 13th; Clifford and Clark, J. J.

The Court came in this forenoon. Judge Clifford upon taking his seat upon the bench stated that the Court had come in for the purpose of disposing of cases heretofore submitted to Judge Shepley. In the first instance, cases heard in equity or final hearing, or upon statements of facts or questions of pleading, were to be heard.

Wilbur vs. Abbot; question on second demurrer filed by the defendant; passed.

Sawyer vs. Sawyer, Jr.,; for plff., Eastman.

No. 71. Grout vs. Insurance Co. In this case a verdict was for the plaintiff in the sum of $2790.41. Exceptions filed by the defendant were allowed, and now the plaintiff asks for judgment on the verdict, but the Judge before whom the case was tried having deceased it is unjust, the Court say, to allow this, as there is a motion for a new trial allowed by the Judge who tried it pending in the court, and a part of the record. The question was presented to the late Judge Woodbury (1 vol. Woodbury and Minot's reports, in the first case,) when Judge Woodbury held that the party must not lose his rights in consequence of the death of the Judge who tried the case. A motion for a new trial is always addressed to the minutes of the Judge who tried the cause, and to his recollection. Motions of this kind are addressed to, and to be determined by the Judge who sits at the trial, and not to another Judge, unless he requests another to sit with him. This is decided in U. S. vs. Gibbon, and in other cases. The question arose in the 3d Circuit on the death of Justice Baldwin, when the Circuit and District Judges had both died. This was a capital case, reported in 1st of Wallace, Jr's., reports, and decided that sentences shall not be passed in criminal cases. In civil cases they held it should be different, and the new judges should find the state of the case. In 8 vol. of Peters, p. 291, the whole matter is settled by Mr. Justice McLean, in accordance with the views in the before referred to case, that the party entitled to a new trial does not lose his rights. The motion for new trials must be first disposed of. The Court intimated that parties would probably be as well satisfied with a new trial as to rely upon rights under the existing motions. A similar rule has been adopted in the Maine District. Judge Clifford explained at some length the position of these cases wherein a verdict has been obtained and motions for new trial had been filed. Case continued nisi, and probably unless parties agree upon the facts a new trial must be had in October. Hatch for plff.; Faulkner and Marston for deft.

In case Emery admr., vs. Dodge, question on the decree conferring title of farm to the complainant as trustee of the creditors of the late W. B. Dodge, the stipulation for costs was filed, and the case stands open to see if counsel can agree as to the mesne profits of the land during defendants' occupancy prior to the decree. Woodward Emery pro se; Frink for Dodge.

In Monce vs. Woodward, patent case, submitted in January, 1877, the case was ordered for re-hearing. Barnard for complainant; Pike and Blodgett for deft. This cause will be heard before Judge Clark in vacation.

Sias vs. Roger Williams Ins. Co., continued nisi. Quarles for plff.; S. C. Eastman for deft.

John R. Poor vs. Hudson Fire Ins. Co., was continued for trial. Hatch and Frink for plff.; Eastman and Marston for deft.

Hon. Albert R. Hatch of Portsmouth was appointed by the court one of the examiners of candidates for admission to the bar in the place of the late Wm. H. Y. Hackett.

William H. Hackett, the Clerk of the Court, was appointed United States Commissioner.

The docket was called and cases disposed of that had before stood open.

It is stated that the appointment of Circuit Judge will not be made until December. In that case the October term of this Court will be held by Judge Clark.

A DESERVED COMPLIMENT.

Hon. John H. Broughton on Tuesday morning sent to City Marshal Entwistle the following complimentary letter:

To Thomas Entwistle, Esq., City Marshal.

SIR: As my term of office will shortly close I feel it to be no less a pleasure than a duty to express to you my thanks for the very able and efficient manner in which you have filled the office and performed the duties of City Marshal; and I desire, through you, to express the same feeling of satisfaction to the Officers under your command. I have heretofore expressed the opinion that tried and experienced officers should not be displaced without cause, and I sincerely trust that you may be retained in the position you occupy. As a token of my sentiments and a slight testimony of my appreciation of your services, I ask you to accept this Badge, with my best wishes for your prosperity and happiness.

I am sir, etc.,

JOHN H. BROUGHTON, Mayor.

This letter was accompanied by a handsome City Marshal's badge made of gold and suitably inscribed.

THE FEMALE HORSE-THIEF.

At the time the horse was stolen from Londonderry, as is alleged by Cora Fraser, in whose possession it was found, another horse was left in Mr. Boyd's barn in place of the one stolen from him, and up to Tuesday afternoon had not been identified. Tuesday evening Mr. Michael Flynn of Somerville, Mass., called on Sheriff Kent and gave a description of a mare belonging to him that was stolen from a pasture in Westfield, Mass., and the Sheriff was satisfied that the Flynn horse was the one left at Londonderry. He interviewed the Fraser girl on the subject, and after some "pumping" she confessed that she had been at work for her cousin, Mrs. Varnum T. Fletcher, at Westfield, and about two weeks ago left there, at which time she stole the horse referred to from a pasture and rode it off barebacked. She still adhered to the story that she met Charles Newell on the highway in Londonderry, and that he took the first horse and brought back the one found in her possession when she was arrested; but this Newell story the Sheriff don't credit. When she stole the horse in Westfield she took it through a swamp three miles in extent, which Mr. Flynn says has always been considered impassible for cattle of any kind; she says she went first in the direction of Littleton, when finding she was on the wrong road she retraced her way to Londonderry, making a ride of at least thirty miles on a bare-backed horse. She also states that she met on the road a peddler named Foley, from Lowell, who directed her on the road to Maine.

Sheriff Kent to-day proceeds to Londonderry to secure to Mr. Flynn his horse, and to further investigate the career of this young female horse-thief.

THE VICINITY.

W. O. Fletcher, A. M., of Rockland, Me., is to be principal of the Biddeford high school. Mr. Fletcher has for some time past been principal of the high school at Rockland.

Boat racing is getting to be quite a popular sport on the Cocheco river at Dover. On Saturday evening there was a race between two pair-oared boats, which was won by George and Eugene Ricker by eighteen inches, over a thousand people witnessing it, and cheering themselves hoarse. The winners offer to row their defeated antagonists over the same course, from Central street bridge to the railroad bridge and return, for any amount from five dollars to fifty.

The York county democratic convention was held in Alfred on Tuesday. Josiah A. Stover of Kittery was one of the secretaries of the convention, and one of its nominees as candidate for State senator. George A. Hammond of Eliot, sometimes called "Red Oak" Hammond, was nominated for county treasurer. The full nominations were: Senators, Timothy Brackett of Cornish, George Stewart of Saco, Josiah A. Stover of Kittery; County Attorney, William Emery, of Alfred; Commissioner, William G. Lord of Limington; Treasurer, Geo. A. Hammond of Eliot; Sheriff, Robert M. Stevens of Biddeford.

Serve an Injunction on Disease

By invigorating a feeble constitution, renovating a debilitated physique, and enriching a thin and inanitious circulation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest, the most highly sanctioned, and the most popular tonic and preventive in existence. It strengthens the stomach, remedies torpor of the liver and bowels, and gives a healthful impulse to the secretive and discharging functions of the kidneys and bladder. Not only does it arrest and prevent the recurrence of malarial fevers, but it furnishes the only adequate safeguard against them to persons who have never been afflicted with those maladies, but would be liable to incur them if medicinally unprotected. It eliminates from the blood certain impurities which the most skillful pathologists assign as the exciting causes of those agonizing complaints, rheumatism and gout, and it is, moreover, an excellent remedy for an enfeebled or overwrought state of the nerves, and for mental despondency.

Starving to Death.

Thousands of men and women are starving themselves to death. They dare not eat or drink this or that, fearing it will increase their flesh. Life depends upon continuous self-denial. The only safe and reliable remedy for this terrible condition is Allan's Anti-Fat. It is wholly vegetable and perfectly harmless, its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 13th, 1878.

To the Proprietors of Allan's Anti-Fat:

Gentlemen—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat: "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week, until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Yours respectfully,

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French or English. THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, in all climates, of those treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty and promptness attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures and is a marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being the most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a work of over 300 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to women, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of Iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE LITTLE GIANT CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of clean, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist, who, upon analyses, will find in them any colomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blotted feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Dyspepsia, Costiveness and Gloomy Foreboding, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

TESTIMONIALS.

I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Daily Chronicle.

A District Attorney Answered.

A lawyer sometimes picks up a witness whom he is quite willing to drop as soon as possible, as witness the following: A Mr. Lawrence was on the stand in Milwaukee during the trial of Russell Wheeler for murder, and had stated that he knew the prisoner well, and knew him to be a peaceable, law-abiding citizen. When cross-examined by the District Attorney the following colloquy occurred:

District Attorney—"You have testified, Mr. Lawrence, that you consider the defendant a law-abiding citizen?"

Mr. Lawrence—"I have, and I do so consider him."

District Attorney—"You know that he has been a gambler?"

Mr. Lawrence—"I know he has."

District Attorney—"Do you consider it exactly proper to call a professional gambler a law-abiding citizen?"

Mr. Lawrence—"So long as the District Attorney allows gambling to be carried on in the city without restraint of or punishment by law, I consider it perfectly proper to describe a professional gambler as a law-abiding citizen."

When the laugh had subsided, the District Attorney remarked "That is all."

THURSDAY, AUGUST 15, 1878.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 13th.

The President and his advisers are no sooner granted a temporary respite by a lull in the Indian and "moonshiners" war and by a subsidence of the more prominent of the many other causes threatening disorderly and violent outbreaks, than Mexico comes in to claim her share of attention. Only recently she undertook to discount raids of her citizens into Texas, pleading similar ones south of the Rio Grande by Texans; and at Friday's meeting advices from Gen. Ord consumed most of the time. Ord intimates that the next expedition across that river in pursuit of thieves or for any other object, will likely be attacked, and he asks instructions to guide him in such a contingency; a reiteration of the orders heretofore given was telegraphed in reply. Our relations have constantly grown more critical with Mexico and apparently we must now submit quietly, or prepare to meet force with force. Diaz can undoubtedly divert a very dangerous public sentiment against him into a less perilous channel by setting his bravoes to cutting our throats.

In view of Wade Hampton's promises of immunity from punishment for past crimes to such of the rifle-club criminals of his State as desire to actively participate in the pending campaign, and the turning loose of an army of illicit whiskey distillers on personal recognizances, it is suggested that the imprisoned revenue officials there might be released on bail, provided Kershaw and the classes named wouldn't thereby become so exasperated as to rend the Union asunder. But shooting a gallant Carolinian for so trifling a misdemeanor as aiding notorious criminals to escape them, and for trying to shoot the officials in question, has so incensed the people and outraged a chrivalrous public sentiment, that it is doubtful if any movement looking to their safe removal from reach of a mob would be submitted to. Even their nominal transfer from the custody of a State to a United States officer, though immediately remanded to the keeping of the same jailor, was very galling to South Carolina's pride; and only her Spartan firmness enabled her to submit to the humiliation. But she can't bear everything, and the indiscreet officials must take their chances. KNOX.

Scientific Fishing.

Prof. Baird, chief of the United States Fish Commission, has recently received samples of the cod-seines and cod-trawls used by the fishermen on the coast of Norway, where one-half of the catch of codfish is taken by seines, a part of the remainder on trawls and the rest by hand lines. The seines are of two sizes of mesh, one for taking large cod and the other for fishing where the cod are smaller. They are of similar construction with the American seine, but, instead of being provided with corks to keep them at the surface, are supported by large round glass floats. The trawls are similar to those used by banks fishermen, the chief difference being that the hooks are provided with glass floats to keep them three or four feet from the bottom of the sea. The commission will experiment with this fishing gear, to ascertain if it can be profitably adapted to fishing in American waters.

News and Notes.

"Nobody's Husband" is the title of a new book issued by the publishing house of Lee & Shepard in their "Series of Popular Books." This is a humorous account of the adventure of a bachelor in his endeavors to escort the young wife of his friend from New York to Chicago. A very bright and sparkling book. Price, bound in cloth, $1.50; in paper, 50 cts. "Mr. Peter Crewith," by the author of "That Husband of Mine," is issued by the same publishers; prices the same as for "Nobody's Husband."

The number of cars of wheat inspected into store in Chicago in July was 2529, against 795 cars in the same month last year. The number inspected into store from August 1st, 1877, to July 31st, 1878, was 53,335 cars, against 25,396 cars in the preceding year.

The total foreign imports into the United States during the last fiscal year, as officially reported, amounted to $437,-051,533, against $451,323,125 in the preceding year. Our total exports were $694,884,200, against $602,475,220 in 1876-77. These figures show a decrease of imports during the last fiscal year, as compared with the preceding year, of $14,271,593, and an increase of exports amounting to $92,408,980. This is a most favorable and gratifying exhibit of the condition of our foreign trade, and the next annual statement will doubtless make even a better showing, as we are constantly extending and expanding our markets abroad.

John Spinney, who was reported as haying died from the effects of a lightning stroke on board the schooner Maud Muller at Gloucester, Mass., on the 9th inst., is not dead at all, and has so far recovered as to be able to be taken to his home in Marblehead.

A blacksmith named Hines, of Needham, Mass., died of hydrophobia on the 12th inst. In his ravings the united strength of six men was required to hold him. He was bitten on the 4th of last July, but the dog was killed and all danger was thought to be averted, but on the Friday preceding his death unfavorable symptoms appeared, terminating as above stated.

A tramp named Cordinal last week brutally assaulted a young woman named Gigure, a farmer's daughter, near Quebec. She resisted desperately, and was horribly disfigured and nearly murdered. The wretch is in jail.

The Camden, Me., Herald tells a story that a Cranberry Isle lobster trapper, while pulling his traps, felt his boat lift up. Looking down, he saw that a shark had seized the side of his boat in its mouth and was making off with it as fast as convenient. He commenced beating the shark over the head with an oar, but to no purpose until, drawing the oar up harpoon fashion, he drove it into the shark's eye with all his might. This sounds like a fish story.

A train of cars was boarded near Atchison, Kansas, on the evening of the 12th inst., by four armed ruffians, who covered the conductor and baggage-man with pistols, stole $5000 from the express messenger, forced the conductor to stop the train, and escaped without any of the passengers being aware of what was going on. The thieves were perfectly collected, noting like old hands at the business. They were not masked.

New Hampshire Items.

There was another great fire in Suncook, Wednesday, when three blocks of stones, the Baptist church, the corporation boarding house and several other buildings were burned. Loss about $25,-000; insurance $15,000.

On Thursday, Aug. 8th, Rev. N. F. Cobleigh saw three stones on the track near the crossing below Groveland toward Stark, and had them removed. One was large enough to throw the engine from the track. On each side of the large stone was a smaller one.

The Nashua Telegraph office has had more than its share of misfortune in the past ten days—a broken steam engine, a broken press, a fall of shafting and three times entered by a thief. The thief obtained about $12 in coppers, and the damages are insignificant except in the seriousness of being compelled to "go slow" with from three to five men to revolve machinery.

Political.

It is possible that Eph Holland will not have a Congressman to represent him in the next House. The "Bounding Banning," who was elected by Holland and his repeaters to the present Congress, has failed to get renominated, though he industriously packed the convention.

A delegation appointed by the republican committee of the second district of Virginia visited Washington on the 12th inst., to lay before the President and the heads of departments the political situation in that district. They represent that the custom house and navy yard at Norfolk are filled with democrats, appointed on the recommendation of Representative Goode, while republicans are excluded from employment. Of fourteen employees in the custom house, there are five who wore the gray, while not a Union soldier is to be found among the number. With a fair chance, and with the patronage of the administration not thrown against them, they claim they can carry the district by 3000 majority.

— We don't know that any man ever owned an umbrella for two years. That is, the same one. If there is any such man in the country, we should be pleased to receive his name and address, not necessarily for publication, but merely as a guarantee of good faith. We think he would be a curiosity, and would, furthermore, be quite an acquisition to some travelling show. Besides, we should like to borrow his umbrella.—Puck.

Starving to Death.

Thousands of men and women are starving themselves to death. They dare not eat or drink this or that, fearing it will increase their flesh. Life depends upon continuous self-denial. The only safe and reliable remedy for this terrible condition is Allan's Anti-Fat. It is wholly vegetable and perfectly harmless. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 13th, 1878.

To the Proprietors of Allan's Anti-Fat:

Gentlemen—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat: "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week, until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Yours respectfully,

Serve an Injunction on Disease

By invigorating a feeble constitution, renovating a debilitated physique, and enriching a thin and innutritious circulation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest, the most highly sanctioned, and the most popular tonic and preventive in existence. It strengthens the stomach, remedies torpor of the liver and bowels, and gives a healthful impulse to the secretive and discharging functions of the kidneys and bladder. Not only does it arrest and prevent the recurrence of malarial fevers, but it furnishes the only adequate safeguard against them to persons who have never been afflicted with those maladies, but would be liable to incur them if medicinally unprotected. It eliminates from the blood certain impurities which the most skillful pathologists assign as the exciting causes of those agonizing complaints, rheumatism and gout, and it is, moreover, an excellent remedy for an enfeebled or overwrought state of the nerves, and for mental despondency.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tsept10

THE CITY.

Steam yacht "Nameless," from Boston, was in port here a few hours on Wednesday. We should think they might be able to find a name for so handsome a craft.

Coup's E-ques-cur-ric-u-lum — Equescurriculum, will show here on Tuesday, August 27th. The big devil-fish and flying-machine are among the attractions of this show.

Fishing schooner Iris, Capt. Tobey, of Kittery, on Wednesday brought in four swordfish, weighing 1150 pounds. They were bought by Mr. C. Morris Tredick, who packed them down.

Tugboat L. A. Belknap, of and from Boston, arrived at this port on Wednesday, having in tow a steam dredging machine and four scows, to be used in deepening the Cocheco river.

Andrew Wilson, who nearly two years ago deserted from the house of correction at Brentwood, where he was serving out a sentence of eighteen months confinement for attempting to rescue a prisoner from the custody of the police, was captured in this city on Tuesday.

An oil portrait of Miss Bettie Denny, painted from life by Miss Mary E. B. Miller, is on exhibition at W. G. Myers' bookstore, and receives universal commendation from all who are acquainted with the original for its life-like resemblance and faithful expression. The picture has been purchased by some of the Denny family. Mr. U. D. Tenney, Miss Miller's instructor in this branch of the art, has reason to be proud of the remarkable proficiency of his pupil.

The fraternity of Red Men in this city, known as the Newichewannock Tribe, are to appear in public to-day (Thursday) for the purpose of attending and conducting the funeral services of one of their number, Mr. Gardiner J. Edmonds, of Greenland; this being the first death among them since their organization. The deceased will be buried from his late residence in Greenland, to which the members of the Tribe will repair on a special train which leaves the Concord depot at 12:45 P. M.

In the CHRONICLE of Wednesday morning was an advertisement announcing that a boat was found adrift between Wallis' sands and the Shoals on the previous day, described as a whaleboat of "nineteen feet keel, seven feet beam, and decked over; painted green, deck red." This boat did not have to look long for an owner. She belongs to a man at Kittery Point, who built her last winter. He is now absent at the Banks on a fishing trip, and left the boat in charge of his wife, to sell. The wife painted the boat herself, and on Monday of this week put her into the water, thinking she might attract the attention of a purchaser. About half-past ten o'clock that night she saw two men take the boat from her moorings and tow her off. She has described the men to City Marshal Entwistle, who will endeavor to ferret out the thieves. The boat was returned to her on Wednesday afternoon.

PORTSMOUTH, GREAT FALLS & CONWAY RAILROAD.

The special meeting of the stockholders of this road having adjourned to Wednesday, Aug. 14th, the stockholders —or a few of them—assembled in the forenoon of that day at the Elm street ward room in this city, and after considerable whispering and preliminary caucussing, the meeting was called to order by Gen. Rockwell, who presented and read an act passed by the Legislature of New Hampshire, approved on the 9th inst., authorizing a mortgage of the road to secure its bonds under certain restrictions and conditions.

At the close of the reading, Mr. Phillips of Salem said that although the act just read had been law for several days, no proposition had come from the bondholders objecting to the proposed proceedings in bankruptcy. There was but little time left in which to take action. He closed his remarks with a motion to adjourn the meeting to Aug. 28th, and hoped that some arrangements could be made in the meantime.

James W. Emery, Esq., of Portsmouth, stated that he had first seen the act referred to, that morning. He alluded to the fact that committees had been appointed by bondholders at meetings both here and in Boston, and these committees were to confer together as to the legislation, and assist to obtain it. He had, as one of such committees, so assisted, and had spent a day in Concord, and seen several gentlemen there in aid of its passage. Since the approval of the act, however, and this was on the 9th inst., there has not been time for proper consultation upon the subject. He seconded the motion of adjournment to Aug. 28th at half-past ten o'clock A. M.

Mr. Hatch suggested that a call might be needed for a meeting to accept the act of the Legislature, but offered no motion.

The motion to adjourn was then put and prevailed.

There seems to be a certain hitch in the proceedings. The bondholders have apparently been advised not to interfere with the Eastern Railroad Company's placing the P., G. F. & C. R. R. in bankruptcy. The debt claimed to be due is to the E. R. R. which Co., if the road is placed in bankruptcy, must prove that the claim for money paid contrary to powers of the corporation, as the Courts in Massachusetts hold, is a proper debt! and of course this will be contested by the bondholders, who will purchase the road, and at its sale the whole advantage of this connection, or nearly all of it, to the Eastern R. R., is lost. It is probably in this view that the trustees of the bondholders of the Eastern have at last been able to perceive that this move towards bankruptcy is a false step, and to go farther in that direction is "to put their foot in it." The assignees in bankruptcy would take possession of the road and the difference in rates paid for freight hauled to and from the P., G. F. & C. R. R. over the trunk line, and the prospect of losing the advantage of all this traffic or dividing it with the Boston & Maine R. R. and other lines, would be the difference between having enough with which to pay interest on its present issue of indebtedness, or the receipts of forty miles of trunk road and a few branches. It is evident that this consideration has had its weight with the trustees and their counsel assembled here Wednesday, and the readiness with which they opened the meeting with a motion to adjourn, to a time within three days of the expiration of the bankrupt laws, and the less positive air of the managers than that displayed on former occasions, leads the outside looker on to believe that all is not peace in the Eastern camp at present. The learned counsel of the Eastern railroad may have discovered, that as the Massachusetts Court held that the guaranty of the Eastern upon these bonds was a contingent liability and therefore did not come within the provisions of the act of 1876, the bankruptcy of the P., G. F. & C., if pressed to final results might change that to an absolute liability, from which in all probability there would be found no chance of escape for the unfortunate Eastern, and this may have operated as one of the causes of a change of tactics.

The suit of Converse and others will be in order for hearing at Concord to-day and the Court will perhaps be asked to protect this property from being used for other purposes than contemplated in the lease.

A RELIABLE CORRESPONDENT.

That enterprising journal, the New York Herald, printed a letter purporting to come from "Great Appledore, Isle of Shoals," last week. The veracious writer says:

It is a charming trip from Portsmouth, N. H., across the open sea to the Isle of Shoals, and is accomplished on a little steamer in about one hour and a half. The chief reason of the success of the hotels at the Shoals is to be found in the fact that Portsmouth is an insufferably dull town and the hotels are so bad that the visitor rushes into the arms of any other landlord as a relief, and for the sake of sweet revenge.

At which one of the cheap hotels at the north end the writer stayed while in Portsmouth he omits to state; but to every one who knows anything about our hotels this must be surprising intelligence.

The writer goes on to say that at the Shoals passengers "step out upon a treacherous looking landing made of boards and shad-poles." We will wager that either the man has never been nearer the Isles of Shoals than the New York Herald back office, or else he had so freely imbibed from the contents of his "leather covered flask" that he was "three sheets in the wind" when he landed upon the most comfortable, safe and substantial floating stage that boat ever neared, and mistook his own unsteadiness for the "treacherous" movements of a bunch of floating "shad-poles."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

On Tuesday evening, the 13th inst., Mr. Elihu Dennett of this city, a well known butcher, was in the store of C. Sullivan & Co., on the corner of Bow and Penhallow streets, talking with some one in the shop, when he was observed by Mr. John Holland to take a knife from his pocket and cut toward his forearm; Holland knocked Dennett's arm so that he inflicted no injury upon himself, and took the knife away from him. Soon afterward Mr. Dennett made a snatch for one of the meat knives lying on the bench, but it was taken from him and he put out of the shop by Mr. Oliver Downs. Wednesday forenoon Dennett went into an alleyway between G. W. Randall's fish market and Murphy's dye house, on Penhallow street; he was seen to go in there by Mr. Freeman Pearson, who thinking all was not right went to the alleyway and looked in, but seeing Dennett coming out turned and walked away, supposing he was being followed by Dennett; but on turning around a moment later he saw that Dennett had gashed his arm with a razor and was bleeding copiously. The razor was taken from the would-be suicide and he removed to his home, where Drs. Parsons and Jones dressed the wound. Mr. Dennett has been very despondent for some time past over pecuniary losses, and when the doctors were attending him expressed a wish to be let alone that he might die.

BASE BALL.

An exciting game of base ball came of Wednesday afternoon between the Invincibles of Portsmouth, and the Piscataquas of Newcastle, resulting in a victory for the Invincibles by a score of 16 to 10. The game was a closely contested one up to the 8th innings, when the Portsmouth boys pounded White, the pitcher of the Piscataquas, for five earned runs, making a total of nine base hits. The Portsmouth boys played a steady game throughout, but were unlucky in the sixth innings, when the Newcastles scored six runs, by strong batting and two or three bad errors by the Portsmouth nine. The individual playing of Crowley, Moran, Hoyt, Quinlan and Powers was very fine, and would do credit to veteran players. For the Newcastles the playing of Page, Prescott and Hall was excellent; and had White held out till the last inning the Portsmouth boys would have had to work harder to beat them. The game was witnessed by a large number of ladies and gentlemen, and the good plays were liberally applauded. In the last three innings Crowley pitched for the Invincibles, and was so effective that the Piscataquas could do nothing with him, making only two hits off him, and to see them "gash the wind" was amusing. The Portsmouth boys outbatted and outfielded the Newcastles. The score follows:

OFFICERS OF THE NAVY YARD.

The following is the roll of officers at this navy yard, as printed in the Naval Register, made up to the first of July last:

NAVY YARD.

Commodore John Guest, Commandant.
Captain Earl English, Captain of the Yard.
Commander Henry Erben.
Lieutenant-Commander, E. M. Shepard, Navigation and Ordnance Officer.
Lieutenant-Commander, Augustus G. Kellogg.
Lieutenants, Charles Seymour and E. H. Taunt.
Mates, H. Kuhl and John L. Vennard.
Medical Inspector, C. J. Cleborne.
Pay-Inspector Edward May, Inspector of Provisions, etc.
Paymaster, Edwin Putnam.
Chief Engineer, B. F. Garvin.
Chief Engineer, Thom Williamson, in charge of stores.
Chaplain, W. H. Stewart.
Passed Assistant Engineers, S. L. Smith and C. F. Nagle.
Naval Constructor, Theodore D. Wilson.
Civil Engineer, B. F. Chandler.
Boatswain, John McCaffery.
Gunner, Eugene Mack.
Gunner Andrew Harmon, Naval Magazine.
Carpenter, J. E. Cox.
Sailmaker, A. A. Warren.

MARINE BARRACKS.

Captain, John H. Highbee.
Second Lieutenants, D. Whipple, A. Stevenson, and R. Dickins.

A number of changes have been made since the above list was made up. Paymaster Putnam is detached, as is also Capt. Higbee; and Lieut. Stevenson, of the marine corps, has leave of absence. Mate Hugh Kuhl is attached to the Speedwell, on service under the Fish Commission. Paymaster H. T. Wright has relieved Paymaster Putnam, and Capt. George Butler has assumed command at the marine barracks.

SHARP SHOOTING.

Mr. Ira A. Paine gave an exhibition of his wonderful skill with fire-arms at the Trotting Park on Wednesday, a large number of people being in attendance, including several of the officers and their families from the navy yard and many ladies from this city.

The first trial was with the rifle, and he broke 14 out of 18 glass balls thrown into the air; next he shot at 25 balls, and broke 21; then at 13 balls thrown directly at his head, and broke three of them. Then with the shot-gun, balls thrown by a base-ball pitcher—18 balls, all broken; three double-shots, (two balls thrown into the air at once,) broke all; two single and three double, broke five. He then broke twenty balls in one minute. Then at four cross-shots, broke five balls out of the eight. Then broke six balls out of eight, cross-shots. Of two rolling balls, broke both. Of two "out of sight," broke one. Of two straight-away, broke one.

Pistol shots: of twelve balls thrown by himself, broke seven. Of eleven balls thrown by another person, broke five.

Mr. Paine teaches a school in New York city, and has for his pupils members of the first families of that place. Two of his pupils won the Bennett cup in that city this spring.

THE VICINITY.

Richard Holland, eight years of age, while fishing in Saco river on the afternoon of the 13th inst. fell into the water and was drowned. His body was recovered.

The York county democratic convention adopted two of the greenback candidates —for county attorney and sheriff. The latter was formerly a republican. York county democracy appears to be mixed.

The Kittery cornet band went up and down the river Wednesday night in steamer Little May, serenading the public in general on both sides. They had a nice moonlight night for it, and their music sounded first-rate.

The new schooner John Bracewell, built at Bath for parties in Dover and intended for the trade between Dover and other coastwise ports during the summer, arrived in the lower harbor on Wednesday, bound up the river. She is a very handsome vessel.

Joseph Cook was fined two dollars in the Dover police court on the 12th inst., for throwing stones and making a row while drunk. This was not the reverend gentleman of Boston, who dilutes some brilliant ideas with vast amounts of twaddle, but another man of the same name, whom none reverence.

A farmer of West Farmington writes to the Dover Democrat that "although he does not allow himself to brag, bet, gamble or count his chickens before they are hatched," yet he "is ready to stake $100 against an even sum" that he will raise this year the best acre of corn in Strafford county. This seems almost the same as an offer to bet.

The two burglars, Jeremiah Toomy and Charles A. Taylor of Newburyport, now in Portsmouth jail, have confessed to nearly all the burglaries committed in Newburyport, Ipswich, Newbury, Amesbury and Salisbury, Mass., in the last eighteen months—some thirty, and nearly as many attempts. They are held for thirteen burglaries and attempts at burglary in this State.

On Tuesday evening, 13th inst., as Mr. Josiah Lewis, of the firm of Lewis & Brooks, of Kittery, was delivering goods from the store wagon, the horse was stung by a bee, which caused the animal to run away, throwing Mr. Lewis heavily to the ground and severely injuring him. The horse cleared himself from the wagon, but was soon stopped, neither horse nor wagon being much harmed.

—"I should just like to see somebody try to abduct me," said Mrs Smith at the breakfast table the other morning. "Hm! so should I, my dear," said Mr. Smith, with exceeding earnestness.

—A base-ball match has been played between 3,210 pounds of the population of Guelph, Ont., and 2,167 pounds of prominent citizens of Hamilton, the former making thirty-four waddles, while the latter could only paut round the diamond seventeen times. The base path was worn deep into the earth, like a buffalo track.

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

FRANK E. DEARBORN,

NO. 40 MARKET ST., PORTSMOUTH.

—Parents with a large family, all boys, can look on the sonny side of life.

— "I wish you had been Eve," said an urchin to a stingy aunt, proverbial for her meanness. "Why so?" "Because," said he, "you would have eaten all the apple instead of dividing it."

— Making the best of it is a good rule for everybody. "What is the matter?" asked a lawyer of his coachman. "The horses are running away, sir." "Can you not pull them up?" "I am afraid not." "Then," said the lawyer, after judicial delay, "run into something cheap."

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, sallowness or yellow color or skin, feel stupid and drowsy, appetite unsteady, frequent headache or dizziness, you are "bilious," and nothing will arouse your liver to action and strengthen up your system equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is sold by druggists.

—Senator Thurman has received from Japan a bamboo chair large enough to hold Senator Davis, but not strong enough. It was the occasion of his first use of a profane expression in many years. When Davis offered to sit down in it Thurman held him back, exclaiming excitedly: "D—n it, man, would you smash it as flat as a pancake?"

—An Irish landlord has been recently making himself unpopular with his tenantry. Two of the latter were accordingly told off by the local ribbon lodge to shoot the offender. They severally loaded their blunderbusses and squatted patiently behind a wall to secure a "pot shot" at the landlord on his return from petty sessions. They waited for hours, long beyond the expected time, and began to feel the want of their suppers. Said Pat to Tim at last, "Sure, the master's a mortal long time comin'!" Said Tim to Pat, "Bedad, he is, I wish no accident's happened to him."

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by the class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the sequent organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Now, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it on such a condition. Scrofula, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of woman my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute dose, to use, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gentle and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance of the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Eruptions, Hot Blood in Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for Liver Complaint, Lax Liver, Alterative, all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

His First Clean Shirt.

It was doubtless Kearney, the great "Labor Reformer," who was the hero of the following true story: After one of the Kearney riots in San Francisco, a Chinese washerman was observed sitting disconsolate on the ruins of his shanty. To him a passer-by called:

"How about your wash-house, John?"

"Washee-house gone hellee!"

"How about the hoodlums?"

"Diam hoodlum. Got clean shirtee first time in lifee!"—Toledo Blade.

— Mr. Rufus Hatch is a fresh illustration of the vicissitudes of Wall street. Some few months ago he failed for the paltry sum of $2,500. After having settled with his creditors, he was readmitted to the board, and is estimated to be worth to-day a quarter of a million of dollars, almost the whole of which he made in the Granger stocks.

— A correspondent of the Cape May Wave groans at the change that has come over the style of the bathing dresses. "No skirt below the hips, and tights, scarce reaching the knees, may be in place at common concert saloons, but such display by persons who claim to be respectable shocks the modesty of your humble servant."

FRIDAY, AUGUST 16, 1878.

The "Fraud" Campaign.

The Potter-Tilden-Butler committee has bent all its energies, from its first inception, to the implicating of Rutherford B. Hayes in some trickery or fraud or "corruption" in connection with his election as President of the United States. Well, they have managed to rake up one letter written to one of the "visiting statesmen" and signed by Mr. Hayes, in reference to the count in Louisiana, and it is as follows:

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov 27th, 1876.

My Dear Sir: I am greatly obliged for your letter of the 23d. You feel, I am sure, as I do about this whole business. A fair election would have given us about forty electoral votes at the south, at least that many; but we are not to allow our friends to defeat one outrage and fraud by another. There must be nothing crooked on our part. Let Mr. Tilden have the place by violence, intimidation and fraud rather than undertake to prevent it by means that will not bear the severest scrutiny. I appreciate the work done by the representatives who have gone south, and I am especially proud to acknowledge the honorable conduct of those from Ohio. The democrats made a mistake in sending so many ex-republicans. New converts are proverbially bitter and unfair towards those they have recently left. I trust you will soon reach the end of the work and be able to return in health and safety.

Sincerely, (Signed) R. B. HAYES.

How valuable that letter is as proving "corruption" against Mr. Hayes the reader may judge. But there was "corruption" going on just then—open and shameless, and of which the Potter-Butler frauds are well aware, but which they persistently refuse to "investigate." On the very day following the one on which Hayes wrote "there must be nothing crooked on our part," the following telegram was sent from Portland, Oregon, to W. T. Pelton, Tilden's nephew and private secretary, at Gramercy Park, Tilden's private residence:

PORTLAND, Nov. 28.

W. T. PELTON, No. 15 Gramercy Park, New York.

Certificate will be issued to one democrat. Must purchase a republican elector to recognize and act with democrats, and secure the vote and prevent trouble. Deposit $10,000 to my credit with Kountze Brothers, Wall street. Answer.

J. H. N. PATRICK.

I fully endorse this. JAMES K. KELLY.

What was the answer from the "reformer" Tilden—for of course the nephew was nobody in this affair, and it was understood all around that the telegrams dated at No. 15 Gramercy Park came from the master of the house and not from his clerk—what was the answer to this open proposition to "purchase a republican elector?" Did Tilden answer "there must be nothing crooked on our part?" Not a bit of it. The answer went back to Patrick and Kelley, "If you make obligation contingent on result in March it can be done, and incremable slightly if necessary." There was certainly no circumlocution about that answer; nothing but a little prudent precaution on the part of the reformer about getting the votes that he paid for. In answer to this telegram from the reformer, Patrick telegraphed again:

One elector must be paid to recognize democrat to secure majority. Have employed three lawyers; editor of only republican paper as one lawyer; fee $3000; will take $5000 for republican elector; must raise money; can't make fee contingent. Must act promptly.

And the $8000 demanded was sent. The scheme fell through, whether because Tilden's agents found they had under-estimated the price of "a republican elector to act with and recognize democrats," or for some other reason, is not yet known; but it is known that the money was sent, and if the loud professions of the fraud committee about their desire to uncover fraud were as honest as they are loud, it would long ago have been proved—it is well enough known already—who it was that sent it. We suggest to the potterieg frauds of the committee that as they have utterly failed to connect Mr. Hayes with any improper act or suggestion, that they turn their attention to Gramercy Park, and show up the democratic reformer who tried to buy the seat to which he was not elected and which he does not now and never will fill.

News and Notes.

The yellow fever is increasing its ravages in New Orleans, and gaining ground in Memphis, Tenn., and Grenada, Miss. On Wednesday, in New Orleans, there were 134 new cases and twenty deaths; in Memphis, nine new cases and three deaths; and the health officers of Grenada announced the presence in that place of the disease "in its most malignant form," and earnestly called for outside aid.

A man named John Mullins committed a murderous assault on Capt. Peter Simpson, Jr., of the firm of Rhodes & Simpson, manufacturers, in Millbury, Mass., Wednesday morning, shooting him with a pistol and inflicting a dangerous wound. The cause of the affair is a mystery. Mullins was arrested.

In March last, a man giving the name of J. Reinnert of New York disposed of two $1000 United States bonds to E. D. Langs & Co., of Boston, and in May offered for sale a third, which was finally sold to F. A. Hawley & Co. The bonds proved recently to be stolen, and Reinnert, whose real name is Dunster, was arrested and committed for trial, through the description given of him by William L. Pratt, a clerk in the office of Bangs & Co.

Official information has been received that Lieut. Wallace of Fort Nissouk has overtaken the marauding band of Nez Perces, numbering twenty, who have been plundering their way from Canada to Idaho, and has punished them severely, killing six, wounding three, and wounding or capturing most of their ponies. He had only a handful of men, but used them to excellent advantage.

A. E. Woodham shot and killed his uncle, Emery Woodham, near Timmonsville, S. C., on Wednesday. The killing grew out of a family difference which implicated a large number of the name, and it is feared the result will prove fatal to others of the family. The murderer and his abettors fled. Warrants for their arrests have been issued based on the verdict of the coroner's jury.

Several persons are digging for gold at Plymouth, Vt., and it is reported that two men recently took out in one day gold to the amount of $13, and that one nugget was found worth $8.

A whirlwind struck Allard Brothers' mill yard at Mechanicsville (Mount Holly,) Vt., recently, and destroyed from 5000 to 10,000 feet of lumber. Whole piles of boards were lifted up and carried off, some being dashed through the side of a house near by, and others taken straight up in the air out of sight.

Mrs. B. J. Sweet, widow of the late Gen. Sweet and mother of Miss Ida Sweet, Pension Agent at Chicago, was struck by a locomotive at Lombard on the Northwestern road, Wednesday morning, and instantly killed. She leaves four children.

A meeting of Job T. Wilson's creditors was held at Fall River, Mass., on Wednesday. A statement showed the liabilities to be $500,000, principally endorsements on Sagamore mill and Border City mill notes. Mr. Wilson offers to settle, paying six cents on a dollar. It is said that the creditors would accept ten cents. The hearing on the creditors' petition for involuntary bankruptcy, which has already been filed in the United States District Court, Boston, is indefinitely postponed. James A. Wilson, whose liabilities are about $75,000, endorsements for the above named mill notes, has settled with his creditors at twelve and a half cents on a dollar.

Steamer Tourist was cut down and sunk in Portland harbor Thursday morning, by steamer New York, from St. John, N. B. No lives were lost, and the Tourist will be raised. Steamer Forest City, from Boston, ran on the rocks at Portland Head at about the same time, but came off with slight damage. There was a dense fog at the time.

The signal service observer at Cape May, N. J., reports that on Thursday forenoon at eleven o'clock, Prof. Baxter, professor of elocution at Harvard, was drowned while swimming in deep water.

The boiler of tugboat Henderson blew up in New York harbor Wednesday night. Two men were killed—the captain and engineer; four others were badly hurt.

Peltiah Waite, sixty years old, of Melrose, Mass., on Wednesday night or Thursday morning murdered his wife, a dissolute character, by smashing her head with an iron bar. He then fired one shot from a pistol into his right temple, and changing the pistol to his left hand fired another shot into his left temple. Both were found dead Thursday morning.

Mr. Charles Marvin, the English Foreign Office clerk who was put on trial for divulging the Anglo-Russian agreement, has written an explanation to the London News, in which he says the document was not technically a secret one, and when he carried a summary of it from the Foreign Office he was under the impression that it was to be made known to Parliament that evening and would appear in the morning papers. Afterward, when Lord Salisbury asserted that the summary was unworthy of confidence, he divulged the full text, and would have done so if there had been twenty acts of Parliament against it instead of none at all. To show that he could keep a secret when he knew it was one, he says that he knew of a secret document of great importance signed on the 31st of May, which he had not revealed and should not reveal.

John Humphrey Noyes, the founder and head of the Oneida Community, is a cousin of President Hayes, and the wife of Mr. Howells, the editor of the Atlantic Monthly, is Noyes' niece.

Rev. E. A. Renouf of Keene has accepted a call to the rectorship of St. Peter's church at Drewsville.

There will soon be nothing left of Suncook, unless somebody manages to bring a shot-gun to bear on the incendiary who has already burned up half the town. There was another fire there Thursday morning. It was discovered at one o'clock in the stable of the Suncook hotel, and the stable, hotel, and D. S. Jones' dwelling were all burned. Loss $21,000; insurance about $14,000.

Martin V. Dickey, who shot Frank Eastman last June, says he remained a day and two nights on the mountain to which he escaped on the night of his arrest. He says he should not have run away had he not been advised to by his counsel, one Robinson, who at one time was a prominent lawyer in Groveton, but of late years has been under the control of rum. Dickey arrived at Plymouth Wednesday morning in custody of Sheriff Brown, was arraigned before Justice Robie, waived examination and was committed to jail for trial at the November term of the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Edwin Willoughby, aged forty-three years, committed suicide Wednesday by drowning in the Tarnic pond, Hudson. She has been insane once or twice before.

Serve an Injunction on Disease

By invigorating a feeble constitution, renovating a debilitated physique, and enriching a thin and innutritious circulation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest, the most highly sanctioned, and the most popular tonic and preventive in existence. It strengthens the stomach, remedies torpor of the liver and bowels, and gives a healthful impulse to the secretive and discharging functions of the kidneys and bladder. Not only does it arrest and prevent the recurrence of malarial fevers, but it furnishes the only adequate safeguard against them to persons who have never been afflicted with those maladies, but would be liable to incur them if medicinally unprotected. It eliminates from the blood certain impurities which the most skillful pathologists assign as the exciting causes of those agonizing complaints, rheumatism and gout, and it is, moreover, an excellent remedy for an enfeebled or overwrought state of the nerves, and for mental despondency.

Starving to Death.

Thousands of men and women are starving themselves to death. They dare not eat or drink this or that, fearing it will increase their flesh. Life depends upon continuous self-denial. The only safe and reliable remedy for this terrible condition is Allan's Anti-Fat. It is wholly vegetable and perfectly harmless. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 13th, 1878.

To the Proprietors of Allan's Anti-Fat:

Gentlemen—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat: "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week, until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Yours respectfully,

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. teep19

THE CITY.

The new barque Harvard, Capt. Pray, from Boston May 4th, arrived at Madras on the 15th inst.,—not bad work for a new ship and a young captain.

Yacht Ruth, of Salem, Mass., Capt. Wm. G. Remond, with a crew of six persons all told, was in the harbor on Thursday, weather-bound. She is of a good model and finely finished, and looks as if she was both comfortable and a good sailer. She was built by her skipper, Mr. Remond, and is his first attempt in the boat-building line.

Orders have been received at the navy yard to have the Ticonderoga and Kearsarge ready for sea by the latter part of October. The Speedwell, which has been at the yard for nearly two weeks, left for Gloucester, Mass., on Thursday. Extensive alterations and improvements have been made to her boiler and machinery, and new apparatus added to increase her usefulness in carrying out the work of the Fish Commissioners.

CITY COUNCILS.

The new City Government assembled in the City Rooms Thursday evening. A large crowd of citizens gathered in the halls and filled the sidewalk in the immediate vicinity waiting eagerly for the result of the election of officials for the ensuing municipal year.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen the following were announced as the Joint Standing Committees:

On Finance—The Mayor, Laighton and Mugridge.

Engrossing Bills—Hadley and Robinson.

City Lands and Buildings—Hodgdon and Payne.

Fire Department—Barri and Perkins.

Streets, Roads and Bridges—Hadley, Robinson, and Barri.

School Houses—Payne and Hodgdon.

Claims—Hadley and Mugridge.

Burying Grounds—Perkins and Payne.

Printing—Norton and Mugridge.

Accounts—Laighton and Perkins.

The Standing Committees are:

Bills on 2d reading—Laighton and Mugridge.

Enrolment—Perkins and Norton.

Laying out and widening Streets and repairing Drains—Hadley, Robinson and Perkins.

Gas Lights—Norton and Payne.

House of Correction—Laighton and Hadley.

Supervising Committee on Records, Journals and Accounts—Mayor, Payne and Mugridge.

Police—Hadley and Laighton.

In Common Council the Joint Standing Committee were announced as follows:

Finance—Brock, Walker and Pearson.

Engrossing Bills—Young, Jellison and Hammond.

City Lands and Buildings—Hodgdon, Tilton and Tuckerman.

Fire Department—Thurston, Manent and Pearson.

Streets, Roads and Bridges — Dixon, Adams and Marshall.

School Houses—Pfeiffer and Phinney.

Claims — Brock, Webster and Goodrich.

Burying Grounds—Young, Jellison and Tuckerman.

Printing—Tilton, Dixon and Goodrich.

Accounts—Young.

The Standing Committees are:

Elections—Young, Hodgdon and Hammond.

Bills on Second Reading—Brooks, Jellison and Pearson.

The following officers were elected in convention:

City Solicitor—William R. Foster.

City Messenger — James L. Parker, unanimously.

Street Commissioner—William F. Ham.

Keeper of Almshouse—William Shannon.

City Physician—Daniel W. Jones.

Surveyors—Albert M. Fray 1, Allen Greenough 2, Charles H. Hayes 3, Samuel S. Whidden 4, James S. Seavey 5, William P. Israel 6. The last named three were therefore elected.

Lot Layer—Albert C. Hoyt.

Ald. Perkins was empowered to bring in one vote for Sealer of Weights and Measures, and named Albert J. Badger. Same Alderman was also empowered to vote for James L. Parker for Harbor Master.

Port Wardens—Edward E. Vaughan, Otis F. Philbrick, James W. Raitt.

Keeper of Pound—Robert Shillaber.

Keeper of Powder House—James R. Yeaton.

Lamp Lighters—George Woods, Thomas A. Prior, Joseph Stickney.

Further election of officers in joint convention postponed to next meeting. The convention then rose.

In Board of Aldermen it was voted to proceed to the election of Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, and Samuel S. Fletcher was elected.

A communication from the members of Steam Fire Engine Co. No. 2, requesting that Willard Sears be appointed as one of the assistant engineers, was received.

Assistant-Engineers — James F. Shannon, Willard Sears, John S. Whidden, Thornton Betton.

Clerk to Board of Engineers—James L. Parker, unanimously.

City Marshal—Thomas Entwistle, election made unanimous.

Assistant Marshals — Charles A. C. Gray, Franklin Cole.

Health Officers — Daniel D. Jones, Robert Shillaber, Daniel Danielson.

Voted, That the election of Police Officers, Night Watchmen, Constables and Supernumerary Police Officers be postponed for one week.

The following business referred to the present board by the former one was disposed of:

Several bills to committee on accounts.

The bill of gas company referred to committee on gaslights.

Bill of Gerrish & Adams referred to committee on claims.

Voted, That the report of the committee on drains on ventilation of drains be laid on the table.

On petition of H. R. Stoddard and others for alteration of curve on the corner of Vaughan and Hanover streets, it was voted that the petitioners have a hearing and be notified of the same.

Tax of T. H. Chellis was referred to committee on claims.

The new business was then taken up.

Frank Jones asked leave to encumber Pleasant street for building purposes. Granted.

Joseph H. Thacher asked leave to lay drain. Referred to committee on drains.

Ald. Hadley gave notice that he should offer a resolution at the next meeting that that part of the Mayor's message relating to nuisances at the north and south mill ponds be referred to a special committee.

Voted that with the Mayor two Aldermen be appointed to attend the meeting of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad to be held at the Common Council room. Aldermen Norton and Robinson were appointed.

THE DROMEDARY.

An odd-looking craft, the catamaran Dromedary, Capt. Mansfield, arrived in this port from Salem on Wednesday evening, on her way to Boothbay, Me., and anchored off Russell & Odion's wharf, where she attracted considerable attention on Thursday.

The American catamarans are not like the timber catamarans seen on the coast of Brazil, that go under and through—but never over—the water at great speed, and keep their crews constantly soaked with salt water; nor like the flying proas of the Malays, that sail twenty knots an hour close-hauled, and lie within two and a half-points of the wind at that; but they are a kind of cross between the two—not so utterly uncomfortable as the first, nor so fast as the latter.

The Dromedary consists of two hulls, each thirty-one feet long and twenty-two inches wide, held a distance of thirteen feet from each other by stout cross-timbers, the hulls drawing eighteen inches of water. In one of these cross-timbers the single mast is stepped, and on this mast is hoisted a single sail such (except in material) as is carried by Chinese junks, having five yards and containing 103 yards of canvas. [Her racing sail will contain 200 yards.] The accommodations for the crew consist of a task or car, about ten feet long, six feet wide and two feet high, which sits upon the after part of the frame-work which connects the long, narrow hulls or supporting tanks. A little dory, which is hauled up and stowed away on the frame-work when sailing, completes the catamaran's fit-out.

Her crew consists of Messrs. George W. Mansfield and Edgar Blake, of Salem, the former being the queer-looking craft's builder. Mr. Mansfield informs us that she is rather slow in going about, as might be expected, but that with proper management she never mis-stays. She made the run from Salem to Newburyport in four hours and a quarter, and he thinks they got thirteen knots out of her on one occasion.

The excursionists intended to leave for the eastward Thursday morning, but the fog and threatening weather prevented.

SUPREME COURT.

The adjourned term was held at Concord on Thursday, all the judges being present except Judge Smith, who is in Europe. Eight law students were admitted to practice after examination under the new rules, and one rejected.

On the Rockingham Docket the following cases were disposed of, thus: Gould vs. Raymond, Drake vs. North Hampton, State by Att'y-General vs. Eastern R. R. in N. H., and Eastern Railroad Company, Sawyer vs. Concord R. R., Bennett by guardian vs. Bennett, Sleeper vs. Worcester & Nashua R. TAKEN IN.

Mr. Editor: As the New York Herald prides itself on the correctness of its information generally, it was probably taken in in the matter you noticed relating to the Isles of Shoals and Portsmouth, by a third-rate penny-a-liner, or some wight on his first jaunt to a watering place, and desirous for the first time to "appear in print,"—an achievement for which many of a similar class have always an itching desire, and whose productions are wonderfully apt to possess the two qualities of bad English and a total want of interest, especially the latter. The waste-paper basket is the proper depository for such weak efforts at composition. Enough of like material finds its way into the "devil's" bag of sweepings in the office of a large city daily to keep him in spending money, judiciously used, for the week. It is always dangerous, as you are of course aware, for an editor to take on trust contributions from unknown would-be "writers for the press." Not many years since a New York newspaper proprietor and editor-in-chief, with the counting-room manager, had to leave his seat in Congress and journey nearly a thousand miles in the dead of winter, to defend himself in a libel suit in which he had been involved by a literary aspirant, whose scribbling was sent to the composing-room by a simple clerk having his first experience in newspaper life.

THE VICINITY.

In the case of Bartlett vs. the town of Kittery, to recover damages for injuries sustained because of a horse taking fright at a boiler lying at the side of the road, belonging to the navy department,—decided in 1877 in favor of the town,—the law court of Maine has overruled the exceptions and denied the motion for a new trial.

Mr. Andrew J. Leavitt of Saco, assistant roadmaster on the Eastern railroad, was killed at Kennebunk on the afternoon of the 13th inst. Mr. Leavitt was overseeing the work of making up a train by means of an engine and drag rope, when the rope broke, catching round his body and throwing him about thirty feet, breaking his hip and other bones, and almost instantly killing him. Mr. Leavitt had been in the employ of the Eastern road about thirty years, and was a faithful and efficient man.

The annual meeting of the Swamscot Machine Company was held at South Newmarket on Thursday, when Amos Paul, Amos Tuck, Samuel H. Tarlton, W. M. Paul and George W. Frost were chosen directors. William H. Hackett, from a committee appointed at the last annual meeting, reported a list of by-laws which were adopted in lieu of those heretofore in force. The company is largely engaged in the manufacture of steam-heating apparatus for buildings, and in work for gas companies, etc.

The funeral services of the late Gardner J. Edmands, of Greenland, were held Thursday afternoon at the residence of his father, station agent Edmands, in that town. The deceased had been for a number of years a baggage master on the Concord railroad, and a special train from this city took out station agent Waldron, conductor Wyatt, expressman Cornell, ex-postal agent Conn, cashier H. B. Lord, and engineers Littlefield and Locke, with many others, including a large delegation of Newichewannock Tribe, I. O. R. M., Sachem W. E. Allen, the simple and impressive services of the order being held at the grave. Many acquaintances from this city and elsewhere manifested their friendship for the deceased and their sympathy for the bereaved wife and family by their presence. Rev. Mr. Owen of this city conducted the services at the house, assisted by Rev. Mr. Robie of Greenland. Mr. Edwards was twenty-five years of age, and highly esteemed.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Political.

The Washington Republican says: "It comes up from Boston, and apparently well authenticated, that General Butler has concluded a bargain with the democrats of Massachusetts in effect that he is to use his strength to carry three Congressional districts for them, and in return they agree to 'fix things' so that no nomination shall be made at their State convention for governor, thus leaving him a clear field to play Judas against the republican nominee. He has blacked his face, torn his clothes, and concluded to accept the nomination of the Kearneyites for Governor."

Gen. Butler declares that he has not deserted the republican party; that Hayes has done nothing except to appoint to office fifty-seven men who helped him to fraudulently fill the highest office in the government, and has appointed more scoundrels to office than were ever known in the country before; that he (Butler) has nothing to do with Kearney, and does not endorse him in any way.

In 1866, Senator Voorhees, then a member of the House, voted for the McCulloch resolution, declaring that the contraction of the volume of legal tenders was necessary in order to bring the country to a specie basis, and relieve the labor of the country from the oppression of money of shifting value.

The Petit Marseillais relates that a youth of about sixteen recently ventured beyond the Portugal Rock at Marseilles to bathe, when all at once he felt that something had attached itself to one of his legs, and was dragging him downward. He was terribly frightened, and cried out lustily for help. A fisherman heard him, and came to his rescue just in time to save him from sinking. After much difficulty the lad was got into the fisherman's boat, when it was discovered that a cuttle-fish, measuring eighty centimetres from the head to the extremity of its arms, had fastened itself to the leg so strongly that it did not let go its hold, even when out of the water.

The Shakers are said to have increased since 1870 and to number now nearly 12,000. They have eighteen separate settlements, of which two are in Maine, two in New Hampshire, four in Massachusetts, one in Connecticut, three in New York, four in Ohio and two in Kentucky. They believe the kingdom of heaven has already been established upon earth, which shows that they were not very exacting in their expectations.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

The medicine this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and will insure A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressed when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. As a pile medicine I do not extol it as a cure-all; but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, most perfectly specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state of condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of these diseases, peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, which we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and the medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious taste. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietors of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who try them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

The Connecticut Tornado.

The New Haven Palladium publishes the following graphic description of the terrible tornado at Wallingford, Conn., given by Elbridge Doolittle, a bright boy of fourteen years, who lives in a house close by the track of the whirlwind, and was sitting at a rear window in the second story of the house, watching the lightning when the tornado originated. He says:

I saw the flashes of lightning, and then, all of a sudden, heard a queer noise. I turned around and looked toward the lake, where the noise came from. There was a crash, and then something shot up into the sky that looked like a cloud of smoke, and was so thick that I couldn't see through it. There was an awful roar and it came along about five rods, and then there were pieces of boards and shingles and pieces of roof I should think that were about five feet square. Those I suppose came from Grasser's shop. The tornado, or whatever you call it, was about as wide as a house is long, and kept whirling round and round, being a good deal bigger at the top than at the bottom. It swept along awfully fast, and tapered down at the bottom like a balloon, with a long tail stringing under it, out of which a stream of water kept running, just like it would out of a tunnel. The tail kept swinging and whipping around like a snake. After it got well started, the boards began to get thicker in it and it struck something else and things were lifted right up into the air and came scudding along until it reached the Catholic church, and that and the houses on the plains went over just as tall grass blows down when a stiff wind blows across it. The buildings went right over, some going up into the air, and it seemed to me as if the tail had twisted right around them and lifted them up. When it got opposite our house the thing was terribly black and thick, and was full of timbers which kept turning end over end instead of spinning around like a top. It was full of limbs of trees, too, and they looked like big kites with the leaves at the top, and the limbs or trunks hanging down like the tail to a kite. Every little while the stuff in the air would drop and another building would be thrown around. The tail kept dragging along the ground, and all moved very rapidly, there being no stop until it reached the school-house. Then I thought it stopped for a second or two, as if the school-house was too big for it, but it went up into the air, and the tail seemed to wind around the school-house—I could see it so plainly. After it had wound around the school-house it started again with an awful roar, and instead of blowing over it lifted the top of the school-house right up into the air. Part of it dropped back again after it had got up a little ways, but the biggest part seemed to start on with the tornado. After it left the school-house I lost sight of it. I should think it took about three minutes for the whole thing to come from the lake to the school-house.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, AUGUST 17, 1878.

A Plain Warning.

Jere Haralson, a colored Ex-Congressman of Alabama, having been announced to make speeches to the republicans of that State, the Selma Press thus addresses him: "We know exactly what we are taking about, and have weighed well every word we here put in print. You are in danger, you devil, and before you know it you will bite yourself with a snake. You cannot longer go over Dallas county making incendiary speeches to the negroes, and using every means in your power to create riot and bloodshed. In doing such acts you become a public enemy, and you are liable to be shot down by any one. Now, while we will not advise any one to shoot you, we are free to say that if you continue in your present course, and it is done, we shall shed no tears over your demise. We understand that you were supplied by the Radical Executive Committee with funds to return to this district and whoop 'em up in the style we have alluded to. If this is so, you had better use your unexpended balance in getting away from this county and section. Your incendiary speeches must be stopped somehow or somehow else. Do you understand?" And yet, in spite of a vast abundance of such conciliatory talk as this on the part of the ex-confederate press, there are republicans in the north who persist in asserting that the southern republicans can vote according to their convictions only at the peril of their lives. They can vote with perfect freedom and safety, and as often as they please, provided only that they vote democratic.

Yellow Fever.

The yellow fever is spreading in the south and west at a most alarming rate, and a general panic prevails in all the large cities. Business and travel are almost entirely suspended, and appeals for aid come from many places.

In Grenada, Miss., fourteen deaths occurred Thursday. The city marshal is acting mayor, being the only city official left alive.

New Orleans had ninety-eight new cases, and seventeen deaths.

The postmaster and collector of internal revenue at Memphis, Tenn., telegraphed the War Department for 1000 tents and provisions for the poor people of that city, the fever having gained a strong hold and other towns being quarantined against Memphis.

Railroad and steamboat travel is checked, and in many instances wholly stopped.

So great was the yellow fever scare at Shawneetown, Ill., that a cannon was trained on a steamer coming up the Ohio to prevent its landing. At Shreveport, La., also, Mr. Gable, a New Orleans coffin agent, was driven out of the city, though he came from Texas, and had left New Orleans long before there had been any yellow fever there.

News and Notes.

Passed Assistant Paymaster George A. Deering is detached from the Ajax and other monitors at Brandon, Va., and ordered to settle accounts. Assistant Paymaster W. W. Galt is detached from the receiving ship Franklin at Norfolk and ordered to duty on board the Ajax and other monitors at Brandon.

Timothy McCarty and Dennis Sullivan, middle-aged men, were suffocated in a well they were deepening at Jencksville, Mass., Thursday afternoon, by the fumes of a blast of nitro-glycerine just fired.

The President has finally approved the action of the court-martial in sentencing Lieut. E. M. Maxwell of Springfield, Mass., to be cashiered and imprisoned in the penitentiary. Lieut. Maxwell was found by the court guilty of having sold his pay account for the same month several times to different persons.

In San Francisco, Thursday morning, William G. English was fatally shot in the back with a shot-gun by Henry Caulfield. English was putting up a fence on land claimed by Caulfield. The latter is a notorious desperado, who has been indicted twenty-three times, mostly for murderous attempts, been wounded ten several times desperately, had three revolver balls put into him once, his lungs penetrated twice, and his head split with an axe, besides getting his eye knocked out with a club. Caulfield has been a prominent democratic politician. English, also a democrat, has been Mayor of Sacramento, and was a delegate to the St. Louis Convention.

The jury at Sunbury, Pa., in the case of Peter McManus, a Molly Maguire, for the murder of Coroner Hesser at Shamokin in December, 1874, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Charles Gates, the boy bitten by a shark in East river, New York, has died.

The regatta of the Eastern Rowing Association at Silver Lake, Mass., Thursday, was a very successful affair. Holmes won the amateur scullers' race, and Frenchy Johnson that for professionals. Courtney was obliged to give up by sickness. The Narragansetts were the winning six and the Lakemen crew the winning four.

The contents of Lippincott's for September are all of a light character, suitable for the season, but include several papers of more than usual pungency and interest. The illustrated articles are an account of a visit to the Desert of Sahara, by a lady, and a description of Kashmir, by Edward C. Bruce. "Personal Sketches of Some French Litterateurs," by Arthur Venner, will attract much notice by details respecting the lives and habits of Taine, About, the younger Dumas, and other celebrities with whom the writer has come in contact. Mary Dean has a graphic and amusing rural sketch, entitled "The Boy on a Hill-Farm;" a naval officer gives an account of "A Day at Tantah," the scene of the Egyptian annual fair; and D. C. Macdonald relates the experiences of an English teacher in the United States. Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis contributes a short story, "His Great Deed," characterized by her well-known powers of delineation and insight. A story by Sherwood Bonner, "C. G.; or, Lilly's Earrings," is sparkling and vivacious; and Miss Olney's new serial, "Through Winding Ways," grows in interest, and seems likely to take a firm hold of the minds of many readers. Short papers, and poems by Mrs. Moulton and John B. Tabb, are included in this entertaining number.

Attorney-General Devens has made a decision of vital interest to inventors. Letters patent can only be issued to the real inventor, and when issued to several parties jointly, and where only one was the real inventor, they are null and void.

The amount advanced by the city of Bangor in 1876 to protect the coupons, due July 1st of that year, on the city loan of one million dollars, issued in aid of the construction of the European & North American Railway, has finally been repaid in full, including interest accrued on the sum advanced, the last payment of $4166.67 having been made to the city treasurer by order of the trustees of the European & North American Railway Company.

Mr. White, president of the Belfast, Me., National Bank, was last week waited upon by a man who inquired if the bank was letting money at twenty-four per cent interest. The president said they would take six per cent on good security. "Well," said the caller, "a man in Freedom says that you are charging six per cent every three months—and four times six are twenty-four." The greenback convention brought a good many wonderful stories into Belfast.

Troy Dye, the Public Administrator of Sacramento county, California, has made a full confession concerning the recent murder of A. M. Tullis on Grand Island. He confesses to have instigated the murder for the purpose of getting control of the estate of deceased. He implicates, as the perpetrator of the deed, Edward Anderson, a Swede, formerly in his employ, and another party, name not yet ascertained. Anderson also made a confession corroborating Dye. Anderson was to receive $6000 for the job. They had previously tried to kill Tullis by poison. They had also discussed the murder of other citizens. The details are replete with cold-blooded cruelty. Dye had heretofore borne a good reputation in the community, and his connection in the created the utmost surprise and excitement.

John Ten Eyck, who murdered the Stillmans in Sheffield, Mass., last fall, was successfully hanged in the jail at Pittsfield on Friday.

Hoedel, who attempted to murder the Emperor William, had his head cut off on Friday.

President Diaz, of Mexico, has ordered the Mexican troops to repel any future raids of United States troops in pursuit of Mexican cattle thieves and murderers.

New Hampshire News.

Wesley Wilson of Nashua was sentenced to the Reform School during his minority, Thursday, for breaking and entering the store of W. B. Chase of Belvidere.

The United States internal revenue officers have made a raid on unlicensed liquor dealers in Nashua, succeeding in discovering some dozen places where the ardent was being illegally disposed of.

The town of Brookfield offered $1000 reward for the conviction of the murderer of Susan A. Hanson after Buzzell's first acquittal. The people of the town are now attempting to get rid of paying the reward, and will soon hold a town meeting to see about it. If the town refuses to pay, S. D. Cohen, a Boston detective, will commence a suit for its recovery.

There will be a grand mass meeting of the New Hampshire Patrons of Husbandry at Weirs Landing on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 27th, 28th, and 29th. There are a large number of distinguished guests invited, including Gov. Prescott, Congressman Loring of Massachusetts, Hon. Marshall P. Wilder and Prof. Nichols. Excursion tickets will be sold by the various railroads.

William L. Ellsworth and John L. Kemp of West Concord, went into the city on a recent Sunday and got on a spree. On their way home in the evening they stopped at a wayside inn and had cider. Martin Spain came in and they wanted to him to treat; a squabble ensued in which Ellsworth pounded Spain with a pair of brass knuckles. They were arrested and tried before a police magistrate, who fined Ellsworth $20 and $12.30 costs; Kemp contributed $18 and $8.73 costs.

Political.

The Colorado greenbackers held their State convention Thursday, nominated a full ticket, denounced both the old parties, demanded the imposition of a tax on all incomes above $1000, and declared squarely for repudiation of the national debt.

The democrats of the 4th Congressional district of Maine on Thursday nominated G. W. Ladd, who is also the greenback candidate.

The democratic county convention of Penobscot county, Me., Thursday, nominated the same candidates as the greenbackers.

Alexander H. Stephens has been renominated for Congress.

The Boston Post and other democratic papers boil over with righteous indignation at "the infamous and unjust gerrymandering schemes" of the New Hampshire politicians. We do not remember that any of these democratic reformers burst with wrath over the gerrymander of Ohio, ordered by Sam J. Randall and carried out by the democratic legislature of that State, by which it was hoped to give the democrats fourteen out of twenty Congressmen even though the republicans had a large majority in the State.

Starving to Death.

Thousands of men and women are starving themselves to death. They dare not eat or drink this or that, fearing it will increase their flesh. Life depends upon continuous self-denial. The only safe and reliable remedy for this terrible condition is Allan's Anti-Fat. It is wholly vegetable and perfectly harmless, its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 13th, 1878.

To the Proprietors of Allan's Anti-Fat:

Gentlemen—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat: "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week, until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Yours respectfully,

POWELL & PLIMPTON,
Wholesale Druggists.

Serve an Injunction on Disease

By invigorating a feeble constitution, renovating a debilitated physique, and enriching a thin and anæmic circulation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest, the most highly sanctioned, and the most popular tonic and preventive in existence. It strengthens the stomach, remedies torpor of the liver and bowels, and gives a healthful impulse to the secretive and discharging functions of the kidneys and bladder. Not only does it arrest and prevent the recurrence of malarial fevers, but it furnishes the only adequate safeguard against them to persons who have never been afflicted with those maladies, but would be liable to incur them if medicinally unprotected. It eliminates from the blood certain impurities which the most skillful pathologists assign as the exciting causes of those agonizing complaints, rheumatism and gout, and it is, moreover, an excellent remedy for an enfeebled or overwrought state of the nerves, and for mental despondency.

"Prices to suit the times," together with every comfort the most fastidious could ask or desire, and the most delicate attention to every want has made the Colonnade the hotel of Philadelphia.

Clergymen, singers and public speakers who are troubled with hoarseness or bronchial affections, will find themselves greatly relieved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Sample and circular free at the druggist's.

Thousands of persons have their eyes turned towards Wall street. Thus is where thousands of dollars are made daily from investments ranging from $50 to $250. The reliable brokers, Alex. Frottingham & Co., 12 Wall st., N. Y., send their Financial Report free,—which explains fully. 12

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tsept15

Time Flies and so do diseases of the skin when that incomparable purifier of the cuticle and beautifier of the complexion, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, is used to disperse them. Pimples, blotches, sores and bruises, and the like are invariably removed by it.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE.

The rapidity of its operation, perfect safety, permanent healthful effect, and the exceeding depth and richness of the hues it imparts, distinguish this preparation from all other Dyes in use in this country or in Europe.

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative

a valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a perfect safeguard that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 96 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tsep 15

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you FREE OF CHARGE. SHOW!

From the Great New York Aquarium!

Trained Wild Animals, Wonderful Drove of Broncho Horses, Prof. Richel's Flying-Machine, The Great Japanese Show, Cephalopodian Monsters of the deep. The only Living Giraffe in America, and the Gigantic DEVIL FISH!!

Thirty-Nine and a Half Feet Long!

WILL EXHIBIT IN PORTSMOUTH

—ON—

Tuesday, Aug. 27th.

Giving two entertainments, afternoon and evening, under new and beautiful Double Parlor tents.

Admission 50 cents, Children under 10 years half-price. Elegant Reserved Seats 25 cents extra. Doors open at 1:30 and 7:30 o'clock P. M.

Everybody who has seen it says it is THE FINEST EXHIBITION EVER KNOWN. Among the marvels presented is at an expense of nearly $1000 per day, the wonder and delight of the scientific world. This is the same flying machine and the same inventor who made such interesting experiments in Boston recently to the wonder and delight of thousands. Exhibitions of it will be given daily without extra charge. It is worth going many miles to see.

Mr. W. C. Coup, the Proprietor and Manager, is the originator and manager of the largest amusement enterprises in the world—the Great Hippodrome Building in New York and the New York Aquarium.

It is a New and Recherche Exhibition, Chaste and Elegant, in all its appointments. The GIGANTIC DEVIL FISH, thirty-nine and one half feet long, is the first and only perfect specimen ever captured or seen on earth. $50,000 is offered for its equal. It was captured in Trinity Bay, Newfoundland, Sept. 23d, 1877. Total length as measured by Prof. Verrill of Yale College, at time of capture, 39½ ft. It requires to transport it a tank car length of a railroad car.

Among the entire new features are the Broncho Horses. A living Giraffe trained to harness. Positively the 3-standard Gigantic Camel Giraffe ever known, which will appear driven in the ring before the audience whence it will be seen running, cantering, leaping and walking just as it appears in the wilds of South Africa—well worth the whole price of admission to see.

Native, the champion horse leaper of the world.

Bears of Performing Lions and Leopards. Free Exhibition of these wild animals, performed by the Only Female Lion Tamer in the World.

Horse-Riding Monkeys. Two Horse-Riding Rocky Mountain Goats, in single and double acts. Horse-Riding Dogs. Dog-Riding Barnack Dogs.

Jackii-Chy's Troupe of Royal Japanese. A company of wonderful performers.

The Snow Brothers, champion Athletes. Mr. and Mrs. Austin in their Unrivaled Lightning Zouave Drill. Miss Emma Stokes on her beautiful Street Tandem. No pretensions to a gorgeous display in the streets, merely a mirrored tableau car, containing Mr. Meader's Silver Cornet Band. A genuine TAYLOR-BO COACH with four-in-hand, and a $1000 harness. Imperial Coach of Napoleon III. $100,000 Beautiful Broncho Horses, led singly by liveried grooms. Jackii-Chy's Royal Japanese Troupe, dressed in their native costume. Madam Lebnatt's Den of living wild animals.

No side-shows, peddlers, prize-package swindlers or nuisances of any kind allowed. Everything is strictly moral and first-class. The first and only show in the United States that ever performed all its advertisements, and which advertises nothing which it does not exhibit. Remember this is not a circus. Living wild and domestic animals perform on horseback all the difficult feats of the most skillful equestrians. For full particulars see Couriers, programmes, pamphlets, large and small bills, scattered everywhere by thousands.

Tickets may be had early on the day of exhibition at Preston's Drug Store. Special excursion trains will run on all roads to and from the place of exhibition at half fare, giving everybody an opportunity to see the Great Flying Machine, the Broncho horses and the Gigantic Devil Fish free of extra charge.

E. G. PIERCE, Jr., P. M.

THE CITY.

Hon. Peter Marcy of New Orleans is on a visit to his relatives in this city.

A new gun deck of southern pine is being put in the U. S. S. Kearsarge at the navy yard. Two water-ways just placed measure ninety-three feet and six inches in length each. They are of Oregon pine.

On Friday evening at about half-past six o'clock Mr. Charles Berry, watchman at the Concord railroad wharf, discovered a fire in T. E. Call & Sons' lumber yard, and extinguished the same with several bucketsful of water. The fire was started by an Italian boy, five years old, lighting a quantity of chips, etc., under a large pile of lumber, and would have resulted disastrously if it had not been so promptly detected.

Harper's Magazine for September, with the two serial stories by Black and Hardy, representing the best work of these two great novelists; three brilliant short stories by Mrs. E. W. Latimer, Rebecca Harding Davis and Rose Terry Cooke; a dramatic sketch of thrilling interest by T. B. Aldrich, with three illustrations by Abbey; a humorous sketch by Charles D. Deshler, entitled "Ab'm: A Glimpse of Modern Dixie," illustrated by Pyle; an illustrated poem, of pathetic interest, "The Foreclosure of the Mortgage," by Mrs. E. T. Corbett; other poems by Ruth Dana and Harriet Prescott Spofford; several illustrated articles, covering a variety of subjects; timely articles of great and immediate interest to all readers, and the five admirably sustained editorial departments — is an exceedingly rich, beautiful and entertaining number. Now ready for delivery at Myers' and Moses Brothers' bookstores.

THE VICINITY.

Mr. Charles R. Sargent, a well-known hardware merchant of Newburyport, was thrown from his carriage in Wells, Me., on the 13th inst., and quite seriously injured.

An ice-house in Biddeford, owned by C. H. Bragdon and containing between 3000 and 4000 tons of ice, was partially burned Thursday evening. Loss $1400; insured.

Mary Emerson, formerly of Richmond, Vt., committed suicide at Great Falls Thursday, while in a fit of despondency, taking oil of cedar. She was twenty-four years old.

The committee appointed to examine the books of E. W. Wedgwood, the defaulting treasurer of Biddeford, report, in addition to the deficit of $5447.24 before reported, the sum of $621.25, money collected from tenants of city building and never paid over. They now ask for more time to examine his accounts with the fire department.

The Belknap Sunday school of Dover had a picnic at Dover point on Wednesday, 14th inst., Mr. Saville, landlord of the Dover Point hotel, furnishing the large party with one of his excellent clam-chowders. Croquet, swinging, boating, singing, etc., made the time pass pleasantly until six o'clock, when the cars were taken for Dover. The committee of arrangements voted their thanks to Mr. Saville for his courteous and liberal entertainment.

THE "EQUESCURRICULUM."

Mr. W. C. Coup's great show will exhibit in this city on Tuesday, 27th inst. We have not seen it, but from the press reports we have no hesitation in saying that it is entertaining in the extreme, and that no objectionable or annoying features are permitted. There are no side-shows, and no hawking of apples and nuts during the performance. The Harrisburg Pa., Telegraph says "it is the most refined and pleasing entertainment that has ever visited our city;" the Elmira, N. Y., Advertiser says the performance there was "the best ever given in Elmira;" the Rochester, N. Y., Union says it is "the best exhibition on the road;" and the papers of Buffalo, N. Y., say it is "the very best show ever given" in that city. Among the attractions are the giant devil-fish, nearly forty feet long; Prof. Richels and his flying machine, which created so much excitement in Boston in July last and attracted so many thousands to the Common to see a man literally flying in the air at will, even against adverse winds; the Broncho horses; Jackit-Chy's troupe of Japanese; Major Fryer's marvellous troupe of trained dogs; a full corps of first-class acrobats; a living giraffe trained to drive in harness in a circus ring; Madam Rinehart, a female who performs with a den of lions, tigers and leopards; the startling performances of the equescurriculum and the feats of educated wild animals, etc., all of which are said to exceed in interest and novelty the largest shows that ever travelled in New England. See advertisement.

WONDERFUL EYE-GLASSES.

A gentleman of this city is the happy possessor of a pair of old-fashioned, gold-bowed eye-glasses that have had several hair's-breadth escapes, and always got off unscathed. On one occasion, being then in Texas, tramping over a prairie, he lost these glasses, missed them two days afterward, walked back forty miles and found them beside a brook where he stopped to take a drink of water. [This part of the story is only partially true. He did not have the glasses when he was in Texas, but if he had then possessed them he would certainly have lost them in the manner we have described, and reasoning from analogy would as certainly have found them.]

Early last winter the gentleman dropped his glasses through a hole in the floor of an old building into an excavation half full of rubbish beneath, and the keenest search failed to discover them; but several weeks afterward the owner of the building had his notice attracted to something which shone in the rays of the sun as they streamed through a knot-hole, and in a short time the lost glasses were once more restored to usefulness.

A couple of weeks later the glasses were again missing, having been dropped on the street near the post-office; but an advertisement in the CHRONICLE at once brought them back, or at least induced a boy who found them to do so.

Early in the present summer the owner of the glasses went down the river with a small but select boating party; the day was hot, and the heat, etc., making the party inclined to repose, they sought the shade on Point Pocahontas, Gerrish's island, disposed themselves on the softest rocks they could find, and went to sleep. On returning to the city the glasses were not to be found, and the owner informed a friend a day or two later that he believed he had lost them on Gerrish's island. The friend asked a few particulars, and next morning rowed down to the island, and in a few minutes discovered the lost glasses where they had fallen among some of the ragged rocks of that locality.

On another occasion the glasses were left at a house in York, and a few days later their owner was informed that the house and nearly all it contained had been burned. He concluded that his glasses were gone for good this time, sure, as he had left them in an upper room and nothing whatever was saved from the upper stories; but soon after he met an acquaintance from York who sang out to him, "Your glasses are all right; they had been put into an old secretary on the lower floor for safe keeping, and that old secretary was about all the piece of furniture that we got out."

These glasses are not for sale.

What Southern Supremacy will Mean.

In all human likelihood a democrat will walk up the White House steps in 1881, and take his seat in the Presidential chair. He will send his first message to a democratic Senate and a democratic House, and then a quiet but irresistible revolution will set in—a revolution that will sweep from the Constitution and statute books the last stain and blemish of New England's ideas. It is safe to say that the following programme will be followed out to the utmost letter and syllable:

1. The Republic will be divested of the powers that it has usurped from the States since 1861. The reserved rights of the several commonwealths of the Federal Union will be recognized in their widest scope and range. In a word the Calhoun theory will be put in practice, while Hamiltonism will be torn up root and branch, and destroyed forever.

2. The unconstitutional amendments will be repealed, and the Constitution will thus be restored to its primitive vigor, the ballot-box purified and politics redeemed in an unlimited measure from the demoralizing influence of ignorant, vicious and mercenary suffrage.

3. The "National" banks will be levelled with the dust, the United States bonds will be taxed, and the greenback will be made a legal-tender for every dollar of public indebtedness.

A thousand and one other reforms necessitated by radical treason and misrule will be made; but those we have particularly specified are the most urgent and vital, and will prove most speedily beneficial to our common country.—Okolona (Miss.) Southern States.

A Kentucky Mystery.

About the middle of July, Philip Falls, a resident of Union, Boone county, Ky., a few miles from Covington, left his home for Clarksville, Tenn. He arrived at Louisville and stopped over for the night at one of the prominent hotels, where he met an old enemy. They resumed their ancient quarrel, and Falls struck his opponent on the head with a pistol, knocking him down, when friends interfered and separated them. They then agreed to settle the feud the next day with pistols, in the mountains of Kentucky, and according to agreement they met the next morning and concluded their preparations. They took a train and left the city for the mountains, unaccompanied by friends or spectators, and from that day to this not a word has been heard from Philip Falls or his enemy. Search and inquiries have been made, but all are fruitless, and many believe that the men fought as they had premeditated, and fell at the hands of each other in the mountains. Both men were in good social standing, and the quarrel, which had such a mysterious termination, arose about a woman.

A Good Woman.

Mrs. Adelaide Butler, for twenty-five years the matron of the Colored Orphan Asylum in New York, recently died, and her name deserves to be remembered. She was born in Virginia, and came to the north a quarter of a century ago. Widowed and childless, her care of the children in her charge was most tender and maternal, and Rev. Mr. Garnett says that during the twenty-five years of her service as matron of the Asylum it had never once been necessary to suggest to her the performance of any duty devolving upon her. During the fierce draft riots of the war, when the mob, with its usual cowardly cruelty, fell upon the most helpless victims, it directed its fury against an asylum for poor colored orphan children. That fact alone stamped the true character of the riot, which some of the papers foolly insulted all honorable men by calling a movement of "the people." The mob set fire to the building, and as if all the poor little waifs were her own children, Mrs. Butler shielded them bravely from the white scoundrels, and with the police, prevented a frightful massacre. The raging mob turned upon her, and she was saved only by being covertly carried to the station-house.

A Long Sing.

At Stokesley, in Yorkshire, there lives a man who once assisted in singing the whole of the 119th Psalm. This has gained for him the respect of his fellow-townsmen. About sixty years ago the parson of that parish thought it his duty to attend marriage feasts, and the parish clerk at the same time thought it his duty to assist at christening tea-parties. These two functionaries quarrelled, and the parson one day commanded the clerk's presence at an hour when he knew that certain tea-cakes and muffins would be at their best. The clerk saw the move, and he determined on his revenge. Having got the choir and band on his side, on a Sunday morning when the parson had shortened his sermon in order to go out to dine, instead of giving out part one of the 119th Psalm the clerk gave out, "Let us sing to the praise and glory of God the 119th Psalm—all on't." The parson, with his head on the pulpit cushion, for some time did not notice what was going on, and by the time that he did, the musicians were fairly at work, and in spite of all he could say or do, were not to be denied. The air was never lost. The fiddlers wore out their bows and strings, the flute-player blew out his front teeth, the clarinet never recovered its tone, and the singers all suffered more or less, but they kept it up to the bitter end, and finished at three o'clock in the afternoon, after four hours' work. Many of the congregation went to their dinner and returned in the afternoon to the finish, but the parson won much respect by sticking to his pulpit to the last, when he gave the usual benediction.

—A bat that flies without wings—a brickbat.

— It is singular that in England, where the sanctity and exclusiveness of private life are most strongly insisted upon, the fashion has sprung up among the ladies of society of permitting their photographs to be sold to the public indiscriminately, and sometimes in fancy costumes like actresses. For instance, it is said that the portrait of Mrs. Langtry of Jersey, now the reigning beauty of society, surpasses in popularity that of Miss Maud Granger.

—Louis Quintal, a Montreal miser, seventy-two years old, with two houses and a farm in the country, has been arrested and sent to jail because the neighbors could not stand the foul odor of the carrion on which he lived. He would collect stale fish and meat from the lanes and streets, and cooking up enough to last him several weeks, would fish out enough from time to time to satisfy his hunger. When arrested, he was dragging home the carcass of a horse, which had to be at once removed, so unwholesome was its smell. There have been more cases of small-pox in that block than in any other in the city.

—Another Irish judge has refused to inflict punishment on a prisoner because of the severity of the new prison rules, which provide that for the first month of his or her term the prisoner must sleep on a plank two feet wide in the clothes worn by day. At the Kildare assizes the Lord Chief Baron had a woman named Kelly brought before him for being in illegal possession of a sum of money. The judge bound her over in £20, on condition that her husband would return the money to its owner before the next assizes, and said that he would send no female convict to jail while the plank bed regulation was in force, if the justice of the case permitted.

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

A Remedy for Weak Eyes.

A splendid remedy for weak or sore eyes is recommended as follows: Get a five-cent cake of elder flowers at the druggist's, and steep in a one-half gill of soft water; it must be steeped in bright tin or earthenware; strain nicely and then add three drops of laudanum; bottle it tight, and keep in a cool place; then use it as a wash, letting some of it get in the eyes. Follow this and relief is certain. If the eyes are painful or much sore, make small, soft compresses, wet in the mixture, and bind over the eyes at night. I can warrant the above as harmless and sure, having tried it in a number of cases where other skill and remedies had utterly failed. If the eyes are badly inflamed, use it very freely; and a tea made of elder flowers and drank will help cleanse the blood. Pure rock salt and water will strengthen your weak eyes if you bathe them daily in it. I would earnestly advise you to avoid mixtures or washes containing mineral or other poisons.—The Doctor.

— Seth Green, the great fish breeder, maintains that eels are natives of salt water, and that they are only wanderers when found in fresh-water streams or ponds. Mr. Green has studied their habits many years in different parts of the country, but in thirty years he has never found an egg in the dressing eels, and he is confident that they are hybrids, never producing their kind.

— A Utica (N. Y.) young man, whose name is not given, marched away to the war, leaving a young Irish love behind him. Before his return the expectant bride sickened and died, which drove the lover to drink. This summer his craze has taken on a new form, and, having dug a grave in a secluded spot, he placed a rude coffin by its side, by which he sang and prayed. He has now lowered the coffin into the grave and covered it with grass and brush, leaving just room enough to enter what he makes his retreat most of the time, and where he pays no attention to any who may pass.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. And I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but as a reliable, a singlecure for a class of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain DR. PIERCE'S PLAIN COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of these diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of these affections.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track, and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, which we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is contained in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

IRREDEEMABLE GREENBACKS.

Mr. Editor: It being proposed at this time to build up a party in the United States voting for a great supply of paper money as a panacea for the existing wants of the nation, perhaps History has something to teach respecting it, for there is nothing relating to money that has not been tried long since, or "new under the sun."

Probably the oldest paper currency existed in China about the year 820, with various fluctuations in value till the Mongol dynasty in 1309 continued its exchanging paper for paper and it was proposed at times to exchange paper for gold and silver, which was beyond the power of the goverment to enforce, and the notes gradually disappeared. There is no mention of paper currency after 1455 in Chinese history, but paper was issued by private bankers in 1858, and Shushue, the regent, issued vast numbers of paper bills from banks of his own in Peking and failed to redeem them, causing the failure of his banks and great commotion. On the Emperor's death the Empress caused the arrest of Shushun, and when he was led to execution Nov. 8th, 1861, an eyewitness says that the defrauded creditors lined the streets and cheered. Marco Polo, the Venetian traveller says that the Mongolian Emperor's mint in the city of Cambuluc, China, about 1280 "is wrought in such a way that you might say he hath the secret of alchemy in perfection, and you would be right, for he makes his money after this fashion: From the inside bark of the mulberry tree he makes a sort of strong paper, but black, when prepared is cut into pieces of different size, valued from the smallest cash to the largest, equal to ten Bezants in gold — about fifteen dollars. Each piece has the names of State officials written on it and their seals; then the chief officer impresses the great seal of State on each piece in red. Forging them is death, refusing to take them is death, and they pass current all over the empire but not outside, and there was no metal money. When the paper money is spoiled or defaced, it is exchanged at the mint for new by paying three per cent.; perhaps this charge pays all the expenses of the mint." The reign mentioned by Marco Polo was very rigorous, yet paper was issued for half its value on occasions; in time money of intrinsic value came into use and paper disappeared. Some of the old paper money is at present exhibited in China as a great great curiosity. Two attempts to imitate Chinese paper money were made in 1294 and 1330—the first in Persia, when the notes were printed from blocks in Chinese characters and then stamped with the financial officer's seal, Izzudden. After their forced use for a few days Tabriz was in an uproar and Izzudden was murdered. The second was in Delhi, Hindostan, but did not succeed and the paper was left in the hands of the people who had exchanged their produce for it, and was a grievous blow to the State.

In Italy in 1241 the Emperor Frederic 2d, during a war stamped leather for money of the value of his golden Augustals,—the money was popular and was afterwards, in better times, fully redeemed.

In 1790 in France bonds or assignats were first issued and were based on the sales of public lands and confiscated church property. Bally, of the French Assembly, said that paper, however safe, is not like metallic money a reality, a physical actuality—specie carries its own value with it; much was said against it, that it divided property without the aid of an agrarian law. The Assembly did not hesitate and in spite of opposition it decreed the issue of four hundred millions of francs of forced assignats with interest. Again in a few months eight hundred millions more were ordered, this time without interest. Necker and Talleyrand opposed the new issue, but without avail. Talleyrand said that never will any national paper be upon a par with the metals, though based as this was on the national property in lands; the lands will be divided and the assignats returned to the Assembly, but they will eventually remain in the hands of the people and have little value; prices of goods will be raised, and the assignats decrease in value. He told the Assembly the truth, but funds were low and the lands were not all sold. The assignats withdrawn by the sale of lands were again early in 1793 thrown into circulation, specie disappeared and prices of all goods rose immensely in value, three and even six to one; great rioting in Paris and other cities. Creditors and wealthy men received assignats which were every day lower—five or ten to one, and at last one or two hundred to one. All debts were paid but no one had any money of value. The rich bought exchange on London, anywhere out of France that they might have something of real value. Five franc assignats passed for two francs at the Exchange, and for three francs in the market, and brokers flourished, more so than in our late palmy days of gold premiums—in fact irredeemable paper flourished and the people were in distress. As assignats lost their value, produce and all property rose in value; imprisonment was the punishment for not exchanging goods for assignats, and many a one when the prisons were cleared by the guillotine lost their lives for refusing to take irredeemable assignats. In June, 1794, four thousand millions were in circulation, when another thousand million was printed, and France then in the midst of her terrible revolution had no other resource. In March, 1795, eight thousand millions were in circulation, and with peace on the frontier the assignats came into competition with good money and rapidly fell in value, while the brokers were speculating on their rise and fall. They were now made at the rate of eight hundred millions per month, and in 1795 the assignats were thirty thousand millions of francs, beyond which it was proposed not to go, and to retire one thousand millions yearly by the sale of confiscated estates and lands. Late in 1795 and in 1796 the Directory came into power and the assignats—forty thousand million francs, about eight thousand million dollars, of French paper money—disappeared. Irredeemable, they disappeared as soon as France came to her senses, and the terrible revolution was ended which had cost France one million lives of men, women and children murdered or slain in civil war. The Bank of France was established with a capital of six million dollars, since which time silver has been the principal money in use—copper for small dues, gold for larger—the finances have been well sustained both in peace and war, and the lesson of irredeemable paper was so thoroughly learned that it will last the French while the knowledge of this terrible revolution shall last.

In July, 1765, two millions of continental paper money was in circulation in the English provinces, now the United States. From the first it was received with disfavor and passed very slowly into circulation, to enforce which the authorities authorized Washington to arrest and confine those not taking the money. Bills were issued by the various States, guaranteed by the U. S. Government. Rhode Island money was twenty to one in value in 1777 and of little value in March, '78, when all sorts of bills were forty to one, and gradually disappeared, the soldiers taking the last and some using them in their guns. The continental money, irredeemable as it was, served its purpose during a patriotic war, but disappeared when the war war over. The people would not exchange the produce of their labor for what cost no labor—it was not even barter.

When the negroes of St. Domingo were made freedmen by the French Assembly, they made a revolution of their own, destroying and driving off the whites, and copying the whites of France, they also made paper money, which has been in use till lately; the bills gradually fell in value, as more and more were printed till they finally disappeared. During all that time they paid foreigners with coffee or the various products of the island, but if money was required for remittance to foreigners, then doubloons or bills of exchange were used. They have a paper money now and use the United States currency of silver and gold, also Spanish silver and gold. They now propose to establish a bank, with paper, payable in gold when required. Eighty years have taught the Haytien negroes the lesson, and irredeemable paper money has there run its full career. St. Domingo has had numbers of able men, and when Boyer was president and Injinac, secretary, no land was better governed; the whole island was under their authority, paper money was limited, good order prevailed, and their own silver money was in use. All know how easy it is in the United States to start a new party and how hard it is to make it of any use, after the people really study it; parties have appeared on the stage, have hardly come to an rehearsal, before disappearing. Only local, they would not become national. Adams and Jefferson struck the right key note which continues to this day—a strong government in contra-distinction to a government based on State rights. The greenback movement may have its rehearsal but will never it the people are wise be fully represented on the stage of the United States.

Chronicle Correspondence.

CONCORD, August 17th.

The curtain has dropped, the last act is completed, the members of the audience are rapidly dispersing to their homes, and while the lights are being extinguished I will give a short review of the legislative proceedings of the week.

On Tuesday Mr. Stevens of Nashua brought up the bill to amend the charter of the city of Nashua. That portion which relates to the changing of the ward lines in ward four was earnestly opposed by Mr. Moore of Nashua. The democrats offered amendments nearly all day, but they were voted down, and the bill was finally passed on Thursday. The bill taxing the railroads has occupied the most of the week either in one branch or the other. It is no more than fair to say that the Senate has tried every way in its power to kill it. After the Hobbs substitute was adopted in the House it was sent to the Senate for concurrence. The Senate so amended it that it took the life nearly out of it and gave the power to the Supreme Court to assess the tax as it did under the old law, and not to the State Board of Equalization under the new law. When it came back to the House for concurrence, Mr. Moore moved that the House do not concur and that a committee of conference be asked for. The House adopted the motion. The House joined on its part Messrs. Moore, Sinclair and Sargent, and the Senate on its part joined Messrs. Gallinger, Weeks, and Amidon. They reported in the main, five to one, in favor of the Senate amendments. When the subject came up in the House, Mr. Moore moved that the majority report be rejected. He made the most brilliant speech upon the subject that has been made this session, and he has made some good ones. The yeas and nays were demanded on the subject, and the result was a surprise to himself, for his motion was adopted by a vote of 232 to 66. Mr. Stevens of Nashua then moved that a new committee of conference be asked for, and the House joined on its part Messrs. Stevens, Patterson and Hobbs. The Senate joined on its part Messrs. Shaw, White and Wheeler. In the course of the debate Mr. Moore said the Senate took a position in direct opposition to the bill that was passed by both bodies, namely, the bill creating the State Board of Equalization, which makes it the duty of that board to assess the railroad tax. The Senate, hearing of that, took the extraordinary course of reconsidering their vote and calling back the bill, which at that particular time was being engrossed by the engrossing clerk. The new committee of conference was out some six hours. This committee agreed upon the bill, in the main, which was first offered by Mr. Moore of Nashua, without the arbitrary rules. It was adopted amid great applause in the House and was unanimously adopted in the Senate. This was quite a back down for the Senate and was very gratifying to Senator Cummings, who alone has voted for the taxation of railroads. It was quite a victory for Mr. Moore, and he felt it and also shew it in his happy face when the bill passed. Early in the day it looked as if there was no hope of anything of that nature passing the Senate.

On Wednesday the consideration of the act to apportion and define the representation of towns, places, and wards, as required by the amended constitution was resumed. By a happy suggestion, a committee consisting of Messrs. Bingham, Moore, Patterson, Huse and Blodgett was appointed by the speaker to see if some satisfactory arrangement to both democrats and republicans could not be made and thus save an endless discussion, numerous amendments, and roll calls. The committee agreed with the exception of three points, namely, the classification of Hebron and Groton, the pro-rating of Orange and Bridgwater, and the number of representatives in Gilford and Laconia. The recommendation of the republican members of the committee was adopted and thus this bill was easily disposed of. The terms of the bill are quite satisfactory to the republicans, and the democrats are better satisfied for having a hand in the matter. It seems to have been a week of compromises in which, in every case, the stronger party has had the best of it.

After the last bill was enacted by the House on Friday night and all its work was completed and it was waiting for the Senate, Mr. Morris of Epping, in behalf of the members of the House, presented, in his best speech of the session, a handsome gold watch and chain to the speaker. It was inscribed as follows: "Hon. Augustus A. Woolson, Speaker of the N. H. House of Representatives, from the members of the session of 1878." Mr. Woolson in a feeling speech, with tears in his eyes, responded, and accepted the gift, which has been so well and meritoriously bestowed upon him. He has been an able Speaker and has the good will of democrats and republicans alike.

The Senators presented, through Senator Cogswell, a magnificent gold headed cane to their President, David H. Buffum of Somersworth.

The members of Gideon's Band, a noted institution in connection with the Legislature, presented to one of its honored members, J. B. Wiggin, representative from Stratham, a gold headed cane, as a proof of their good will, notwithstanding the fun that has been made of the good-natured old gentleman. There was no mock session this year owing to the fact that business was carried on to a late hour Friday night. Yet the members for the past three days, while waiting the action of their conference and compromise committees, amused themselves by playing jokes on one another and by firing paper wads at different members. If a member attempted to resent it, he was met with a perfect shower of the same. The last light is extinguished and so your correspondent bids your readers adieu.

Yellow Fever.

The schooner Ida Lawrence, Capt. Barrett, arrived at Delaware Breakwater from Cuba, Friday, with all hands, nine in number, either dead or sick with yellow fever. Two of the crew and one passenger had died, and the captain died after the vessel came to an anchor.

Cincinnati was quarantined against all boats from Louisville, Saturday, and railroads were forbidden bringing passengers or certain specified articles of freight from the infected southern cities.

One case of yellow fever was discovered in New York city, Friday afternoon, the patient being a blacksmith who had just arrived from New Orleans.

Saturday's reports showed the disease increasing. New Orleans had seventy new cases and twenty-seven deaths. The river front at Vicksburg was infected, and the fever spreading rapidly. Texas was rigidly quarantined against persons from Louisiana. The scare in New York had led to the flooding of some of the filthiest streets, to wash away the foul matter accumulated.

News and Notes.

The Czar's chief of police at St. Petersburg was stabbed to the heart on Friday, by two men who jumped into a droschky and drove off.

It is reported from Texas that Gen. Mackenzie crossed into Mexico on the morning of Friday, near Fort Clark, with a strong column, including artillery. They are after a gang of Mexican cattle thieves that raided into Texas two days before.

The Massachusetts State Bureau of Statistics caused an investigation to be made in June last, into the state of manufactures and labor throughout that State, in the course of which it was ascertained that of over half a million skilled and unskilled laborers in the State but 21,135 were out of employment.

Dye, the public administrator of Sacramento county, Cal., who procured the murder of A. M. Tullis that he might administer the estate, turns out to have been a "bushwhacker" and murderer during the rebellion. He had however stood well in California.

By the giving way of a gravel bed at Sterling Junction, N. Y., Friday, four railway laborers were buried; one was saved, but three are dead.

Fashionable society at Newport, R. I., is agitated by the report of the elopement of Miss Sandford of New Haven, neice of Judge Sandford of New York, with Seth Bateman Dodge, an adopted son of the keeper of a fashionable boarding house at Bateman's point. The couple left clandestinely Friday night.

A despatch from the Mulheur Agency, via Baker City, says that seventy-seven Indians, including sixty warriers, surrendered Thursday. This leaves but very few hostile Snakes unaccounted for. The surrendered Indians say the Bannocks did all the murdering, and the Snakes the stealing.

The father-in-law of the colored murderer Ten Eyck, executed at Pittsfield, Mass., on Friday, after receiving his body from the authorities exhibited it in a shed in Chester, charging ten cents admission! He made $15 by the show.

Another new line to New York is advertised to go into operation this day, Aug. 19th. The steamers City of Boston and City of New York will run between Allyn's Point, seven miles below Norwich, and New York, forming with a fast train over the New York and New England railroad, a most desirable route for summer travel. The fare either way is only one dollar, and the connecting train will make no stop at any station between Boston and the boat. Such a favorable means of visiting New York has never before been offered to the public.

Charles W. Angell, secretary of the Pullman Palace Car Co., is a defaulter to the amount of $120,000. He has disappeared.

A powder magazine at Pottsville, Penn., containing 1100 barrels of powdeer, was struck by lightning on Saturday, and exploded, killing and wounding several persons of a picnic party in the neighboring woods. Loss over $50.000.

A New York paper prints a story about Mrs. Tilton, that she has taken Bessie Turner to live with her, that she (Mrs. Tilton) has enjoyed greater peace of mind than ever before since her late confession, and believed she had obtained Divine forgiveness. She said her husband knew nothing of her confession, that her determination to free her conscience was brought about by hearing Beecher's sermon on the downfall of the forger Gilman, which she heard while attending, closely veiled. She says she has been offered $100,000 to lecture on the subject, which she refused; that there would be no reunion with her husband, and that she intends to prepare a history of her experience with Beecher and leave it with her husband's friends, to be used after her death. As the paper giving these details is the Sun, it is safe to say that Mrs. Tilton hasn't been conversing on the subject at all.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

We are indebted to Hon. Thos. L. Tullock for valuable public documents.

Representative Samuel Adams, of this city, has not been a day absent from his seat during the session of the Legislature.

The third game of base ball between the Rockinghams of this city and the Farragut nine of Rye Beach will be played Tuesday or Wednesday of this week, at the Plains.

We have received the September number of the Folio, containing fifteen sacred and secular musical compositions, and also a portrait of Clara Louise Kellogg. Sent for the insignificant sum of fifteen cents per number, or $1.60 per year.

The bequest of Mr. Peter C. Coffin, of Plymouth, Mass., of $2000 in aid of the Home for Aged and Indigent Women in this city, is in litigation, being claimed by two parties, viz.: the Home for Indigent Women, which is regularly incorporated by the State of New Hampshire, and for some time past has been in successful operation, on the one part, and on the other the Eclectic Club, an unincorporated association which it is understood proposes to erect a home for aged women as soon as sufficient funds accumulate for the purpose. The briefs in the case have been filed in the Plymouth county (Mass.) court, but the case will be tried in Suffolk county. Samuel H. Goodall, Esq., of Boston, is counsel for the Home for Indigent Women, and Albert R. Hatch, Esq., of this city, for the Eclectic Club. The Home since its incorporation in 1877, and in fact from the time of its going into operation in 1876, has been in charge of Volunteer City Missionary Wm. A. Loyne, and is conducted on the plan of Dr. Cullis of Boston; it has at present twelve aged ladies as inmates. Hon. Wm. Simes, Dr. Edward B. Goodall and Mr. Charles E. Myers of this city, and several ladies, compose the Board of Trustees.

THE VICINITY.

The Kennebunk Fish and Game Protective Association mean business. One aggressor was brought to grief the other day, and suffered to the tune of five dollars and costs for shooting a woodcock.

The first number of the State Democrat, published at Saco by William S. Noyes, has made its appearance. It aspires to be the organ "of the democratic party of York county." The paper is handsomely printed and ably edited.

Thursday afternoon Mr. Timothy Ramsdell of York, and another man, went out fishing from York harbor, and Mr. Ramsdell, while trying to raise the anchor, fell overboard and was drowned. He was forty-one years of age, and a much respected citizen. He leaves a wife and four children.

David B. Hill, a well-known builder of Saco and Buxton, who is reported as having skipped out from St. John, N. B., owes considerable sums there, and the St. John papers report that there are other good reasons for his departure. An up-river lumberman, a St. John plumber and others are among Hill's mourners.

A freight train on the Conway railroad was thrown from the track Saturday night about a mile from Salmon Falls. The train was running very fast when the key of a draw-bar broke, and thirteen cars left the rails; the rails and sleepers were torn up for several rods, but no person was injured. A wrecking train went up from this city to clear the track.

Nathaniel Wells, the oldest member of the Strafford county bar, and one of the oldest and most influential citizens of Great Falls, died suddenly Friday night of apoplexy, aged seventy-three years. He was a graduate of Phillips Academy, Exeter; had been practicing law over forty years; was president of the Great Falls National Bank, and one of the trustees of the Somersworth Savings Bank.

A dentist of Great Falls lost fifteen canary birds, valued at fifty dollars, from his rooms one night recently. He procured two mocking-birds and put them in a cage, and those disappeared during the night. He supposed the birds had been stolen until looking under a sink he saw a rat of immense size, and feathers of the birds. The rat had forced entrance into the cages and taken the little singers.

Political.

While the democratic party of Maine is honeycombed with greenbackism, endorsing and nominating in many instances the greenback candidates, the republicans of Maine are fighting the campaign squarely on the issue of honest money and the maintenance of the national honor by the honest payment of the nation's obligations. At the republican county convention at Augusta, Friday, ringing resolutions for honest dealing were adopted, and in the evening Senator Blaine spoke for two hours on the financial question to a crowded audience. On the same day, at Calais, Hon. Eugene Hale addressed a mass meeting, and was enthusiastically applauded, the business men of Calais being out in force, irrespective of party. William H. Young, member of the Greenback State Committee for Washington county, came out openly in favor of Mr. Hale, honest money and the republican ticket.

The democratic State convention of Tennessee met Friday. The platform adopted denounces an interest-bearing debt as a curse; demands the repeal of the resumption act and the national bank act, and the re-establishment of the good old State banks, and that "all loans required by the government be raised by the issuance of non-interest-bearing treasury notes;" that the coinage of silver be made unlimited, and the government bonds be paid in greenbacks. These same honest souls nobly declared that "We are opposed to the repudiation of the just indebtedness of the State, and we are in favor of an equitable adjustment of our public indebtedness;" and to show how truly honest they are they added: "We are opposed to the levy of any greater tax upon the people than may be necessary for the payment of the expenses of the State Government." That is to say, the democracy of Tennessee scorn to repudiate the State indebtedness; they are entirely satisfied with merely making it impossible for the State authorities to pay any part of the debt.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post has taken the third-term alarm, and says: "Deride it as we may the signs of the times all indicate that the republican party in 1880 will renominate "The Man of Destiny!" If they do "the man of destiny" will be elected —which is just what the democrats most fear.

A letter from Edgefield, S. C., to the Washington Republican, says that Brooker Toney, one of the ruffians killed in the faction fight on the 12th inst. at Edgefield between the Boothe and Toney families, was the same man who about six weeks before murdered Gus Harris, a colored United States deputy marshal, in the streets of Edgefield in broad daylight, as a punishment for Harris' having six years before induced Gov. Chamberlain to offer a reward for Toney's arrest for the murder of another negro; and Toney fell dead within four or five yards of the spot where he murdered Harris. Of course Toney had not been molested for his last murder, Harris having been a nigger and a republican. The Boothe-Toney fight occurred on the day when the rifle-clubs were joyously celebrating the first breaking-up of a republican meeting in Edgefield by the rifle-clubs under the lead of Massacre C. Butler and the butcher Gary, when Gov. Chamberlain was driven out of the place; Wade Hampton was addressing the rifle-club politicians on the glorious results of their action that day, when the pistol shots of the faction fighters disturbed him.

The yellow fever calamity of New Orleans is fairly attributable to democratic mismanagement. Even the New Orleans Times admits that the authorities have neglected the sanitary precautions which the republicans were so successful in establishing. Would it be fair to suggest that Louisiana has jumped from the frying pan into the fire by rejecting the carpet baggers?

Daniel P. Locke, of Pittsfield, who recently pared the hoofs of his sheep and hampered his cattle so closely as to prevent their walking except with great difficulty, was last week fined $20 and costs, for cruelty to animals, and on leaving the court room was hustled by the excited crowd, his wagon tipped over, and his person somewhat injured.

Serve an Injunction on Disease

By invigorating a feeble constitution, renovating a debilitated physique, and enriching with an innutritious circulation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest, the most highly sanctioned, and the most popular tonic and preventive in existence. It strengthens the stomach, remedies torpor of the liver and bowels, and gives a healthful impulse to the secretive and discharging functions of the kidneys and bladder. Not only does it arrest and prevent the recurrence of malarial fevers, but it furnishes the only adequate safeguard against them to persons who have never been afflicted with those maladies, but would be liable to incur them if medicinally unprotected. It eliminates from the blood certain impurities which the most skillful pathologists assign as the exciting causes of those agonizing complaints, rheumatism and gout, and it is, moreover, an excellent remedy for an enfeebled or overwrought state of the nerves, and for mental despondency.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tsep10

To the Hon. Judge of Probate

FOR THE COUNTY OF ROCKINGHAM.

RESPECTFULLY represents, Woodward Emery, administrator c̄ b̄ d̄ n̄ with the will annexed of the estate of William B. Dodge, late of Hampton, in said County, deceased; that the Personal Estate of said deceased is not sufficient to pay the just demands against his estate by the sum of fifty thousand dollars, the petitioner's admin stration being ancillary to administration in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Wheretore he prays that he may be licensed to sell at public auction so much of the real estate of said deceased as may be sufficient for the payment of said demands.

ROCKINGHAM, ss.

Special Probate Court at Exeter, in said County, August 17th, A. D., 1878.

UPON the foregoing petition it is ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at the Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth, in said County, on the second Tuesday of September next; and that the petitioner notify the heirs of said deceased and all persons concerned or interested therein, to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of Judge,

WOODBURY M. DURGIN, Register of Probate. 19,26,s2

—"Will, I fear you are forgetting me," said a bright-eyed coquette to her favorite beau. "Yes, Sue, I have been for getting you these two years," was the suggestive reply.

— A member of the Allegany county (Md.) school board has been expelled for "drawing a pistol on the president of the board during its session." This will teach him another time to wait till the board has adjourned.

— Lightning struck a man on State street, the other day, bounded off, struck again, splintered, gathered itself up and took a good look, discovered that it had tackled the man who goes to newspaper offices and asks for notices of entertainments that haven't been advertised, howled with disgust, and went off down town and killed two book agents and the ambassador of an insurance company while it was cooling off. — Bridgeport Standard.

The New Hampshire Legislature did the best day's work of the session on Saturday. It adjourned.

The Supreme Court, Thursday, at the adjourned law term, denied the request of the Merrimack county bar to reinstate George S. Blanchard, who was expelled in 1875.

John Murphy of Marlboro', a workman on the Manchester & Keene railroad, stole a watch worth $15, a bank-book, etc., from his boarding-house, and decamped.

John Stone of Peterboro' has kept three-quarters of an acre of potatoes free from bugs by pasturing eleven young ducks there. A tub kept filled with fresh water answered all their needs for bathing.

Mr. Bates of Milford is now employing a gang of fifty men at his quarry, getting out the stone for the Worcester, Mass., court house.

Naval Affairs.

Rear Admiral J. C. Howell is expected to take command of the North Atlantic squadron about the 1st of September.

The Washington Herald says Boatswain Charles E. Hawkins is to be attached to the gunnery ship Santee, at the Naval Academy. The Army and Navy Journal says Comdr. Henry L. Howison, now at the head of the department of seamanship and tactics at the Naval Academy, will be ordered to ordnance duty at Washington navy yard when the practice cruise is over, and Comdr. Edwin A. Shepard will probably relieve him at the academy.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S

ALT. EXT. OR

Golden Medical Discovery

CURES DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in acquiance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

INVALIDS' HOTEL.

The very large number of invalid people who daily visit Buffalo, from every quarter of the United States and Canada, that they may consult Dr. R. V. PIERCE, and the widely celebrated Faculty of Specialists in Medicine and Surgery associated with him, rendered it necessary that the founder of this institution should provide a place on a grand and commodious scale for their entertainment and comfort.

ADVANTAGES OFFERED.—The Invalids' Hotel is more complete in its appointments than any similar institution in the world. The building is located in one of the most healthful and desirable portions of the City of Buffalo, and commands a fine view of Lake Erie, Niagara River, and the surrounding country, being situated in the midst of an extensive system of beautiful parks. The Hotel is furnished with a patent safety passenger elevator, to convey patients to and from the different floors; is provided with all kinds of approved baths, and has also connected with it a well-appointed gymnasium and bowling alley to afford proper means of exercise.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms, whether requiring medical, surgical, or mechanical treatment, come within the special province of several specialists.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are the facilities of this infirmary of a superior order as regards the remedial means and appliances for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females. The employment, in moderation, of tonic, chemical, electro-thermal, and other approved baths, in manner such as to be invaluable auxiliary to remedial means to which we resort in such cases. Dry friction on the surface, general electro-magnetic, Swedish movements, and light calisthenic exercises, to enliven and equalize the circulation of the blood in the system, relieve congested parts, improve digestion, and strengthen the muscles, produce important beneficial results in all cases to which these means are applicable. No experimenting is resorted to in the treatment. The most approved medicines are carefully employed, and the judicious regulation of the diet, to aid the condition of the patient, the thorough ventilation of the sleeping apartment, the cheering influence of music, social intercourse, innocent games for amusement, and all those agencies which tend to arouse the mind of the patient from despondency, and thus promote recovery, are not neglected.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty, by which the greatest skill is attained and the most happy results secured.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of the practice in the Invalids' Hotel is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases are very largely treated in this department, and with results which have been highly gratifying to both physician and patients.

EYE AND EAR.—Special attention is given to the delicate operations on the eye and ear, a distinguished oculist and aurist being under engagement to conduct this branch of the practice.

Invalids arriving in the city and desiring to consult us, should come directly to the Hotel. It is easily accessible by carriage, omnibus, or street cars. MILLER'S Omnibus Agents, on all incoming trains, can be relied upon to deliver passengers and baggage with security and dispatch.

Daily Chronicle.

THE GIANT DEVIL FISH.

Nature, like history, repeats itself. The repetitions may be perpetual, the events recorded are oftimes rare and far between. When Pliny the elder narrated in detail, in his natural history, that he was an eye witness to a combat in the presence of the Roman people, with a "large monster of the deep which had been taken alive in the harbor of Ostia," and again speaks of a "monster polypus" which "used to come out of the sea at night and carry off salted tunnies from the curing depots on shore," he did not imagine that, for eighteen hundred years, his extraordinary statements would be treated with ridicule, by all the wits and savans of the long ages which have intervened since that time.

More than two centuries and a half latter, Ælian, the Latin naturalist and historian, described a similar monster as emerging from the sea, and "crushing up the barrels of salt fish on the shore with its huge arms, to get at the contents."

Eric Pontoppidan, the younger Bishop of Bergen, in his "Natural History of Norway," graphically delineates the accounts of "great beasts" living in the sea, speaks of "floating islands" and "sea monsters." Francis Paullinus, a naturalist and physician of Eisenach, described a monstrous animal which occasionally rose from the sea on the coasts of Lapland and Finland, of such enormous proportions that a regiment of soldiers could conveniently maneuvre on its back, which he resembled to Gesner's Heraclecian. These noted writers and scientists of their time have been accused by authors of note and respectability, of giving too much credence to the "superstitious beliefs and exaggerated statements of ignorant fishermen."

The fable of Pontoppidan's "Kraken," of DeMontfort's "Colossal Poulpe," and of Pliny's "Monster of the Deep," although doubtless grossly exaggerated, are nevertheless "founded on facts." The capture of the devil fish exhibited daily by Mr. Coup to thousands of people in his new show, has thrown a volume of light on a once doubtful subject viz: the existence of gigantic sea monsters. DeMontfort, who represented a titanic cephalopod throwing his hideous tentacles over a ship, snapping off its masts, tearing down the yards, and on the point of dragging it to the bottom of the sea, had not the crew succeeded in chopping away its immense arms with cutlasses and hatchets, while giving life and animation to a picture largely overdrawn, had in his possession nevertheless many facts for the foundation of such a flight of fancy.

Many curious and interesting stories are told of encounters at sea with the devil fish, but not until recently have scientists given them any credence. The facts of subsequent history have thrown a volume of light on a once mysterious subject. The following condensed incidents we give for the benefit of our readers who must be their own judges. Modern professors of zoology, however, look upon them with more plausibility than ever before.

Captain Jean Magnus Dens, who is credited as being a man of truth and veracity, who had made several voyages to China as master of a trader, told DeMontfort that while on a voyage crossing from St. Helena to Cape Negro, he was becalmed, and took advantage of the enforced idleness of the crew to have the vessel scraped and painted. While three of his men were standing on planks slung over the side, an enormous "squid" or devil fish rose from the water and threw one of his long arms around two of the sailors, whom it tore away with the scaffolding on which they stood. With another arm it seized the third man, who held on tight to the rigging and screamed for help. His shipmates ran to his assistance, and succeeded in rescuing him by cutting away the creature's arm with axes and knives, but he died delirious on the following night. The captain tried to save the other two sailors by killing the animal, and drove several harpoons into it; but they broke away, and the men were carried down by the monster. The arm cut off is said to have been 25 feet long, and as thick as the mizen mast, and to have suckers on it as large as saucepan lids.

For centuries there has existed in the orient a strong belief in the power of these marine animals to sink ships and drown their crews. Ancient pictures exist in China and Japan of giant cephalopods embracing junks of hundreds of tons burden, and seizing terrified sailors. Lawrence Oliphant in his "China and Japan," in describing a Japanese show, speaks of seeing life-size groups of figures carved in wood, one of which represented a group of women bathing in the sea, when one of them had been caught in the folds of a devil fish, the others in alarm escaping, leaving her to her fate. Peron, the French zoologist, saw at sea, in 1801, near Van Diemen's Land, a "squid" (sepia) large as a barrel with arms seven feet long and six inches in diameter. Quoy and Gaimard, French naturalists, saw one near the equator, dead and half eaten by the sharks, that could not have weighed less than 200 pounds. Captain Rang saw in mid-ocean one of a new species whose "body was as large as a hogshead." Molina, in his "natural history of Chili," describes a monster (sepia tunicata), "armed with hooks in its suckers," which weighed 150 pounds. Paulsen, a scientist, describes a monster cast on shore on the Danish coast, having a total length of body and longest tentacles of 39 feet. A crew of the French dispatch steamer Alecton saw one in the ocean near Teneriffe, in 1861, of a deep red color, having a body 18 feet long, without reckoning the arms, which must have been, according to the anatomy of the species, over 50 feet in length. In endeavoring to capture it the rope cut through and severed the flesh. M. Berthelot, French consul at Teneriffe, saw the fins and posterior portion on board the Alecton, and sent a report of the event to the Paris Academy of Sciences. The museum at Copenhagen, the faculty of sciences at Montpellier, the museum at Trieste, the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons in London, the St. John's museum at Newfoundland, and the zoological department of Yale College, all contain fragments merely of the devil fish, in none of which is there a perfect specimen, nor in any one of these rare collections is there a specimen half so large as that exhibited by Mr. Coup, the founder of the New York aquarium.

Portsmouth Chronicle

TUESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1878.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17th.

It seems definitely established beyond cavil or doubt that the "republican form of government" constitutionally guaranteed to every State, has no existence over a large part of the area of the late insurrectionary States. The testimony to this effect comes from numberless sources of the highest creditability and is all to the same general purport. The most intolerant Bourbons have come to the front, backed by an armed minority. Republicans have been ground to powder under the iron heel of the old "last ditch" element, all the more tyranical and impatient of opposition by their temporary exclusion from power during the first years of reconstruction. Their restoration is complete, and the less implacable wing of the democrats, goaded to desperation by the despotic character of the present rule, rallied the remnant of republicanism and uniting with it under the banner of "independents" sought to stem the current of Bourbon domination. They have been as relentlessly crushed as their republican predecessors, and the term "republican government" is the veriest mockery when applied to most of the communities south of the Potomac.

A good many of Cohen's followers here are impatiently waiting for Butler to practically demonstrate his conversion to communism by dividing up a property here of which he is reputed owner, that would, if equally divided, relieve the elemosynary institutions and charitably disposed of this District and the recipients of the necessity of begging, for an indefinite time. It is admitted that no two men in the country can furnish a reform party with a larger capital of demagogry and ruffianism than Butler and Kearney; but their success is not at all assured as they must run a muck with democracy, which went headlong into the reform business so long ago as to have pretty effectually exhausted public credulity.

Solicitor Raynor's card in the Graphic defending his action in recommending the payment to a confederate railroad of what many regard as a most flagrant steal, will provoke much adverse criticism; and from a publication in the Republican next morning, it looks as though he might be kept at the work of explaining for some time. I judge from sentiment here that Mr. Raynor's defense will hardly be regarded as sufficient, particularly by those who sympathized with the National cause, and naturally hold that the roads of loyal owners are at least entitled to as much consideration as those of an opposite character.

It has been the practice of a little knot of naval officers almost from time immemorial to supply themselves and friends with foreign luxuries as though they were wholly above the reach of revenue laws. Of course others saw no reason why they should be regarded and treated as a favored class, and the recent seizures are generally commended.

Indian Agent Livingston of the Crow Creek Agency must be an inveterate consumer of tobacco and drugs. It is said that in the systematic hunt instituted for stolen goods and for other thieves, quite one-eighth of the Indians' tobacco supply allowed by government was found concealed under the floor of the agent's store-house, and enough drugs to send the whole Sioux nation to the happy hunting grounds. The latest hypocritical swindler reported by those making the rounds of the agencies to smoke out the whelps, is of the quota contributed by the Congregational church to teach the savages christianity and make it more impressive by the virtuous example they should set as almoners of government annuities. His grabs were not on the same extensive scale as Livingston's, but revealed a character equally dishonest and base. It is now said that Livingston's thefts will amount to fully $100,000, which added to those of the latter will bring the total well up to $150,000.

No one need go outside the columns of the Congressional Record of the past five years to convict Thurman of grosser inconsistencies than ever Ben. Butler was guilty of; and as a trimmer and straddler the record shows he can give Hendricks generous odds and then beat him out of sight at his own specialty. The party hasn't a more subtile pletter ordinarily; but it seems the universal verdict that he is suffering from the White House itch; and the summersaults and hand-springs he turned in his late Ohio speech, are explicable on no other theory than loss of mental balance through the severity of an ailment that has shipwrecked the reputation of not a few men quite as able as Mr. Thurman. Reasoning a priori the fact that one had repeatedly boxed the financial compass, jumping at one bound from the most conservative ground to that occupied by the Ohio school of inflationists, then back again, or lighting at some intemediate point as appeared most popular, would hardly seem to commend them for a position where their influence upon finances must prove potential for good or evil. But it now seems very probable that democracy will pay any price demanded to secure an alliance with the factions outside of the two old parties, including the greenbackers proper, the socialists and the communists; and Thurman seems to have set himself to the task of so squaring his views that they may clash with none of those popular with possible allies. It is intimated that Sec'y Sherman will make one or more speeches during the campaign in Ohio in reply to Thurman. But his experience in politics long ago convinced him, probably, that facts and figures are never half so effective with some people as a demagogue appeal to their prejudices and passions.

We seem steadily marching on to resumption, and those opposed, including about all of the classes named, are correspondingly desperate. Subscriptions to the popular loan have shown no abatement, but rather an increase. All the gold needed by the most liberal estimate to meet the requirements of the law is in the Treasury vaults or has been provided for in the financial arrangements in process of being carried out; and the consummation so devoutly wished for during fifteen years, seems certain of early realization.

Mexican matters have come to occupy about the first place in the highest official circles. It has been confirmed that Diaz has concentrated forces to repulse any attempt on our part to again cross into Mexico. Ord has been instructed to suppress raiding at every cost. That is the situation to-day divested of all sensational features. KNOX.

New Orleans had 129 new cases of yellow fever, and forty-two deaths, Monday.

One case of the disease was discovered in Brooklyn, N. Y., Monday.

Cairo, Ill., was quarantined against steamers from all directions on the 19th inst.

The reports from Genada and Memphis indicated no improvement in the situation.

The American brig Akbar, of Machias, Maine, from Cuba, was on Saturday reported off Pensacola bar with mate dead and crew sick with fever. As any pilot boarding her would be detained at quarantine till frost, they all refused to bring the brig in.

News and Not's.

Cottam, Montan & Co., of London, bankers, have failed. Liabilities $1,500,000.

John A. Leete, the reporter of the New Orleans Times who was the last importation of the Potter committee from Louisiana to give "evidence" concerning the electoral count in that State, and who proved himself as verrsatile and short-memoried a liar as Anderson and the rest, had an attack of the jim-jams at his hotel in New York, Saturday night, and fired his revolver in all directions, fortunately not hurting the officers who broke into his room to see what all the fuss was about.

In Rutherford county, N. C., Rev. Dr. Wade Hill shot and killed his son-in-law, Capt. Andy Scroggins. A few days ago Scroggins struck Dr. Hill's youngest daughter, and the doctor punished him with his fist for it. The two men chanced to meet in the highway on Wednesday near the doctor's house. Both were armed. Scroggins fired two shots in rapid succession, neither however, taking effect. The doctor fired once, killing him instantly. Dr. Hill is a Baptist minister. He surrendered himself.

Some of the opponents of Kenneth Rayner, Solicitor of the Treasury, one of the old line whigs in office, are of the opinion that he will be speedily retired on account of his opinion restoring to the banks in the south the gold captured during the war, and for other similar opinions.

The manufacture of tooth brushes at Newburyport gives employment to fifty girls.

A letter from Reading, Pa., to the New York Tribune says that city is the headquarters of the Knights of Labor; that the order is secret, and now numbers over 800,000 members, oath-bound, and that their object is to secure work for the members, and assist them when out of work; to organize strikes, and to make themselves felt in politics. In order to include the Catholics, the latter are given to understand that the oath is not binding at the confessional. The officers of the order are: Grand Master Workman, Uriah F. Stevens, of Philadelphia; Grand Worthy Foreman, Ralph Beaumont, of Elmira, N. Y.; Grand Worthy Secretary, Chas. H. Litchman, of Marblehead, Mass.; Grand Worthy Treasurer, William M. Gallagher, of St. Louis, Mo.; Grand Assistant Secretary, A. P. Lanning, of Clifton, W. Va.; Chairman of Executive Board, Thos. P. Crown, of Brooklyn, New York.

The Dunn Edge Tool Company, West Waterville, Maine, have manufactured this season fifteen thousand dozen of scythes, all of which are sold. This is the largest season's work since the works have been in operation, thirty-nine years.

During the past year the United States sent 105,000,000 yards of cotton abroad, about ten times as much as during the previous year.

John Grosch's keno establishment at Bridgeport, Conn., was raided upon Wednesday night. Nearly 100 people were there, and twenty, including Grosch, were captured, with the implements. Each paid $10, except Grosch, who was fined $200. He appealed.

It should be remembered that the circulation (the number of copies a newspaper prints) is by no means everything—it tells little as to the value of a newspaper as an advertising medium. The great desideratum with the advertiser is to obtain a medium which will reach that portion of the community which are likely to purchase his commodities. The character and condition of the subscribers and readers of a sheet are, in most cases, of more importance than the number of its circulation.—Graphic.

Starving to Death.

Thousands of men and women are starving themselves to death. They dare not eat or drink this or that, fearing it will increase their flesh. Life depends upon continuous self-denial. The only safe and reliable remedy for this terrible condition is Allan's Anti-Fat. It is wholly vegetable and perfectly harmless. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 13th, 1878.
To the Proprietors of Allan's Anti-Fat:
Gentlemen—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat: "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week, until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Yours respectfully,
POWELL & PLIMPTON,

Serve an Injunction on Disease

By invigorating a feeble constitution, renovating a debilitated physique, and enriching a thin and innutritious circulation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest, the most highly sanctioned, and the most popular tonic and preventive in existence. It strengthens the stomach, remedies torpor of the liver and bowels, and gives a healthful impulse to the secretive and discharging functions of the kidneys and bladder. Not only does it arrest and prevent the recurrence of malarial fevers, but it furnishes the only adequate safeguard against them to persons who have never been afflicted with these maladies, but would be liable to incur them if medicinally unprotected. It eliminates from the blood certain impurities which the most skillful pathologists assign as the exciting causes of those agonizing complaints, rheumatism and gout, and it is, moreover, an excellent remedy for an enfeebled or overwrought state of the nerves, and for mental despondency.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tsept10

THE CITY.

The signals for the signal-station in this city will arrive to-day, and will be used as soon as the staff is put up, probably this afternoon.

Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, senior member of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank, was on Monday elected President, vice Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, deceased.

John Burns, who broke jail and deserted from Brentwood last March, was captured in this city on Monday. He was sent up from Newmarket for six months, for drunkenness, and had served four months at the time he escaped.

On Saturday evening Mr. John McCarthy, an employe of the Eastern railroad, was badly jammed between an engine and the round-house, the distance between the two being but eight inches. He received serious internal injuries.

Gen. Berry Fite Engine Co., of Rockland, Me., numbering sixty-four men, with the Singhi band of Rockland, twenty pieces, will arrive in this city by the seven o'clock train Friday evening, on their return from the muster at Medford, Mass. They will sup and lodge at the Kearsarge house, and leave for home early Saturday morning.

The clam-bake of the Veteran Artillery Association takes place on Tuesday, September 10th, at the Wentworth grounds, Newcastle. There will be no parade this year. Barges will convey the party, which is expected to be a large one, to the grounds. The programme will include a hop at the Wentworth in the evening.

The third game of base ball between the Rockinghams of this city and the Farragut nine of Rye beach will be played at the Plains this afternoon, commencing at three o'clock; a barge will leave Market square for the Plains at two o'clock. Each of the clubs having won one game, this is the "rubber" and will no doubt be well contested.

Mr. George A. Hammond, of Eliot, has evidently been interviewing the Times, as that paper on Monday evening had a half-column article on "Red Oak," taking as its text a half-dozen words in the CHRONICLE of the previous Wednesday morning. We judge from Mr. Hammond's article in the Times that he dislikes being called "Red Oak" Hammond.

The Times says: "A subscription paper is being circulated to raise money for Mr. David Burke, the fisherman whose boat was struck and sunk by lightning during the recent heavy thunder storm. As Mr. Burke is a man well advanced in years, being sixty-one years old, the wreck of his boat is a serious calamity to him. It is to be hoped that enough will be raised to buy the brave old man another boat. He is determined to follow his perilous vocation as long as he can steer a boat or drag a cod-line."

A friend informs us that a few days ago a gentleman who had been thirty years absent from this city met him in the Mechanics' Reading Room—a very pleasant place, by the way, where the well-behaved stranger is always courteously welcomed—and said that this season when he invited his wife to visit Portsmouth she replied, "why go to that half dead and alive place?" but that after spending a few days at the Rockingham, and finding out a part of what is to be seen in and around the city, she somewhat amused him by proposing, "my dear, let us always stop here during the summer!"

A former resident of this city writes us as follows from Burrton, Kansas: "When I was in Portsmouth last spring I was questioned by many friends in regard to the climate of Kansas, particularly in summer, but as I had not then spent a summer here I could not answer fully, so I now give you the results of my observations since that time. I placed a thermometer where the sun does not strike it until six o'clock P. M., and took account of the temperature from July 9th to August 11th; during this time there were but four days when the mercury did not go up to ninety degrees or more, and on these four days it stood at 76, 84, 86 and 88 degrees. Two days the mercury stood at 100, one at 99, and five at 98. The temperature for the thirty-two days averaged 95 degrees. But I don't think we feel this extreme heat here so much as it would be felt in Portsmouth; the evening breezes are delightful, and amply repay us for the heat of the day. The farmers are now reaping the reward for their toil; the wheat crop is all gathered, and the grain buyers are as busy as can be shipping wheat to the east. The crop was unusually good. Business seems to be improving a little in Kansas; but I don't advise any one who is doing well in the east to come west, although there is room enough for all out here."

Representative Isaac Adams, of Sandwich, drew pay for but seven days' service during the late session of the Legislature, he having been present only that number. In this respect he differs widely from Representative Adams of this city, who was present at every meeting of the Legislature.

Commander John R. Bartlett is ordered to report to the commander of this navy yard and at Boston and New York, for consultation with the equipment officers in relation to a revision of the allowance book for the bureau of equipment. After completing this duty he returns to Washington to resume his regular duties.

Last Saturday night one of the Market square storekeepers carefully shuttered and locked up the front of his store, but left the back door wide open. The open door was discovered Sunday morning by a neighbor who reported it to the party most in interest, and the latter hastened down at the imminent risk of losing his accustomed seat in the sanctuary, to find that nobody had been there since he had been gone.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Aug. 19; Batchelder, J.

John Murphy was arraigned for aggravated assault on Eugene Coffey; the latter not being able to appear the case was continued to Wednesday, Murphy being required to give bonds in $300 for his appearance at that time. The assault was made with an ice hook on Sunday at Jones' brewery; Coffee is said to be seriously injured, having two ribs broken and a bad cut over one eye.

WHERE THE STOCKS ARE OWNED.

There are 14,911 shares of the Boston & Maine railroad owned in this State. Of these, residents in Dover own 4496; Exeter, 1865; Epping, 94; Durham, 598; Greenland, 114; Lee, 263; Manchester, 232; Rochester, 499; South New Market, 668; Stratham, 745; Seabrook, 170; Portsmouth, 267.

There are 1595 shares of the Dover & Winnipiseogee railroad owned in this State; 22,314 of Concord railroad (at par of $50;) 1782 of Eastern railroad in New Hampshire, out of 4920.

Portsmouth people own 144 shares in the Northern railroad, 245 in Concord (and Northern,) 14 in Boston, Concord & Montreal, 50 in Nashua & Rochester, 25 in Dover & Winnipiseogee. The largest amount of stock in any one road owned by Portsmouth people is in the Concord & Portsmouth railroad.

THE VICINITY.

The Piscataqua base ball club of Newcastle and a nine from Kittery played a game at Newcastle on Saturday afternoon, the Piscataquas winning by a score of sixteen to fifteen, in ten innings.

It is announced that responsible parties have offered the bondholders' committee of the Portsmouth, Gt. Falls & Conway railroad, to take a lease of the road for thirty or fifty years, at six per cent on the entire indebtedness of the road, with a satisfactory guaranty of payment.

The most severe thunder-shower this season visited Biddeford on Sunday morning. Lightning and thunder were almost continuous during the shower. The spire of the Jefferson street Baptist church was struck, badly damaging it inside and out. The lightning struck several other places in the city, doing but slight damage.

There is talk of a railroad to be constructed from Morrill's Corner, Deering, Me., to Old Orchard Beach. Such a road would be twelve miles in length, tapping the Maine Central, Portland & Rochester, Boston & Maine, and Eastern. The cost of the road would not be very great, as the grades are very easy, and some Portland gentlemen have the plan under advisement.

Mr. John Traynor, the president of the Biddeford Kansas Colony, returned to that city last week, and reports most favorably of the colony's chances for success in Kansas. A meeting of the members of the colony still remaining in Biddeford was held Saturday evening, at which Mr. Traynor was present to give information as to what he saw and heard at the west.

The Greenback county committee of York county, Me., had a meeting in Biddeford on Friday. The attendance was quite large, and included Mr. Edward C. Moody of York, the greenback candidate for State senator, Mr. Grant of the Cape Neddick house, H. C. Cheever, of the Springvale Reporter, Col. Montgomery, of the New Era, and other leading men of the new party.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Augnst 18th.

The hotels at the beach are all filled with guests; nearly all the private-boarding-houses are full also, and the remainder of the season promises to be profitable.

A match game of base ball was played last Wednesday by the Rising Sun and Rye Beach clubs, the latter winning by a score of twenty-one to ten. On Friday a game was played near the post-office at the beach, between the Rising Suns and the Farragut nine, the Farraguts winning by a score of thirteen to three.

On Wednesday evening the Rye Cornet Band gave an open air concert near the beach post-office, which drew a large crowd of listeners. After the concert the band was "collated" by Postmaster G. Harrison Jenness, who is one of its members.

The Portsmouth Dramatic Club gave an entertainment at the Sea View house Ecriday evening, to a large and fashionable audience. After the dramatic performance a grand hop took place, music being furnished by Perkins' quadrille band, of Haverhill, Mass., J. Gordon leader.

On Saturday evening a hop was given at the Farragut house, the music being by Harlow's orchestral band of Portsmouth; splendid music it was too, and the attendance at the hop large and fashionable.

Many of our citizens think the recent sentence of a young man to thirty days in jail, with costs of $9.90, for stealing a two-foot rule from a well-to-do farmer of this town, unduly severe; and considering all the circumstances of the case, are of opinion that executive clemency might well be exercised.

The latest sensation at the beach is the promenading of four young ladies in male attire, who have got themselves extensively talked about by going to a photograph saloon and having their pictures taken dressed as boys.

Negroes are very plenty at the beach this season. A number of them took a ride in a farmer's hayrack one evening recently, and the oxen ran away and capsized the cart, tumbling out and badly frightening the sable cargo, but hurting no one.

Gen. H. V. Boynton, the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, is stopping at the boarding house of Mr. G. H. Jenness, at the beach. It is said that the Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Capt. Cunningham, are to go into camp to-morrow in the field back of the post-office, Mr. Jenness having tendered the use of the field to the company for a week.

Politics are rather quiet as yet, but there is some discussion as to who the candidates shall be. Many Rye republicans would like to have Mr. Frank B. Johnson, formerly city marshal of Portsmouth, nominated for sheriff, and think he would get a large vote in this town. The greenbackers here wish to have J. Langdon Seavey, Esq., put up as the candidate of their party as senator; he is a well known farmer of this town, and would probably run well.

Two of our worthy citizens are dangerously ill. Mr. Lemuel Bunker, a carpenter, has typhoid fever, and Mr. Ruel Shapleigh at Breakfast Hill is confined to his bed with some disease of the kidneys.

Many visitors are still attracted to see the wreck and ruin wrought by the tornado. Its track is well worth looking at.

The Reform Club people are talking of soon holding a picnic.

An efficient police force for duty at the beach is being loudly called for, and if reports are but half true such a force is badly needed. SCRIBE.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

James Meehan of Boston, a sub-contractor on the Manchester & Keene railroad, is in Keene jail charged with obtaining goods under false pretences.

North Haverhill, five miles from Woodville, was visited by a tornado Saturday night, breaking down large trees, fences, chimneys, etc. One barn was blown down. Sunday afternoon there was a terrific thunder shower accompanied by hail the size of walnuts, completely covering the ground, doing much damage to the crops.

The sentiment among the Manchester manufacturers is that business is improving and that the indications are favorable to returning prosperity.

Hon. Alexander H. Tilton, an old and respected citizen and large manufacturer of woolens, died at Tilton, Friday morning, from hemorrhage of the lungs. He has represented the town in the Legislature, also the Senatorial District; was a director of the Boston, Concord & Montreal Railroad for fifteen years, taking an active interest in the welfare of the road. His acts of benevolence, both public and private, will long last as a monument to his name. He leaves a large property, consisting of mills, lands, tenements, etc.

The late Sally Chase of Laconia deposited in 1831 in a savings bank in Concord the sum of $225. She has in the meantime as occasion required, drawn out small sums aggregating $390. On the 1st of the present month her executor withdrew the balance, which was $1502.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S

ALT. EXT. OR

Golden Medical Discovery

CURES DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD.

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's necessary curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

INVALIDS' HOTEL.

The very large number of invalid people who daily visit Buffalo, from every quarter of the United States and Canada, that they may consult Dr. R.V. PIERCE, and the widely celebrated Faculty of Specialists in Medicine and Surgery associated with him, rendered it necessary that the founder of this institution should provide a place on a grand and commodious scale for their entertainment and comfort.

ADVANTAGES OFFERED.—The Invalids' Hotel is more complete in its appointments than any similar institution in the world. The building is located in one of the most healthful and desirable portions of the City of Buffalo, and commands a fine view of Lake Erie, Niagara River, and the surrounding country, being situated in the midst of an extensive system of beautiful parks. The Hotel is furnished with a patent safety passenger elevator, to convey patients to and from the different floors; is provided with all kinds of approved baths, and has also connected with it a well-appointed gymnasium and bowling alley to afford proper means of exercise.

CHRONIC DISEASES of every form, whether requiring medical, surgical, or mechanical treatment, come within the province of our several specialties.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are the facilities of this infirmary of a superior order as regards the remedial means and appliances for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females. The employment, in moderation, of some mild chemical, electro-thermal, and other approved baths, is in many cases an invaluable auxiliary to the remedial means to which we resort in such cases. Dry friction to the surface, general shampooing, Swedish movements, and light calisthenic exercises, to develop and equalize the circulation of the blood in the system, relieve congested parts, improve digestion, and strengthen the muscles, produce important beneficial results in all cases to which these means are applicable. No experimenting is resorted to in the treatment. The most approved medicines are invariably employed, and the judicious regulation of the diet, to suit the condition of the patient, the thorough ventilation of the sleeping apartment, the cheering influence of music, social intercourse, innocent games for amusement, and all those agencies which tend to arouse the mind of the patient from despondency, and thus promote recovery, are not neglected.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty, by which the greatest skill is attained and the most happy results secured.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of the practice in the Invalids' Hotel is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases are very largely treated in this department, and with results which have been highly gratifying to both physician and patients.

EYE AND EAR.—Special attention is given to the delicate operations on the eye and ear, a distinguished oculist and aurist being under engagement to conduct this branch of the practice.

Invalids arriving in the city and desiring to consult us, should come directly to the Hotel. It is easily accessible by carriage, omnibus, or street cars. Miller's Omnibus Agents, on all incoming trains, can be relied upon to deliver passengers and baggage with security and dispatch.

Hat Flirtation.

For the past two years there has been a pleasant rivalry among literary people to devise a mode of expressing the thoughts by certain signs and acts, so as to be understood and read by parties distant. To this end they first devised the handkerchief flirtation, then the fan, and now the glove, each in turn becoming the more popular as they were invented. Among a certain class, however, there was still a vague, uncertain sort of deficiency; a kind of undescribable sort of lacking that failed to cover the ground. A few of our young men had no gloves, and others were without fans, and still a greater number were frequently unprepared to give a creditable handkerchief entertainment by reason of the great washerwoman monopoly, which is carried to such an extent in cities. To meet this long-felt want the Champion has designed a flirtation with the hat, which will be duly entered according to Congress as soon as a feasible entrance to Congress can be effected.

In introducing a flirtation with the hat it has been the experience of many of our proficient flirters that it is better to raise the hat perpendicularly from the head a few inches, that the object of your flirtation may be satisfied of the absence of bricks or other cutaneous substances, which are sometimes fatal to the success of your advances. The following are the different interpretations:

To wear the hat on the right eyebrow —"Please step to one side—I'm bad."

To wear the hat on the left eyebrow—"Are you there, Moriarty?"

To wear the hat on the bridge of the nose—"We are watched—by the police."

To wear the hat on the right ear—"You will find my photograph on sale with all the principal news dealers."

To wear the hat on the left ear—"I love you, but livery teams and ice-cream are up so that it will be impossible for me to carry on the acquaintance."

To carry the hat in the hand—"Your father's financial condition is such that it will not justify me. You need not hope."

To place the hat on the back of the head—"I am yours—ask mother."—Atchison Champion.

He Thought He Knew Her.

The Boston Post is responsible for the following: A good story is told of a former judge of a certain court in the Bay State, whose hair was whitened by the frosts of nearly seventy winters before he left the bench. Entering a Boston & Maine railway car one day, he saw but half a seat vacant, and that by the side of a pretty young lady, gorgeously arrayed. The judge was a great admirer of young ladies, and he immediately started for the seat. "Ah, beg pardon, madame," said his honor, "but is this seat engaged?" "No, sir," modestly replied the fair occupant of the other half. The judge took his seat, and glancing again at the dazzling beauty by his side he thought he recognized in her a lady he had met somewhere and yet he could not tell when nor where. Finally he ventured to ask, "Madame," said his honor, "madame, your face looks very familiar. I must have met you before, but really I cannot recollect."——"Yes," answered the bunch of roses by his side, "yes, old buster, like 'nough you have: it was only last June you sent me up for thirty days, and it's already eleven times you've sent me up for simple drunks." Exit the judge.

—Henry Palmer started to row from the village of Niagara Falls accross to Chippewa, on the other side. Instead of going to Chippewa he went over the falls. Neither he nor his boat has been seen since.

—An Irishman accosted a gentlemen on the street, late at night, with a request for the time. The gentleman suspecting that Pat wished to snatch his watch, gave him a stinging rap on the nose, with the remark, "It has just struck one!" "Be jabbers," retorted Pat, "I'm glad I didn't ax yez an hour ago?"

—There was a paragraphist on a moral Toronto paper who swore a solemn oath that he would make a joke on the name of Bob Ingersoll or perish in the attempt. He shut himself up Saturday evening and crawled forth Monday morning, pale, emaciated, and with a solemn, far-off look in his eyes, and the following item in his hand: "They ought to spell his name 'Bob Injure-soul.'"

—The bar of Bellefonte, Pa., instead of adopting the customary resolutions on the occasion of the death of a lawyer, introduced a new feature: a succinct narrative of his life, tersely and elegantly written, was presented and ordered to be filed among the archives of the association and printed, which will, as others in time are added, form a feature in the archives of the county of great value.

—Romance of woman's love; At Cincinnati, nine years ago, Philip F. Wareham stabbed and killed David Kirby. When he was brought to trial some of the best counsel in the State were engaged on the case and every effort was made by Wareham's relatives to save him. Mr. George E. Pugh made one of his strongest speeches in Wareham's behalf to the jury that convicted him. The verdict found him guilty, but he was sentenced to imprisonment for life, instead of death. Sadie Williams, his betrothed, remained firm in her belief that it was an unintentional homicide, though he had been leading a dissipated life, and after nine years of persevering effort has succeeded in having him pardoned and they have been married. She is a woman of twenty-eight years, attractive, but modest and retiring in manner. He was twenty-one when the murder was committed and is now thirty. Nine years of close confinement have changed him for the better.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1878.

The Army of Unemployed.

We are indebted to the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics for advance sheets of the tenth annual report, to be published in January next, relating to the number of laborers unemployed throughout that State on the 1st of June last. The reason for publishing the information contained at the present time is the immediate value of the statistics in view of the many wild and absurd statements made as to the condition of the laboring classes in Massachusetts, which have been permitted to go uncontradicted for want of sufficient data to expose their incorrectness. The canvass made by the bureau was of a thorough and comprehensive character. Circulars were sent to the police of the cities and assessors of towns requesting careful estimates based upon their local knowledge of the number of skilled and unskilled male laborers out of employment, including those over eighteen years of age who are willing to work. To all who did not readily respond to the first circular a second was sent, stating that unless advised to the contrary it would be considered there were no unemployed in these communities, which drew answers from all excepting fifty-one towns, mostly agricultural. As the total population of these fifty-one towns is only 77,459, or about 4 1-2 per cent. of the population of the State, their not having been heard from does not materially affect the correctness of the estimate. The result shows the number of skilled male laborers out of employment to be 8560, the number of unskilled 13,252, making a total of 21,812; 12,235 of these are in the cities and 9677 in the towns. According to the census of 1875, the proportion of females to males employed was 30.7 per cent., and a calculation of the number of unemployed females on this basis gives 28,508 as the total of both sexes out of work. This is very different from the wild statements which have found ready acceptance with communist orators, to the effect that the number of unemployed in Massachusetts would foot up from 200,000 to 300,000, and those throughout the Union to three millions. On the basis of the bureau's figures, the whole number for the United States would be 570,000. The rule adopted in compiling these statistics was when the local authorities differed in their conclusions always to give the larger number. The report is decidedly encouraging, as showing that those who want work and are unable to obtain it, are a very small fraction of the industrial population.

A Good Investment.

Congress at its last session appropriated $28,000 to pay the owners of the new steamer R. P. Cheney for her loss during the rebellion. She was a merchant steamer, and was captured by the rebels while in the United States service. Payment for her loss has now been stopped, it having been ascertained that the rebel government paid her "loyal" owners a large sum for running her into their lines. The rebel archives did the business for these raiders. These same rebel archives, the purchase of which for $75,000 was so earnestly resisted by the democrats in Congress, and so warmly denounced by the democratic press as a "radical job" and "waste of the people's money," have already saved the government many times the price paid for them, by exposing the fraudulent claims of disloyal men.

The Trade Dollar.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says the treasury department has received a number of communications from large firms and others respecting Dr. Linderman's circular of July 25th relative to the value of the trade-dollar. The writers, judging from the tone of their letters, belong to that class of thrifty persons who, before the department informed the public that the trade-dollar was only worth its bullion value, which at present rates is but ninety cents and a fraction, were in the habit of buying the coins in question at a discount of from three to five per cent. and then passing them off at par. This was the case in some large manufacturing establishments where the employes have been invariably paid partly in trade-dollars. Railroad companies have also realized a large saving by using trade-dollars at their ticket offices, and palming them off on the public at their par value. It was to check this swindle that the Director of the Mint published his circular cautioning the public against accepting the trade-dollar for anything more than it was worth. And now that their harvest is at an end the holders of trade-dollars are very indignant at the government for having interfered with their operations. Some want to know how it is that a dollar which, like the trade-dollar, weighs 420 grains, is only worth ninety cents, while the new silver dollar, which weighs but 412 1-2, is not only valued at 100 cents, but is made an unlimited legal tender, and is receivable for customs dues. Others characterize the action of the government in refusing to redeem the trade-dollar at par as "a swindle." The act taking from the trade-dollar its legal tender character was a democratic measure, and passed the house by the aid of eighty-three democratic votes out of a total (we believe) of 128.

News and Notes.
